The Military Commander and the Law is a publication of The Judge Advocate General’s School. This publication is used as a deskbook for instruction at various commander courses at Air University. It also serves as a helpful reference guide for commanders in the field, providing general guidance and helping commanders to clarify issues and identify potential problem areas. As with any publication of secondary authority, this deskbook should not be used as the basis for action on specific cases. Primary authority, much of which is cited in this edition, should first be carefully reviewed. Finally, this deskbook does not serve as a substitute for advice from the staff judge advocate.

Readers with questions or comments concerning this publication should contact the Editors, The Military Commander and the Law, at the following address:

Sources of Command Authority

Article II, § 2 of the United States Constitution provides the original source of command authority to the President as Commander-in-Chief.

Chain of Command
- Chain of command runs from the President and the Secretary of Defense to the combatant commander
  -- Chairman of the Joint Chiefs functions within the chain of command by transmitting communications to the commander of the combatant commands from the President and the Secretary of Defense
  -- Service chiefs are responsible to the secretary of the military department for management of the services
  -- Subordinate command authority may be conferred by statute, delegated, or assumed

The Concept of Command by Uniformed Military Personnel
- Concept of command carries dual functions
  -- Legal authority over people, including power to discipline
  -- Legal responsibility for the mission and resources
- Command devolves upon an individual, not a staff
  -- Command is exercised by virtue of the office and the special assignment of officers holding military grades who are eligible by law to command. A commander exercises control through subordinate commanders. Staff, including vice and deputy commanders, have no command functions. They assist the commander through planning, investigating, and recommending.
  -- Some command duties may be delegated. Responsibilities of command may never be delegated.

Command Authority over Active Duty Forces
- The commander’s authority over military members extends to conduct of the members whether on or off the installation. The commander exercises authority by virtue of his/her status as a superior commissioned officer.
- Enlisted members take an oath upon enlistment to obey the lawful orders of those appointed over the member

- Articles 89, 90, and 92 of the UCMJ include prohibitions of disrespect towards, or the failure to obey, superior officers

Command Authority over Reservists
- Commanders always have administrative authority to hold reservists accountable for misconduct occurring on or off duty, irrespective of their military status when the misconduct occurred

- Commanders have UCMJ authority over reservists only when in military status

Command Authority over Civilians
- The commander has authority over, and acts as the employer of, civilian employees
  -- The commander can give promotions and bonuses, as well as impose sanctions
  -- The 36 AFI series defines this relationship

- The commander has less authority over nonemployee civilians on base
  -- As “mayor” of the base, the installation commander has authority to maintain order and discipline, and to protect federal resources

  -- As a practical matter, this authority may be limited to detaining individuals for civilian law enforcement officials and barring them from the installation

  -- The installation commander may bar an individual from the base for misconduct but must follow certain procedural requirements

  -- The commander has almost no authority over civilians off base

AFI 51-604, Appointment to and Assumption of Command (4 April 2006)
Command Succession

An officer succeeds to command in one of two ways, either by assuming command or by appointment to command. Both assumption and appointment are based on seniority and may be either temporary or permanent.

- Assumption of command is a unilateral act taken under authority of law and regulation by the officer who assumes command

  -- Command passes to the senior military officer assigned to the organization who is present for duty and eligible to command

  -- Authority to assume command is inherent in that officer’s status as the senior officer in both grade (captain, lieutenant colonel, colonel) and rank (seniority within a grade)

  -- An officer can assume command only of an organization to which that officer is assigned by competent authority, except that the officer serving as the Commander, Air Force Forces (COMAFFOR) for a given contingency operation exercises command authority over those Air Force members deployed in support of that contingency. Assignment to a subordinate organization is an assignment to all superior organizations having the subordinate organization as a component.

- Appointment to command occurs by an act of the President, the Secretary of the Air Force, or by his/her delegee

  -- An officer assigned to an organization, present for duty, and eligible to command may be appointed to command if they are at least equal in grade to all other eligible officers, without regard to rank within grade

- A temporary assumption or appointment is used when the commander being replaced is only temporarily absent or disabled

  -- Absence or disability for only short periods does not incapacitate the commander and normally does not warrant an assumption of command by another officer

  -- No need to publish assumption of or appointment to command orders when officer who originally held the command position resumes command after a temporary absence, so long as they are still equal or senior in grade to any other officer then present for duty, assigned to the organization, and eligible to command

  -- If during the permanent commander’s temporary absence, another officer senior in grade to him/her, who is eligible to command, is assigned or attached to the organization, then the returning commander may not resume command unless appointed to command

The Military Commander and the Law
CHAPTER ONE
Legal Issues Specific to the Commander

Special Rules and Limitations to Command

- There is no title or position of “acting commander.” The term is not authorized.

- Officers assigned to HQ USAF cannot assume command of personnel, unless competent authority specifically directs

- No officer may command another officer of higher grade who is present for duty and otherwise eligible to command

- Enlisted members cannot exercise command

- No commander may appoint his own successor

- Chaplains cannot exercise command, although they do have the authority to give lawful orders and exercise functions of operational supervision, control, and direction

- Students cannot command an Air Force school or similar organization

- Judge Advocates may only exercise command if expressly authorized by The Judge Advocate General, as the senior ranking member among a group of prisoners of war, or under emergency field conditions

- Flying organizations may only be commanded by Line of the Air Force crewmembers occupying active flying positions—except that officers from other military departments who have USAF-equivalent crewmember ratings or certifications can command consolidated flying training organizations in accordance with appropriate interservice agreements

- Certain types of organizations, such as air base wings or groups, which have multiple missions that include responsibility for controlling or directing flying activities, are considered non-flying units and may be commanded by non-rated officers

- Only Reserve Component officers on extended active duty orders can command organizations of the Regular Air Force. “Extended active duty” is defined as a period of 90 days or more during which the officer is on active duty (other than for training) orders. The COMAFFOR or delegate may authorize Reserve Component officers not on extended active duty to command Regular Air Force units operating under the COMAFFOR’s authority, though COMAFFOR may delegate this authority no lower than the commanders of aerospace expeditionary wings for expeditionary units operating under the COMAFFOR’s authority.

- Regular officers and Reserve officers on extended active duty cannot command organizations of the Air Force Reserve unless approved by HQ USAF/RE
- Only officers designated as a medical, dental, veterinary, medical service, or biomedical sciences officer, or as a nurse may command organizations and installations whose primary mission involves health care or the health profession.

- Officers quartered on an installation, but assigned to another organization not charged with operating that installation, cannot assume command of the installation by virtue of seniority.

- Civilians may lead a unit, hold supervisory positions, and provide supervision to military and civilian personnel in a unit. They cannot assume military command or exercise command over military members within the unit. Except as required by law (e.g., the Uniform Code of Military Justice), a civilian leader of a unit is authorized to perform all functions normally requiring action by the respective unit commander. When a civilian is designated to lead a unit, that individual will be the director of that unit. Units lead by directors will not have commanders and members of the unit or subordinate units may not assume command of the unit. However, alternative arrangements for functions for which the law requires a commander will be established by competent command authority, either by attaching military members for these limited purposes to a unit led by a commander, or by accomplishing these functions at a command level above the unit. Because members of the unit may not assume command, individuals should be designated in advance to perform the duties of civilian leaders should they become unable to perform those duties.

METHOD FOR ASSUMPTION OR APPOINTMENT TO COMMAND

- Use written orders to announce and record command succession, unless precluded by exigencies.

- Use standard memorandum format or use AF IMT 35, Request and Authorization for Assumption of/Appointment to Command, to document such orders. AFI 51-604, Attachment 2, sets out detailed instructions for preparing the AF IMT 35. Consult AFI 33-328 for uniformity of order format and general order publishing guidance.

FUNCTIONS OF THE STAFF JUDGE ADVOCATE

MISSION
The mission of the Judge Advocate General’s Corps is to deliver professional, candid, independent counsel and full-spectrum legal capabilities to the command and the warfighter.

DEFINITIONS
- Judge Advocate: An Air Force officer designated as such by The Judge Advocate General
  -- Graduate of a law school accredited by the American Bar Association
  -- Licensed in active status in at least one state, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands
- Staff Judge Advocate (SJA): Senior judge advocate on extended active duty normally on the installation commander’s staff unless otherwise specified by The Judge Advocate General
  -- Serves as the legal advisor for the wing commander in his/her capacity as the representative of the Air Force
  -- Supervises the members of the base legal office
- Assistant Staff Judge Advocates (ASJA): Other judge advocates assigned to the staff judge advocate’s office. ASJAs support the SJA in his/her role as the wing commander’s legal advisor. In this capacity, they may perform duties such as:
  -- Chief of legal assistance
  -- Chief of military justice
  -- Chief of civil law
- Area Defense Counsel (ADC): Judge advocate performing defense counsel duties at an installation
  -- Reports through the defense community chain of supervision to TJAG
  -- Not assigned to the SJA
FUNCTIONAL ORGANIZATION OF THE BASE LEGAL OFFICE
The legal office provides a wide range of legal services to the wing commander and the base at-large. The following is a general overview of the divisions within a typical legal office and the services they provide:

- Military Justice Division: Advises commanders on discipline and military justice matters, including advice on, and preparing documents for, courts-martial and nonjudicial punishment under Article 15, UCMJ.

- Adverse Actions Division: Advises commanders on, and prepares documents for, administrative discharges. Provides legal guidance related to quality force management tools such as control rosters, unfavorable information files, administrative demotions, letters of reprimand, letters of admonishment, letters of counseling, and records of individual counseling.

- Claims Division: Manages the initial processing of tort claims against the Air Force and claims by the Air Force against individuals and entities. Also assists the Air Force Claims Service Center in processing household goods claims submitted by military members.

- International and Operations Law Division: Advises commanders on international and operational law issues such as foreign criminal jurisdiction, international agreements, rules of engagement and targeting as well providing law of armed conflict training and guidance.

- Civil Law Division: A range of legal topics fall under the category of civil law, which may be grouped in a single division or they may be organized separately. Areas within the civil law division may include: contract law; labor law; environmental law; and, general civil law, which includes issues such as private organizations, use of Air Force assets, various personnel issues and noncriminal investigations such as reports of survey and line of duty determinations.

- Legal Assistance and Preventative Law Division: Responsible for educating the base population on legal issues that affect military members and their dependents as well as providing legal assistance. Legal assistance attorneys cannot draft court documents or represent members or their families in court but they can provide advice on a range of legal issues including, but not limited to, adoption, consumer law, divorce and child custody, income taxes, the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, and wills. This division also provides free notary services.

PERSONAL LIABILITY OF COMMANDERS AND SUPERVISORS

Federal employees are generally entitled to Department of Justice representation if lawsuits are brought against them for acts they commit in the scope of their employment, if those acts do not violate federal statutes. Historically, suits against present or former federal officials in their personal capacity for money damages based upon official conduct were rare. Similarly, common law tort suits brought in state courts were dismissed because of the doctrine of official immunity.

LIABILITY FOR CONSTITUTIONAL TORTS

- In 1971, the Supreme Court of the United States held for the first time in Bivens v. Six Unknown Named Agents that an alleged violation of the United States Constitution could serve as the basis for a suit for money damages against federal officials.

- However, the Court said that a federal official would have absolute immunity if the official was acting in the scope of employment and if there were “special factors counseling hesitation” on the part of the court to allow a civil action for damages to proceed.

  -- In 1983, the Court found, in Bush v. Lucas, that the administrative remedies given an aggrieved employee by the Civil Service Reform Act were “special factors” that protected federal supervisors from liability.

  -- However, in Otto v. Heckler, a supervisor engaging in sexual harassment was found to be outside the scope of his employment and was not immune.

  -- Also in 1983, in Chappell v. Wallace, the Court held that the relationship between military personnel, including civilian supervisors, was a “special factor” as long as the act had been “incident to service” at the time of the alleged wrong, based upon the circumstances at that time.

  -- In 1987, in United States v. Stanley, the Court ruled that there need not be a superior/subordinate relationship for this immunity to apply, e.g., a civilian employee allegedly injuring an enlisted member.

- If there is no “special factor” in a case, the federal official is only entitled to qualified immunity. He is immune so long as his acts did not violate clearly established constitutional guarantees, e.g., those of which a “reasonable person” would have been aware.
LIABILITY FOR COMMON LAW TORTS
- The Federal Employees Liability Reform and Tort Compensation Act of 1988 (the “Westfall Act”) now gives federal employees absolute immunity from liability for state common law torts including negligence, libel, slander, assault, battery, trespass, as long as they were in the scope of employment at the time of the alleged tort.

- The Act does not apply to constitutional torts (discussed above) or to acts violating a federal statute, e.g., environmental torts.

- The Department of Justice must certify that the employee was acting “in scope” at the time of the incident, and that certification can be reviewed by the court hearing the lawsuit.

ENVIRONMENTAL TORTS
- The major environmental statutes (Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Resource Conservation and Recovery Act) either contain immunity provisions for federal employees acting in scope or have been held by courts to grant immunity. Meyer v. United States Coast Guard.

- However, federal officials have been held criminally liable for violations of various environmental statutes that contain criminal penalties. United States v. Carr.

- Also, if a defendant is being tried for violating federal (not state) criminal law, the Department of Justice will generally decline both criminal and civil representation.

REPRESENTATION OF FEDERAL EMPLOYEES
- Should you or one of your personnel be served with any summons or complaint, immediately contact your servicing staff judge advocate.

  -- Department of Justice representation is available in almost all cases if the employee was acting within the scope of employment and if the action was not a violation of a federal criminal statute.

  -- Time standards for requesting representation and answering the complaint are extremely critical, so do not waste any time.

- Private insurance at your own expense is available to protect you against civil (not criminal) liability.

ARTICLE 138 COMPLAINTS

Article 138 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) gives every member of the Armed Forces the right to complain that he or she was “wronged” by his/her commanding officer. The right even extends to those subject to the UCMJ on inactive duty for training.

SCOPE OF ARTICLE 138 COMPLAINTS

- Matters appropriate to address under Article 138 include discretionary acts or omissions by a commander that adversely affect the member personally and are:

  -- In violation of law or regulation

  -- Beyond the legitimate authority of that commander

  -- Arbitrary, capricious, or an abuse of discretion; or

  -- Clearly unfair, e.g., selective application of administrative standards/actions

- Matters outside the scope of the Article 138 complaint process are:

  -- Acts or omissions affecting the member which were not initiated or ratified by the commander

  -- Disciplinary action under the UCMJ, including nonjudicial punishment under Article 15. However, deferral of post-trial confinement is within scope of Article 138.

  -- Actions initiated against the member where the governing directive requires final action by SecAF

  -- Complaints against the general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA) related to the resolution of an Article 138 complaint, except for alleging the GCMCA failed to forward a copy of the file to SecAF

  -- Complaints seeking disciplinary action against another

  -- Complaints based on a commander’s actions implementing the recommendations of a board authorized by Air Force regulations and governed by AFI 51-602, Boards of Officers
Article 138 Procedures

- Within 90 days of the alleged wrong, the member submits his/her complaint in writing, along with supporting evidence, to the commander alleged to have committed the wrong.

- The commander receiving the complaint must promptly notify the complainant in writing whether the demand for redress is granted or denied.

  -- The reply must state the basis for denying the requested relief.

  -- The commander may consider additional evidence and must attach a copy of the additional evidence to the file.

  -- The commander must respond to the complainant’s initial application for redress within 30 days.

- If the commander refuses to grant the requested relief, the member may submit the complaint, along with the commander’s response, to the officer exercising general court-martial convening authority over the commander.

  -- Must be submitted within 30 days from the notice of denial.

  -- May be submitted directly to the GCMCA or forwarded through any superior commissioned officer.

  -- An intermediate commander or any other superior commissioned officer receiving such a complaint will immediately forward the file to the GCMCA. The officer may attach additional pertinent documentary evidence and comment on availability of witnesses or evidence, but may not comment on the merits of the complaint.

GCMCA’s Responsibilities

- Conduct or direct further investigation of the matter, as appropriate.

- Notify the complainant, in writing, of the action taken on the complaint and the reasons for such action.

- Refer the complainant to appropriate channels that exist specifically to address the alleged wrongs, i.e., performance reports, suspension from flying status, assessment of pecuniary liability. This referral constitutes final action.
- Retain two complete copies of the file, and return the originals to the complainant

- After taking final action, forward a copy of the complete file to HQ USAF/JAA for review and disposition by SecAF

- The GCMCA is prohibited from delegating his/her responsibilities to act on complaints submitted pursuant to Article 138

Special Court-Martial Convening Authority Duties

The special court-martial convening authority (SPCMCA) is a statutory position under the Uniform Code of Military Justice which is typically held by the wing commander. SPCMCA duties can be divided into two categories: military justice and administrative action.

Military Justice Duties
- Appoints military magistrates to authorize apprehensions, searches, and seizures
- Appoints pretrial confinement reviewing officers (PCRO)
  -- The PCRO holds a hearing and makes a neutral determination of whether an accused should be continued in pretrial confinement awaiting trial
  -- There is no limit to the number of PCROs the SPCMCA can appoint
  -- PCROs should be mature officers with good judgment
- Details court members
- Refers charges and specifications to special or summary courts-martial
- Approves pretrial agreements (PTAs) for an accused to be tried by a special or summary courts-martial
- Takes action on findings and sentences of special and summary courts-martial
- Appoints Article 32, UCMJ, preliminary hearing officer (PHO)
  -- Occurs after charges have been preferred and when the SPCMCA believes a general court-martial (GCM) may be the appropriate forum for the charge and specification
  -- The PHO completes an Article 32 hearing, which is similar to a grand jury proceeding in the civilian community, and writes a report for the SPCMCA, which recommends action the SPCMCA should take on the charge and specification
  -- If the SPCMCA believes a GCM is appropriate, he/she then forwards the Article 32 report, charge(s) and specification(s), and recommendations on disposition to the general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA)
Administrative Action Duties

- Disapproves or recommends approval of requests for discharge in lieu of court-martial

  -- SPCMCA may disapprove a request for discharge in a special court-martial

  -- SPCMCA may not approve a request for discharge, even in a special court-martial

  -- If the SPCMCA wants the request for discharge in a special court-martial approved, he/she must forward it to the GCMCA, with a recommendation for approval and appropriate characterization of discharge

  -- If the SPCMCA has ordered an Article 32 hearing, but the Article 32 report has not been forwarded to the GCMCA, the SPCMCA may disapprove the request

  -- If the Article 32 report has been forwarded to the GCMCA, the SPCMCA forwards the request for discharge to the GCMCA, with a recommendation for action on request

- Convenes discharge boards, depending upon the status of the respondent and act on the findings and recommendations of the board

- Acts as separation authority depending upon the status of the respondent, the basis for the discharge, and/or the findings and recommendations of the board

Chapter One

Unlawful Command Influence

As the military courts have often emphasized, unlawful command influence (UCI) is the mortal enemy of military justice. The courts have been equally quick, however, to distinguish proper command influence from UCI. The key is to understand what constitutes proper involvement by the commander, and what crosses the line into UCI.

1. Superior commanders are not prohibited from establishing and communicating policies necessary to maintain good order and discipline. They are also free to pass on their experience and advice regarding disciplinary matters. Having done so, however, the superior commander must then step back and allow the subordinates to exercise their discretion in the matter, examples of proper or lawful command involvement are:

   -- Withholding a subordinate’s authority to act in an individual case or types of cases

   -- Requesting a subordinate to reconsider his/her action in light of new evidence

   -- Consulting with subordinates on judicial decisions at the subordinate’s request; however, the subordinate alone must decide what action to take

   -- “Tough talk” policy letters, talks and briefings on issues of concern are permissible so long as they are not indicative of an inelastic attitude or an attempt to influence the finding and sentence in a particular case

   -- Focusing on problem areas is permissible, examples include: characterizing illegal drug use as a threat to combat readiness or referring to “ferreting out” illegal drug dealers as a legitimate command concern

2. Superior commanders must not make comments that would imply they expect a particular result in a given case or type of cases, examples of unlawful command influence include:

   -- A commander states at an officers’ call that all drug users must be removed from the Air Force. Potential court members for an upcoming court involving drugs are present. The inference may be that the commander expects the court to impose a punitive discharge.

   -- A commander makes comments on his displeasure at the light sentences adjudged by previous courts. The concern is future panel members may adjudge a harsher sentence than they might otherwise in order to please the commander.

   -- A commander expresses his concern about court-martial cases in which subordinate commanders preferred charges, recommended a court, and then testified during sentencing on behalf of the accused. The suggestion was they refrain from testifying for the accused in upcoming courts. Any attempt to discourage a witness from testifying is improper.

-- A commander, speaking informally to a group of officers, jokingly says he does not care how long a particular court takes, as long as the members “hang the SOB.” The impression is that he believes the accused to be guilty and expects the members to agree.

-- A convening authority may not exclude classes of individuals from serving as court members if done to obtain a more severe sentence

-- Interfering with a party’s access to witnesses

-- Intent to actually interfere with a case is not required. Command actions that unintentionally discourage witnesses to testify or cause witnesses to alter their testimony may constitute UCI.

- Commanders at each level are given authority by virtue of their commands to impose discipline upon subordinates within their command. For example, a squadron commander may discipline anyone assigned to his/her squadron. Since that squadron would normally fall under a group and then a wing, those squadron members would likewise be subject to discipline from their group and/or wing commanders. Each commander in the chain must remain free to exercise his/her own discretion to impose discipline without inappropriate interference from a superior commander.

-- The key consideration is whether a commander is taking disciplinary action based upon that commander’s own personal belief that the disciplinary action is appropriate or whether the commander is merely acquiescing to direction from a superior to impose the particular discipline

-- A superior commander must not direct a subordinate commander to impose a particular punishment or take a particular action. To do so would constitute UCI because the decision was not that of the commander taking action or imposing punishment, but rather that of the superior commander.

-- The superior commander can remove or withhold the authority from the subordinate commander to act in a particular case or type of cases and impose punishment himself

30 July 2015
SERVING AS A COURT MEMBER

At some time in your military career you may be detailed to sit as a member of a court-martial. Court members serve essentially the same function in a military court-martial as jurors serve in civilian trials. The following are some important facts:

- When convening a court-martial, the convening authority personally selects members who are, in his/her opinion, best qualified for this duty. Article 25(d)(2) of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) outlines what factors should be considered when determining who is “best qualified.” These include age, education, training, experience, length of service, and judicial temperament.

- Prior to sitting as a member in a court-martial, court members are usually asked to complete a court member data sheet, providing personal and professional information. This data sheet provides counsel for both sides information about a member’s background that assists them in determining whether there is reason to excuse that particular member from sitting on the court.

- Once detailed to sit on a court-martial, a member must avoid allowing others to speak about upcoming cases in that member’s presence. Court members are required to be impartial. Having prior knowledge of the facts of a case may impact a member’s ability to remain impartial.

- If a detailed court member needs to be excused, keep the following in mind:
  -- Although the convening authority may excuse members prior to assembly for any reason, requests to be excused from court member duty should be based on good cause. Requests should be written and forwarded to the convening authority through his/her staff judge advocate (SJA). Members detailed to a court-martial should not depart the local area on leave or TDY without coordination with the SJA unless they have been properly relieved from duty.

  -- After the court-martial is assembled, the convening authority can no longer excuse members unless the member has good cause. After assembly, court members are normally only excused as a result of being challenged by either trial or defense counsel, or after being released by the military judge for good cause.

  -- Trial and defense counsel, as well as the military judge, are entitled to ask court members questions at trial to ensure that the accused is brought to trial before an impartial court panel. This questioning is referred to as “voir dire,” and occurs prior to the court members hearing any evidence in the case.
Both the trial and defense counsel can challenge any member for cause. There is no limit to the number of court members who can be removed for cause. Each side is also permitted one challenge without cause. This is called a peremptory challenge. Its only limitation is that it may not be used to improperly remove a member on the basis of that member’s race, gender, or other constitutionally protected status.

If the accused pleads “not guilty,” the court members receive evidence, arguments from counsel, and instructions on the law from the military judge in order to determine whether the accused is guilty or not guilty. The members must be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the evidence presented during the trial shows the accused committed the offense to find the accused “guilty.” The decision of the court is called the “finding.”

The senior ranking court member is called the “president.” It is the president’s job to announce the findings of the court-martial panel to the accused and counsel and to check the vote count and announce the results to the other members. The junior ranking court member collects and counts the votes during deliberations.

If the accused is found “guilty,” the court members will hear evidence in aggravation, extenuation and/or mitigation, listen to arguments from counsel recommending a sentence, and receive instructions from the military judge on sentencing procedures. They then deliberate and decide on an appropriate sentence. The president announces the sentence in open court in the presence of accused and counsel.

If the accused pleads “guilty,” but elects to be sentenced by members, the same sentencing procedures apply as when the accused is found “guilty” by members.

During the trial, the military judge may choose to hold sessions on the record outside the presence of the court members. These are called Article 39(a) sessions because they are authorized under Article 39(a), UCMJ. During these sessions, the military judge and counsel often discuss matters that would be inappropriate for the court members to hear, such as the admissibility of evidence. Other times, administrative matters may be discussed that do not require the presence of the court members. During these out-of-court sessions, court members may not discuss the case among themselves or with anyone else.

Court members are given an opportunity to question witnesses after the counsel have completed their examinations. A court member proposes a question by writing it down on the question forms provided. Both counsel will review the question and can object to the question posed by a court member. The military judge will rule on the objection. In asking questions, court members must remember not to become advocates for either side, but must remain impartial.
Court members are allowed to take notes during the trial. A court member may refer to his/her notes during deliberation, but the notes are not evidence, cannot be used by any court member as evidence, and may not be shown or read to other members. Ultimately, if the members cannot agree on whether particular evidence was presented, or what the exact nature of the evidence was, the members may ask the military judge to reopen the court and present the evidence again.

Each member has an equal voice and vote in discussing and deciding a case. The influence of superiority in rank must not be employed in any manner in an attempt to control the independence of the members in the exercise of their own personal judgment. Service as a court member, while important, is not a rating factor to be considered on any member’s performance report.

No one may enter the deliberation room while the members are deliberating. All members must be present during any deliberation. If the members have a question or otherwise need to communicate with the military judge, or if they want a break, one of the members should contact the bailiff who will notify the military judge. The military judge notifies the counsel and accused and reopens the court. The members are brought into the courtroom and are allowed to ask their question, or the military judge will formally recess the court so that the members may take a break. Members may not discuss the case with anyone during the recess, even among themselves. After a recess, the court is again formally opened to return members to their deliberations. These procedures ensure that no one improperly communicates with members during their deliberations and that no deliberations occur without all members being present.

Each member has a right to be free from harassment or ridicule based upon that member’s participation as a court member. Court member deliberations are conducted in private, and each member takes an oath not to disclose any member’s opinion or vote. Furthermore, no member may be compelled to answer questions about the deliberations unless lawfully ordered to do so by a military judge.

TESTIFYING AS A WITNESS

As a commander, first sergeant, or supervisor, you or one of your subordinates may be called upon to testify at a court-martial or other administrative hearing.

- Either the trial counsel or defense counsel may call witnesses during the findings portion (determining whether the accused is guilty or not guilty) of the trial to either help prove an element of the offense or provide a defense to the charge.

- Either counsel may also call witnesses during the sentencing portion of the trial. A sentencing witness may be called to testify about a variety of things, such as the character of the accused, the impact of the offenses on the unit, or relating an opinion about the accused's rehabilitative potential.

  -- You will not be allowed to testify about your opinion as to an appropriate sentence, including whether or not the accused should be punitively discharged from military service.

  -- When testifying about the accused's potential for rehabilitation, the witness must be able to show that he/she possesses sufficient information and knowledge about the accused, separate and apart from the offenses committed by the accused. In short, the witness must have knowledge of the accused as a “whole person.”

- The attorney calling you as a witness should, before trial, discuss the questions he or she will ask and questions the opposing counsel will likely ask on cross-examination. If you are going to be a witness, you should reserve the time necessary to permit the trial or defense counsel to ensure you are properly prepared to take the stand. Furthermore, the opposing counsel should also have the opportunity to interview you prior to testifying.

- You have an absolute duty to testify honestly when called, and you should immediately report any attempts to influence your testimony to the staff judge advocate.

Tips to Witnesses in Preparation for a Hearing or Trial
TIPS TO WITNESSES IN PREPARATION FOR A HEARING OR TRIAL

- Always tell the truth

- Review the facts prior to trial

- Do not worry about being nervous. It is a normal reaction.

- Never argue with the military judge or counsel for either side. Use military courtesy when addressing the military judge or officers of superior rank.

- Be yourself on the stand and answer questions in a natural, conversational tone. Try not to be overly emotional or to appear insolent.

- Do not try to answer a question you do not understand. Simply state, “I’m sorry, I do not understand your question.”

- Do not be afraid to say you do not know the answer to the question. If it is the truth, “I don’t know” is a perfectly acceptable answer.

- Be prepared for cross-examination. Do not forget that the court members or the military judge can also ask you questions. Remain on the stand until the military judge states that you are excused.

- Do not be baited into emotional or angry reactions if the cross-examiner is verbally aggressive or is questioning your truthfulness. Remember that the counsel who called you as a witness can always set the record straight during subsequent examination.

- Do not give conclusions or express an opinion unless you are requested to do so and no objection is made to your expression of opinion

- If an objection is made to any question asked of you, wait until the military judge rules on the objection before answering the question

- If you are asked for a “yes” or “no” answer to a question that cannot be answered with a “yes” or “no,” state that the question cannot be answered with a “yes” or “no” and explain your answer when you are asked to do so

- If you are asked if you have discussed the case with the representative of either party, reply truthfully. Remember that there is a distinction between discussing a case and being told what to say.
- Do not try to guess why a counsel may ask a question that seems unusual during cross-examination. If there is no objection to the question, just answer it the best you can.

Administrative Counselings, Admonitions, and Reprimands

Counselings, admonitions, and reprimands are quality force management tools available to supervisors, superiors, and commanders. These management tools are designed to improve, correct, and instruct those who depart from standards of performance, conduct, bearing, and integrity and whose actions degrade the individual and unit’s mission. These tools are corrective in nature, not punitive. When properly used, they help maintain established Air Force standards and enhance mission accomplishment.

What Action is Appropriate

- When a member departs from standards, there are many factors to consider in determining what action, if any, is appropriate

- The Basics: AFI 36-2907, Unfavorable Information File (UIF) Program, Chapter 3, contains guidance on administrative counselings, admonitions, and reprimands. The counseling is the lowest level of administrative action. An admonition is more severe than a counseling. A reprimand is more severe than a counseling or admonition and carries a stronger degree of official censure.

- Primary Considerations: The decision to issue a letter of counseling, admonition, or reprimand should be based primarily on two factors:

  -- First is the nature of the incident. Counselings, admonitions, and reprimands may be administered for ANY departure from Air Force standards. Unlike nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), they are NOT limited to offenses punishable by the UCMJ. (These disciplinary measures may also be issued to Reserve members who commit an offense while in civilian (non-Title 10) status.) The seriousness of the departure should be considered before deciding what type of action is appropriate to take.

  -- Second is the previous disciplinary record of the member. Counselings, admonitions, and reprimands should be used as part of a graduated pattern of discipline in response to repeated departures from standards. In other words, each time a service member departs from standards, the response should usually be more severe.
ISSUING THE COUNSELING, ADMONITION, OR REPRIMAND

Counselings, admonitions, and reprimands may be either verbal or written. Usually the counseling, admonition, or reprimand should be in writing because the corrective action is more meaningful to the member and the infraction is documented. A verbal counseling may be recorded on an AF IMT 174, Record of Individual Counseling (RIC). Letters of counseling (LOCs), letters of admonition (LOAs), and letters of reprimand (LORs) should be typed on letterhead and must comply with the requirements listed below. The attachment following this section is a sample format for an LOC, LOA, or LOR. Failure to follow the requirements for drafting and maintaining these documents could limit the use of the documents in a subsequent proceeding. Failing to include the second indorsement noting the commander’s consideration of a response, for example, will likely render an LOR inadmissible in a later court-martial or discharge proceeding.

Drafting the Letter—LOCs, LOAs, and LORs must state the following:

-- What the member did or failed to do, citing specific incidents and their dates
-- What improvement is expected
-- That further deviation may result in more severe action
-- That the member has three duty days to respond and provide rebuttal matters (45 days for non-EAD reservists)
-- That all supporting documents become part of the record
-- That the person who initiates the LOC, LOA, or LOR has three duty days to advise the individual of their decision regarding any comments submitted by the individual

Privacy Act Requirements: Written counselings, admonitions, and reprimands are subject to the rules of access, protection, and disclosure outlined in AFI 33-332, Air Force Privacy Act Program. Therefore, all LOCs, LOAs, and LORs must contain a paragraph outlining the applicability of the Privacy Act to the document. Copies held by supervisors, commanders, and those filed in a member’s UIF or personnel information file (PIF) are subject to the same Privacy Act rules.

Procedures: A person intending to issue an LOC, LOA, or LOR should

-- Investigate to determine the infraction occurred
-- Draft the letter according to the requirements of AFI 36-2907 as set forth above
-- Read the individual the letter and have the member immediately acknowledge receipt on the original letter by filling in the date received and signing.

-- If the member refuses to acknowledge receipt, the person who issued the letter should write on the original letter beneath the member’s signature block in the acknowledgment section, “<<Rank and Name of Member>> refused to acknowledge receipt.”

-- Give the member a copy of the letter. (If the member is a non-EAD Reserve member who has departed the duty area, the commander may send the letter via certified letter to the member’s address or best available address, and the individual will be presumed to be in receipt of this official correspondence.)

-- After three duty days from the date the letter was issued, have the member indicate in an indorsement (example in attachment at end of this section) of the original letter whether or not the member is submitting a response to the letter. Have the member fill in the date of the indorsement, strike through the inapplicable language in parentheses, and sign the indorsement.

-- Attach any matters the member submits in response to the original letter.

-- If the member refuses to complete or sign the indorsement, the person who issued the letter should write on the original letter beneath the member’s signature block, “<<Rank and Name of Member>> failed to provide matters in response to this letter within three duty days (or 45 days for reservists not serving on extended active duty) and refused to complete the 1st Ind,” along with the issuer’s signature block, signature, and the date.

-- If the member submits a response, advise the member within three duty days of the submission of the response of the final decision concerning information submitted by the member in an indorsement (example in attachment at end of this section). See AFI 36-2907, para 3.5.1.6, concerning this requirement. If using an indorsement similar to that in the attachment, the issuer of the letter should fill in the date of the indorsement, strike through the inapplicable language in parentheses, and sign the indorsement.

-- Inform the member’s chain of command of the letter. If appropriate or requested, send the letter with all indorsements, and any documents submitted by the member to the member’s superiors or commander for information, action, or approval for entry in the member’s PIF, UIF, or both.
RECORD KEEPING
- There are detailed rules concerning the maintenance and disposition of specific documents:

<table>

- Commanders who wish to establish a UIF on optional letters (LOCs, LOAs, and LORs for enlisted members and LOCs and LOAs for officers) must notify the member on an AF IMT 1058 before establishing a UIF. LORs issued to officers must be filed in a UIF via AF IMT 1058, but the commander does not need to submit the AF IMT 1058 to the officer because the officer is provided with an opportunity to refute the LOR when it is initially presented.

RESERVE/GUARD MEMBERS
- Commanders, supervisors, and other persons in authority can issue administrative counselings, admonitions, and reprimands to Reserve members who commit an offense while in civilian (non-Title 10) status

- If the member is a non-EAD Reserve member who has departed the duty area, the commander may send the counseling/admonition/reprimand letter via certified mail to the member’s address or best available address, and the individual will be presumed to be in receipt of this official correspondence
Non-EAD reservists have 30 calendar days from the date of receipt of the certified letter to acknowledge the notification, intended actions, and provide pertinent information before the commander makes a final decision. In calculating the time to respond, the date of receipt is not counted. If the Reserve member mails the acknowledgment, the date of the postmark on the envelope will serve as the date of acknowledgment.

The person who initiated the counseling/admonition/reprimand has 30 calendar days from the receipt of the certified letter to advise a non-EAD Reserve member of his/her final decision regarding any comments submitted member.

AFI 36-2907 does not apply to Air National Guard (ANG) members. Many state codes of military justice authorize letters of admonition or reprimand. There is no AFI or Air National Guard Instruction (ANGI) that addresses the issuing of counselings, admonitions, and reprimands to ANG members; however, commanders and supervisors have inherent authority to do so. Consult the servicing staff judge advocate before issuing an LOC, LOA, or LOR to an ANG member.

I have considered the response you submitted on ________________. (The letter of reprimand remains in effect) (I have decided to withdraw the letter of reprimand).

HOLDEN T. LINE, Capt, USAF
[Issuer’s Duty Title, Organization]
Unfavorable Information Files (UIF)

The unfavorable information file (UIF) provides commanders with an official and single means of filing derogatory data concerning an Air Force member’s personal conduct and duty performance. With some exceptions, the commander has wide discretion as to what should be placed in a UIF and what should be removed.

Enlisted Personnel

- Optional Entries: The commander MAY place the following documents, among others, into a UIF for up to one year:

  -- A record of nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) when punishment is NOT suspended or does NOT exceed one month. Commanders may only remove the record early if the punishment is complete.

  -- A record of conviction by a civilian court or an action equivalent to a finding of guilty for an offense where the maximum confinement penalty authorized for the offense is one year or less

  -- Written letters of reprimand, admonition, or counseling

  -- Confirmed incidents involving discrimination or sexual harassment of personnel

- Mandatory Entries: The following information must be placed into a UIF:

  -- Records of nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the UCMJ when punishment is suspended OR when the punishment period is in excess of one month (maximum two year disposition). Commanders may only remove the record early if the punishment is complete.

  -- Records of conviction by civilian courts or actions equivalent to a finding of guilty of an offense which resulted in or could have resulted in a penalty of confinement for more than one year or death (maximum two year disposition)

  -- Records of court-martial convictions (maximum two year disposition). Only the wing commander or convening authority (whichever is higher in rank) may remove a court-martial order early, and it cannot be removed if the court-martial punishment, sentence, judgment or action is incomplete.

  -- Control roster actions (maximum one year disposition)
Officers

- An officer UIF must be established when an officer receives nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the UCMJ (regardless of punishment imposed), a letter of reprimand (LOR), or a court-martial conviction.

  -- A record of court-martial conviction must remain for a period of four years or PCS plus one year (whichever is later), only the wing commander or the convening authority (whichever is higher in rank) may remove it early, and it cannot be removed if the court-martial punishment, sentence, judgment, or action is incomplete.

  -- Records of nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the UCMJ and LORs remain on file for a maximum period of two years, and only the wing commander or issuing authority/imposing commander (whichever is higher in rank) may remove them early. A record of nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 may only be removed early if the punishment is complete.

- A UIF must be established when an officer is convicted by a civilian court or there is an action equivalent to a finding of guilty of an offense which resulted in or could have resulted in a penalty of confinement for more than one year or death. A record of a civilian conviction remains on file for a period of four years, or PCS plus one year (whichever is later). Only the wing commander may remove it early.

- A UIF must be established when an officer is placed on the control roster. Placement on the control roster remains on file for one year, and only the wing commander or issuing authority (whichever is higher in rank) may remove it early.

- Letters of admonition and letters of counseling may be filed in a UIF.

  -- If filed in the UIF, they will stay in the UIF for a period of no more than two years and only the wing commander or the issuing authority (whichever is higher in rank) may remove them early.

  -- If not filed in the UIF, they must be filed in the member's personnel information file (PIF), and they will stay in the PIF until the officer's PCS.
ACCESS AND REVIEW

- Access: Besides the commander, only certain individuals are to have access to UIFs and their contents

  -- The member who has the UIF

  -- First sergeants

  -- Rating officials, when preparing to write or endorse a performance report or when preparing a promotion recommendation

  -- The senior Air Force officer or commander of an Air Force element in a joint command

  -- The Air Force element section commander in a joint command

  -- MPF personnel, IG personnel, inspection team members, legal office personnel, law enforcement personnel, MEO personnel, and substance abuse counselors authorized by the commander to review the document in the course of their official Air Force duties

  -- Program managers for Air Force Reserve programs

- Review: All UIFs require periodic review to ensure continued maintenance of documents in the UIF is proper

  - The unit commander must review all UIFs

  -- Within 90 days of assuming or being appointed to command

  -- Annually, with the assistance of the staff judge advocate

  -- Whenever individuals are being considered for, among other things, promotion, reenlistment, PCS, PRP duties, retraining, EPRs, or OPRs

  -- Whenever Reserve members are being considered for in-residence professional military education or Reserve short courses, a statutory tour or an active duty tour over 30 days, or appointment or enlistment into the Air Force Reserve

Quality Force Management

CONTROL ROSTERS

Commanders at all levels are authorized to use a control roster for individuals whose duty performance is substandard or who fail to meet or maintain Air Force standards of conduct, bearing, or integrity, on or off duty.

PURPOSE
- The control roster is a rehabilitative tool
- Control rosters assist commanders in controlling or evaluating a member’s performance and provide the member an opportunity to improve that performance
- A single incident of substandard duty performance or an isolated breach of standards not likely to be repeated should not ordinarily be a basis for a control roster action. Other rehabilitative tools should be considered before placing a member on the control roster.
- Placing an individual on the control roster is not a substitute for more appropriate administrative, judicial, or nonjudicial action. Additionally, individuals are not shielded from other appropriate actions by virtue of being placed on the control roster.

PROCEDURE
- Commanders place an individual on the control roster by using AF IMT 1058, which puts the member on notice that his/her performance and behavior must improve or he/she will face more severe administrative action or punishment
  -- Members acknowledge receipt of the action and have three duty days to respond before the AF IMT 1058 is finalized. (If the member is a non-EAD Reserve member who has departed the duty area prior to these three duty days, the commander may send the AF IMT 1058 via certified mail to the member’s address or best available address, and the individual will be presumed to be in receipt of this correspondence. The Reserve member has 30 calendar days from receipt to acknowledge the notification and provide pertinent information before a final decision is made.)
  -- The control roster observation period may last for up to six months for active duty personnel. (HQ AFRC or HQ AFPC may establish longer observation periods, not to exceed 12 months, for Reserve personnel if deemed appropriate.)
  -- Commanders at all levels have the authority to add enlisted members to or remove them from the control roster
  -- Commanders at all levels have the authority to add officers (if the commander is senior to the officer) to a control roster, but officers can only be removed from a control roster by the wing commander or issuing authority, whichever is higher in rank
If the member’s conduct or performance does not improve during the observation period, the commander should consider whether a more severe response is required, such as initiating an administrative discharge.

Commanders may direct an OPR or EPR before entering or removing the person from the control roster, or both.

UIF action is required if an individual is placed on the control roster.

Numerous personnel actions are affected by placing a member on a control roster, including, but not limited to the following:

- PCS/PCA reassignment is limited. (For Reserve assignments, individuals remain eligible for PCS while on the control roster, though the gaining commander or IMA program manager will decide if the assignment is appropriate.)

- All formal training must be canceled

- Eligibility for promotions and reenlistments is limited

CHAPTER TWO  Quality Force Management  39

ADMINISTRATIVE DEMOTIONS

An administrative demotion is another quality force management tool commanders have available to help ensure a quality enlisted force. In cases where demotion actions may be appropriate, members should be given the opportunity to overcome their deficiencies prior to the initiation of the action.

DEMOPTION AND APPELLATE AUTHORITIES

- The demotion authority is the group commander (or equivalent level commander) for master sergeants (E-7) and below. For senior master sergeants (E-8) and chief master sergeants (E-9), the MAJCOM/CC, FOA/CC, or DRU/CC is the demotion authority (unless delegated to the CV, CS, MP, DP, or NAF/CC). (For Reserve members, AFRC/CV is the demotion authority for E-8 and E-9.)

- The appellate authority is the next level commander

REASONS FOR DEMOTION

- Do not use administrative demotions when it is more appropriate to take action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice

- The basis for the demotion must have occurred in the current enlistment unless the commander does not become aware of the facts and circumstances until the subsequent enlistment

- If a sufficient reason exists to initiate a demotion action, a commander should use the entire military record in deciding whether a demotion action is appropriate

- Reasons for demotion include:

  -- Officer trainees or pipeline students if eliminated from training

  -- Termination of student status of members attending TDY Air Force schools

  -- Failure to maintain or attain the appropriate skill/grade level

  -- Failure to fulfill NCO responsibilities, as defined in AFI 36-2618, The Enlisted Force Structure

  -- Failure to keep fit

  -- Failure to perform

  -- For Reserve members: Not participating in reserve training, per AFI 36-2254, Vol 1, Reserve Personnel Participation
Due Process

- Commanders should consult with the servicing staff judge advocate prior to initiation to ensure appropriateness of the action and legal sufficiency.

- The following procedures must be followed in an administrative demotion action:

  -- The immediate commander notifies the member in writing of the intention to recommend demotion, citing the paragraph, the demotion authority if other than the initiating commander, and the recommended grade. The notification must also include the specific reasons for the demotion and a complete summary of the supporting facts.

  -- The immediate commander informs the member of his right to counsel and the right to respond within three (3) duty days (30 calendar days for non-EAD Reserve members) orally, in writing, or both.

  --- The initiating commander should get a signed acknowledgement of receipt of the action from the member. If a Reserve member does not respond within 30 calendar days, the proposed demotion action can proceed.

  --- The initiating commander must also inform eligible members of their right to apply for retirement in lieu of demotion.

  -- Following the member's response, if the commander elects to continue the proceedings, the case file is forwarded with a summary of the member's written and verbal statements to the military personnel flight for processing prior to forwarding to the demotion authority.

  -- The member must be notified in writing of the decision to forward the action to the demotion authority.

  -- The demotion authority obtains a written legal review before making a decision.

  -- The demotion authority may demote more grades than recommended by the initiating commander.

  -- If the demotion authority decides to demote the member, the member is informed of his right to appeal.
“Demotable” Grades
- The following demotions are permitted:
  -- E-2 to E-1
  -- E-3 to E-2
  -- E-4 through E-9 may be demoted to E-3; however, a demotion of three or more grades is only appropriate when no reasonable hope exists that the member will ever show the proficiency, leadership, or fitness that earned the initial promotion.

Restoration of Grade
- Once the demotion action is complete, the demotion authority may, if appropriate, restore the member’s original grade between three months and six months after the effective date of the demotion.

Demotion of Reserve Members
- In December 2009, the AFI covering demotions of active duty and Reserve members was rescinded but the new AFI only covered demotions of active duty members. Until that error is corrected, commanders should rely on AFPD 36-35 as authority for reserve demotions. The procedures from the new AFI can be followed when processing reserve demotions with appropriate modifications regarding contacts with Reserve members.

- The immediate commander can, when necessary, use certified mail sent to the Reserve member’s address or best available address when notifying a Reserve member of his/her intent to recommend demotion, and, when applicable, his/her intent to forward the demotion action to the demotion authority.

- The demotion authority may also use certified mail to notify a Reserve member of his/her decision to demote the member and of the member’s right to appeal. Reserve members not on EAD have 30 calendar days to submit his/her appeal.

SELECTIVE REENLISTMENT

The selective reenlistment program (SRP) is designed to ensure only enlisted members who consistently demonstrate the capability and willingness to maintain high professional standards are afforded the privilege of continued military service.

- Commanders have total SRP selection and nonselection authority

- Decisions should be in line with other qualitative recommendations, such as promotion, and must be based upon substantial evidence. Commanders may reverse their decisions at any time.

- The SRP applies to all enlisted personnel eligible for consideration or reconsideration

- SRP nonselection makes members ineligible for promotion and automatically cancels projected promotion line numbers

- Commanders will conduct early SRP consideration for members who have not previously received formal SRP consideration, are otherwise eligible to reenlist, and request early separation for the following reasons:
  -- PALACE CHASE
  -- Early separation directed by HQ USAF (except special separation benefit/voluntary separation incentive)
  -- Officer training program, other than AFROTC
  -- Early release to further education
  -- Sole surviving son or daughter
  -- Early release from extension
  -- Accepting public office
  -- Miscellaneous reasons
  -- Pregnancy or childbirth
  -- End of year early release

- Immediate supervisors are responsible for ensuring members meet quality standards
-- Provide unit commanders with recommendations of a member’s career potential

-- Prepare AF IMT 418, Selective Reenlistment Program Consideration

- Unit commanders consider the supervisor’s recommendation, the member’s duty performance and career force potential before making a decision

-- If the member is selected for reenlistment, the commander completes the SRP roster

-- If the supervisor recommends nonselection or the commander nonconcurs with the supervisor’s recommendation to allow the member to reenlist, the commander must:

--- Notify the member of the specific reasons for nonselection, areas needing improvement, appeal opportunity, promotion ineligibility, and the possibility of future reconsideration and selection

--- Permit the member three workdays to decide whether to appeal the decision

- The appellate authority may be the group commander, wing commander, or SecAF, depending on the member’s length of service

- A legal review is only required when a member appeals SRP decisions; however, it is recommended that commanders contact the servicing legal office prior to notifying a member of a nonselection decision

- Coordination with the legal office can identify any potential problems with the package and avoid issues during the appeal process

- Note that once a member is re-enlisted any misconduct that took place in the earlier enlistment cannot be used as a basis for an Administrative Discharge Action

Reference:
The quality of the Air Force Reserve program depends on the quality of its enlisted members. To keep highly qualified, motivated USAFR members is essential to mission accomplishment. Reenlistment in the Air Force Reserve is not a right; it is a privilege. It obliges the individual to serve in the active military service in the event of mobilization.

Commanders are instructed to appoint a career noncommissioned officer NCO (staff sergeant or above) at the 7 or 9 skill-level to serve as unit career advisor (UCA) to administer the Airmen Career Retention Program.

- Unit supervisors give the unit commander recommendations on members being considered for reenlistment.
- Unit commanders consider the supervisor’s recommendation, the member’s duty performance and career force potential before making a decision.
- Unit commanders make the final decision on whether a person is eligible for reenlistment or extension.

Certain factors preclude reenlistment. (See AFI 36-2612, United States Air Force Reserve (USAFR) Reenlistment and Retention Program, Table 6.2.)

- Even when policy does not prohibit a member from reenlisting, the commander should carefully consider whether the member meets the Air Force’s quality standards.

Nonselection for Reenlistment

- It is recommended that commanders contact the servicing legal office prior to notifying a member of a nonselection decision.
- The commander or supervisor completes AF Form 418, Selective Reenlistment Program Consideration, when not selecting a member for reenlistment and sends it to the retention program manager.
  - Even though it is not necessary to articulate the reasons for the decision on the form, commanders should have a valid justification for their decision.
  - Except for physical disability or for cause, members may not be separated if they have completed at least 18 but less than 20 years satisfactory service for retirement purposes.
- Members who have not been selected for reenlistment have a right to appeal

  -- The member must submit a written appeal to MPF by the next scheduled UTA after the date he or she was notified

  -- Members may appeal nonselection for reenlistment through one of two options:

  --- Unit members may appeal to their senior reserve commander for final selection or nonselection authority

  --- Members may request appointment of an appeal board to consider the case

- If the unit commander selects a member for reenlistment but later deems the member ineligible to reenlist, the commander prepares AF Form 418 and processes it as if it were an initial nonselection

OFFICER AND ENLISTED PERFORMANCE REPORTS

The single most important element needed for successful mission accomplishment is performance. The officer and enlisted evaluation systems emphasize the importance of performance and serve a variety of purposes. First, they provide meaningful feedback to individuals on what is expected of them, advice on how well they are meeting those expectations, and advice on how to better meet those expectations. Second, they provide a reliable, long-term, cumulative record of performance and potential based on that performance. Finally, they provide officer central selection boards, senior NCO evaluation boards, the weighted airman promotion system, and other personnel managers sound information to assist in identifying the best qualified officer and enlisted personnel.

The following is a summary of officer performance reports (OPRs) and enlisted performance reports (EPRs). A properly prepared performance report is critical in determining who should be selected for advancement and should accurately reflect an individual’s performance. As a key quality force indicator, it should take into account any adverse administrative or punitive actions taken against the individual.

AIRMAN COMPREHENSIVE ASSESSMENT (ACA)
- Airman Comprehensive Assessment (ACA) is a private, formal communication a rater uses to tell a ratee what is expected regarding duty performance, responsibility, accountability, and Air Force culture, and how well the ratee is meeting those expectations. The rater documents the ratee’s performance on a ACA worksheet. Providing feedback encourages positive communication, improves performance, and professional growth.

- The rater is responsible for preparing, scheduling, and conducting the feedback session. These sessions can only be productive when supervisors stay abreast of current standards and expectations. They must provide realistic feedback to improve the ratee’s performance and written comments, not just marks on the form. Any behavior that may result in further administrative or punitive action should be documented in a separate document.

- The rater provides the original ACA worksheet to the ratee. The rater may keep a copy for personal reference, but the ACA worksheet will not be made part of any official personnel record or be included in an individual’s PIF, UNLESS the ratee introduces it first or alleges he or she did not receive required feedback or claims the sessions were inadequate.

- The ratee may use the completed form for any purpose he or she desires
PERFORMANCE REPORTS – REQUIRED AND PROHIBITED COMMENTS

- Some specific comments or entries are required and must be included in OPRs and EPRs. These comments should be drafted as stated in the AFI. Slight deviations are allowed, but entries significantly deviating from the recommended format are unacceptable. These comments and entries include, but are not limited to:

  -- For a referral report or training report (TR), the evaluator must specifically detail the behavior or performance that caused the report to be referred (referral reports are discussed in detail below)

  -- Explaining any significant disagreement with a previous evaluator on a performance report

  -- Comments relating to the ratee’s behavior are mandatory on the ratee’s next OPR, EPR, TR, and an officer’s next promotion recommendation form (PRF), if the ratee has been convicted by court-martial

  -- If performance feedback was not accomplished, comment on that fact is mandatory

- Certain comments are inappropriate to include in performance reports. Some of the common mistakes include, among others:

  -- Promotion recommendations for officers

  -- Duty history or performance outside the current reporting period, except as allowed in AFI 36-2406, paragraphs 1.12.6.5 and 1.12.7.1

  -- Comments referring to ACA sessions, except in the “Performance Feedback Certification” block

  -- Events that occur after the close-out date

  -- Any action against an individual that resulted in an acquittal or failure to implement an intended personnel action. This does not necessarily bar commenting on the underlying misconduct that formed the basis for the action, but consult with the servicing staff judge advocate before doing so.

  -- Actions taken by a member outside the normal chain of command that represent guaranteed rights of appeal, such as issues raised with the inspector general

  -- Race, ethnic origin, gender, age, or religion of the ratee

-- Participation in drug or alcohol abuse rehabilitation programs

-- Performance as a court-martial member

-- Punishment received as a result of an administrative or judicial action. Restrict comments to the conduct or behavior that resulted in the action

REFERRAL REPORTS

- Certain comments or ratings in a performance report may result in it being “referred” to the ratee for comments. An evaluator whose ratings or comments cause a report to become a referral report must give the ratee a chance to comment on the report. Referral procedures are established to allow the ratee to respond to the items that make a report a referral before it becomes a matter of record.

- Refer a performance report when:

  -- An evaluator marks “Does Not Meet Standards” in any performance factor in Section IX of the OPR or places a mark in the far left block of any performance factor in Section III or marks a rating of “1” in Section V of an EPR; or

  -- Any comments or attachments are derogatory; imply/refer to behavior incompatible with standards of personal or professional conduct, character, judgment, or integrity; and/or refer to disciplinary actions

- The procedures involved when referring an OPR or EPR are provided in AFI 36-2406, beginning with paragraph 3.9 (see AFI 36-2406, Figure 3.1, for referral memorandum)

OFFICER PROMOTION PROPRIETY ACTIONS

Officer promotion propriety action by a commander includes presenting information to SecAF or a selection board to find an officer is not qualified for promotion, removing an officer from a promotion list, or delaying a promotion date. If an officer is not qualified to perform the duties of the next grade, the proper authority must take promotion propriety action before the effective date of promotion. If commanders or supervisors have information showing an officer is not qualified to perform the duties of the next grade, they should discuss that information with the servicing Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) to determine whether sufficient evidence exists to support a proprietary action.

PRELIMINARY CONSIDERATIONS
- Before taking a promotion propriety action, the commander must determine if a preponderance of the evidence shows it is more likely than not that the officer is not mentally, physically, morally, or professionally qualified to perform the duties of a higher grade.

- Unqualified officers should neither be selected for promotion nor allowed to remain on a promotion list if already selected. Accordingly, several tools are available to ensure that unqualified officers are not promoted.

NOT QUALIFIED FOR PROMOTION (NQP)
- When it is more likely than not that an officer is not mentally, physically, morally, or professionally qualified to perform the duties of the higher grade, the commander recommends the SecAF find the officer NQP.

- The officer’s immediate commander initiates the recommendation to find the officer NQP and forwards it with appropriate coordination to the major command commander for review.

- For officers meeting central selection boards, the NQP recommendation case file must arrive at HQ AFPC/DPPPO before the board convenes. This recommendation is valid for only one selection board.

- Before separating a second lieutenant found NQP, an attempt should be made to retain the officer on active duty for six months from the date promotion would have occurred unless retention is inconsistent with good order and discipline and give the officer an opportunity to overcome any problem and qualify for promotion.
Removal from a Promotion List

- A commander may initiate action to remove an officer from a promotion list when it is more likely than not that an officer is not mentally, physically, morally, or professionally qualified to perform the duties of the higher grade.

- The officer’s immediate commander initiates the removal action and forwards it with appropriate coordination to the major command commander for review. The package then goes to SecAF, who must approve any removal action.

- The immediate commander’s notification of the officer of the removal action automatically delays the officer’s promotion until SecAF makes a decision on the removal action.

Delaying a Promotion

- The action should be initiated when there is cause to believe the officer is not mentally, physically, morally or professionally qualified to perform the duties of the higher grade.

- The officer’s immediate commander initiates the delay of promotion before the effective date of promotion and forwards it with appropriate coordination to the major command commander for review. The delay is effective when the immediate commander notifies the officer of the delay, either verbally or in writing.

- The major command commander approves initial promotion delays up to 6 months, although SecAF may grant extensions for up to an additional 12 months. The officer may make a written response to SecAF.

Propriety Action Procedures

- The commander must inform the officer, verbally or in writing, of the propriety action before the effective date of promotion.

- Notification in writing is preferred. If written notification is not possible, confirm the action in writing as soon as possible.

- The action itself must contain a clear statement of reasons for the decision and must list the evidence supporting the action. It must also show that the affected officer had an opportunity to review the information.

- The officer should acknowledge the action and be allowed five working days to respond. Include in the package any comment from the officer.

- AFI 36-2501, Table 5.1 contains procedures for processing propriety actions.
Reserve and Air National Guard Officers

- Commanders have the responsibility to ensure that officers in the Air Force Reserves and Air National Guard have the necessary qualifications to meet the responsibilities of a higher grade.

- Commanders of officers in the Air Force Reserves and Air National Guard initiate a promotion propriety action when there is cause to believe that the officer is not mentally, physically, morally, or professionally qualified to perform duties of a higher grade.

- An officer’s wing commander or equivalent initiates the promotion propriety action.

- The procedures for actions involving officers in the Air Force Reserves and Air National Guard can be found in AFI 36-2504, Table 7.1.

Enlisted Promotion Propriety Actions

Air Force promotion policy is to select individuals (active duty or reserve) for promotion based on potential to serve in the next higher grade. Only the best should be promoted due to the limited vacancies in higher grades. The responsibility for maintaining a quality enlisted force rests with commanders who make recommendations for promotions. The following tools are available to commanders when managing enlisted promotions.

Nonrecommendation
- An enlisted member is considered ineligible for promotion when nonrecommended or removed from the promotion list by the promotion authority before the effective date of promotion, commonly referred to as “redlining”
- Typical grounds for removal include poor or declining performance trends or recent serious misconduct
- A promotion authority can nonrecommend E-3s and below in monthly increments up to 6 months. All other ranks are nonrecommended for a specific promotion cycle.
- Airmen also become ineligible for promotion under other circumstances as outlined in AFI 36-2502, Table 1.1, which include, but are not limited to:
  -- Placement on the control roster
  -- Serving a probationary period as part of an involuntary discharge action
  -- Under a suspended reduction in grade imposed through nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ)
  -- Conviction by court-martial or undergoing punishment or suspended punishment imposed by a court-martial
  -- Conviction by a civilian court or undergoing punishment or suspended punishment, probation, or work release program, excluding minor traffic violations

Withholding
- The immediate commander has the authority to withhold a promotion for up to one year after a member’s selection for the next higher grade, but before the effective date of promotion
- A higher authority (wing or equivalent level commander) must approve extensions beyond a year
- This action allows the commander to evaluate unique or unusual events so a sound promotion decision can be made. It is not intended to be used when there is substandard performance or behavioral problems.

- The reasons for withholding actions can be found in AFI 36-2502, Table 1.2, which include, but are not limited to, when the member is:
  -- Awaiting a decision on an application as a conscientious objector
  -- Under court-martial or civilian charges
  -- Placed into the alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment program (ADAPT)
  -- Under investigation or the subject of an inquiry (formal or informal) that may result in action under the UCMJ or prosecution by civilian authorities
  -- When requested by the member’s commander based on other reasons with prior approval from the individual’s wing commander

- If the commander terminates the withhold action, the member receives his original DOR, and the effective date is the date the commander terminates the withhold action and recommends promotion

DEFERRAL
- The promotion authority may defer promotion to E-5 or higher for up to 3 months. Members awaiting promotion to the grades of E-1 to E-4 are not subject to promotion deferral.

- A deferral action is begun to determine if the member meets acceptable behavior and performance standards for the higher grade. If there is clear evidence an NCO is not suited to take on the increased responsibilities of the higher grade, then nonrecommendation is the right course of action, not deferral.

- The date of rank and effective date is the first day of the month after the deferral period ends

PROCEDURES
- In all instances of nonrecommending, deferring, and withholding promotions, the commander
  -- Informs the member of adverse actions in writing or verbally before the promotion effective date, confirming verbal notification in writing within 5 workdays
  -- The notification includes specific reasons, dates, occurrences, and duration of the action
-- The individual should acknowledge receipt of the notification or confirmation

-- Files the letter and the airman’s acknowledgment in the unit personnel record group (UPRG)

RESERVE ENLISTED MEMBERS

- Commanders have the responsibility to ensure that reserve enlisted members have the necessary qualifications to meet the responsibilities of a higher grade

- If the preponderance of the evidence indicates it is more likely than not that a reserve enlisted member does not have the qualifications to be promoted, the member’s commander can disapprove the promotion using AF IMT 224

Nonjudicial punishment (NJP) under Article 15, Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), provides commanders with an essential and prompt means of maintaining good order and discipline and also promotes positive behavior changes in service members without the stigma of a court-martial conviction.

Overview
- Generally, any commander who is a commissioned officer may impose NJP for minor offenses committed by members under his/her command.

- Some unique rules apply to situations involving Reserve members

  -- AFRC unit commanders have UCMJ authority over Reserve members assigned or attached to their respective units, even if the Reserve member is deployed. Although active commanders of Reserve members have concurrent UCMJ authority over all Reserve members attached to their respective units, i.e., on temporary duty or deployed, prior coordination with the Reserve member’s parent organization commander is required.

  -- The Readiness Group (RMG) commander has UCMJ authority over all Individual Mobilization Augmentees (IMAs)(Category B Reservists) attached or assigned to the RMG. Active Duty commanders have concurrent UCMJ authority over CAT B reservists attached to their unit for reserve duty, for temporary duty, or for deployment.

  -- Authority to issue NJP on AFRC commissioned officers is withheld from all Reserve commanders, except those who are general officers or who exercise general court-martial convening authority and their principal assistants to whom Article 15 power has been delegated under the AFI.

Procedures
- The offense must violate the UCMJ

  -- A Reserve member is subject to UCMJ jurisdiction for offenses committed while on active duty or inactive duty training (Title 10) status at the time of the alleged offense. In making this determination, the commander must ask two questions:

  -- (1) Was the member in military status at the time he/she committed the alleged misconduct? If not, then no UCMJ jurisdiction exits.

  --- A member in active status (i.e., special tour, annual tour) is subject to the UCMJ from the beginning to the end of the tour, 24 hours a day. In certain circumstances, a Reserve member may also be subject to the UCMJ for acts committed during a travel day associated with active duty orders.

--- Generally, a member performing inactive duty training (IDT) or a unit training assembly (UTA) is subject to the UCMJ from the beginning to the end of the duty, i.e., 0730–1630. All Article 15 correspondence relating to Air Force members for offenses occurring while on inactive duty for training (IDT) must be processed through AFRC channels to HQ AFRC.

--- An Air Force Reserve member is not, by virtue of the termination of a period of active duty or inactive-duty training, “shielded” from jurisdiction and discipline for an offense committed during such period of active duty or inactive-duty training.

--- Even if the Reserve member was not in military status, the commander is authorized to take administrative action, including letters of counseling, admonishment, and reprimand.

--- (2) Will the Reserve member be in military status at the time the commander is authorized to take administrative action, including letters of counseling, admonishment, and reprimand?

--- Commanders can always ask Reserve members to voluntarily submit to UCMJ jurisdiction by extending his/her tour or IDT/UTA. In the alternative, commanders can wait until the member’s next scheduled training to offer Article 15 punishment.

--- In deciding whether or not an offense is minor, commanders should consider:

--- The nature of the offense and the circumstances surrounding its commission

--- The need for good order and discipline

--- The member’s age, rank, duty assignment, record, and experience

--- The effect of NJP on the member and the member’s record

--- In the case of members attached to the command, the TDY commander should confer with the member’s parent organization to determine the member’s background, past duty performance, and other relevant factors before initiating action.

--- Ordinarily, an offense is not considered minor if the offense is one for which the maximum imposable punishment at a general court-martial includes a dishonorable discharge or confinement for more than one year.
The decision whether an offense is “minor” is a matter of discretion for the commander imposing NJP.

Unless the member is AWOL or fleeing from justice, nonjudicial punishment MAY NOT be imposed for offenses which were committed more than 2 years before the date of imposition of punishment.

Commanders must confer with the staff judge advocate (SJA), or a designee, before initiating nonjudicial punishment proceedings AND before imposing punishment. The military justice section of the base legal office prepares the Air Force (AF) IMT 3070, Record of Nonjudicial Punishment Proceedings.

An AF IMT 3070A is used to impose NJP on a member in the grade of Airman Basic through Technical Sergeant.

While no specific standard of proof is applicable to NJP proceedings, commanders should recognize that a member is entitled to demand trial by court-martial, where proof beyond a reasonable doubt by competent evidence is required for conviction. Commanders should consider whether such proof is available before initiating action under Article 15. If not, NJP is usually not warranted.

Commanders should consider the maximum punishment that can be imposed based on the commander’s grade and the grade of the member when deciding whether a more senior commander should impose NJP. Limitations are on the AF IMT 3070 and in AFI 51-202, Tables 3.1 and 3.2 (attached).

Commanders initiate NJP action by serving the AF IMT 3070. (A Reserve commander must be in Title 10 status to offer NJP and sign AF IMT 3070, and the Reserve member must be in Title 10 status when served the AF IMT 3070. A Reserve member generally cannot be involuntarily ordered to a duty status solely for purposes of initiating or completing NJP actions, although a MAJCOM commander or equivalent may grant waivers in appropriate cases.)

Commanders should serve the AF IMT 3070 on members within 21 days of the “date of discovery.” The date of discovery is identified as the date when an investigative agency (e.g., OSI, SFOI, IG, legal office, or commander, supervisor or first sergeant) becomes aware of an allegation and has identified a subject. (For Category A Reserve members, NJP should generally be offered no later than the next Unit Training Assembly (UTA) after the offense is discovered or the investigation is completed. For Category B Reserve members, NJP should be offered as soon as possible after facts become known by the member’s commander which indicate that an offense may have been committed.

-- Failure to meet this suggested processing goal does not preclude commanders from initiating NJP proceedings at a later date.

- Once notified of NJP proceedings, by way of the AF IMT 3070, members are allowed three duty days to respond. Upon written application and for good cause, the initiating commander may approve a request for additional time to respond. (A Reserve member not in Title 10 status for at least 72 hours after being offered NJP should be required to respond at the start of the next military duty day (i.e., UTA), provided at least 72 hours have passed since the NJP was offered. A failure to respond within 30 calendar days is considered a waiver of his/her right to respond, unless an extension is granted.)

-- Commanders should encourage members to consult with the area defense counsel (ADC) in all cases. The AF IMT 3070 requires that an appointment with an ADC be established on behalf of a member prior to the commander notifying that member of the commander’s intent to impose NJP. Typically, an ADC appointment will be arranged for the member by the First Sergeant or by legal office personnel before the member is notified of the commander’s intent to impose NJP. (The servicing active duty ADC located nearest to the Reserve member’s unit normally provides defense services to a Reserve member facing NJP.)

-- Once served with the AF IMT 3070, the member has the right to examine all statements and evidence upon which the commander intends to rely in arriving at a decision to impose punishment, and as to the quantum of punishment to be imposed, unless the matters are privileged or restricted by law, regulation, or instruction. The legal office normally supplies the evidence to the ADC.

-- If the member fails to indicate within three duty days (30 days for Non-EAD reservists) whether he or she will accept the Article 15, the commander may continue with the proceedings. The commander notes the member’s failure to respond on the AF IMT 3070.

-- The member’s failure to respond in time is deemed acceptance of NJP proceedings. However, if the commander believes the failure to respond was for reasons beyond the member’s control, the commander may not proceed with NJP action. Consult with the SJA on this matter.

-- If a member decides to accept NJP, he or she is entitled to present matters in defense, mitigation, and extenuation. (The Reserve commander and member must be in Title
The Military Commander and the Law

10 status when the Reserve member executes the acknowledgement of his/her rights and makes the decision to accept or reject NJP.)

--- Acceptance of NJP is not an admission of guilt. It is simply a choice by the member not to assert the right to a trial by court-martial and to instead allow the commander to determine whether the member is guilty or not guilty of the alleged offense and the punishment, if any, to be imposed.

--- Members may present matters in person, in writing, or both

-- A member is generally entitled to appear personally before the imposing commander and present matters in defense, mitigation, or extenuation, except under extraordinary circumstances or when the imposing commander is unavailable. (The Reserve commander and member must both be in Title 10 status at the time of this personal presentation.) If the member chooses to make a personal appearance, the member also has the right to:

--- Be accompanied by a spokesperson (who does not have to be a lawyer)

--- Present witnesses who are reasonably available

-- A member may request that a personal presentation be open to the public. The commander may open the personal appearance to the public, even though the member does not request it or agree that the appearance should be open. However, public NJP at commander’s calls, unit training assemblies and other public gatherings is inappropriate. NJP proceedings may be attended by a limited number of people in a more private setting, i.e., the commander’s office. The individuals in attendance at NJP proceedings should normally be limited to those in the member’s supervisory chain or people who can assist the commander in making a decision.

- After the personal presentation (if one is requested), and after a full and fair consideration of all matters in defense, mitigation, and extenuation, the commander must decide:

-- Whether or not the member committed the offense

-- If so, what punishment to impose. Note that, aside from determination that NJP is warranted and, if warranted, determination of level of NJP, the commander should refrain from discussing what punishment should be imposed until determining the member committed the offense.

Punishment

- Commanders are required to confer with the SJA before imposing punishment except where impracticable due to military exigencies. The legal office will normally type the appropriate punishment language on the AF IMT 3070. (The Reserve commander must be in Title 10 status to impose punishment on the member. If the Reserve member is unavailable to accept the punishment for the Article 15 action, the Reserve commander may serve the punishment by certified mail.)

- Commanders should tailor the punishment to the offense AND the member

  -- Ordinarily, the commander should impose the least severe punishment sufficient to correct and/or rehabilitate the member

  -- For example, an unsuspended reduction in grade ("hard bust") may be reserved for repeat offenders, cases where past rehabilitative efforts have failed, or for the most serious offenses

  -- Punishment limitations based upon the commander’s grade and the member’s grade are summarized in AFI 51-202, Tables 3.1 and 3.2 (attached), and on page 3 of the AF IMT 3070

  -- There are limitations on the combination of certain punishments

  --- The Remotivation Program (also known as the Correctional Custody Program) is a discipline option only available at installations where the Wing Commander has established a Remotivation program consistent with MAJCOM/A7S guidance.)

  --- If restriction and extra duties are combined, they must run concurrently (i.e., at the same time) and must not exceed the maximum time imposable for extra duties (45 days when field grade or general officers impose punishment; 14 days when company grade officers impose punishment)

  --- Arrest in quarters (officers only) cannot be combined with restriction

  -- There are limitations on the punishment that can be imposed on Reserve members

  --- Because a Reserve member cannot be required to arrive before, or remain after, a UTA to serve NJP, the Remotivation Program, arrest in quarters, restriction to base or extra duties should not be imposed unless the Reserve member is expected to serve on EAD or perform an Annual Tour

  --- Barring a Reserve member from participating in UTAs is not an authorized punishment under Article 15, UCMJ

  --- Since Reserve members not on EAD typically work only 2 days of military duty per month, the forfeiture provision of the Article 15 does not carry the same disciplin ary weight for Reserve members as for active duty members. If the member does not perform any duty during the stated period of the sentence, no forfeiture collection will be made.

-- Unless the commander otherwise specifies, unsuspended reductions in grade and forfeitures take effect on the date the commander imposes punishment. All other unsuspended punishments take effect immediately upon notification to the member. Suspension of a punishment takes effect on the imposition date.

Appeals

- Members are entitled to appeal nonjudicial punishment to the commander who imposed the original punishment and to the next superior authority in the commander’s chain of command.

-- The member may appeal when he or she considers the punishment to be unjust or disproportionate to the offense. A member may assert the punishment was unjust because the offense was not committed. Thus, the guilty finding, the punishment, or both may be appealed. (A Reserve member is not required to make this appeal election in Title 10 status or in person.)

-- Members must appeal the punishment within five calendar days unless they request an extension in writing within the five calendar days and the commander imposing the punishment grants it for good cause. (Reserve members not in Title 10 status for at least five days following receipt of punishment waive their appeal rights by failing to make an election within 30 calendar days of that receipt.)

-- Members must submit all evidence supporting an appeal to the commander who imposed the original punishment. (If a Reserve member makes a personal presentation to the commander for the appeal, both the Reserve member and commander must be in Title 10 status.)

-- After considering any new matters submitted by the member, the imposing commander may deny all relief, grant partial relief, or grant all relief requested by the member. If the imposing commander does not grant all the requested relief, he or she must forward the appeal to the appellate authority through the servicing SJA. If the imposing commander is a section commander of a squadron, the next superior authority is the squadron commander’s superior commander.

-- The appellate authority may deny all relief, grant partial relief, or grant all relief requested by the member. The appellate authority’s decision is final.

-- Punishments are not stayed during the appeal process. However, if the commander and/or appellate authority fail to take action on an appeal within five days after submission, and if the member so requests, any unexecuted punishment involving restraint or extra duties will be delayed until after appeal.

SUPPLEMENTARY NONJUDICIAL PUNISHMENT ACTIONS

Supplementary nonjudicial punishment (NJP) actions are important tools for commanders to understand when dealing with NJP. Commanders are required to consult with the servicing staff judge advocate (SJA), or designee, before proceeding with any supplementary NJP actions.

- Procedure: Supplementary NJP actions are accomplished on Air Force IMT 3212, Record of Supplementary Action under Article 15, and are filed with the original NJP action. Members may request post-punishment relief (use the sample format in AFI 51-202, Atch 6), or the commander may grant such relief on his/her own initiative.

- Suspension: Suspension postpones all or part of a punishment for a specific probationary period. The suspended punishment is later remitted (canceled) if the member successfully completes the period of the suspension without either committing another offense under the UCMJ or violating a condition of the suspension specified by the commander. Commanders must consult with the servicing SJA, or designee, before imposing conditions on suspensions.

  -- Suspension is usually appropriate for a first-time offender or where there are persuasive extenuating or mitigating circumstances

  -- The period of a suspension may not exceed six months from the date of the suspension

  -- Commanders may, at any time, suspend any part or amount of the unexecuted punishment imposed. An executed punishment of reduction in grade or forfeiture may be suspended if accomplished within 4 months of the punishment being imposed.

  -- When a reduction in grade is later suspended, the member’s original date of rank, held before the reduction, is reinstated. However, the effective date of rank is the date of the document directing the suspension and the member is not entitled to back pay.

  -- If a member is undergoing a suspended reduction in grade, the member is ineligible for promotion, including testing and consideration if already tested. They are also ineligible to reenlist, but may be eligible for an extension of enlistment.

- Mitigation: Mitigation is a reduction in either the quantity or quality of a punishment, with its general nature remaining the same as the original punishment. Mitigation is appropriate when the member’s later good conduct merits a reduction in the punishment, or when the commander later determines the punishment imposed was disproportionate to the offense.

  -- With the exception of reduction in grade, only the unexecuted part or amount of the punishments can be mitigated
-- A reduction in grade may be mitigated even after it has been executed. Reduction in grade may only be mitigated to forfeitures and may only be done within four months after the date of execution. In such cases, the mitigation date will become the offender’s new date of rank and effective date of rank. The member will NOT be entitled to receive back pay.

-- Punishments involving loss of liberty, such as correctional custody or restriction, cannot be mitigated to forfeitures or reduction in grade

-- Mitigated restraints on liberty (for example mitigating correctional custody to extra duties) cannot run for a longer period than the remaining amount of punishment that was originally imposed

- Remission: Remission is the cancellation of any unexecuted portion of a punishment. Remission is appropriate under the same circumstances as mitigation.

-- Commanders may remit punishments any time before the execution of the punishment is completed

-- An unsuspended reduction in rank is executed at imposition, so it can never be remitted

- Set Aside: Set aside occurs when the punishment, or any part of the punishment, whether executed or unexecuted, is removed from the record. A set aside of all punishment voids the entire NJP action.

-- Any property, privileges, or rights, affected by the portion of the punishment set aside are restored to the member

-- Unlike suspension, mitigation, and remission, setting aside a punishment is not normally considered rehabilitative in nature and should not be used on a routine basis

-- Commanders should exercise this discretionary authority only in the rare and unusual case where a question concerning the guilt of the member arises or where the best interests of the Air Force are served by clearing the member’s record

-- Punishments should be set aside within a reasonable time (4 months, except in unusual circumstances) after the punishment is originally imposed

Vacating Suspended Nonjudicial Punishment

Vacating suspended nonjudicial punishment (NJP) means imposing punishment that was previously suspended either at the time the original NJP was imposed or as part of supplementary NJP relief. A commander (including a successor in command) may vacate the suspension of punishment under Article 15 if he or she had the authority to impose the original punishment. Commanders must consult the servicing SJA before taking action to vacate suspended punishment.

- Vacating a suspended punishment may be appropriate if, during the suspension period, the member violates either a condition of the suspension specified in writing by the commander or any punitive article of the UCMJ. With respect to a violation of a punitive article of the UCMJ, the new offense does not have to be serious enough to warrant imposition of NJP, nor does it have to be of the same nature as the original offense.

  -- Since vacation of suspension is an administrative action, a Reserve member does not have to be subject to the UCMJ when he/she commits an offense that serves as the basis for vacating suspended punishment

- A new serious offense may be the basis for a vacation action AND additional NJP action

Procedure for Vacation Actions

- The commander must notify and advise the member of the intended vacation action by causing the member to be served with an AF IMT 366, Record of Proceedings of Vacation of Suspended Nonjudicial Punishment. (The Reserve commander initiating the vacation action must be in Title 10 status when signing and serving the vacation action.) It contains:

  -- A description of the basis for the vacation, such as misconduct (new offense which the commander suspects the member has committed) or what condition of the member’s suspension was violated

  -- The fact that the commander is considering vacating the suspended punishment

  -- The member’s rights during the vacation proceedings

- The base legal office will type the language describing the offense and other pertinent information concerning the suspended punishment on the AF IMT 366

- The member must receive the AF IMT 366 during the period of the suspension, at which point the suspension period is stayed
MEMBER’S ELECTIONS

- The member has three duty days to make elections. (A reserve member not in Title 10 status for at least 72 hours after being served the vacation action should be required to respond at the start of the next military duty day (i.e., UTA), provided at least 72 hours have passed since the vacation was served. A failure to respond within 30 calendar days is considered a waiver of his/her right to respond, unless an extension is granted.)

- The member is entitled to consult with a lawyer, attach a written presentation, and/or request a personal appearance before the commander. (The Reserve commander and member must both be in Title 10 status at the time the member makes his/her election and during any personal appearance made by the Reserve member.)

- If the member fails to respond within three duty days (30 days for a non-EAD reserve member), the commander can continue by noting in item 3 of the AF IMT 366 “member failed to respond.” However, if the commander believes the failure to respond was out of the member’s control, the commander may not proceed with the vacation proceedings without good cause.

- The member does not have the right to demand a trial by court-martial during a vacation action

COMMANDER’S DECISION

- Following the commander’s consideration of the evidence, including any matters presented by the member, the commander (who must be in Title 10 status if he/she is a Reserve commander) takes one of the following actions on the AF IMT 366:

  -- Terminates the vacation proceedings because vacation of the suspended punishment is not appropriate or because the member did not violate the UCMJ or a condition of the suspension; or

  -- Finds the members violated the UCMJ or a condition of the suspension

EFFECTS OF VACATION ACTION ON SUSPENDED REDUCTIONS

- If a suspension of a reduction in grade is vacated, the member’s date of rank will be the date the commander imposed the original punishment. The effective date, however, will be the day the suspension is vacated. The member will not be required to return any additional pay received while holding the higher rank.

The Remotivation Program

(Correctional Custody)

The remotivation program, also known as correctional custody, is a form of nonjudicial punishment (NJP) available under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) that a commander may impose on enlisted members of his/her command. The remotivation program provides commanders a secure setting in which to maintain discipline with correctional treatment that returns members punished under Article 15 to the mainstream Air Force. (This program should not be imposed on Reserve members unless that member is expected to serve on EAD or perform an Annual Tour.) This punishment is only available at installations where the Wing Commander has established a Remotivation Program consistent with MAJCOM/A7S guidance. It is up to the MAJCOMs to determine if regional facilities will be stood up. Close coordination with servicing SJAs is recommended.

- The remotivation program provides commanders a secure setting in which to maintain discipline while reeducating and remotivating Airmen for return to the mainstream Air Force. It educates, rehabilitates and deters program entrants from repeating the offenses. Because depriving Airmen of their liberty is a severe punishment, imposing this program requires careful consideration.

-- The remotivation program is not considered confinement, but is a significant restraint on an individual’s liberty

-- The remotivation program includes the involvement of a number of referral services (such as religious, medical, legal, and/or personal affairs) to assist individuals in understanding the extent of their misconduct, the avenues available to assist them in the future, and ways to avoid future problems

-- The remotivation program should only be used in cases where the commander believes the member can benefit from the program and is a candidate for rehabilitation

- In order for the remotivation program to be most effective, it should be imposed early in a member’s career

-- Commanders should consider the remotivation program particularly when administering NJP to first-time offenders in the grades of E-1 through E-4, assuming the member has rehabilitative potential

-- Commanders should not normally consider the remotivation program in cases where the member:
--- Will be separated for cause following completion of the NJP proceedings

--- Has previously been enrolled in the remotivation program

--- Is within six months of normal discharge and has not been recommended for retention

--- Is not a candidate for rehabilitation

-- Although legally permissible, the remotivation program is strongly discouraged for NCOs except in cases where an E-5 has been reduced to E-4 and thereby loses his/her NCO status

- Commanders in the rank of major or above should strongly consider entering members into the remotivation program for a full 30 days to afford the member the maximum benefit of the program

-- In cases where it appears appropriate, company grade commanders (who are limited to imposing seven days in the remotivation program) should normally consider having the next superior field grade commander impose the NJP

-- Commanders may consider remitting a portion of the punishment in cases where members demonstrate a commitment to meet program objectives. However, the program is designed as a 30 day program and careful consideration should be given to remitting any portion of enrollment too early in the process.

- Unit commanders maintain command authority for personnel assigned to the remotivation program, regardless of location

-- The commander or first sergeant must review their member’s progress weekly

-- The commander disciplines members who commit violations while in the remotivation program

- The remotivation program is an optional program. The installation commander determines whether to support a remotivation program using a cost/benefit analysis and is responsible for developing local policies and procedures for operating the remotivation program. If a local program does not exist, a commander may consider placing members in a regional program.

Quality Force Management Effects of Nonjudicial Punishment

Commanders have a great deal of discretion concerning quality force management consequences related to nonjudicial punishment (NJP) actions. The following guidance applies primarily to enlisted personnel. Please consult with the staff judge advocate regarding the quality force management consequences of NJP actions on officers.

Unfavorable Information File (UIF) Entries

- Mandatory Entries: Where an enlisted member is punished under Article 15, a UIF entry is required if any portion of the executed or suspended punishment will not be completed within one month

  -- Members are entitled to notice that the action will be entered into a UIF. Such notice is included on the AF IMT 3070, Record of Nonjudicial Punishment Proceedings.

  -- NJP actions entered into a UIF must remain there until all punishment is completed or remitted, including any periods of suspension.

  -- Post-punishment actions to suspend a previously imposed punishment must be filed in the member’s UIF, with the original NJP action, until the suspension period is completed.

  -- Actions to vacate a suspended punishment must be entered into the member’s UIF.

  -- The commander may remove the NJP action and related documents from the member’s UIF any time after the punishment or suspended punishment is completed (if removal is clearly warranted), or if the Article 15 is set aside. If the commander takes no action to remove the NJP action, it will remain in the UIF for two years.

- Discretionary Entries: A commander has the discretion to enter an NJP action into the member’s UIF when entry is not required (when punishment does not exceed 1 month)

  -- As in mandatory UIF entries, the commander must notify the member of his/her intent to enter an NJP action into the member’s UIF.

  -- The commander may remove the NJP action from the member’s UIF any time after the punishment or suspended punishment has been completed or remitted. If the commander takes no action, the NJP will remain in the UIF for one year.
OFFICER ARTICLE 15 UIF ACTIONS
- Any record of an NJP action for officers is a mandatory UIF entry

- Generally, such NJP actions are retained in a UIF for two years

- Early removal by the wing commander or issuing authority (whomever is higher in rank) is authorized if punishment has been completed

- Commanders should also consider whether comments should be made in the next OPR and/or promotion recommendation form (PRF). Seek the advice of the SJA for assistance in determining when comments may be appropriate.

RELATED ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS
- In addition to NJP, commanders may take other appropriate administrative actions. Such actions may include but are not limited to:

  -- Control roster action

  -- Entry of the member into counseling or rehabilitation programs such as ADAPT

  -- EPR comments concerning the member’s underlying misconduct

  -- Administrative discharge (in serious cases)

  -- Removal from the personnel reliability program, withholding a security clearance, or withholding access to sensitive materials; and

  -- NJP may also adversely affect promotion, reenlistment, and assignment eligibility

OFFICER AND SENIOR NCO PROMOTION SELECTION RECORDS
- In cases involving officers and senior NCOs, commanders who impose NJP must also decide whether to include the Article 15 in the member’s promotion selection record

- The imposing commander’s decision to file the Article 15 in a selection record is subject to review by the next senior Air Force commander, unless the GCMCA imposed the punishment

- Article 15s placed in a senior NCO’s promotion selection record remain there for two years or until after the member meets one senior NCO evaluation board
- Article 15s placed in an officer’s promotion selection record (for lieutenant colonels and below) are generally kept in the record until after the officer meets one IPZ or APZ promotion board and an appeal for removal has been approved.

- Selection record decisions are recorded on an AF IMT 3070B for senior NCOs and on AF IMT 3070C for officers.

Involuntary Separation of Enlisted Members: General Considerations

Commanders and supervisors must identify enlisted members who show likelihood for early separation and make reasonable efforts to help these members meet Air Force standards. Members who do not show potential for further service should be discharged. Commanders must consult the servicing staff judge advocate and military personnel flight before initiating the involuntary separation of a member.

Preprocessing Considerations

- Before initiating discharge, a commander must consider all the factors that make the member subject to discharge, including:

  -- The seriousness of the circumstances that make the member subject to discharge and how the member's retention might affect military discipline, good order, and morale

  -- Whether the circumstances that are the basis for discharge action will continue or recur

  -- The likelihood that the member will be disruptive or an undesirable influence in present or future duty assignments

  -- The member's ability to perform duties effectively in the present and in the future

  -- The member's potential for advancement and leadership

  -- An evaluation of the member's military record, which must include, but is not limited to:

    --- Records of nonjudicial punishment

    --- Records of counseling

    --- Letters of reprimand or admonition

    --- Records of conviction by courts-martial

    --- Records of involvement with civilian authorities

    --- Past contributions to the Air Force

    --- Duty assignments and EPRs
--- Awards, decorations, and letters of commendation

--- The effectiveness of preprocessing rehabilitation, when required

- Prior to processing a member for discharge for parenthood; conditions that interfere with military service; entry level performance and conduct; unsatisfactory performance; minor disciplinary infractions and a pattern of misconduct, commanders must give the member an opportunity to overcome deficiencies

-- Efforts to rehabilitate may include, but are not limited to, counselings, reprimands, control roster action, nonjudicial punishment under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), change in duty assignment, demotion, additional training, and retraining

-- It is extremely important to properly document rehabilitative efforts and keep copies of these documents

- Generally, the acts or conditions on which the discharge is based must have occurred in the current enlistment. The exceptions are:

-- Cases involving fraudulent enlistment, erroneous enlistment, or the interest of national security

-- Cases in which the act or condition occurred in the immediately preceding enlistment, the commander was not aware of the facts warranting discharge until after the member reenlisted, and there was no break in service

-- Cases in which the member is being separated for failure in the fitness program and at least one instance of unsatisfactory performance is in the current enlistment; then instances of unsatisfactory performance in the immediately preceding enlistment may support the basis for discharge

- Airmen who have made an unrestricted report of sexual assault within last year have the right to request review and approval by the general court-martial convening authority of their proposed discharge where the Airman asserts the discharge is in retaliation for a sexual assault report

- Additional criteria applies to Airmen who are being recommended for discharge under Chapter 5 of AFI 36-3208 and who have been deployed overseas in support of a contingency operation within 24 months prior to initiation of discharge. These Airmen must receive a medical examination in accordance with AFI 36-3208, paragraphs 6.3 and 6.9.3. The medical examination must assess whether the effects of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD)
or traumatic brain injury (TBI) constitute matters in extenuation that relate to the basis for administrative separation if the Airman:

--- Is being administratively separated under a characterization other than Honorable; and

--- Was deployed overseas to a contingency operation during the previous 24 months; and

--- Is diagnosed by a physician, clinical psychologist, or psychiatrist as experiencing PTSD or TBI, or reasonably alleges the influence of PTSD or TBI based on deployed service to a contingency operation during the previous 24 months; and

--- Is not being separated under a sentence of court-martial, or other proceeding conducted pursuant to the UCMJ.

- The service of a member administratively separated may be characterized as honorable, general (under honorable conditions), or under other than honorable conditions (UOTHC)

--- Honorable: appropriate when the quality of the member's service generally has met Air Force standards of acceptable conduct and performance of duty, or a member's service is otherwise so meritorious that any other characterization would be inappropriate

--- General (under honorable conditions): appropriate if a member's service has been honest and faithful, but significant negative aspects of the member's conduct or performance outweigh positive aspects of military record

--- Under Other Than Honorable Conditions (UOTHC): appropriate if based on a pattern of behavior or one or more acts or omissions constituting a significant departure from the conduct expected of Airmen. This characterization can be given only if the member is offered an administrative discharge board or if a discharge is unconditionally requested in lieu of trial by court-martial.

- A dishonorable discharge and a bad conduct discharge are punitive discharges and are authorized only as a result of a court-martial sentence

- Separation without service characterization: Members in entry level status (the first 180 days of active military service) will receive an entry level separation without service characterization, unless:

--- A service characterization of UOTHC is authorized and warranted, or

--- The SecAF determines that characterization as honorable is clearly warranted by unusual circumstances of personal conduct and performance
- A commander should not use an administrative discharge as a substitute for disciplinary action

Mandatory Discharges
- A commander must initiate discharge processing or seek a waiver of the discharge if the reason for discharge is one of the following:

  -- Fraudulent or erroneous enlistment

  -- Civil court conviction for an offense for which a punitive discharge and confinement for one year or more would be authorized under the UCMJ, or

  -- Drug abuse

  -- Sexual Assault

- A commander must make a discharge or retention recommendation when a member remains in a poor fitness category for a continuous 12-month period or receives 4 poor fitness assessments in a 24-month period

IN VOLUNTARY SEPARATION OF ENLISTED MEMBERS: REASONS FOR DISCHARGE

Specific reasons for involuntarily separating enlisted members are in Chapter 5 of AFI 36-3208, Administrative Separation of Airmen. Commanders must consult with the servicing staff judge advocate and military personnel flight prior to initiating the involuntary separation of a member. With a few exceptions, a commander is not required to initiate involuntary separation of a member just because a reason for discharge set out in AFI 36-3208 exists. The facts and circumstances are different in each case and must be considered on a case-by-case basis. An overview of the ten broad reasons for discharge follows below.

CONVENIENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT

- Discharge is appropriate when discharge would serve the best interest of the Air Force and discharge for cause is not warranted. Such separations may be based on:

  -- Parenthood, if the member fails to meet military obligations because of parental responsibilities

  -- Insufficient retainability for required training, if the cost of retraining for a brief period of service may not warrant retention

  -- Conditions that interfere with military service, which include:

    --- Enuresis and sleepwalking

    --- Dyslexia, severe nightmares, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), stammering/stuttering, incapacitating fear of flying, air sickness, and claustrophobia. The condition must have an adverse effect on assignment or duty performance.

    --- Mental disorders

      ---- Must be supported in writing by a report of evaluation by a psychiatrist or PhD-level clinical psychologist that confirms a diagnosis of a disorder contained in the current edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Medical Disorders (DSM-IV);

      ---- Must be documented in a report as so severe that the member’s ability to function in the military environment is significantly impaired; and

      ---- Must have an adverse effect on assignment or duty performance
--- Transsexualism or gender identity disorder of adolescence or adulthood, non-transsexual type (GIDAANT). The condition must be supported by a report of evaluation by a psychiatrist or clinical psychologist that confirms a diagnosis of transsexualism or GIDAANT and have an adverse effect on assignment or duty performance.

- Discharge for conditions that interfere with military service is not appropriate if the member’s record supports discharge for another reason, such as misconduct or unsatisfactory performance

- Service is characterized as entry-level separation or honorable

- Before recommending discharge, commanders must be sure:
  -- Preprocessing rehabilitation requirements in AFI 36-3208, paragraph 5.2, have been met
  -- They have complied with all requirements of the paragraph authorizing discharge
  -- Circumstances do not warrant discharge for another reason

Defective Enlistments

- Enlistment of Minors: a person under 17 years of age is barred by law from enlisting

- Void Enlistments: the enlistment was not a voluntary act by a sane, sober person of age; or enlistee was a deserter from another service

- Erroneous Enlistment: the Air Force should not have accepted the enlistee, but the case does not involve fraud

- Fraudulent Entry: involved deliberate deception on the part of the enlistee

- A commander must initiate discharge or seek a waiver of discharge for erroneous enlistment or fraudulent entry

  -- Erroneous enlistments and fraudulent entries concerning alienage cannot be waived

  -- If the commander has knowledge of an erroneous enlistment or fraudulent entry and fails to act within a reasonable time, that failure to act may result in a constructive waiver of the commander’s ability to discharge the member
- Authorized characterizations of service and the approval authorities are listed in AFI 36-3208, Table 5.4

- Members approved for discharge are not eligible for probation and rehabilitation (P&R)

ENTRY LEVEL PERFORMANCE OR CONDUCT

- Members in entry level status should be discharged when unsatisfactory performance or conduct shows the member is not a productive member of the Air Force

- Discharge processing must start during the first 180 days of continuous active duty

- Eligibility for discharge based on entry level performance or conduct does not preclude separation for another reason

- Before processing a member for discharge for entry level performance or conduct, a commander must ensure efforts to rehabilitate the member, allowing the member the opportunity to overcome deficiencies, have been made and documented

- Discharge is not formally characterized, but is described as entry level separation (ELS)

- Members approved for discharge for entry level performance or conduct are not eligible for P&R

UNSATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE

- Members should be discharged when unsatisfactory performance or conduct shows they are not qualified for service in the Air Force

- Performance includes assigned duties, military training, bearing and behavior, as well as maintaining the high standards of personal behavior and conduct required of all military members at all times

- Unsatisfactory performance may be evidenced by any of the following:

  -- Unsatisfactory duty performance, which may include:

    --- Failure to properly perform assigned duties

    --- A progressively downward trend in performance ratings

    --- Failure to demonstrate the qualities of leadership required by the member’s grade
--- Failure to maintain standards of dress and personal appearance, other than fitness standards, or military deportment

--- Failure to progress in military training required to be qualified for service with the Air Force or for the performance of primary duties

--- Irresponsibility in the management of personal finances

--- Unsanitary habits

--- Failure in the fitness program

- Before processing a member for discharge for unsatisfactory performance, a commander must ensure efforts to rehabilitate the member, allowing the member the opportunity to overcome deficiencies, have been made and documented

- Service is characterized as honorable or general

- Members approved for discharge should be considered for P&R

DRUG OR ALCOHOL ABUSE REHABILITATION FAILURE

- Members are subject to discharge for failure in drug or alcohol abuse rehabilitation if they --- Are in a program of rehabilitation for abuse of drugs or alcohol and fail to complete the program due to inability, refusal to participate, or unwillingness to cooperate; and

  --- Lack the potential for continued military service or need long-term treatment and are transferred to a civilian medical facility for treatment

- Service is characterized as honorable, general, or entry level

- Members approved for discharge are eligible for P&R

MISCONDUCT

- Unacceptable conduct adversely affects military duty and may be a proper basis for discharge

- Usually, the characterization for misconduct cases under AFI 36-3208, paragraphs 5.50, 5.51, 5.52, and 5.54 should be UOTHC, but characterization may be honorable, general, or entry level separation in appropriate cases

  --- The general court-martial convening authority, usually the numbered air force (NAF) commander, will approve separation for misconduct with a service characterization of honorable or UOTHC. The GCM may delegate to the SPCM authority to approve honorable separations when the sole evidence of misconduct is commander-directed urinalysis results, or when a discharge board has recommended separation with an honorable discharge.

-- The special court-martial convening authority, usually the wing commander, will approve recommendations for retention, separation with a general service characterization, or entry level separation

- Types of misconduct include:

  -- Minor Disciplinary Infractions: consists solely of infractions during the current enlistment resulting in letters of counseling, letters of admonition, letters of reprimand, and nonjudicial punishment actions

  --- Before processing a member for discharge for misconduct consisting of minor disciplinary infractions, a commander must ensure efforts to rehabilitate the member, allowing the member the opportunity to overcome deficiencies, have been made and documented

  --- Members approved for discharge are eligible for P&R

  -- Pattern of Misconduct: includes misconduct more serious than that consisting of minor disciplinary infractions and involving (1) discreditable involvement with military or civilian authorities, (2) conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, (3) failure to support dependents, or (4) dishonorable failure to pay just debts

  --- Before processing a member for discharge for misconduct consisting of a pattern of misconduct, a commander must ensure efforts to rehabilitate the member, allowing the member the opportunity to overcome deficiencies, have been made and documented

  -- Civilian Conviction: when the member is convicted or there is a finding that amounts to a conviction of an offense which would authorize a punitive discharge under the UCMJ or when the sentence by civilian authorities actually includes confinement for six months or more

  --- A commander MUST initiate discharge or seek a waiver of the discharge when the civilian conviction involves an offense for which a punitive discharge and confinement for one year or more would be authorized under the UCMJ
--- If the commander has knowledge of such a civilian conviction and fails to act within a reasonable time, that failure to act may result in a constructive waiver of the commander’s ability to discharge the member

--- Members approved for discharge are eligible for P&R

-- Commission of a Serious Offense: includes offenses for which a punitive discharge would be authorized under the UCMJ. Members approved for discharge are eligible for P&R.

--- Airmen are subject to discharge for misconduct based on acts of aberrant sexual behavior or acts of sexual misconduct, which include offenses such as: indecent viewing, visual recording, or broadcasting; forcible pandering; indecent exposure

--- Airmen may be discharged for misconduct based on unauthorized absence continuing for 1 year or more

--- Airmen are subject to discharge for misconduct based on acts that constitute unprofessional relationships between recruiters and potential recruits during the recruiting process or between students and faculty or staff in training schools or professional military education setting

--- Noncompliance with “safe sex” order: having human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) and not complying with lawfully ordered preventive medicine procedures. Members approved for discharge are NOT eligible for P&R.

-- Drug Abuse: the illegal, wrongful, or improper use, possession, sale, transfer, or introduction onto a military installation of any drug

--- The term “drug” includes anabolic and androgenic steroids, and any intoxicating substances, other than alcohol, that are inhaled, injected, consumed or introduced into the body for purposes of altering mood or function

--- The term “drug abuse” includes improper use of prescription medications

--- Commanders must act promptly when information indicates drug abuse and initiate discharge or seek a waiver of discharge processing

--- A member found to have abused drugs WILL be discharged unless the member meets all seven of the retention criteria in AFI 36-3208, paragraph 5.55.2.1. The member has the burden of proving he or she meets all seven retention criteria.

--- Members approved for discharge are not eligible for probation and rehabilitation
--- Sexual Assault: includes a broad category of sexual offenses

--- Commanders must act promptly when they have information indicating a member is subject to discharge for sexual assault or sexual assault of a child. They evaluate the specific circumstances of the offense, the member’s record and potential for future service, and take prompt action to initiate discharge or waiver action

--- A member found to have committed sexual assault or sexual assault of a child will be discharged unless the member meets all six the retention criteria in AFI 36-3208, paragraph 5.55.3.2. The member has the burden of proving he or she meets all six retention criteria.

--- Members approved for discharge are not eligible for probation and P&R

Discharge in the Interest of National Security
- A member whose retention is clearly inconsistent with the interest of national security may be discharged

- Discharge may only be initiated after criteria in AFI 36-3208, paragraphs 5.57.1 and 5.57.2 have been met

- Discharge may be characterized as entry level, honorable, general, or UOTHC

- Members approved for discharge are NOT eligible for P&R

Failure in Prisoner Retraining/Rehabilitation
- Applies to members in correction and rehabilitation programs

- Service is ordinarily characterized as general

Failure in the Fitness Program
- A member who does not meet fitness standards as set out in AFI 36-2905 may be discharged when the failure is the result of a cause in the member’s control

- Characterization of service is restricted to honorable if failure in the program is the sole reason for discharge

- Members approved for discharge should be considered for P&R

Involuntary Separation of Enlisted Members: Procedures

Enlisted members may be involuntarily separated through two different processes (1) notification procedures, and (2) board hearing procedures. Most cases are processed using notification procedures. However, if a member is entitled to an administrative discharge board, board hearing procedures are used. Before initiating involuntary separation of a member, commanders must consult with the servicing staff judge advocate (SJA) and military personnel flight.

Board Entitlement
- A member recommended for discharge must be offered a hearing by an administrative discharge board if one of the following conditions applies:
  -- The member is a noncommissioned officer at the time discharge processing starts
  -- The member has six years or more total active and inactive service, including delayed enlistment time, at the time discharge processing starts
  -- The commander recommends a UOTHC characterization
  -- Discharge in the interest of national security is recommended (ensure appropriate clearance to proceed)

Notification Procedures
- Before the member may be discharged, a medical examination must document:
  -- Any medical aspects pertaining to the reason for discharge, and
  -- That the member is or is not medically qualified for worldwide service and separation
- If the member is a victim of sexual assault:
  -- Commander shall notify the separation authority that the discharge proceeding involves a victim of sexual assault
  -- Must provide sufficient information concerning alleged assault and respondent’s status to ensure a full and fair consideration of the victim’s military service and particular situation
- An EPR or LOE must be generated for discharges based on parenthood, conditions that interfere with military service, unsatisfactory performance, or failure in the fitness program
- If there is sufficient documentation or evidence supporting a basis for discharge, the commander serves a notification memorandum on the member (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.1 or 6.2)
- The member immediately signs a receipt of notification memorandum (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.3)

- After receiving the notification memorandum, the member has three duty days to prepare a response (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.4)

- The commander considers the member’s response, if any, and if the commander still recommends discharge, he or she signs a recommendation for discharge to the special court-martial convening authority (SPCMCA), who is usually the wing commander (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.5)

- The servicing SJA prepares a legal review of the package and forwards the package to the SPCMCA

- The SPCMCA reviews the package and the SJA’s legal review

  -- If the SPCMCA is also the separation authority, the SPCMCA determines: (1) if there is a basis for discharge, (2) if the member should be discharged, (3) if the member should be discharged, how to characterize the member’s service, and (4) whether to offer P&R (if available) if the member should be discharged

  -- If the SPCMCA is not the separation authority, the SPCMCA will forward the package to the general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA), who is usually the numbered air force (NAF) commander, with a recommendation concerning the above four questions

Board Hearing Procedures

- After receiving the notification memorandum, the member has seven duty days to:

  -- Request a board hearing or unconditionally waive his/her right to a board hearing (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.8), or

  -- Waive the board hearing contingent upon receiving a specific type of discharge, which is called a conditional waiver (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.9)

- The commander considers the member’s response, if any, and if the commander still recommends discharge, he or she signs a recommendation for discharge to the SPCMCA (AFI 36-3208, Figure 6.5)

- In cases where the member requests a board hearing, the SPCMCA reviews the recommendation for discharge and either sends the file back to the unit for further action (normally to withdraw the action or reinitiate the action using different grounds or evidence) or convenes a discharge board
The administrative board convenes, considers all the evidence, and makes:

-- A separate finding of fact on each allegation set out in the notification memorandum. The board's finding of fact will determine whether a basis for discharge exists.

-- A recommendation to discharge or retain

-- A recommended characterization of service if the board recommends discharge

-- A recommendation concerning P&R (if member is eligible) if the board recommends discharge

The servicing SJA prepares a legal review of the package and forwards the package to the SPCMCA.

The SPCMCA takes final action if referral to the GCMCA is not required or forwards the package to the GCMCA if referral to the GCMCA is required.

Members with more than 16 but less than 20 years service are entitled to special probation consideration (called lengthy service consideration) upon request and may not be separated before forwarding to HQ AFMPC/DPMARS2 for review.

IN VOLUNTARY SEPARATION OF ENLISTED MEMBERS:
PROBATION AND REHABILITATION

The Air Force program of probation and rehabilitation (P&R) allows the Air Force to retain a trained resource while allowing enlisted members another opportunity to complete their service honorably. P&R is a conditional suspension of an approved administrative discharge for cause. In deserving cases, it lets a member prove he or she is able to meet Air Force standards.

P&R CONSIDERATIONS
- Only the discharge authority can suspend the execution of a discharge for P&R
- Members who have completed at least 16 but less than 20 years of active service are entitled to special consideration upon their request and their cases are forwarded to HQ AFMPC/DPMARS2 for review concerning probation
- P&R is appropriate for members:
  -- Who demonstrate a potential to serve satisfactorily
  -- Who have the capacity to be rehabilitated for continued military service or completion of the current enlistment
  -- Whose retention on a probationary status is consistent with the maintenance of good order and discipline

WHO IS ELIGIBLE
- Members are not eligible for P&R if the reason for discharge is one of the following:
  -- Failure to comply with preventive medicine counseling (safe-sex order) by a member with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV)
  -- Fraudulent entry
  -- Entry level performance or conduct
  -- In the interest of national security
  -- Drug abuse
  -- In lieu of trial by court-martial
  -- Sexual assault or sexual assault of a child
- If the reason for discharge is unsatisfactory performance or misconduct (except failure to comply with preventive medicine counseling by a member with HIV and drug abuse):

  -- The case file must show the initiating commander, board members if a hearing is involved, and the separation authority considered P&R;

  -- If the initiating commander does not recommend P&R, he or she must give the reason for not recommending P&R; and

  -- If the initiating commander recommended P&R and the separation authority disapproved that recommendation, the separation authority must state the reason for his/her decision

P&R Procedures

- Suspending the execution of an approved discharge is contingent on successful completion of rehabilitation

  -- The separation authority sets a specific period of rehabilitation, which is not less than 6 months or more than 12 months

  -- The probationary period is usually served in the current unit of assignment, but reassignment to another local unit or within the MAJCOM may be authorized if warranted by the circumstances of the case

- If the decision is made to offer a member P&R, the commander must:

  -- Give the member a factsheet with information about the program (AFI 36-3208, Figure 7.2)

  -- Counsel the member, emphasizing:

    --- The importance of an honorable service characterization

    --- Difficulties in civilian life which the approved discharge might cause

    --- The very remote chance that the type of discharge, once executed, would be changed

    --- The fact that an offer of P&R does not excuse the member’s conduct

    --- The member can prevent execution of the discharge only by good conduct and duty performance
--- The commander will be the judge of performance and conduct during the period of P&R

--- The offer of P&R is not an attempt at involuntary retention

-- Find out whether the member has enough retainability to complete P&R, and if not, try to get a voluntary request for extension

-- Require members who accept P&R to sign statements of understanding and acceptance of the terms of probation

-- Ensure the terms of probation are set out in a letter from the separation authority and countersign the letter (AFI 36-3208, Figure 7.1)

-- Require members who refuse P&R or fail to satisfy the retention requirements to sign a statement:

--- Acknowledging understanding of the rehabilitation privilege,

--- Giving the date the commander counseled the member, and

--- Acknowledging understanding of the effects of refusal to accept P&R

-- Ensure the statement and the letter from the separation authority are returned to the separation authority

WHAT HAPPENS DURING P&R

- The commander is the primary judge of the member’s performance

-- Commanders are not required to set up a special rehabilitation program because the member is expected to perform duties appropriate to his/her grade, skill level, and experience

-- An EPR is prepared every 90 days

-- Promotion consideration is according to AFI 36-2502

-- Members are not selected for formal training while in P&R
A commander usually should not place a member in P&R on the control roster, and the commander should consider removing the member from the control roster if the member is on it when placed in P&R.

Reenlistment consideration is according to AFI 36-2606.

Completing P&R
- If a member successfully completes P&R:
  - The approved discharge is automatically and permanently canceled on the date the suspension expires.
  - Separation at ETS will result in an honorable service characterization.
  - Future failure to maintain standards may be the basis for new discharge proceedings.
  - Eligibility for reenlistment will be according to AFI 36-2606 and none of the reasons for recommending discharge that existed before P&R began may be used as a basis for denial of reenlistment.

Other Command Options
- Commanders have other options during P&R, including:
  - Canceling the probation in whole or in part where member’s good conduct clearly shows goals of P&R have been met.
  - Extending the probationary period (original period plus extension may not exceed one year) where member has made progress but the commander is not sure rehabilitation is complete.

Terminating Before P&R is Completed
- If a decision is made to initiate vacation (termination) of the suspension, the commander notifies the member by a letter, which gives:
  - The reason for the action.
  - The name, address, and phone number of military legal counsel (often the ADC).
  - Instruction that the member may secure civilian counsel at his own expense.
  - Instruction to reply within seven workdays (rebuttal or waiver of right to rebut).

Voluntary Separation of Enlisted Members Prior to Expiration of Term of Service

In contrast to involuntary discharges, there are instances when the voluntary separation of an enlisted member prior to expiration of term of service (PETS) benefits the member and the Air Force. An immediate commander’s primary role is to recommend approval or disapproval of the action. If recommending disapproval, the commander must provide reasons for recommending disapproval of the package. Reasons for separation PETS are discussed below.

Convenience of the Government
- Enlisted members may request separation for the following:
  -- Entering an officer training program
  -- Early release to further education
  -- Training at an accredited school for medical education as a physician, dentist, osteopath, veterinarian, optometrist, or clinical psychologist
  -- Elimination from Officer Training School (OTS) if the member enlisted specifically for OTS
  -- Nonfulfillment of enlistment or reenlistment agreement by the Air Force
  -- Becoming a sole surviving son or daughter after enlistment
  -- Early release from extension of service
  -- Acceptance of public office
  -- Conscientious objection
  -- Pregnancy or childbirth
  -- Early release for Christmas, if the date of separation falls on or after 9 December and before 8 January the following year
  -- Medal of Honor recipient
  -- Other situations when early separation is in the best interests of the Air Force
DEPENDENCY OR HARDSHIP
- Enlisted members may request discharge when genuine dependency or undue hardship exists

-- Undue hardship does not necessarily exist because of altered income, the family is separated, or the family suffers from the inconveniences incident to military service

-- If all of the following factors are present, a basis for discharge may exist:

--- The dependency or hardship is not temporary

--- Conditions have arisen or have been aggravated to an excessive degree since the member entered active duty

--- The member has made every reasonable effort to remedy the situation

--- Separation will eliminate or materially alleviate the conditions

--- There are no means of alleviation available other than separation

REFERENCE:
OFFICER SEPARATIONS

Officer separations operate similarly to enlisted separations. However, certain key differences exist. Most of the differences revolve around definitions, terminology, and authorities for officer separations.

DEFINITIONS

- Nonprobationary Officer:
  -- Regular officer with five or more years of active commissioned service as determined by the officer’s total active federal commissioned service date, or
  -- Reserve officer with five or more years of commissioned service (inactive or active) as determined by the officer’s total federal commissioned service date

- Probationary Officer:
  -- Regular officer who has completed less than five years of active commissioned service as determined by the officer’s total active federal commissioned service date, or
  -- Reserve officer who has completed less than five years of commissioned service (inactive or active) as determined by the officer’s total federal commissioned service date

VOLUNTARY SEPARATION

- Officers may apply for voluntary separation prior to expiration of term of service under AFI 36-3207, Chapter 2, for a variety of reasons, which include:
  -- Completion of Active Duty Service Commitment (ADSC)
  -- Hardship
  -- Pregnancy
  -- Conscientious objector status
  -- Medal of Honor recipient
  -- Other miscellaneous reasons

- Voluntary separations are subject to approval by SecAF. SecAF or designee may disapprove an application if, among other reasons, the officer:
-- Has had charges preferred or is under investigation

-- Remains absent without leave or absent in the hands of civil authorities

-- Defaulted with respect to public property or funds

-- Has been sentenced by a court-martial to dismissal

-- Is being considered for administrative discharge proceedings

-- Submits an application during war, when war is imminent, or during an emergency declared by the President or Congress

-- Has an ADSC for advanced educational assistance, government-funded education or training programs, special pay, or bonus pay (restriction applies even when the reason for separation is pregnancy)

- Characterization of service is honorable

Involuntary Separations Not “For Cause”

- Officers may be separated involuntarily under AFI 36-3207, Chapter 3, Section 3B, for various reasons that are not for cause

- Many involuntary separations are required by law, e.g., reserve officers who reach age limit, those nonselected for promotion, and officers who have reached maximum years of commissioned service or service in grade

- Other involuntary separations include loss of ecclesiastical endorsement; failure to complete or pass medical training, nursing examinations, nursing intern programs; and officers in health care fields who do not have required licenses

- Only an honorable characterization is authorized for involuntary separations that are not for cause

Involuntary Separations “For Cause”

- Grounds for discharge for cause are found in AFI 36-3206, Chapter 2 (substandard performance of duty) and Chapter 3 (misconduct, moral or professional dereliction, or in the interest of national security)
- Substandard Performance of Duty

  -- Restricted to an honorable or general (under honorable conditions) characterization

  -- Includes broad categories subjecting an officer to separation, including:

    --- Failure to show acceptable qualities of leadership or proficiency

    --- Failure to achieve acceptable standards of proficiency required of an officer in his/her grade

    --- Failure to discharge duties equal to his/her grade and experience

    --- Substandard performance of duty resulting in an unacceptable record of effectiveness

    --- A record of marginal service over an extended time as shown by performance reports covering two or more jobs and prepared by at least two different supervisors

    --- Mental disorders that interfere with the officer’s performance of duty and do not fall within the purview of the medical discharge process

    --- Apathy or defective attitude

    --- Failure in the fitness program as specified in AFI 36-2905

    --- Failure to conform to prescribed standards of dress, physical fitness, or personal appearance. For cause separation under AFI 36-3206, Chapter 3, is appropriate if failure is deliberate.

    --- Inability to perform duties because of family care responsibilities

    --- Failure to maintain satisfactory progress while in an active status student officer program

  -- Before discharging an officer under this chapter, there should be a documented history of problems and documented efforts to correct the officer’s conduct

  -- If an officer is being separated for reasons under this chapter and received education assistance, special pay, or bonus money, the officer is subject to recoupment
- Misconduct, Moral or Professional Dereliction, or in the Interest of National Security

-- When officers engage in some form of misconduct, discharge under this chapter is often the most appropriate basis

-- Although not necessarily considered misconduct, discharges for fear of flying for rated officers fall under this chapter

-- Some other specific grounds for discharge, besides fear of flying for rated officers, include:

--- Having human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) and not complying with lawfully ordered preventive medicine procedures (i.e., safe-sex order)

--- Failure to meet financial obligations

--- Intentional or discreditable mismanagement of personal affairs

--- Drug abuse, which is defined as the illegal, wrongful, or improper use, possession, sale, transfer, or introduction onto a military installation of any drug

--- Serious or recurring misconduct punishable by civilian or military authorities

--- Intentional neglect or intentional failure to either perform assigned duties or complete required training

--- Misconduct resulting in the loss of professional status necessary to perform duties

--- Intentionally misrepresenting or omitting facts concerning official matters

--- Sexual assault or sexual assault of a child

--- Sexual perversion, including aberrant sexual behavior acts of sexual misconduct, or any indecent viewing, visual recording or broadcasting, forcible pandering, indecent exposure

--- Sexual deviation, including transvestitism, exhibitionism, voyeurism, and others as defined in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, current edition

--- Retention is not clearly consistent with interests of national security
--- Sentence by a court-martial to a period of confinement for more than six months and not sentenced to a dismissal

-- The service of officers separated under this chapter may be characterized as under other than honorable conditions (UOTHC). The exceptions to this are drug use revealed as a result of self-identification or commander-directed urinalysis.

-- If an officer is being separated for reasons under this chapter and received education assistance, special pay, or bonus money, the officer is subject to recoupment

Discharge Procedures under AFI 36-3206
- The first step is for the unit commander to evaluate information and consult with the servicing staff judge advocate

- If appropriate, the unit commander recommends discharge to the show cause authority (SCA), who is usually the wing commander if he or she is a general officer or the general court-martial convening authority, usually the numbered air force (NAF) commander, for wings not commanded by a general officer

- If appropriate, the SCA initiates discharge action by signing a letter to the officer notifying him or her of the discharge action

- Within 5 calendar days of receipt of the letter of notification, the officer submits evidence in response, applies for voluntary retirement (if eligible), tenders a resignation, or requests a delay to respond

- If the SCA determines no action is warranted, the action is terminated

- If the SCA determines discharge action is warranted, the type of processing that occurs depends on the officer’s status and the characterization recommended

  -- Not Board Entitled: If the officer is probationary, and the case does not involve a recommendation for a UOTHC service characterization, the SCA notifies the officer that the case will be reviewed by the Air Force Personnel Board (AFPB). The officer is not entitled to appear in front of or present witness testimony to the AFPB.

  -- Board Entitled: If the officer is nonprobationary; or the officer is probationary and a UOTHC discharge is recommended; then the SCA notifies the officer that the officer will be required to show cause before a board of inquiry (BOI). The officer is entitled to appear in front of and present witness testimony to the BOI.

- Final approval authority for separations initiated under AFI 36-3206 is SecAF
Resignations in Lieu of Further Administrative Discharge Proceedings (AFI 36-3207, Chapter 2, Section 2b)

- When the SCA notifies an officer to show cause for retention, an officer may:
  -- Submit a resignation, or
  -- Submit a resignation to enlist and retire if eligible to apply for retirement in enlisted status

- These options should not be confused with resignations for the good of the service, which an officer may submit when facing a court-martial for alleged criminal conduct

- The officer may be entitled to separation pay

- SecAF is the approval authority

ADMINISTRATIVE SEPARATION OF RESERVISTS

AFI 36-3209, Separation and Retirement Procedures for Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve Members, applies to both officer and enlisted members of the reserve components not serving on extended active duty (EAD) with the regular Air Force. Table 2.1 lists all the permissible reasons for officer separations. Similarly, Table 3.1 lists all the permissible reasons for enlisted separations.

- Processing of reservist discharge actions varies depending on whether the member is a Category A (CAT A) or Category B (CAT B) reservist

- Remember that letters of counseling, letters of admonition, and letters of reprimand for reservists are not procedurally correct unless they allow the member 30 days to respond, as opposed to the 3 duty days for active duty members

- For those respondents meeting an administrative discharge board, there must be at least three voting members
  - For officer respondents, each voting member must be at least a Colonel (O-6) and senior in grade to the respondent, and at least one voting member must be a member of the Reserve Component
  - For enlisted respondents, if they wish to have NCOs serve as voting members on the board, the respondent must make this request in writing to the convening authority. Enlisted board members must be in the grade of Master Sergeant (E-7) or above, be senior to the respondent, and at least one voting member must be in the grade of Major (O-4) or higher, and a majority shall be commissioned officers. Respondents do not have the right to have enlisted members appointed to their discharge boards.

  -- CAT A (Unit)

  --- If the member is an Active Guard Reserve (AGR), on extended active duty, or on seasoning training orders, consider whether the discharge should be processed under AFI 36-3206 or AFI 36-3208

  --- The member’s unit commander initiates the discharge action by presenting the evidence to the Military Personnel Squadron (MPS). The MPS then prepares the Letter of Notification (LON). The LON must include all attachments (Privacy Act Statement, Statement of Reasons, Acknowledgement of Receipt, Selection of Rights, return envelopes, and supporting documents). It must also contain the following additional information, if applicable:
The Military Commander and the Law

Request for Administrative Discharge Board Hearing, Waiver of Administrative Discharge Board Hearing, and Administrative Discharge Board Action Information

Application for Transfer to the Retired Reserve

Recoupment of Educational Assistance, Special Pay, or Incentives

Voluntary Extension of Enlistment Election

The member is generally entitled to an administrative discharge board if the member is a non-probationary Reserve officer; an NCO or above or has been an NCO or above; has six or more years of satisfactory service for retirement; or if the commander is recommending an Under Other Than Honorable Conditions (UOTHC) characterization

If the commander does not want the member to continue participating, a separate No Pay/No Points letter should be provided to the member or contained in the LON

The MPS presents the LON and Attachments to the servicing Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) for a legal sufficiency review

Once the LON is approved for legal sufficiency, the unit commander serves, in person if possible, the LON on the member. The member signs the acknowledgement receipt. The commander gives the member a copy of the entire package, but retains the original documents. If the member is not board entitled, the member has 15 days to present any rebuttal evidence.

If the member is not served in person, electronic mail confirming delivery is the next preferred method. The last option is the LON should be sent via certified mail.

If notification attempts are not successful, determine whether there is another address available. If the member’s address has changed, it must be updated in MilPDS.

If board entitled, the member’s request for a board hearing must be received by the unit commander (or servicing MPS, if this is how the unit has set up the return of document if the unit commander is a Traditional Reservist) within 15 calendar days (30 days if in confinement), or the right to a board hearing is waived

For enlisted members who are not board entitled; do not have lengthy service consideration; are not retirement eligible; or those that have waived their board
(affirmatively or because they failed to return the Request for Board Hearing), the unit commander reviews any documentation submitted to confirm his/her determination that the discharge should proceed. This is then sent to the servicing SJA for another legal review. Finally, it is submitted to the wing commander or equivalent for determination of whether the member should be discharged.

--- For all officer or enlisted members who are entitled to and do not waive a board; have lengthy service consideration; or are retirement eligible, the unit commander reviews any documentation submitted to confirm his/her determination that the discharge should proceed. This is then sent to the servicing SJA for another legal review and forwarded to the wing commander, or equivalent, for forwarding to HQ AFRC for further processing. HQ AFRC will convene the board and then process it to the discharge authority.

-- CAT B Individual Mobilization Augmentees (IMAs)

--- IMA discharges are processed through the Readiness Management Group (RMG). The RMG is the Air Force Reserve Command’s agency responsible for shared administrative control (ADCON) of IMAs.

--- Program Managers (PM) are a part of the RMG staff and are located at each MAJCOM, Joint Command, or Defense Agency. The PM with administrative oversight responsibility for the IMA initiates the discharge process by forwarding the discharge recommendation to the RMG/CC for action.

--- The RMG/CC forwards the file to HQ AFRC/DPML for processing to AFRC/CC or AFRC/CV, the discharge authorities for CAT B reservists.

--- HQ AFRC/DPML notifies the member of the discharge recommendation by certified mail and gives the member the opportunity to respond.

--- HQ AFRC/JA reviews the case file and determines if it is sufficiently documented to support the basis for discharge.

--- If the case file lacks such documentation, HQ AFRC will ask the unit to get the supporting documentation.

- The following reservists are entitled to present their cases before an administrative discharge board:

-- Enlisted: if the recommended characterization of service in the letter of notification is under other than honorable conditions (UOTHC), the member is a noncommissioned officer, or the member has six or more years of satisfactory service for retirement.
--- Officers: an officer who has completed five or more years of service as a commissioned officer in any of the armed forces as determined from the total federal commissioned service date; or a probationary officer (an officer who has completed fewer than five years of service as a commissioned officer in any of the armed forces as determined from the total federal commissioned service date) when the recommended characterization of service contained in the letter of notification is UOTHC.

LOS OF VETERANS’ BENEFITS

To become eligible for veterans’ benefits, the active duty member must have been discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable, which is broader in this context than the term as defined in Rule for Courts-Martial 1003(b)(3)(B).

- Discharge or release because of any of the following offenses is considered to have been issued under dishonorable conditions:

  -- Acceptance of an under other than honorable conditions (UOTHC) discharge to avoid trial by general court-martial

  -- Mutiny or spying

  -- An offense involving moral turpitude, including (generally) a conviction of a felony

  -- Willful and persistent misconduct, including a UOTHC discharge if it is determined that the discharge was issued for willful and persistent misconduct, but not including a discharge because of a minor offense if service was otherwise honest, faithful, and meritorious

- Benefits are also not payable where the member was discharged or released under one of the following conditions:

  -- As a conscientious objector who refused to perform military duty, wear the uniform, or comply with lawful orders of competent military authorities

  -- By reason of the sentence of a general court-martial

  -- Resignation by an officer for the good of the service

  -- As a deserter

  -- As an alien during a period of hostilities where it is shown the member requested his/her release

  -- By reason of a UOTHC discharge as a result of an absence without leave for a continuous period of at least 180 days

- A punitive discharge or UOTHC characterization does not necessarily deprive a member of benefits administered by the VA
- Normally, benefits earned during an earlier period of honorable service are not voided by a punitive discharge or a UOTHC discharge during a subsequent enlistment.

- Any person may be denied VA benefits, regardless of an earlier period of honorable service, if shown by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary of Veteran’s Affairs to be guilty of:

  -- Filing a fraudulent claim for benefits,

  -- Treason, or

  -- Subversive activities

Installation Jurisdiction

To understand the degree of control a commander has over an Air Force installation, one must be familiar with the concepts of title and jurisdiction.

Title
- Title in relation to a military installation is virtually the same as in a private real estate transaction. Title simply means legal ownership—the legal right to the use and possession of a designated piece of property.

- In most cases, the Air Force has title to the property on which its installations are located. However, some installations sit on leased property or have portions of the base sitting on leased property.

- The installation civil engineer maintains the deed or lease to the installation. Questions concerning title to the installation’s real property should be referred to the SJA.

Jurisdiction
- The concept of jurisdiction is separate and distinct from that of title

- Jurisdiction includes the right to legislate (i.e., implement laws, rules and regulations) and to enforce those laws. Having title does not necessarily include legislative jurisdiction.

Sources of Legislative Jurisdiction
- Article I, § 8, Clause 17, of the United States Constitution confers upon Congress the power to exercise legislative jurisdiction over federal property. The government can acquire the right to exercise legislative jurisdiction in three ways.

- Purchase and Consent: The federal government purchases the property and the state legislature consents to giving the federal government jurisdiction

- Cession: After the federal government acquires title to property, the state may cede jurisdiction, in whole or in part, to the federal government. The federal government can, with the consent of Congress, later retrocede jurisdiction back to the state. Prior to 1940, it was presumed that jurisdiction was ceded at the time the government acquired the property. Since 1940, however, there must be an affirmative acceptance of jurisdiction before the federal government will have legislative jurisdiction. 40 U.S.C.S. §§ 3111 and 3112. Check the deed to determine when the federal government acquired the property.

- Reservation: At the time the federal government ceded property to establish a state, particularly in the western United States, it reserved some of the land as federal property. In that case, the federal government retained legislative jurisdiction over the property it reserved. Again, check the deed.
Types of Legislative Jurisdiction

- The inquiry does not stop with determining if the federal government has legislative jurisdiction. It is also necessary to determine what type of jurisdiction it has. There are four types of legislative jurisdiction.

  -- Exclusive Jurisdiction: As the term implies, this type of jurisdiction gives the federal government sole authority to legislate. Unless exclusive jurisdiction was reserved at the time land was granted to the state, it is necessary to go back to the state for exclusive jurisdiction. The state may have elected to reserve some authority, e.g., authority to serve civil and criminal process on the property. If the state failed to reserve such authority, it is waived. For some years now, it has been federal policy not to acquire exclusive jurisdiction. While at first blush this may seem odd, there are legitimate reasons for the policy. For instance, state and local authorities may be able to deal better with particular situations than the federal government, e.g., child welfare services, domestic relations matters, etc.

  -- Concurrent Jurisdiction: Both the state and federal governments retain all their legislative authority. In the event of conflict, the federal government prevails under the Supremacy Clause of the Constitution. art. VI, Clause 2, U.S. Constitution.

  -- Partial Jurisdiction: Both the state and federal government have some legislative authority, but neither one has absolute power. For instance, the state may have reserved the authority to impose and collect taxes or it may have ceded only criminal jurisdiction over the property. Again, federal supremacy applies in the event of a conflict.

  -- Proprietary Jurisdiction: In this case, the U.S. is like any other party who has only a possessory interest in the property it occupies. The U.S. is simply a tenant with virtually no legislative authority. The federal government maintains immunity and supremacy for inherently governmental functions. The only federal laws that apply are those that do not rely upon federal jurisdiction, e.g., espionage, bank robbery, tax fraud, counterfeiting, etc. However, the installation commander can still exclude civilians from the area pursuant to the commander’s inherent authority. Greer v. Spock, 424 U.S. 828 (1976).

U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 17

FEDERAL MAGISTRATE PROGRAM

The federal magistrate program provides an additional means of enforcing discipline on the base. The availability of the program depends on the location and jurisdiction of the base, the type and locale of the offense, and the status of the offender. The commander has the full range of administrative sanctions, as well as criminal sanctions under the UCMJ, available when dealing with misconduct by a military member. The options are more limited when dealing with a civilian offender.

COMMANDER RESPONSIBILITIES AND OPTIONS

--- Civilian Employees

--- Administrative sanctions run the gamut from administrative counseling and reprimands to removal. AFI 36-704, Discipline and Adverse Actions.

--- A civilian employee may also be subject to any other administrative or criminal sanctions discussed below. However, there may be some restrictions.

- Any civilian may be subject to administrative sanctions

  -- The installation commander may suspend or revoke privileges, such as:

    --- Commercial solicitation

    --- Driving on the installation

    --- Base exchange and commissary use

  -- For misconduct, the commander may terminate entitlement to military family housing. Must give 30 days written notice and the government pays for the move.

  -- The commander may bar any civilian from the installation. Must allow access for medical care for dependent family members and retirees.

- Criminal actions committed by civilians on an installation with federal jurisdiction may be handled in federal court, including magistrate court

  -- Any federal statute that does not rely on territorial jurisdiction may result in prosecution regardless of the status of the base, e.g., counterfeiting, espionage, sabotage, bribery of federal officers

  -- If the base has only proprietary jurisdiction, federal statutes that rely on territorial jurisdiction may not be enforced in federal court. They must be handled in state court.
If the base has exclusive federal jurisdiction, the state may not prosecute for offenses committed on the installation. Federal courts provide the only remedy.

If the offender violated state law, a violation of the Assimilative Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. § 13, may be alleged.

This potentially makes violating a state statute a federal offense.

This is available where the conduct does not otherwise violate a federal statute.

HOW MAGISTRATE COURT WORKS

- Federal magistrate court is an alternative to prosecution in federal district court.
- Prosecution in magistrate court requires the consent of the defendant.
- Magistrates normally try misdemeanor offenses (an offense for which the authorized penalty does not include more than 1 year imprisonment), and may try juvenile offenders.
- Air Force judge advocates, acting as special assistant U.S. attorneys, may prosecute cases in magistrate court under the provisions of AFI 51-905.
- The installation commander decides whether to refer the case to federal court after finding administrative steps inadequate.
- However, if safety, discipline, or other considerations warrant, a commander may make a blanket determination that administrative disposition of certain offenses committed by civilians on base is not appropriate and that all such offenses should be referred to a U.S. magistrate judge for trial.

CHAPTER FIVE  Criminal and Military Justice  113

COURT-MARTIAL JURISDICTION UNDER THE UCMJ

TYPES OF JURISDICTION
- Military Offenses: Courts-martial have exclusive power to hear and decide “purely military offenses.” Rule for Courts-Martial (R.C.M.) 201(d)(1).

- Nonmilitary Offenses: Crimes that violate both the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) and local criminal law may be tried by a court-martial, a civilian court, or both. R.C.M. 201(d)(2).

  -- A military member may NOT be tried for the same misconduct by both a court-martial and another federal court. U.S. Const. amend. V; R.C.M. 907(b)(2)(C).

  -- A military member MAY be tried for the same misconduct by both a court-martial and state court. However, if a military member was tried by a state court and jeopardy attached, regardless of the outcome, as a matter of policy, SecAF approval is required before proceeding with a court-martial. AFI 51-201, para 2.6.3. If the case was dismissed before jeopardy attached, SecAF approval is not necessary.

  -- Host nation treaties and status of forces agreements (SOFAs) govern exercise of jurisdiction over military members overseas

JURISDICTION OVER THE OFFENSE (R.C.M. 203)
- Courts-martial may try any offense under the UCMJ and in general courts-martial the law of war. R.C.M. 203

- The Supreme Court has held that jurisdiction in a court-martial is based solely on the accused’s status as a person subject to the UCMJ, and not the “service-connection” of the charged offense. Solorio v. United States, 483 U.S. 435 (1987)

JURISDICTION OVER THE PERSON (R.C.M. 202)
- General Rule: Article 3(a), UCMJ, authorizes court-martial jurisdiction in ALL cases in which the service member was subject to the UCMJ at the time of the offense and is subject to the UCMJ at the time of trial. Article 2 of the UCMJ lists classes of persons who are subject to the UCMJ.

- Fraudulent Enlistment: Article 2(c), UCMJ, provides that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, a person serving with the armed forces is subject to the UCMJ until such person’s active duty service has been terminated in accordance with law or regulations promulgated by the SecAF if the person:
-- Submitted voluntarily to military authority;

-- Met the mental competence and minimum age qualifications at the time of voluntary submission to military authority;

-- Received military pay or allowances; and

-- Performed military duties

AIR FORCE RESERVE

- Articles 2(a)(1) and 2(a)(3), UCMJ, extend court-martial jurisdiction over reservists whenever they are in Title 10 status (meaning that they are on inactive duty training (IDT), active duty (AD), or annual training (AT)). For guidance in this area, see R.C.M. 202 and 204(b)(1) and AFI 51-201, para 2.9, “Jurisdiction over Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard Members.”

- Article 2(d), UCMJ, authorizes a member of the reserve to be ordered to active duty for nonjudicial punishment, Article 32 investigation, and trial by court-martial

-- The Air Force has placed certain restrictions on involuntary recall of reserve members

--- An Air Force Reserve member may be ordered to active duty by an active component general court-martial convening authority. AFI 51-201, para 2.9.4.

--- An Air Force Reserve member recalled to active duty for court-martial may not be sentenced to confinement, or be required to serve a punishment consisting of any restrictions on liberty during the recall period of service, without approval of SecAF. The SJA will coordinate approval, as needed, to recall an Air Force Reserve member for court-martial when the sentence may include confinement. AFI 51-201, para 2.9.5.

--- Do not involuntarily call Air Force Reserve members to active duty solely for nonjudicial punishment or summary court-martial, although major command commanders or equivalents may grant waivers to this restriction in appropriate cases. AFI 51-201, para 2.9.3.

-- When determining whether the commander has UCMJ jurisdiction over the member, the commander must ask two questions:

--- Was the member in military status at the time he or she committed the alleged misconduct? If not, then no UCMJ jurisdiction exists.
A member in active status (i.e., special tour, annual tour) is subject to the UCMJ from the beginning to the end of the tour, 24 hours a day.

Generally, a member performing inactive duty training (IDT) or a unit training assembly (UTA) is subject to the UCMJ from the beginning to the end of the duty day, e.g., 0730 –1630.

Even if no UCMJ jurisdiction exists, commanders always have jurisdiction to perform administrative actions and can hold members accountable for wrongdoing by using a variety of adverse administrative actions such as letters of counseling, admonishment, reprimand, etc.

Will the member be in military status at the time the commander will impose punishment, such as an Article 15 punishment?

Commanders can always ask whether the member will voluntarily submit to UCMJ jurisdiction by extending his/her tour or IDT/UTA.

Commanders can wait until the member’s next scheduled training to offer Article 15 punishment.

If the member is under orders, the commander can involuntarily extend the member to impose Article 15 punishment BEFORE the orders expire.

If the member is performing an IDT or a UTA, the member cannot be extended because there are no orders to extend.

Air National Guard (ANG)

A member of the National Guard is subject to court-martial jurisdiction ONLY when in federal service. UCMJ art. 2(a)(3), 10 U.S.C. §§ 12301, 12401 (2005).

ANG members serve in one of two duty capacities:

State Duty Status: referred to as “Title 32” status

Federal Duty Status: referred to as “Title 10” status

When ANG members are serving in their state duty (or Title 32) status they are subject to their state codes of military justice.

It is very important to coordinate with your local SJA when addressing ANG military justice matters to ensure that we have jurisdiction over that person.
Retirees
- Court-martial jurisdiction continues over retired Regular Air Force personnel entitled to pay, UCMJ art. 2(a)(4) and (5).
  -- Retired members should not be court-martialed unless their conduct clearly links them with the military or is adverse to a significant military interest of the United States.
  -- Commanders should not prefer charges without SecAF approval unless the statute of limitations (UCMJ art 43) is about to run out. The SJA will coordinate approval, as needed, to recall a retired member for court-martial. AFI 51-201, para 2.10.

Termination of Jurisdiction
- General Rule: A valid discharge terminates jurisdiction. There must be:
  -- Delivery of a valid discharge certificate;
  -- A final accounting of pay; and
  -- Completion of the clearing process required by appropriate service instructions.
- Exceptions under Article 3, UCMJ
  -- The member was subject to the UCMJ at the time of the offense and is subject to the UCMJ at the time of trial.
  -- A fraudulently obtained discharge does not terminate military jurisdiction.
  -- An Air Force Reserve member is not, by virtue of the termination of a period of active duty or inactive-duty training, “shielded” from jurisdiction for an offense committed during such period of active duty or inactive-duty training.

Statute of Limitation, Article 43, UCMJ
- Typically, a person charged with an offense is not liable to be tried by court-martial if the offense was committed more than 5 years before preferral of charges. A person charged with an offense is not liable to be punished by nonjudicial punishment (Article 15) if the offense was committed more than 2 years before the imposition of punishment.
- There is no statute of limitation for a person charged with murder, rape, sexual assault, rape or sexual assault of a child, and any other offense punishable by death.

A Commander’s Guide to the AFOSI

The Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI) provides specialized investigations and services to protect Air Force and DoD personnel, operations, and interests.

Organization
- Established following WWII to preclude “self-investigation”
  -- Patterned after the Federal Bureau of Investigations
  -- Removed from command channels as an independent centralized organization to ensure unbiased and factual investigations
- Became operational 1 August 1948, accountable to SecAF. AFOSI is now organized under SAF/IG.
- Missions include investigating allegations of criminal activity and fraud, as well as counterintelligence and specialized investigative activities, counter-drug activities, protective service operations, and integrated force protection
- A combat-ready military organization that provides the Air Force a wartime capability to conduct, in hostile and uncertain environments, counter-threat operations to find, fix, track, and neutralize enemy threats
  -- To provide complete services to assist commanders in carrying out the responsibilities of command
  -- Since 1972, AFOSI’s CONUS personnel security investigation function transferred to DoD Defense Security Service (DSS). AFOSI still assists DSS with overseas requirements.

Requesting AFOSI Investigative Service
- AFI 71-101 V1, AFMD 39 and AFPD 71-1
  -- Only SecAF may direct AFOSI to delay, suspend or terminate an investigation, unless the investigation is conducted at the request of DoD/IG
  -- Investigations initiated on authority of AFOSI/CC, as delegated to subordinate AFOSI commanders and special agents in charge
  -- AFOSI will brief Air Force commanders on the progress of investigations affecting their command
Direct contact with commanders is essential during various stages of investigations, e.g., search authorizations.

Any Air Force commander responsible for security, discipline, or law enforcement may request investigative support.

Coordination with AFOSI and the SJA is required prior to commanders reassigning a person subject to an AFOSI investigation or ordering/permitting a commander directed inquiry/investigation when there is ongoing AFOSI investigation.

AFI 71-101 V1, Attachment 2 (AFOSI and SF investigative responsibilities)

Generally, AFOSI will only investigate major offenses.

Minor offenses are normally handled by Security Forces, Office of Investigations (SFOI).

Coordination between AFOSI and SFOI is required to make best use of investigative resources; considering technical expertise, investigative capability and available manpower.

Mutual Support Requirements

- Command Role:

  AFOSI requests and the appropriate commander or magistrate issues search and seizure authorizations based on probable cause requirements. The SJA should be involved in every case involving a probable cause determination.

  Operations Security (OPSEC) of AFOSI investigations

    Knowledge of an ongoing AFOSI investigation by unnecessary parties may jeopardize operations and compromise efforts to neutralize criminal or counterintelligence threats.

    The exposure of AFOSI sources/agents/witnesses and investigative techniques could place persons and evidence at risk.

    OPSEC is critical; restrict to base/staff officials on a strict “need-to-know” basis.

  Crime scene protection support

    AFOSI depends on command support and resources to protect crime scenes.
--- Untrained though well-intentioned personnel who disturb or change the physical environment or handle objects at the crime scene can alter or destroy critical evidence

--- Merely walking through or around a crime scene can add or remove trace items that could hamper an investigation

--- Security Forces are usually the first-responders who secure and protect the scene for AFOSI

--- Exclude witnesses, curiosity seekers, and limit to minimum of authorized personnel (e.g., medical/fire department)

--- Rank or official position alone should not justify entry

--- Command support of AFOSI access and control of area is vital

--- Protection of agent’s grade (AFPD 71-1 and AFI 71-101 V1)

--- The ability to carry out the mission is enhanced by concealing the rank of AFOSI special agents

--- Commanders are required to ensure special procedures exist to protect agents’ personnel, medical and other administrative records

--- Host commander may authorize permanent or temporary housing in officer’s quarters

--- Handling complaints against AFOSI personnel

--- Due to nature of duties, complaints of intimidation or harassment are not uncommon

--- All should be immediately referred to the person’s immediate commander; all complaints will be thoroughly and expeditiously investigated by AFOSI

-AFOSI Support to Command:

--- AFOSI developmental files

--- Preliminary inquiry initiated by AFOSI/CC or Region/CC and used to examine situation to determine if there is criminal activity warranting an investigation
--- Information systematically collected on specific types of offenses or targets, typically using confidential informants or undercover agents

--- Information analyzed to determine need for individual substantive cases

-- Child abuse/neglect

--- Assist command in family advocacy program

--- All allegations of serious child abuse or neglect must be reported to AFOSI, regardless of origin of complaint (personnel of family support and child care centers, equal opportunity, medical, etc.)

---- AFOSI has greater access to certain records

---- AFOSI can provide fact-finding role to assist command and staff to make decisions

AFOSI’s Specialized Functions

- Sole manager of USAF polygraph program

- Specially trained mental health professionals using supervised cognitive interviews or forensic hypnosis as an aid to witness or victim memory enhancement

- Provide information operations and investigations assistance

- Regionally located computer crime investigators serve as specialists in the investigation of cyber crime, e.g., computer network intrusions and computer media search and seizure

- Forensic Science Consultants

  -- Regionally located experts with forensic sciences masters degrees

  -- May provide consultation, training, specialized investigative techniques in criminal cases, e.g., death investigations and sexual assaults

- Technical Services

  -- Process and support requests to intercept wire, oral, or electronic communications for law enforcement or counterintelligence purposes. See AFI 71-101 V1 or V4 for approval authorities.
-- Technical surveillance countermeasures

--- Detection and neutralization of technical surveillance devices deployed against Air Force facilities

--- Conducts security vulnerability surveys

- Protective Services

-- Provides threat assessments; protects designated Air Force officials; protects foreign official guests of DoD in CONUS

-- Assessments and estimates on terrorist and foreign intelligence threats to Air Force deployments, exercises, weapons facilities, and other base facilities upon request. HQ AFOSI/JA, not the base legal office, provides legal advice for counterintelligence operations.

- Security Violations

-- AFOSI investigates all security incidents of espionage, suspected compromise of special access information, or deliberate compromise of classified information

-- Does not investigate routine security violations

AFOSI Policy Information

- Apprehension/Arrest

  -- Civilian special agents are authorized to arrest civilians under many circumstances. However, not all detachments have civilian agents. In addition, this authority will be used judiciously and only when necessary.

  --- Civilian agent’s authority is derived from 10 U.S.C. § 9027

  --- Specific guidelines promulgated by SECDEF and Attorney General

  -- Military agent’s authority is derived from the Manual for Courts-Martial

    --- Limited to individuals subject to UCMJ, not family members or nonmilitary U.S. citizens

    --- Only if required by operation or emergency (security forces routinely do so at AFOSI’s request)
Military law enforcement personnel may temporarily detain civilians suspected of on-base offenses until civilian authorities arrive.

- Arming

  -- AFPD 71-1 authorizes agents to carry firearms (including concealed) for duties

  -- AFOSI offices required to maintain at least one handgun and ammunition for each agent assigned

  -- Weapons stored within AFOSI facilities or in security forces armory if the local detachment is inadequate for security purposes

- Sources and Undercover Agents

  -- Base human sources of information may be overt (officials) or covert (on a confidential basis)

  -- AFOSI undercover agents are specially trained and sent to installation to perform duties

  -- OPSEC and safety concerns dictate identity protections

  --- Investigative reports may conceal identities of sources; release of identities requires either concurrence of AFOSI detachment commander/special agent in charge or an order from a military judge. See M.R.E. 507.

  --- Threatened Airman Program is a personnel program; AFOSI provides threat validation and assessment as prelude to reassignment action

  -- Excellent investigative tool to develop valuable information about crimes planned/in progress
Types of AFOSI Reports

- Routinely Provided
  -- Information routinely provided to commanders and their representatives, (i.e., SJA)

- Interim Case Reporting
  -- AFOSI may up-channel internal reporting of special interest cases where publicity or Congressional interest is expected
  -- Informs HQ AFOSI, Air Staff, commanders, and other agencies of significant matters affecting Air Force and DoD
  -- Separate and distinct from major command up-channel reporting

- Report of Investigation (ROI)
  -- Provided to command officials when investigation is complete
  -- Information obtained through investigation and witness interviews
  -- No recommendations or suggestions on appropriate command action

- Special Reports
  -- Provided by HQ AFOSI highlighting a particular kind of investigative activity and pinpointing problems so commanders can better handle them
  -- Provides description of weaknesses or susceptible areas under command to alert functional managers for possible correctional or remedial actions, e.g., fraud information reports; narcotics information reports; and narcotics briefs
  -- Reports requested by the Air Staff or other senior Air Force or DoD officials containing in-depth analysis of some area of concern Air Force-wide, e.g., damage to USAF aircraft

- Command Reporting of Actions Taken
  -- Commanders should provide AFOSI with a report of action taken
  -- Allows AFOSI to ensure command action is included in appropriate national level databases
RELEASE OF INFORMATION

- “For Official Use Only” and should be treated as sensitive records covered by the Privacy Act

- Safeguarding, handling, and releasing information from AFOSI reports:

  -- May be released in whole or in part, only to persons who require access for official duties

  --- Refer all requests for release to non-Air Force officials to the servicing AFOSI detachment

  --- Only HQ AFOSI may authorize release outside the Air Force; or release or deny information under Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) or Privacy Act (law enforcement records exemption)

  --- SJAs must appropriately redact ROI prior to release to defense attorneys for discovery

  -- Safeguard ROIs in locked file cabinets

- Press or news inquiries for information require close coordination between public affairs, SJA, and AFOSI in all cases

FUNCTIONS OF THE AREA DEFENSE COUNSEL

The area defense counsel (ADC) program provides Air Force members independent legal representation. Airmen suspected of an offense or facing adverse administrative actions receive confidential legal advice from an experienced judge advocate general outside the local chain of command, avoiding conflicts of interest or command influence.

- The ADC is a certified judge advocate performing defense counsel duties in the following areas:

  -- Counsel in courts-martial, administrative discharge actions and Article 32 investigations

  -- Counsel in Article 15 actions

  -- Counsel in interrogations

  -- Any other adverse actions in which counsel for an individual is required or authorized

- All ADCs are assigned outside the local chain of command

  -- The ADC’s responsibility is to vigorously and ethically represent the client

  -- The ADC is an advocate for the client, not an advisor for the command. The ADC office is physically separate from the base legal office.

- If an active duty military member under any type of investigation requests legal advice, refer them to the ADC

  -- Civilians are not entitled to ADC representation

  -- The ADC at Air Reserve Personnel Center in Denver, Colorado will represent Category B members of the Air Force Reserve

  -- The ADC at Air Force Reserve Command at Robins Air Force Base, Georgia will represent Category A reservists facing discharge action

- The ADC program requires strong command and SJA support to enhance perception of fairness of military justice/disciplinary process

- The ADC is available, subject to workload and client confidences, to help educate the base population on the military justice system and the ADC’s function
MILITARY MAGISTRATE PROGRAM

Military magistrates may be appointed by the Special Court-Martial Convening Authority (SPCMCA) for each installation. A military magistrate’s primary duty is to issue search authorizations based upon probable cause.

- The SPCMCA may appoint a maximum of four officers, of judicial temperament, to serve as military magistrate for the installation

-- AFI 51-201, para 3.1 is the authority for appointment of a military magistrate to authorize searches on the installation

-- Absent general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA) approval, a military magistrate must be in the grade of lieutenant colonel or above

-- May not be a chaplain, a member of an office of a staff judge advocate having responsibility for that installation, security forces member, AFOSI agent, or convening authority

-- Appointment must be in writing, specifying the installation over which the magistrate has authority

-- If two magistrates are appointed, each exercises concurrent authority with the other and with the installation commander

- Once appointed, magistrates are authorized to issue search and seizure authorizations based upon probable cause. Please refer to the Inspections and Searches section of this book for further explanation.

-- They may exercise this authority concurrent with installation commander

-- Availability of the installation commander is not a factor in their exercise of authority

- Each installation’s staff judge advocate will brief the magistrates on their duties when appointed and thereafter when appropriate

Mil. R. Evid. 315 (2013)
Commanders contemplating disciplinary or administrative action against military members or civilian employees that could lead to discharge or removal from the Air Force must first obtain permission to proceed when the member or employee holds a special access. “Special access” includes SCI access, SIOP/ESI, HQ USAF/XO special access programs, research and development (R&D) special access programs and AFOSI special access. Do not take action on personnel who now hold or have held certain access within the periods specified until approval is obtained from the appropriate special access program identified in AFI 31-501, para 8.9.

- Expeditious processing of such requests must be pursued to comply with speedy trial rules and restrictive time requirements in civilian removal cases. GOAL: 15 days from date of initiation request to date of approval/denial by OPR.

- Voluntary separation requests by officers (AFI 36-3207) and Airmen (AFI 36-3208) will not be handled under these procedures unless they are in lieu of adverse action.

- Commanders must file a Special Access Request Worksheet as part of the package requesting permission to proceed. Involve the unit security manager and the special access program manager in the collection and processing of this type of information.

Actions Permitted Pending Decision to Proceed:

- Courts-martial: In general or special courts-martial, command may complete preferral of charges and an Article 32 investigation, if applicable, but cannot refer charges without permission to proceed. Restrictions do not apply to summary courts-martial.

- Officer Discharges: The show cause authority may not initiate the discharge, issue a show cause memorandum, or otherwise require officers to show cause for retention until the appropriate action office grants authority to proceed.

- Airman Discharges: In “notification” cases, the commander may proceed through giving the member notice of the proposed discharge, obtaining the member’s response, scheduling necessary appointments, and conducting those appointments; however, the separation authority may not approve the discharge until permission to proceed is granted. In “board hearing” cases, the commander may proceed through initiation of the case, obtaining the member’s response, scheduling necessary appointments, and conducting those appointments. The convening authority may not convene the board until authority to proceed is obtained.

- Civilian Removals: Commanders must coordinate with the servicing civilian personnel flight to compose the message to the appropriate Air Force OPR, seeking authority to proceed. Commanders MUST NOT, under any circumstances, issue a “notice of proposed removal” until authority to proceed is obtained.
Judge Advocate Notifications

- Any case with potential to be a national security case must be reported immediately to the Air Force Legal Operations Agency’s Military Justice Division (AFLOA/JAJM) by the local SJA. Such cases include:

  -- Aiding the Enemy (art. 104, UCMJ)

  -- Spying (art. 106, UCMJ)

  -- Espionage (art. 106a, UCMJ)

  -- Sabotage (art. 108, UCMJ; 18 U.S.C. § 2155)

  -- Subversion (art. 94, UCMJ)

  -- Violations of punitive instructions, regulations, or criminal statutes concerning classified information, or U.S. foreign relations (art. 92, UCMJ)

- DoDD 5525.7 requires coordination between DoD and DOJ of the investigation and disposition of significant cases. Early reporting to AFLOA/JAJM is essential since national security cases often involve issues such as searches, seizures, immunity grants, polygraphs, etc., as well as the decision whether to prosecute and, if so, who will prosecute. Under no circumstances should a unit commander or an SJA take action initiating the court-martial process in a case potentially involving national security issues until AFLOA/JAJM has coordinated the case with DOJ through appropriate DoD channels.

- Any national security case involving court-martial, civilian removal action, or administrative discharge must be reported by the SJA to HQ USAF/JAA (Administrative Law Division)

Sexual assault is criminal conduct. It falls well short of the standards America expects of its men and women in uniform. It violates Air Force Core Values. Inherent in our Core Values of Integrity First, Service Before Self, and Excellence in All We Do is respect: self-respect, mutual respect, and respect for our Air Force as an institution. Our core values and respect are the foundation of our Wingman culture; a culture in which we look out for each other and take care of each other. Incidents of sexual assault corrode the very fabric of our Wingman culture; therefore we must strive for an environment where this behavior is not tolerated and where all Airmen are respected.

-- The policy applies to all levels of command and all Air Force organizations and personnel, including active duty, Air Force government civilian employees, Air Force Academy, Air National Guard, and Air Force Reserve components while in federal service

-- Installation commanders will implement local sexual assault prevention and response programs. The installation vice commander or equivalent is designated as the responsible official to act for the installation commander and supervises the Installation Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC).

Definition of Sexual Assault

- Intentional sexual contact, characterized by use of force, threats, intimidation, abuse of authority or when the victim does not or cannot consent. It includes rape, forcible sodomy (oral or anal sex), and other unwanted sexual contact that is aggravated, abusive or wrongful (to include unwanted and inappropriate sexual context), or attempts to commit these acts.

- This definition is for training and educational purposes only and does not affect in any way the definition of any offenses under the UCMJ. Commanders are encouraged to consult with their staff judge advocate for complete understanding of this definition in relation to the UCMJ.
INSTALLATION SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE COORDINATOR (SARC)
- Reporting directly to the installation vice wing commander, the SARC implements and manages the installation level sexual assault prevention and response programs

- The SARC is responsible for assisting commanders in meeting annual sexual assault prevention and response training requirements

- The SARC serves as the single point of contact for integrating and coordinating sexual assault victim care from an initial report of sexual assault, through disposition and resolution of issues related to the victim's health and well-being

- The SARC is responsible for ensuring a victim support system that provides a 24 hour/7 day a week sexual assault response capability for all victims within his/her designated area of responsibility

- The SARC tracks the status of sexual assault cases in his/her designated area of responsibility and provides regular updates to the Vice Wing Commander

VICTIM ADVOCATE (VA)
- Responsibilities include providing crisis intervention, referral, and ongoing non-clinical support, including information on available options and resources to assist the victim in making informed decisions about the case. VA services will continue until the victim states support is no longer needed.

- VAs are volunteers who must possess the maturity and experience to assist in a very sensitive situation. Only active duty military personnel and DoD civilian employees selected by the SARC may serve as VAs.

- Personnel assigned to the MTF (unless approved by the MDG/CC), MEO, SF, the legal office, or the office of the wing chaplain are not eligible to serve as victim advocates due to potential conflict of interest

- VAs do not provide counseling or other professional services to a victim. Appropriate agencies will provide clinical, legal, and other professional services

- VAs may accompany the victim, at the victim’s request, during investigative interviews and medical examinations. However, they and the victims they accompany must be made aware that their presence could later result in them being called as witnesses in court-martial or administrative proceedings.
SPECIAL VICTIMS’ COUNSEL (SVC) PROGRAM

OBJECTIVES
- The objectives of the Air Force Special Victims’ Counsel Program are to:
  -- Provide victims of sexual assault, other sexual misconduct and stalking with independent, attorney-client privileged representation throughout the investigation/prosecution processes
  -- Empower victims by providing professional and knowledgeable counsel to enable them to express their choices
  -- Provide advocacy to protect the rights afforded to victims in the military justice system

OVERVIEW
- On 28 January 2013, the Air Force implemented a Special Victims Counsel (SVC) Program by providing qualified Judge Advocates (JAGs) to represent sexual assault victims
- The FY14 NDAA mandated the Services to provide Special Victims’ Counsel and amended 10 U.S.C. §1044

ELIGIBILITY FOR REPRESENTATION
- Certain categories of victims of sexual assault, stalking and other sexual misconduct are eligible for SVC representation
  -- Air Force members (Active Duty and Reserve/Guard in Title 10 status at the time of the offense)
  -- Dependents of Air Force members if the perpetrator is a military member subject to the UCMJ
  -- DoD Civilians who are deployed or who are, and their dependents, are assigned OCONUS
  -- Other service members and their dependents if the perpetrator is a military member subject to the UCMJ (individuals will be referred to their respective Service branches SVC or Victims Legal Counsel Programs)
  -- Basic Military Training and Technical Training students who are involved in an unprofessional relationship that involves physical contact of a sexual nature with faculty or staff if the incident occurs within the first 6 months of their service
The Chief, Special Victims’ Counsel Division, AFLOA/CLSV, or designee, has the final authority on determination of eligibility and may grant exceptions to policy on a case-by-case basis consistent with 10 U.S.C. §§ 1044, 1044e and 1565b.

Notifying Victims of the Availability of SVC Services
- The first individual to make contact with the victim, such as the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC), Victim Advocate (VA), Family Advocacy representative, investigator, Victim Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) Liaison or trial counsel, is required to inform the victim of the availability of SVC services utilizing an overprint to the DD Form 2701, Initial Information for Victims/Witnesses of Crime.

  --- SVCs are not permitted to solicit clients. Victims must request an SVC in order for services to be rendered.

Scope of Representation
- An SVC’s sole role is to represent victims in a confidential, attorney-client relationship, throughout the investigation and prosecution processes.

  --- Military Justice Advocacy: SVCs enable victims to assert their rights under Article 6b, UCMJ.

  --- SVCs advocate a victim’s interests to commanders, convening authorities, staff judge advocates, prosecutors, defense counsel, and military judges; attend interviews with investigators, trial and defense counsel; attend Article 32 hearings and courts-martial, including in-court representation (such as motions to assert Article 6b, UCMJ rights, MRE 412/513/514 and other evidentiary/legal rights); assist with post-trial submissions to the convening authority; assist with transitional compensation; advise on VWAP, and the responsibilities and support provided by the SARC and VA.

  --- Advocacy to Air Force and DoD Agencies:

    --- SVCs assist with expedited transfer; address safety concerns (MPOs/TROs/altering working conditions); assist with access to medical/mental health care; address workplace concerns (such as retaliation or peer ostracism); advise on military benefits.

  --- Collateral Misconduct: may represent in conjunction with a military defense counsel or solo.

  --- Advocacy to Civilian Prosecutors and Agencies: advice on United States civilian criminal jurisdiction. SVCs may not represent victims in civilian court.
Legal Consultation: may consult on potential for civil litigation against parties other than DoD

Traditional legal assistance

Special Victims' Counsel (SVC)
- The SVC is a certified judge advocate designated to represent the interests of victims of sexual assault
- All SVCs are assigned outside the local chain of command
  - The SVC’s responsibility is to zealously advocate for their client, assist victims by helping them to understand the investigatory and military justice process and advocating for the victim to command or the court when necessary
  - The SVC is an advocate for the client, not an advisor for the command or the legal office. The SVC office is typically co-located with the SARC
  - SVCs are not located at every base, rather they are assigned to represent victims within a particular region of military bases
- If an active duty military member who is the victim of a sexual assault requests an SVC, refer them to the legal office or the SARC who will coordinate representation
  - Civilians are not entitled to SVC representation, unless the civilian victim is an adult dependent of a military member and the perpetrator is a military member, or the civilian victim is a reservist or National Guard member who was serving on active duty at the time of the offense
  - SVCs may not represent victims in any disciplinary action. SVCs should refer their client to the ADC. However, SVCs may work with the ADC regarding collateral misconduct related to the sexual assault.

Response to a Sexual Assault Incident
- Upon notification, the SARC will immediately assign a VA to the victim. To the extent practicable, the assigned VA should not be from the same unit as the victim.
- The assigned VA will immediately contact the victim
  - Unless VA assistance is declined, the VA will provide the victim accurate information on the sexual assault response process, including the option of unrestricted or restricted reporting as applicable
-- The VA will inform the victim of the availability of healthcare, including the option of a forensic medical examination and the collection of evidence

-- The victim will be requested to sign a Victim Preference Statement indicating his/her choice of restricted or unrestricted reporting and understanding of the consequences of his/her decision

- The assigned VA and the SARC will continue to monitor the case through disposition of the case and resolution of the victim’s health and well-being

-- The SARC will provide updates to the victim and commanders as appropriate and in accordance with Air Force policy

-- The VA will provide referral and ongoing non-clinical support to the victim. Services will continue until the victim indicates services are no longer required, or the SARC makes this determination based on the victim’s response to offers of assistance.

Restricted Reporting

- Restricted reporting is intended to give a victim additional time and increased control over the release and management of the victim's personal information, and to empower the victim to seek relevant information and support to make an informed decision about participating in the criminal process

- Who may make a Restricted Report? Restricted reporting is available only to military personnel of the Armed Forces and the Coast Guard when attached to the Department of Defense

- Who may not make a Restricted Report?

  -- Members of the Reserve Component not performing federal duty

  -- Retired members of any component

  -- Dependents

  -- Air Force civilian employees

- Who may receive a Restricted Report?

  -- Only SARCs and healthcare providers may receive restricted reports of sexual assault
-- A report made to a healthcare provider under circumstances where it cannot reasonably be ascertained whether it is intended as a restricted report will be treated as a restricted report until the SARC can ascertain the victim's intentions

-- Consistent with current policy, a report may also be made to a chaplain if it is reported or forwarded to a SARC or healthcare provider

-- VAs may receive restricted reports from a designated victim only after they have been appointed by the SARC to act as the victim advocate for that individual

- Only allegations of sexual assault may be made under the restricted reporting option

- When the SARC receives a restricted report of a sexual assault, the victim will be informed of the availability of healthcare, including the option of a forensic medical examination and the collection of evidence

- The election to make a restricted versus an unrestricted report does not limit a victim's eligibility for a SVC

Disclosure of a Restricted Report

- If an individual makes a restricted report of a sexual assault, such a report may not be disclosed to any law enforcement official, command authority, or other entity not authorized to receive restricted reports, except as provided in the following exceptions:

  -- Command officials or law enforcement when the disclosure is authorized in writing by the victim

  -- Command officials or law enforcement when disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to the health or safety of the individual or another

  -- Disability Retirement Boards and officials when disclosure by a healthcare provider is required for fitness for duty for disability retirement determinations

  -- SARC, VAs, or healthcare provider when disclosure is necessary for the supervision of direct victim services

  -- Military or civilian courts of competent jurisdiction when disclosure is ordered by or required by federal or state statute

- Healthcare providers may also convey to command any possible adverse duty impact related to the victim’s medical condition and prognosis in accordance with DoD 6025.18-R, as well as any applicable Air Force instructions
In the event a disclosure is made under a recognized exception to Air Force policy, the disclosure will be limited to that necessary to satisfy the purpose of the disclosure.

In cases of an unrestricted report of a sexual assault or information concerning a sexual assault is otherwise known, information concerning the victim and the offense will only be provided to governmental entities or persons with an established official “need to know”.

Unauthorized disclosure of a covered communication, improper release of medical information and other violations of this policy may result in action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice for military personnel, or other personnel or administrative action for all personnel, including loss of medical credentials.

Notification to Command of a Restricted Report

Within 24 hours of receipt of a restricted report of an alleged sexual assault, the SARC will notify the Vice Wing commander that a restricted report has been made. The SARC will provide the following information while ensuring that the information is not sufficient to identify the victim or incident.

- The incident will be characterized as recent (within the last 30 days) or not recent (older than 30 days)
- Time of occurrence (night or day)
- General information as to location (a dorm, parking lot, off base, etc.)
- Number of alleged assailants
- Number of alleged victims
- Nature of assault (rape, forcible sodomy, indecent assault, etc.)

Because non-identifying information under the restricted reporting option is intended to provide commanders with general environmental information about the number and types of sexual assaults on the installation and is to be used to provide a better understanding of incidents of sexual assault, neither commanders nor law enforcement officials may initiate investigations based on information provided by SARCs under this rule.

Commanders, however, may use the information to enhance preventive measures, to enhance the education and training of their personnel, and to more closely scrutinize their organization’s climate and culture for contributing factors, but may not use the information for investigative purposes or in a manner that is likely to discover, disclose, or reveal the identities being protected.
Unrestricted Reporting
- Any report of a sexual assault made through normal reporting channels, including the victim's chain of command, law enforcement, and the AFOSI or other criminal investigative service is considered an unrestricted report.

- A report made to a SARC or healthcare provider where the individual does not elect restricted reporting is considered an unrestricted report.

- The SARC will be notified of any unrestricted report and will assign a VA to the individual.

- Details of the allegation will be provided only to those personnel who have a legitimate “need to know.”

Independent Reports
- Should information about a sexual assault be disclosed to command from a source independent of restricted reporting avenues or to law enforcement from other sources, and an investigation into an allegation of sexual assault is initiated, that report is considered an independent report.

- An official investigation may be initiated based on that independently acquired information.

- When the SARC or VA learns that a law enforcement official has initiated an official investigation that is based upon independently-acquired information and after consulting with the law enforcement official responsible for the investigation, the SARC or VA will notify the victim, as appropriate.

- Covered communications from the restricted report will not be released for the investigation unless the victim authorizes the disclosure in writing or another exception applies.

Addressing Victim Misconduct
- An investigation into the facts and circumstances surrounding an alleged sexual assault may develop evidence that the victim engaged in misconduct like underage drinking or other related alcohol offenses, adultery, drug abuse, fraternization or other violations of instructions, regulations or orders.

  -- In accordance with the UCMJ, the MCM, and Air Force Instructions, commanders are responsible for ensuring victim misconduct is addressed in a manner that is consistent and appropriate to the circumstances.

  -- Commanders have the authority to determine the appropriate disposition of alleged victim misconduct, to include deferring disciplinary action until after disposition of the sexual assault case.
When considering what corrective actions may be appropriate, commanders must balance the objectives of holding members accountable for their own misconduct with the intent to avoid unnecessary additional trauma to sexual assault victims and to encourage reporting of sexual assaults.

The gravity of any collateral misconduct by the victim and its impact on good order and discipline should be carefully considered in deciding what, if any, corrective action is appropriate.

Commanders must also be mindful of any potential statute of limitations when determining whether to defer action.

Commanders are expected to consult with their servicing staff judge advocate and use appropriate personnel actions to resolve any allegations.

Administrative separation actions involving victims of sexual assaults will be processed as required by the applicable Air Force instruction.

When a commander proposing administrative or medical separation action was previously aware, or is made aware by the respondent or others, that the member has filed a past complaint, allegation, or charge that they were a victim of sexual assault, the proposing commander shall ensure the separation authority is aware the discharge proceeding involves a victim of sexual assault.

The separation authority must be provided sufficient information concerning the alleged assault and the victim’s status to ensure a full and fair consideration of the victim’s military service and particular situation.

SEXUAL ASSAULT CASE DISPOSITION AUTHORITY

To ensure consistent and appropriate level of command attention and the full responses required by the nature of sexual assault cases, group commanders of Air Force groups or higher will sign the commander’s report of disposition setting out action taken in all sexual assault cases.

Authority to initially dispose of cases that resulted from an allegation of sexual assault is withheld from commanders O-5 and below and commanders O-6 and above who do not have special court-martial convening authority.

Initial disposition means determining whether the matter should be resolved by court-martial, nonjudicial punishment, adverse administrative action, no action, or to forward to a superior or subordinate for further disposition.
- A commander authorized to dispose of cases involving an allegation of sexual assault may do so only after receiving the advice of the servicing staff judge advocate

- As with any case, any disposition decision on a case involving an allegation of sexual assault is subject to review by superior commanders as appropriate

COMMANDER’S RESPONSE TO ALLEGATIONS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT

- Commanders notified of a sexual assault through unrestricted reporting must take immediate steps to ensure the victim’s physical safety, emotional security and medical treatment needs are met, and that the AFOSI or appropriate criminal investigative agency is notified

- Attachment 4 to the Air Force Sexual Assault Policy is a checklist for assisting commanders in responding to allegations of sexual assault. Its primary objective is to assist commanders in safeguarding the rights of the victim and the subject, as well as addressing appropriate unit standards and interests. In all cases, commanders should seek the advice of the SJA in using the checklist before taking action.

- The appropriate commanders should determine whether temporary reassignment or relocation of the victim or subject is appropriate, or possibly a permanent change of station, including humanitarian reassignment

- Commanders should consider whether no contact orders or Military Protective Orders (DD Form 2873) are required

Memorandum, Secretary of Defense, Withholding Initial Disposition Authority Under the Uniform Code of Military Justice in Certain Sexual Assault Cases (20 April 2012)
AIR FORCE VICTIM AND WITNESS ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

OBJECTIVES
- The objectives of the Air Force Victim and Witness Assistance Program (VWAP) are to:
  -- Mitigate the physical, psychological, and financial hardships suffered by victims and witnesses of offenses investigated by U.S. Air Force authorities
  -- Foster cooperation between victims, witnesses, and the military justice system
  -- Ensure best efforts are extended to protect the rights of victims and witnesses

OVERVIEW
- Each agency (JA, SF, OSI, HC, MDG & FSC) is responsible for training personnel on their responsibilities. The SJA trains commanders and first sergeants.

- Each installation should prepare an information packet modeled after figure 7.3 of AFI 51-201 and provide the packet to each victim/witness. See also DD Form 2701, Initial Information for Victims and Witnesses of Crime; DD Form 2702, Court-Martial Information for Victims and Witnesses of Crime; and DD Form 2703, Post-Trial Information for Victims and Witnesses of Crime.

- In cases involving adverse actions for the abuse of dependents resulting in the separation of the military sponsor, victims may be entitled to receive compensation under the Transitional Compensation program or under the Uniform Services Former Spouses Protection Act

LOCAL RESPONSIBLE OFFICIAL (LRO)
- The installation commander is the local responsible official (LRO) for identifying victims and witnesses of crimes and providing the services required by VWAP

- The commander normally delegates this responsibility in writing to the base SJA

LRO RESPONSIBILITIES TO CRIME VICTIMS
- Inform victims about sources of medical and social services

- Inform victims of restitution or other relief to which they may be entitled

- Assist victims in obtaining financial, legal, and other social services

- Inform victims concerning protection against threats or harassment

- Provide victims notice of the status of investigation or court-martial, preferral of charges, acceptance of a guilty plea or announcement of findings, and the sentence imposed
- If administrative action is taken

-- LRO may reveal “appropriate administrative action was taken”

-- LRO MAY NOT reveal the specific action taken, i.e., Article 15 punishment, because it is not public knowledge and is protected by the Privacy Act.

- Safeguard the victim’s property if taken as evidence and return it as soon as possible

- Consult with victims and consider their views on preferral of court-martial charges, pretrial restraint, dismissal of charges, pretrial agreements, discharge in lieu of court-martial, and scheduling of judicial proceedings. Although victims’ views should be considered, nothing in the VWAP limits the responsibility and authority of officials involved in the military justice process from taking any action deemed necessary in the interest of good order and discipline and/or preventing service discrediting conduct.

- Designate a victim liaison when necessary

LRO Responsibilities to All Witnesses

- Notify authorities of threats and assist in obtaining restraining orders

- Provide a waiting area removed from and out of the sight and hearing of the accused and defense witnesses

- Assist in obtaining necessary services such as transportation, parking, child care, lodging, and court-martial translators/interpreters

- If the victim/witness requests, take reasonable steps to inform his/her employer of the reasons for the absence from work, as well as notify creditors of any serious financial strain incurred as a direct result of the offense

- Provide victims and witnesses necessary assistance in obtaining timely payment of witness fees and related costs

TRANSITIONAL COMPENSATION FOR VICTIMS OF ABUSE

Federal legislation provides for transitional assistance to abused dependants of military members. The assistance provided can be an extension of benefits and/or a monetary pay for a set period of time. It is DoD policy to provide monthly transitional compensation payments and other benefits for dependents of members who are separated for dependent abuse. Applicants initiate requests for transitional compensation through the member’s unit commander or Military Personnel Flight (MPF).

Eligibility for Transitional Compensation
- Dependents of members of the armed forces who have been on active duty for more than 30 days and who, after 29 November 1993, are:
  - Separated from active duty under a court-martial sentence resulting from a dependant-abuse offense
  - Administratively separated from active duty if the basis for separation includes a dependent-abuse offense
  - Sentenced to forfeiture of all pay and allowances by a court-martial which has convicted the member of dependent-abuse offense
- Dependents are ineligible to receive any transitional compensation if they remarry, cohabitate with the member, or are found to have been an active participant in the dependent abuse

Types of Transitional Compensation
- Commissary and exchange benefits (10 U.S.C. § 1059)
- Medical and dental care (10 U.S.C. § 1076)

Application Procedures
- Eligible dependents request transitional compensation by completing DD Form 2698
- Requests are made through the member’s unit commander or through the MPF at any Air force installation when the applicant is no longer at the installation in which the member was assigned
- The unit representative will assist the dependent with the completion of DD Form 2698
- The MPF commander will coordinate the package and obtain a written legal review from the SJA
- The installation commander is the approval authority

- If approved, transitional compensation can last between 12 and 36 months, depending on the circumstances

- The monthly amount for transitional compensation is set by Congress. In 2009, the compensation was set at $1154 per month, plus $286 for each dependent child.

MEDIA RELATIONS IN MILITARY JUSTICE MATTERS

The Air Force must balance three important societal interests when there is media interest in military justice proceedings: protection of the accused’s right to a fair trial, the privacy rights of all persons involved in the proceedings, and the community’s right to be informed of and observe criminal proceedings. These interests are especially relevant when the proceeding involves high profile cases.

Release of information relating to criminal proceedings is subject to the Privacy Act (PA), Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), victim and witness assistance protection (VWAP) laws, Air Force Rules of Professional Conduct, Air Force Standards for Criminal Justice, implementing directives, security requirements, classified information laws, and judicial orders. It is critical that commanders always consult with the SJA before releasing any information about such proceedings.

PROVIDING INFORMATION

- AFI 51-201, Section 13D, covers the rules for releasing information pertaining to criminal proceedings. It prohibits release of information that has a substantial likelihood of prejudicing the criminal proceeding.

- AFI 51-201, para 13.6, states that release of extrajudicial statements is a command responsibility. The installation's SJA and its public affairs officer (PAO) must work closely to provide informed advice to the commander. If a proposed extrajudicial statement is based on information contained in agency records, the office of primary responsibility for the record should also coordinate prior to release. The convening authority responsible for the criminal proceeding makes the ultimate decision about release of extrajudicial statements relating to that criminal proceeding. Major command (or equivalent) commanders may withhold release authority from subordinate commanders. In high interest cases, the SJA and the PAO should consult with their major command representatives.

- Rules for release of permissible extrajudicial statements are complex and vary according to the type of information to be released and its source, the type of proceeding, and the stage of the proceeding when the information is released.

EXTRAJUDICIAL STATEMENTS GENERALLY

- Extrajudicial statements are oral or written statements made outside of a criminal proceeding that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication.

- There are valid reasons for making certain information available to the public in the form of extrajudicial statements. However, extrajudicial statements must not be used to influence the course of a criminal proceeding.
Usually, extrajudicial statements should include only factual matters and should not offer subjective observations or opinions

Prohibited Extrajudicial Statements

- Extrajudicial statements relating to the following matters ordinarily have a substantial likelihood of prejudicing a criminal proceeding and generally should not be made about:

  -- The existence or contents of any confession, admission or statement by the accused or the accused’s refusal or failure to make a statement

  -- Observations about the accused’s character and reputation

  -- Opinions regarding the accused’s guilt or innocence

  -- Opinions regarding the merits of the case or the merits of the evidence

  -- References to the performance of any examinations, tests or investigative procedures (e.g., fingerprints, polygraph examinations and ballistics or laboratory tests), the accused’s failure to submit to an examination or test, or the identity or nature of expected physical evidence

  -- Statements concerning the identity, expected testimony, disciplinary or criminal records, or credibility of prospective witnesses

  -- The possibility of a guilty plea or other disposition of the case other than procedural information concerning such processes

  -- Information government counsel knows or has reason to know would be inadmissible as evidence in a trial

  -- Before sentencing, facts regarding the accused’s disciplinary or criminal record, including nonjudicial punishment, prior court-martial convictions, and other arrests, indictments, convictions, or charges. Do not release information about nonjudicial punishment or administrative actions even after sentencing, unless admitted into evidence. However, a statement that the accused has no prior criminal or disciplinary record is permitted.

Permissible Extrajudicial Statements

- When deemed necessary by command, the following extrajudicial statements may be made regardless of the stage of the proceedings, subject to the limitations stated above (substantial likelihood of prejudice and prohibitions under FOIA, PA, and/or VWAP)

  -- General information to educate or inform the public concerning military law and the military justice system
-- If the accused is a fugitive, information necessary to aid in apprehending the accused or to warn the public of possible dangers

-- Requests for assistance in obtaining evidence and information necessary to obtain evidence

-- Facts and circumstances of an accused’s apprehension, including time and place

-- The identities of investigating and apprehending agencies and the length of the investigation, only if release of this information will not impede an ongoing or future investigation and the release is coordinated with the affected agencies

-- Information contained in a public record, without further comment

-- Information that protects the Air Force or the military justice system from the substantial, undue prejudicial effect of recent publicity initiated by some person or entity other than the Air Force. Such statements shall be limited to that necessary to correct misinformation or to mitigate substantial undue prejudicial information already available to the public. This can include, but is not limited to, information that would have been available to a spectator at an open Article 32 investigation or an open session of a court-martial.

- The following extrajudicial statements may be made only after preferral of charges, subject to the limitations stated above (substantial likelihood of prejudice and prohibitions under FOIA, PA, and/or VWAP):

  -- The accused’s name, unit, and assignment

  -- The substance or text of charges and specifications, along with a mandatory statement explaining that charges are merely accusations and that the accused is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty. As necessary, redact all VWAP and PA protected data from the charges and specifications.

  -- The scheduling or result of any stage in the judicial process

  -- Date and place of trial and other proceedings, or anticipated dates if known

  -- Identity and qualifications of appointed counsel

  -- Identities of convening and reviewing authorities

  -- A statement, without comment, that the accused has no prior criminal or disciplinary record, or that the accused denies the charges
-- The identity of the victim where the release of that information is not otherwise prohibited by law. Generally, however, seek to avoid release of the name of victims of sex offenses, the names of children or the identity of any victim when release would be contrary to the desire of the victim or harmful to the victim.

-- The identities of court members and the military judge. Do not volunteer the identities of the court members or the military judge in material prepared for publication. This information may be released, if requested, after the court members or the military judge have been identified in the court-martial proceeding, if the convening authority’s SJA determines release would not prejudice the accused’s rights or violate the members’ or the military judge’s privacy interests.

ARTICLE 32 HEARINGS
- Article 32 hearings should ordinarily be open to the public

-- Access by spectators to all or part of the proceeding may be restricted or foreclosed by the commander who directed the hearing or by the pretrial hearing officer (PHO) when, in that officer’s opinion, the interests of justice outweigh the public’s interest in access

-- For example, it may be necessary to close a hearing to encourage complete testimony of a timid or embarrassed witness, to protect the privacy of an individual, or to ensure an accused’s due process rights are protected

-- Make every effort to close only those portions of the hearing that are clearly justified and keep the remaining portions of the hearing open

-- If a commander or PHO orders a hearing closed, he or she should provide specific reasons, in writing, for the closure. Attach the document to the PHO’s report.

-- The commander directing the hearing may maintain sole authority over a decision to open or close an Article 32 hearing by giving the PHO procedural instructions at the time of appointment or at any time thereafter

-- Prior to issuing procedural instructions to open an Article 32 hearing that has been closed, the commander must consider the PHO’s written reasons for closing the hearing
REDUCING TENSION WITH THE MEDIA

- Command should take positive steps to reduce tension with the media

  -- Have JA and PA work together to develop a coordinated press release that explains how the military justice system works, and how it compares and contrasts with the civilian system

  -- Advise the media up-front of the prohibition against courtroom photography, television, and audio and visual recording, and provide an alternate location, room or office for media interviews, broadcasts, etc.

  -- Air Force representatives must not encourage or assist news media in photographing or televising an accused being held or transported in custody

  -- Provide reserved seating in the courtroom for at least one pool reporter and a sketch artist

  -- Advise PA about regulatory and ethical requirements that limit trial counsel from commenting on the case

  -- Consider establishing controlled parking and access areas for military judge, counsel, witnesses, and court members

  -- When appropriate, discuss with the SJA the possibility of having trial counsel request a “gag order” from the military judge. Such an order can direct court members not to view media accounts of the case, or discuss the case with the media.

ARREST BY CIVIL AUTHORITIES

When a commander receives notice from any source (e.g., a unit member, security forces (SF), or the Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI)) that a member of his/her command is being held by civilian authorities and is charged with a criminal offense, Air Force directives require certain actions.

- The commander or a representative of the unit should contact the civilian authorities, inform them the person is a military member, and gather the following information:
  -- The charge against the member
  -- The facts and circumstances surrounding the charged offense; and
  -- The maximum punishment the member faces

- If possible, make arrangements for the member’s return to military control
  -- DO NOT state or imply the Air Force will guarantee the member’s presence at subsequent hearings
  -- DO NOT post bond for the member or personally guarantee any action by the member (unless you are willing to accept personal responsibility and liability)

- The commander may make a statement as to the member’s character and prior record of reliability, but do not make slanderous statements concerning the member

- Off-base offenses committed by a military member on active duty may be tried by court-martial. The question of personal military jurisdiction turns on the status of the offender at the time of the offense, not where the offense occurred.
  -- The court-martial convening authority may request that the civilian authorities waive jurisdiction and permit the Air Force to prosecute the offender
  -- The SJA will assist in coordinating with the local authorities

- As a general rule, military status will not be used to avoid civilian court jurisdiction or court orders
  -- Air Force policy is to deliver a member to federal authorities upon request if the request is accompanied by a warrant
Air Force policy is to deliver a member to state authorities upon request, if the member is physically present in the state and state procedural rules have been followed.

The Air Force will not transfer a member from one base to another to make the member present in the jurisdiction. The state seeking the member must proceed through normal civilian extradition channels.

The Air Force will return a member from an overseas assignment upon request, if the member is charged with a felony (an offense that carries a potential punishment of confinement for one year or more), or if the offense involves taking a child out of the jurisdiction of a court or from the lawful custody of another person.

The Judge Advocate General can approve a request to return a member from overseas and the Under Secretary of Defense, Personnel & Readiness, can deny such a request. The Air Force Legal Operations Agency, JAJM, processes requests for return from overseas.

A commander can subject a member to restraint pending delivery to civilian authorities, provided there is probable cause to believe the member committed an offense and is a flight risk.

An AF IMT 2098 reflecting a duty status change must be prepared and forwarded to the military personnel flight (MPF) when a member is in civilian custody.

If the member is convicted of an offense which would, if tried by court-martial, subject the member to a punitive discharge, the member is subject to involuntary administrative separation from the Air Force with a less than honorable service characterization (general or under other than honorable conditions discharge).

If the member is convicted of an offense (or one closely related to an offense under the UCMJ) that would, if tried by court-martial, subject the member to a punitive discharge and confinement for one year or more, the commander must recommend involuntary separation or waive discharge processing. In either case, the decision should be made promptly. An extended period of inaction may waive the right to process the member for separation.

It is the maximum allowable punishment, not the actual sentence imposed, that determines if separation is an option.

The member’s absence due to confinement in a civilian facility does not bar processing the member for separation.
The commander must obtain information from the civilian authorities concerning the final disposition of the case. The SJA, with the SF or AFOSI, will assist.

If a member is charged with or convicted of a less serious offense (one that would not warrant separation) various disciplinary actions may be appropriate (consult with the SJA)

--- Placing documents concerning the incident into an unfavorable information file

--- Placing the member on the control roster

--- Issuing an administrative reprimand to the member

ADVISING SUSPECTS OF RIGHTS

Good order and discipline is a function of command. At times, a commander may need to question a member suspected of breaching good order and discipline or of committing some other crime.

OVERVIEW

- It is important that a commander understands when and how to advise the member of his/her Article 31 rights

  -- The moment a commander or supervisor suspects someone of an offense under the Uniform Code of Justice (UCMJ) and starts asking questions or taking any action in which an incriminating response is either sought or is a reasonable consequence of such questioning, the individual must advise the suspect of his/her rights

  -- Proper rights advisement enables the government to preserve any admissions or confessions for later use as evidence for any purpose

  -- Unadvised admissions and confessions cannot normally be admitted as evidence at trial. Additionally, other evidence, both physical and testimonial, that may have been discovered or obtained as a result of the unadvised confession is usually inadmissible at trial.

  -- The advisement of rights for both military personnel and civilians is set out in the attached Advisement for Military Suspects and Advisement for Civilian Suspects

WHEN MUST ARTICLE 31 RIGHTS BE GIVEN?

- Whenever there is formal or informal questioning in which an incriminating response is either sought or is a reasonable consequence of such questioning. This is an interrogation.

- An interrogation does not have to involve actual questions. Sometimes actions, if they are intended to elicit responses, are deemed to be interrogation. For example, a commander declares, “I don’t know what you were thinking, but I’m assuming the worst,” while shrugging his shoulders and shaking his head. Even though the commander has not asked a question, his statement and actions could be deemed an interrogation because they were likely to elicit a response.
Who Must Give Article 31 Rights Adviseement?
- Any person subject to the UCMJ must advise another individual if they suspect that person has committed a criminal offense, AND they are interrogating (questioning) the person as part of an official law enforcement investigation or disciplinary inquiry.

- Military supervisors and commanders are presumed to be acting in a disciplinary capacity when questioning a subordinate. Supervisors and commanders are held to a high standard. When in doubt, give the rights advisement and consult with your staff judge advocate (SJA).

What Must Article 31 Rights Include?
- The general nature of the suspected offense. Legal specifications are not necessary; lay terms are sufficient. However, the allegation must be specific enough so the suspect understands what offense you are questioning him/her about.

- The right to remain silent

- The consequences of making a statement

- Although it is not necessary that the advisement be verbatim, it is best to read the rights directly from the Air Force Visual Aid (AFVA) 31-231, which is a wallet-size card with Article 31 rights advice for military personnel on one side and Fifth Amendment/Miranda rights for civilians on the other side.

- Article 31 does not include a right to counsel, although one is provided in the Constitution. The right is listed on the rights advisement card, however, and should be included when reading a suspect his/her rights.

Rights Adviseement Must Be Understood and Acknowledged by the Suspect
- The suspect must affirmatively acknowledge understanding of the rights, and affirmatively waive his/her rights and consent to make a statement without counsel present.

- Consent to make a statement cannot be obtained by coercion, threats, promises, or trickery.

- Be cautious when advising an intoxicated person of his rights. If significantly under the influence of drugs or alcohol, the individual may be legally incapable of knowingly and voluntarily waiving his rights.

- If the suspect wavers over whether or not to assert his/her rights, the best practice is to clarify whether or not he/she will waive their rights and not ask any further questions until all doubt is resolved.
STOP ALL QUESTIONING

- If the individual indicates a desire to remain silent, stop questioning

  -- This does not mean, however, that you cannot give the individual orders or directions on other matters

- If the suspect requests counsel, stop all questioning

  -- Inform the SJA and get advice before re-initiating any questioning

  -- No more questions can be asked until counsel is present

  -- There are several complex legal rules relating to re-initiating questioning once a suspect has requested counsel. The rules vary depending on whether or not:

  --- The suspect has been in continuous custody

  --- The suspect re-initiates the questioning

  --- You are questioning about the same or a different offense

  -- As a rule of thumb, if a suspect has asserted his/her rights, do not speak to that individual again regarding the offense in question unless you have consulted with the SJA regarding this area of the law

IF THE INDIVIDUAL WAIVES HIS/HER RIGHTS AND AGREES TO TALK

- When possible, obtain the waiver in writing using AF IMT 1168, Statement of Suspect

- Have a witness present

- Try to get the statement in writing. A handwritten statement by the suspect is preferred.

- If, after electing to talk, the suspect changes his/her mind, stop all questioning!

- Prepare a memorandum for record after the session ends, including:

  -- Where the session was held

  -- What and when you advised the suspect

  -- What the suspect said
-- What activities took place (suspect sat, stood, smoked, drank, etc.)

-- What the suspect’s attitude was (angry, contrite, cooperative, combative, etc.)

-- Duration of the session with inclusive hours

ADVISEMENT FOR MILITARY SUSPECTS

I am _____________, (commander of the) ________________, ________________ AFB. I am investigating the alleged offense(s) of _____________________, of which you are suspected. Before proceeding with this investigation, I want to advise you of your rights under Article 31 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. You have the right to remain silent, that is, to say nothing at all. Any statement you do make, either oral or written, may be used against you in a trial by court-martial or in other judicial, nonjudicial or administrative proceedings. You have the right to consult with a lawyer prior to any questioning and to have a lawyer present during this interview. You have the right to military counsel free of charge. In addition to military counsel, you are entitled to civilian counsel of your own choosing at your own expense. You may request a lawyer at any time during this interview. Have you previously requested counsel after advisement of rights? (If the answer is yes, stop. Consult your SJA before proceeding.) If you decide to answer questions during this interview, you may stop the questioning at any time. Do you understand your rights? Do you want a lawyer? (If the answer is yes, cease all questioning.) Have you already consulted an attorney about this matter? (If the answer is yes, stop questioning and contact the SJA.) Are you willing to answer questions? Do you understand that you are free to end this interview at any time?

ADVISEMENT FOR CIVILIAN SUSPECTS

I am ________________, (grade, if any, and name), (a member of the Air Force Security Forces/AFOSI). I am investigating the alleged offense(s) of _____________________, of which you are suspected. I advise you that under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution you have the right to remain silent, that is, to say nothing at all. Any statement you make, oral or written, may be used as evidence against you in a trial or in other judicial or administrative proceedings. You have the right to consult with a lawyer and to have a lawyer present during this interview. You may obtain a civilian lawyer of your own choosing, at your own expense. If you cannot afford a lawyer, and want one, one will be appointed for you by civilian authorities before any questioning. You may request a lawyer at any time during the interview. If you decide to answer questions, you may stop the questioning at any time. Do you understand your rights? Do you want a lawyer? (If the answer is yes, cease all questions at this point.) Are you willing to answer questions? Have you previously requested a lawyer after rights advisement? (If the answer is yes, stop immediately. Consult your SJA before proceeding.)
This discussion is only a general overview of the rules governing searches, seizures and inspections. Because there are many legal considerations and technical aspects involved in this area, which may vary because of unique factual settings, it is crucial to seek legal advice from the legal office when questions arise.

As a commander, military law authorizes you to direct inspections of persons and property under your command and to authorize probable cause searches and seizures of persons and property under your command. However, a commander who authorizes a search or seizure must be neutral and detached from the case and facts. Therefore, the command functions of gathering facts and maintaining overall military discipline must remain separate from the legal decision to grant search authorization.

Most bases have centralized the search authorization role in the installation commander, who is also often the special court-martial convening authority. The installation commander has discretion to appoint, in writing, up to two military magistrates who may also authorize search and seizure (including apprehension) requests. Each magistrate must receive training provided by the staff judge advocate on search and seizure issues.

A commander should also know the difference between inspections/inventories and searches/seizures. Understanding this distinction will help ensure crucial evidence can be introduced at trial.

Key Terms
- Searches: Examinations of a person, property or premises for the purpose of finding criminal evidence
- Seizures: The meaningful interference with an individual’s possessory interest in property
- Inspections: Examinations of a person, property or premises for the primary purpose of determining and ensuring the security, military fitness, or good order and discipline of your command
- Inventories: Administrative actions that account for property entrusted to military control

Searches
- A search may be authorized for:
  - Persons subject to military law and under the commander’s command
  - Persons or property situated in a place under the commander’s command and control
Military property or property of a nonappropriated fund instrumentality

Property situated in a foreign country which is owned, used, occupied by or held in the possession of a member of your command

A search may be authorized for the following types of evidence:

Contraband, i.e., drugs, unauthorized government property

Fruits of a crime, i.e., stolen property, money

Evidence of a crime, i.e., bloody t-shirt, weapon, fingerprints, photographs

Probable Cause Searches

As a general rule, probable cause must be present before a commander can legally authorize a search

Probable cause exists when there is a reasonable belief that the person, property, or evidence sought is currently located in the place or on the person to be searched

Probable cause may arise from your personal knowledge, oral or written evidence, or both

The search authority will make a decision based on the “totality of the circumstances,” e.g., believability of information and specific known facts

An anonymous telephone call, by itself, does not justify a probable cause search

When relying on military working dogs to establish probable cause, the search authority should be aware of the dog’s successful training exercises as well as the dog’s actual record of success in similar search situations

While not legally required, when requesting the authorization for a search, a witness should swear to the information used in finding probable cause. Commanders and military magistrates are authorized to administer oaths or affirmations for these purposes.

The search may be an oral authorization to search, based upon probable cause, when exigent circumstances exist and delay may otherwise impair the likelihood of success
PUTTING TOGETHER A SEARCH REQUEST

- Refer source of information to security forces who will investigate or refer to Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI)

- Do not personally investigate

- If the commander discovers information which may justify a search

  -- “Freeze” the situation

  -- Immediately notify security forces office of investigations or AFOSI

  -- Note any incriminating evidence or statements

  -- Coordinate facts that can be presented to the search authority to support a finding of probable cause with the legal office

EXCEPTIONS TO PROBABLE CAUSE SEARCHES

- A search warrant or authorization is not required for the following searches:

  -- Consent searches:

    --- Even if the search authority has authorized a search, ask for the consent of the individual whose person or property is to be searched. If a judge later rules that the search authorization was somehow improper, discovered evidence may still be admitted at trial if the individual consented to the search.

    --- Consent must be knowing and voluntary. Consent cannot result from threats, coercion, or pressure, i.e. do not tell the suspect that if they do not consent you will obtain authorization anyway. The best practice is to have a witness present.

    --- Mere acquiescence to a search is not sufficient to justify a consensual search. Consent must be clearly given and voluntary.

    --- Consent may be orally given or in writing. Written consent is preferred. When possible, use AF IMT 1364, Consent For Search and Seizure.

    --- You may request an individual to consent to a search regardless of whether he or she has previously exercised the right to remain silent under Article 31, Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) or the right to counsel

    --- The individual giving consent must have either an exclusive or joint interest in the premises or property to be searched
An assigned occupant of a dormitory room can consent to a search of the joint/common areas of the room.

Only the individual who has the exclusive use of a separate closet, locker, or other part of the premises may consent to a search of those areas.

If a suspect is present and does not consent, another person’s consent, even when that person has joint interest in the premises, will not prevail.

Besides consensual searches, there are other searches and seizures that may be conducted without probable cause, such as the following:

- Border searches
- Searches upon entry to, or exit from, U.S. installations, aircraft, or vessels outside the United States
- Searches of government property not issued for personal use. Government property issued for personal use include: dorm rooms, lockers and family housing.
- Searches within jails
- Searches incident to a lawful stop or apprehension
- Other searches as deemed valid under the Constitution and case law, such as an emergency search to save life, searches of open fields, etc.

Special Search Issues

- Computer Searches:

  Computer users have a reasonable expectation of privacy in computer files stored on personal computers and in personal mass data storage devices, such as flash drives, disks and CDs.

  To search personal computer files or storage devices, one must obtain either authorization based on probable cause or consent.

  A person may have a reasonable expectation of privacy in some aspects of government computers, networks, storage devices, and e-mails. The law in this area is complex—consult with your legal office in every instance.
Network administrators who discover evidence of misconduct on a users’ account while performing network maintenance may disclose that information to law enforcement or the commander.

- Searches of Privatized/Leased Housing:

  - The installation commander and the military magistrate probably have power to authorize searches of privatized housing located on the installation. Since Congress passed the Military Housing Privatization Initiative (MHPI), 10 U.S.C. §§ 2871-2885 (2000), there has been some question. Under the MHPI, the military leases land to private developers who are responsible for housing construction and upkeep. The issue centers on whether the installation commander retains sufficient control over family housing when he leases the property to a private entity—especially on bases with concurrent jurisdiction. Consult with your local SJA.

  - Whether a commander has power to authorize searches of leased housing located outside the installation depends upon the amount of control the commander has over the property. Normally commanders do not have sufficient control over leased housing outside the installation to allow them to authorize searches. Commanders should review the lease agreement and consult with their local SJA.

Inspections

- An “inspection” is an examination of a person, property or premises for the primary purpose of ensuring the security, military fitness, and/or good order and discipline of the organization or installation.

  - Inspections are not searches. A search is a quest for incriminating evidence for use in criminal proceedings.

  - Inspections may be “announced” or “unannounced” and may be authorized without probable cause

  - Inspections for weapons and/or contraband are specifically permitted while conducting a previously scheduled inspection.

  - An examination for the primary purpose of obtaining evidence for use in disciplinary proceedings is not an “inspection.” It is a “search” and, if not authorized based on probable cause, is illegal.

  - Contraband, weapons, or other evidence uncovered during a proper inspection may be seized and are admissible in a court-martial.
An inspection that turns up contraband should continue as planned. Commanders who abandon inspections upon the discovery of contraband risk making the inspection appear to be a search in disguise.

Inspections may be conducted personally by the commander or by others at the commander's direction.

Two requirements for conducting an inspection:

First, it must not be for the primary purpose of obtaining evidence for use in disciplinary proceedings. Commanders may find it helpful to prepare a memo for record concerning the purpose of the inspection so that they may refresh their memory when called to testify, which is often months later.

Second, inspections must be conducted in a “reasonable manner”

An inspection is “reasonable” if the scope, intensity, and manner of execution of the inspection is reasonably related to its purpose.

For example, if the purpose of an inspection is to look for fire hazards near office electrical outlets, inspecting the contents of the desk drawers would probably be unreasonable since items located in the desk drawers would not risk an electrical fire. The inspection will have gone beyond the scope of the purpose of the inspection.

Inventories

Inventories may be conducted for valid administrative purposes including:

- Furniture inventories of dormitories or dormitory rooms
- Inventories of an AWOL member’s or a deserter’s property left in a government dormitory room. Commanders should consult with the legal office in these cases.
- Inventories of the contents of an impounded or abandoned vehicle
- Unlawful weapons, contraband, or other evidence may be lawfully seized during a valid inventory

Use of Blood Alcohol Tests

A blood alcohol test (BAT) is not required to prove a driving under the influence (DUI) offense. Observation of the suspect by the security forces specialist, including a field sobriety test, MAY be enough.
- Voluntary

  -- You may, after consultation with your SJA, ask a member of your command who is suspected of being under influence of alcohol to voluntarily take a BAT

  -- Follow procedures of local hospital/clinic laboratory

- Nonvoluntary

  -- Although commanders have authority over subordinate members within their units, BAT tests are normally directed by a military magistrate (appointed by the installation commander), based on probable cause

- Implied Consent

  -- Drivers give implied consent to tests of their blood, breath, and/or urine for alcohol or drugs when driving on base

  -- Invoked by the security forces regulations governing DUI offenses

  -- Often results in automatic adverse action for refusal to cooperate

- Physician Authorized

  -- For medical reasons determined by examining physician

  -- Results may be used criminally

Use of Military Working Dogs

- Military working dogs may be used at any time in common areas since there is no reasonable expectation of privacy in a common area

- Common areas include dormitory hallways, day rooms, parking lots, and duty sections

- Military working dogs may be used during inspections anywhere within the scope of the inspection, i.e., dormitory rooms, whether the occupant is present or not

- What to do when a military working dog “alerts” in a common area

  -- Can immediately “search” all common areas for contraband
If it appears the “alert” in a common area is on contraband in a non-common area, for example, a dormitory room or automobile, immediately call the search authority to obtain a search authorization before proceeding further with the search.

What to do when a drug dog “alerts” during an inspection

- Immediately stop the inspection in the area of the dog alert, e.g., that particular dormitory room, and secure that area.
- Call the search authority and obtain a search authorization before proceeding with the inspection or a search in that particular area.
- After the search of that particular area has been completed pursuant to a search authorization, continue the inspection.

When a military member is accused or suspected of an offense, the member's immediate commander is responsible for ensuring a preliminary inquiry is conducted and appropriate command action is taken.

- In some cases, the commander or first sergeant may conduct the preliminary inquiry, e.g., failure to go, dereliction of duty. This may involve nothing more than talking with the member’s supervisor.

- In more serious cases, law enforcement agents such as the Security Forces Office of Investigations (SFOI) or the Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI) will conduct the investigation and report results to the commander for disposition of the case. When the commander receives a report of investigation (ROI) from law enforcement, he or she may fulfill the preliminary inquiry requirement by reviewing the ROI and any witness statements.

- In any case involving a disciplinary action or a criminal offense, the commander should consult with the SJA.

- A commander who is a court-martial convening authority or who grants search authority must remain neutral and detached from the cases they are involved in. Those commanders will not generally act in an investigative capacity.

Options Available to the Commander

- The commander determines the appropriate action

- Allegations of offenses should be disposed of at the lowest appropriate level

- Options available to the commander include:
  - No action
  - Administrative action, e.g., letter of reprimand, removal from supervisory duties, involuntary discharge, denial or reenlistment, etc.
  - Nonjudicial punishment under Article 15
  - Preferral of court-martial charges

--- Before preferring charges against a military member, be sure to thoroughly review the ROI and any other evidence or documentation.
At the time of preferral of charges, the accuser is required to take an oath that he or she is familiar with facts underlying the charges. The accuser is traditionally the commander.

Make sure you are consulting with SJA on all allegations of a sexual nature. Initial Disposition Authority in those cases has been withheld effective 28 June 2012 by the Secretary of Defense.

All allegations of a sexual nature must be referred to AFOSI for investigation.

MILITARY JUSTICE ACTIONS AND THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

The inspector general (IG) has authority to investigate complaints related to “discipline.” This authority is restricted, particularly as it relates to actions under the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

- Both nonjudicial punishment proceedings and courts-martial have statutory appeal provisions

- Additionally, Congress and the Air Force have provided additional administrative review mechanisms, such as the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records (AFBCMR), Congressional Inquiries, etc.

- AFI 90-301, Inspector General Complaints Resolution, should not be used as authority for an IG inquiry into military justice matters

- IG personnel and investigating officers must have expeditious and unrestricted access to all Air Force records, reports, investigations, audits, reviews, documents, papers, recommendations, and other materials relevant to the investigation concerned

ROLE OF THE IG IN UCMJ MATTERS SHOULD BE GUIDED BY THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION

- Prior to a commander’s initiation of an action under the UCMJ, the IG may conduct an investigation authorized by applicable regulations. If misconduct is involved, follow the procedures of AFI 90-301.

- If charges have been preferred in a case, the IG should generally not have any direct involvement

- If the investigation of matters tangential to the charges becomes necessary, the IG should consult the SJA to ensure the investigation does not in any way prejudice the administration of justice under the UCMJ

- If action is initiated under Article 15, UCMJ, the IG should apply the policies of AFI 90-301, para 2.15 and table 2.9

If it is necessary to process a complaint of procedural mishandling, the investigation should be confined to the procedural aspects of the Article 15 process and should NOT involve

--- Assessing the sufficiency of the evidence

--- Probing the commander’s deliberative process concerning the decision to initiate action, the complainant’s guilt, or punishment imposed

The complainant should also be referred to AFI 36-2603, Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records

The IG also investigates any allegations of reprisal. Any nonjudicial punishment or adverse administrative action taken against the individual who filed the reprisal complaint may be reviewed in the course of that investigation.

PREPARATION, PREFERRAL, AND PROCESSING OF CHARGES

The preparation of court-martial charges involves drafting the charges and specifications. Preferral of charges in the military is the act of formally accusing a military member of a violation of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). Processing of the charge involves forwarding the charges and specifications to a convening authority for disposition.

PREPARATION OF CHARGES
- The charge states which article of the UCMJ has allegedly been violated
  -- The specification is a concise statement of exactly how the article was allegedly violated
  -- Since precise legal language is required, the legal office drafts charges and specifications
  -- Charges are documented in Section II, block 10 of the DD Form 458, or “charge sheet”

PREFERRAL OF THE CHARGE
- It is the first formal step in initiating a court-martial
- Anyone subject to the UCMJ can prefer charges against another person subject to the UCMJ
- By Air Force custom, the accused’s immediate commander ordinarily prefers the charge
- Preferral is documented in section III, block 11 of the DD Form 458
- Preferral requires the “accuser,” the one preferring the charge, to take an oath that he/she is a person subject to the Code, that he/she either has personal knowledge of or has investigated the charge and specification, and that they are true to the best of his/her knowledge and belief
  -- This oath is normally given by a judge advocate
  -- The accuser must only believe that the charges are true when preferring them, not that they are proved beyond a reasonable doubt

PROCESSING OF THE CHARGE
- Preferral does not require the presence of the accused. However, after preferral, the commander must cause the accused to be informed of the charge. Since the commander is normally the accuser, notice to the accused typically occurs at the same time as preferral by the commander reading the charge to the accused.
- The commander then forwards the charge with a transmittal indorsement to the summary court-martial convening authority (SCMCA). The SJA may be authorized by the SCMCA to receive the charges on the SCMCA’s behalf.
To convene a court-martial, the charge must be forwarded to a convening authority, usually the special court-martial convening authority (SPCMCA). In the Air Force, the SCMCA is also normally the SPCMCA, so this extra step of forwarding the charge from the SCMCA to the SPCMCA is not required.

The SPCMCA can dismiss the charges or return the charges to the commander for alternate disposition. If the SPCMCA decides the charges should go to a court-martial, he can take one of the following actions:

-- Refer the charge to a special court-martial or summary court-martial; or

-- Appoint an Article 32 investigating officer (IO) to conduct an Article 32 investigation, if a general court-martial may be appropriate.

The IO completes and forwards a report of investigation to the SPCMCA, who reviews the report. If the SPCMCA thinks a general court-martial is appropriate, the SPCMCA forwards it along with the charges to the general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA) for review and possible referral to a general court-martial.

The GCMCA can refer the charges to a general court-martial, return the charges to the SPCMCA for disposition, or dismiss the charges.

Once the charge has actually been referred to trial, the appointed trial counsel will then formally serve the accused with a copy of the charges and specifications. This is documented in block 15 of the DD Form 458.

Time constraints are involved in the preferral and trial of court-martial charges. The accused’s right to a speedy trial and the impact delayed processing can have on the effectiveness of military justice demand that charges be disposed of promptly.

PRETRIAL CONFINEMENT

Pretrial confinement is physical restraint, imposed by order of competent authority, depriving a person of freedom pending disposition of charges. Only a person who is subject to trial by court-martial may be confined.

- Never confine anyone without first consulting your staff judge advocate!

  -- The imposition of pretrial confinement starts the speedy trial clock, regardless of whether charges have been preferred

  -- If confinement is not appropriate, imposing it can hurt the government’s case at trial

- A person may be ordered into pretrial confinement only when there is reasonable belief that:

  -- An offense triable by court-martial has been committed;

  -- The person to be confined committed it; and

  -- Confinement is required by the circumstances

UPON ENTRY INTO CONFINEMENT

- The person to be confined must be promptly notified of the following:

  -- Nature of the offenses for which he or she is being held

  -- Right to remain silent and that any statement made may be used against him/her

  -- Right to request assignment of military counsel; or

  -- Retain civilian counsel at no expense to the U.S.

  -- Procedures by which pretrial confinement will be reviewed

24-HOUR NOTIFICATION

- If the person ordering confinement is not the confinee’s commander, then the confinee’s commander must be notified within 24 hours of the entry to confinement
48-HOUR PROBABLE CAUSE DETERMINATION
- Within 48 hours of entry into confinement, a neutral and detached officer must review the adequacy of probable cause to continue confinement by considering the following:
  -- The nature and circumstances of the suspected offense
  -- The weight of the evidence against the accused
  -- The accused's ties to the local community, including family, off-duty employment, financial resources, and length of residence
  -- The accused's character and mental condition
  -- The accused's service record
  -- The accused's record of appearance at similar proceedings
  -- The likelihood the accused will commit further serious misconduct if not confined
  -- Effectiveness of lesser forms of restraint
- If the commander is neutral and detached and acts within 48 hours, the provision calling for a 48-hour probable cause determination will be satisfied. However, if the commander is not neutral and detached, another officer must make the 48-hour probable cause determination.

72-HOUR COMMANDER REVIEW
- If confinement is continued, within 72 hours of entry into confinement, the confinee’s commander must prepare a written memo justifying continued confinement
  -- Continued confinement is warranted if the commander has a reasonable belief that
    --- An offense triable by court-martial has been committed
    --- The prisoner committed it
  -- Confinement is necessary because it is foreseeable that
    --- Prisoner will not appear at trial; or
    --- Prisoner will engage in further serious criminal conduct; and
    --- Less severe forms of restraint are inadequate
-- It is not necessary to try lesser forms of restraint, but they MUST be considered in determining whether confinement is appropriate

-- Be aware that convenience of the unit is not a valid reason for pretrial confinement

Pretrial Confinement Hearing

- A reviewing officer must make written findings, within seven days of entry into confinement, whether the confinee shall be released or remain confined

- Reviewing officer must be neutral and detached

  -- Pretrial confinement review officer (PCRO) may be with limited exception, a member appointed by the convening authority,

  -- A military magistrate appointed by the convening authority; or

  -- A military judge, although it is unusual for a judge to conduct initial review of pretrial confinement unless it is after referral of charges

- The PCRO must review the commander’s 72-hour memorandum to determine whether the requirements for pretrial confinement are met

- The PCRO shall consider matters submitted by confinee, and, unless overriding circumstances or time constraints dictate otherwise, shall allow confinee and counsel an opportunity to appear and present a statement or evidence at the hearing

- A representative of command, such as the commander, first sergeant or other person, may also appear before the hearing officer

- The review is not an adversarial proceeding and prisoner and counsel have no right to cross-examine witnesses, although this is customarily permitted

- Reviewing officer’s memorandum is forwarded to convening authority who may only override decision to continue pretrial confinement. Reviewing officer’s decision to release may not be reversed without new evidence. Member’s commander may, however, impose lesser forms of pretrial restraint.

- Prisoners usually receive day-for-day credit for pretrial confinement against any confinement adjudged by the court. Credit for unlawful pretrial confinement, including pretrial punishment, or for restriction tantamount to confinement may lead to additional credit.
Restriction may be Found to be Tantamount to Confinement in Some Cases

- The factors to be considered include:

  -- Limits of restriction

  -- Limits on activities (e.g., was the accused able to go to the gym, BX, etc.)

  -- Conditions (e.g., was accused required to report to commander and, if so, how often)

Pretrial Confiners Must Not be Subjected to Pretrial Punishment

- Pretrial confinees may not be treated the same as sentenced prisoners, such as required to wear special uniforms for sentenced prisoners, perform punitive labor, or undergo punitive duty hours

- Whether a particular condition amounts to pretrial punishment is a matter of the intent of the officer imposing the condition

- Commingling pretrial and sentenced prisoners, without more, is not automatically considered pretrial punishment. Case precedent has established commingling with sentenced prisoners or non-resident aliens may lead to credit toward an adjudged sentence.

Review by Military Judge

- Once charges are referred to trial, the military judge shall review the propriety of pretrial confinement upon motion for appropriate relief made by the defense. Before referral of charges, the accused or counsel may request release from pretrial confinement or modification of other forms of restraint from the convening authority.

- The remedy for noncompliance with pretrial confinement rules (e.g., review by neutral and detached person is not made within 48 hours) or abuse of discretion can range from additional credit for each day of illegal confinement to dismissal of the charges

PRETRIAL RESTRAINT

Pretrial restraint is a moral or physical restraint on a person’s liberty that is imposed before or during trial by court-martial. Pretrial restraint may consist of conditions on liberty, restriction in lieu of arrest, arrest, or confinement.

OVERVIEW
- Always consult with your staff judge advocate before imposing any pretrial restraint!
  -- The imposition of restriction, arrest, or pretrial confinement starts the speedy trial clock
  -- Speedy trial violations can result in dismissal of the charges, regardless of a commander’s good intentions

DEFINITIONS
- Arrest: The restraint of a person, directing the person to remain within specified limits
  -- An arrested person does not perform full military duties
- Pretrial Confinement: Physical restraint imposed by order of competent authority, depriving a person of freedom pending court-martial, such as placing them in jail

CONDITIONS ON LIBERTY
- Imposed by orders directing a person to do or refrain from doing specified acts
  -- May be imposed in conjunction with other forms of restraint or separately
  -- Typical examples include orders to report periodically to a specified official, orders not to go to a certain place, and orders not to associate with specified persons

RESTRICTION IN LIEU OF ARREST
- Imposed by ordering a person to remain within specified limits
  -- Normally restriction is to remain within the confines of the base
  -- A restricted person shall, unless otherwise directed, perform full military duties
  -- A judge may find certain restriction tantamount to confinement in cases where the conditions of the restriction amount to physical restraint that deprives a person of their freedom of movement. If the judge believes that restriction was tantamount to confinement, the accused may receive day-for-day credit off any sentence.
Who May Order Pretrial Restraint?
- Only a commanding officer to whose authority an officer is subject may impose pretrial restraint on an officer. This authority may not be delegated.
- Any commissioned officer may impose pretrial restraint on any enlisted person
- A commanding officer can delegate authority to order pretrial restraint of enlisted personnel under his/her command to noncommissioned officers (usually the first sergeant)

Pretrial Restraint
- Requires a reasonable belief that:
  -- An offense triable by court-martial has been committed;
  -- The person to be restrained committed it; and
  -- Restraint is required by the circumstances
- The restraint should not be more rigorous than the circumstances require to ensure the presence of the person restrained or to prevent foreseeable serious criminal misconduct
- The decision whether to impose pretrial restraint, and, if so, what type or types, should be made on a case-by-case basis
- The restrained individual must be personally notified of the nature and terms of the restraint
  -- An officer must be personally notified by the restraining authority or another commissioned officer
  -- An enlisted member must be notified by the restraining authority or through another person subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ)
  -- Upon restraint, the individual must be advised of the suspected offense that is the basis for the restraint
- A person may be released from pretrial restraint by any person authorized to impose the restraint
- Pretrial restraint is not punishment and may not be used as a form of punishment

Immunity

Immunity for an individual should be granted only when testimony or other information from the person is necessary to the public interest, including the needs of good order and discipline, and when the person has refused or is likely to refuse to testify or provide the information on the basis of the privilege against self-incrimination.

- There are two types of immunity under Rule for Courts-Martial 704

  -- Testimonial immunity or “use” immunity bars the use of the immunized person’s testimony, statements, and information directly or indirectly derived from such testimony or statements against that person in a later court-martial.

  -- Transactional immunity bars ANY subsequent court-martial action against the immunized person concerning the immunized transaction, regardless of the source of the evidence against that person.

- Testimonial or “use” immunity is preferred because it does not prevent the government from trying the person for the criminal offense, so long as the government does not use statements made under the grant of immunity in any way to prosecute the person.

  -- Because of the limitations on the use of statements under a grant of immunity, if you intend to prosecute an individual who possesses information that may be helpful to the government in prosecuting another case, it is best to prosecute him or her first, then obtain a grant of immunity to obtain statements or testimony to be used in the prosecution of the other case.

  -- If prosecution of an immunized person occurs after that person has testified or provided statements under the grant of immunity, the government has a heavy burden to show that it has not used the person’s immunized testimony or statements in any way for the prosecution of that person. Often the government cannot meet this burden and will be unable to prosecute offenses that were disclosed as a result of the testimonial immunity.

- Only a general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA) may grant testimonial or transactional immunity.

  -- The GCMCA may grant immunity to any person subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

  -- The GCMCA can disapprove immunity requests for witnesses not subject to the UCMJ.
-- The GCMCA can only approve immunity requests for witnesses not subject to the UCMJ with authorization from the Department of Justice (DOJ)

-- If the witness is subject to federal prosecution, requests for immunity must be approved by DOJ, even if the individual is subject to the UCMJ

-- In national security cases, immunity requests must be coordinated with DOJ and other interested U.S. agencies

- A grant of immunity may also include an order to testify

  -- Under Military Rule of Evidence 301(c), an immunized person may not refuse to testify by asserting the Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination because, as a result of the grant of immunity, he or she will not be exposed to criminal penalty

  -- An immunized person may be prosecuted for failure to comply with an order to testify

  -- Immunity does not bar prosecution for perjury, false swearing, or a false official statement arising as a result of any statement made by an individual while testifying under a grant of immunity

- Care is required when dealing with an accused or suspect to avoid a grant of de facto immunity. This occurs when a person other than the GCMCA:

  -- Manifests apparent authority to grant immunity (commanders, first sergeants, and investigative agents may, by actions or words, manifest apparent authority)

  -- Makes a representation that causes the accused to honestly and reasonably believe that he or she will be granted immunity if a certain condition is fulfilled and the accused relies on the representation to his/her detriment

- A finding of de facto ("in fact") immunity will operate the same as an actual grant of immunity

Pretrial Agreements

Pretrial agreements (PTAs) are agreements between the accused and the convening authority. Generally, the accused agrees to enter a plea of guilty to one or more offenses in exchange for a cap, or upper limit, on the sentence (period of confinement, type of punitive discharge, amount and/or period of forfeitures, etc.) that the convening authority will approve.

The decision to accept or reject a PTA offer submitted by an accused is within the sole discretion of the convening authority that referred the case to trial. The accused is entitled to have the convening authority personally act upon the offer before trial.

Procedures
- Either the government or the defense may initiate PTA negotiations. The defense however, must submit the actual written PTA offer to the SJA.
- The SJA will forward the written PTA offer to the convening authority with a recommendation
- The SJA will obtain the appropriate approval from the Department of Justice to enter into PTA discussions or agreements in cases involving an offense of espionage, subversion, aiding the enemy, sabotage, spying, or violation of punitive rules or regulations and criminal statutes concerning classified information or the foreign relations of the U.S. This includes attempt, conspiracy, and solicitation to commit any of the above offenses.
- The entire PTA must be in writing and signed by the accused, defense counsel, and the convening authority. The PTA must not involve any informal oral promises or representations.
- Either party may void a PTA by withdrawing from it
- The convening authority may withdraw
  -- Anytime before the accused begins performance of promises contained in the agreement
  -- Upon the accused’s failure to fulfill any material promise or condition of the agreement
  -- When the military judge’s inquiry discloses a disagreement as to a material term of the PTA
  -- When the findings of guilty are set aside during the appellate review
If an accused has violated conditions of a PTA that involve post-trial misconduct, the convening authority may withdraw up to the time of his/her final action in the case.

The convening authority may not withdraw from a PTA in any way that would be unfair to the accused.

Any withdrawal must be in writing.

At trial, the military judge will conduct a full inquiry into the specific terms of the PTA to ensure the accused fully understands both the meaning and effect of each provision of the PTA, has voluntarily entered into the PTA, and that no oral promises were made in connection with the PTA. This inquiry is in addition to the judge’s inquiry into the validity of the guilty plea itself.

In a trial by military judge alone, the military judge will not examine the sentencing cap of the PTA until after he or she has independently adjudged a sentence. In a trial by members, the members will not be told about the PTA until the conclusion of the trial.

The accused will get the benefit of the lesser sentence, regardless of whether it was adjudged or in the PTA.

If the sentence adjudged by the military judge or members exceeds the limits of the PTA, the convening authority may only approve the lesser sentence agreed to in the PTA.

If the adjudged sentence is less than the PTA cap, only the adjudged sentence may be approved.

Permissible PTA Conditions

- A promise to enter into a reasonable stipulation of fact concerning the facts and circumstances surrounding the offenses to which the accused pleads guilty.

- A promise to testify as a witness in a trial of another person.

- A promise to provide restitution.

- A promise to conform conduct to certain conditions of probation before final action is taken by the convening authority.
- A promise to waive certain procedural requirements, such as:

  -- An Article 32 investigation

  -- The right to a trial before court members

TRIAL FORMAT

A military accused may elect to be tried by a military judge alone or by a panel of court members (the military equivalent of a civilian jury). All panel members must be of a higher rank than the accused. In either case, the trial will consist of two major portions, findings and sentencing.

FINDINGS

- First part of the trial during which guilt or innocence is determined

  -- Guilty Plea:

    --- In guilty plea cases, a military judge, sitting alone, will question the accused to make sure he understands the meaning and effect of his plea, and that he is, in fact, guilty

    --- If the military judge accepts the guilty plea, the accused will then be sentenced by the military judge, or a panel of members, whichever the accused elects

    --- Guilty pleas are not allowed in capital cases when the death penalty is a permissible punishment

  -- Not Guilty Plea:

    --- Guilt or innocence is determined by the military judge alone, or a panel of members, whichever the accused elects

    ---- An enlisted accused may elect to have at least one-third enlisted members included in the court-martial panel

    ---- Trial by military judge alone is not allowed in capital cases

    --- The accused is presumed innocent

    ---- The prosecution must prove the accused’s guilt beyond a reasonable doubt

    ---- The accused has an absolute right to remain silent and present no evidence. The accused may also choose to testify or present other evidence in his defense.

    --- In a trial with members, two-thirds of the members, voting by secret written ballot, must concur in any finding of guilty. In order to sentence the accused to death in a capital case, however, the vote of guilty on findings must be unanimous.
SENTENCING
- Second part of the trial during which an appropriate punishment is determined

  -- Unlike many civilian courts, sentencing normally occurs immediately after findings

  -- Sentencing may be by military judge alone or a panel of members

    --- In guilty plea cases, the accused may elect sentencing by either a military judge alone or by members

    --- In contested cases, the accused's choice of either members or military judge for findings also applies to sentencing

    --- Judge-alone sentencing is not permitted in capital cases

  -- Sentencing is an adversarial process

    --- The prosecution can present matters in aggravation and can rebut evidence the accused presents in extenuation and mitigation

    --- The defense can present matters in extenuation to explain the circumstances surrounding the commission of the offense and/or matters in mitigation to lessen the punishment to be adjudged by the court-martial

    --- As in the findings portion of trial, the accused also has an absolute right to remain silent and present no evidence during sentencing

    --- A crime victim of an offense of which the accused has been found guilty has the right to be reasonably heard at a sentencing hearing relating to that offense

  -- In sentencing by members, two-thirds must concur, voting by secret written ballot, in any sentence EXCEPT:

    --- Three-fourths must concur in a sentence that includes confinement in excess of 10 years, or

    --- Any sentence that includes the death penalty must be unanimous

CONFIDENTIALITY AND PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION

In the military, only certain relationships are recognized as involving privileged communication and therefore have confidentiality.

CHAPELAIN–PENITENT
- Absolute privilege for all information confided in chaplain or clergyman as a formal act of religion or matter of conscience
- Applies to civilians and service members; “clergyman” includes a minister, priest, rabbi, chaplain, or other similar functionary of a religious organization, or an individual reasonably believed to be so by the person consulting the clergyman
- The privilege extends to the chaplain’s or clergyman’s staff

ATTORNEY–CLIENT
- Absolute privilege for all information confided to an ADC or legal assistance attorney during representation, except with respect to some future crimes or frauds upon the court
- Communications between a commander and staff judge advocate are privileged only when the commander is acting as an agent or official of the Air Force and the commander’s interests in no way conflict with those of the Air Force
- The privilege extends to non-lawyer members of the attorney’s staff, i.e., paralegals, secretaries, etc.

PHYSICIAN–PATIENT
- The Military Rules of Evidence (M.R.E.) generally do not recognize a physician-patient privilege
- No privilege for civilians treated in a military facility, but Privacy Act and other federal regulations protect any illegal third party disclosure

MEDICAL RECORDS
- Military medical records are the property of the Air Force
- Information in the health record is personal to the individual and will be properly safeguarded
- Commanders or commanders’ designees may access members’ military medical records when necessary to ensure mission accomplishment
Psychologist–Patient
- A limited privilege exists between persons subject to the UCMJ and psychotherapists

  -- Generally, the limited privilege protects only confidential communications which are made to a psychotherapist (or assistant) for the purpose of diagnosis or treatment of the person's mental or emotional condition in cases arising under the UCMJ

  -- Exceptions include, but are not limited to: when the patient is dead; the communication is evidence of spouse or child abuse or neglect and there is an allegation of such misconduct the communication contemplates future misconduct; when necessary to ensure safety and security of military personnel or property; or law or regulation imposes a duty to report the information

- Under AFI 44-109, communications between a patient and a psychotherapist (or assistant) made for purposes of facilitating diagnosis or treatment of the patient's mental or emotional condition are confidential and must be protected against unauthorized disclosure

  -- A limited privilege also applies to active duty military members ordered to undergo a sanity board pursuant to R.C.M. 706 and M.R.E. 302

  -- A limited privilege also exists under the Limited Privilege Suicide Prevention (LPSP) Program pursuant to AFI 44-109, which applies to confidences made after notification of an investigation or of suspicion of commission of a criminal act, and placement into the LPSP program

Victim Advocate–Victim
- A limited privilege exists between victim advocates and victims of sexual abuse

  -- Generally, the limited privilege protects only confidential communications between a victim and a victim advocate in sexual and violent offenses arising under the UCMJ, made for the purpose of facilitating advice or supportive assistance to the victim

  -- Exceptions include, but are not limited to: when the patient is dead; federal/state law or service regulations impose a duty to report; the communication clearly contemplated the future commission of a fraud or crime; when necessary to ensure safety and security of military personnel or property; or disclosure is constitutionally required

Drug/Alcohol Abuse Treatment Patients
- AFI 44-121, para 3.7.1, grants limited protections for Air Force members who voluntarily disclose personal drug use or possession. Those protections do not include any future drug abuse.
Such disclosure may not be used as the basis for UCMJ action or for the characterization of service in a discharge proceeding.

Member must disclose before his/her drug abuse is discovered or the member is placed under investigation. Member may not disclose after he is ordered to give a urine sample as part of the drug testing program in which the results are pending or have been returned as positive.

Federal law protects confidentiality of medical records pertaining to drug and alcohol abuse.

Spousal Privilege
- Spouse may elect not to testify against the other spouse as long as a valid marriage exists at the time of the testimony.
- A spouse may prevent testimony by the other spouse (or ex-spouse) regarding private communications made during the marriage even if the marriage has been dissolved at the time of testimony.
- Neither privilege applies when one spouse is charged with a crime against, the person or property of the other spouse, child or children of either spouse, if the marriage is a sham as determined by state law, or if the spouses are co-conspirators in crime.

Medical Quality Assurance Privilege
- 10 U.S.C. § 1102 generally restricts access to information emanating from a medical quality assurance program activity. However, the statute specifically authorizes release of this information “[t]o an officer, employee, or contractor of the Department of Defense who has a need for such [information] to perform official duties.”
- Information must only be used for official purposes and safeguarded in accordance with the Privacy Act.

Family Support Center Program
- Family Support Center (FSC) staff should neither state nor imply that confidentiality exists.
- Information collected from members and families must only be used for official purposes and must be safeguarded IAW the Privacy Act.
- FSC Director will notify the appropriate authority when an Air Force member constitutes a potential danger to self, others, or could have an impact on Air Force mission.

USE OF INFORMATION IN THE PIF AND REHABILITATION TESTIMONY AT TRIAL

INFORMATION IN THE PIF
- Documents in a personnel information file (PIF) such as letters of reprimand can be admitted into evidence by the prosecution during the sentencing phase of a court-martial if it is clear from the face of the document that the member received the document and had an opportunity to respond to the allegations.

- The document must also be complete and kept in accordance with Air Force Regulations, such as the example provided in Chapter 2.

- Any response submitted by the member becomes part of the record and must be filed with the action. Otherwise, the record is incomplete and may not be admitted.

REHABILITATION EVIDENCE
- Rule for Courts-Martial 1001(b)(5) permits evidence of rehabilitative potential to be introduced in the sentencing phase of the trial. The term “rehabilitative potential” as defined in the Manual for Courts-Martial, Rule for Courts-Martial 1001, “refers to the accused's potential to be restored, through vocational, correctional, or therapeutic training or other corrective measures to a useful and constructive place in society.”

  -- Evidence may be in the form of opinion concerning the accused's previous performance as a service member and potential for rehabilitation

  -- The scope of the rehabilitation evidence must be limited to whether the accused indeed has rehabilitative potential in society, and the magnitude or quality of any such potential. An example would be “SSgt Doe has outstanding rehabilitation potential.”

  -- The witness cannot express an opinion as to whether the accused should receive a punitive discharge or any euphemism as to the appropriateness of a particular sentence

  -- The opinion testimony in this area must be based on sufficient personal knowledge about the accused's character, duty performance, moral fiber, and determination to be rehabilitated, and cannot be based merely on the seriousness of the offense at issue

POST-TRIAL MATTERS, CONVENING AUTHORITY ACTION, AND APPEALS

CONVENING AUTHORITY
- The findings and sentence adjudged by a court-martial are not final until approved or disapproved by the convening authority

    -- For courts-martial sentences adjudged

        --- Any adjudged or automatic forfeiture of pay and reduction in grade is effective 14 days after the announcement of sentence, or when the convening authority takes action on the sentence, whichever is sooner. The accused may request a deferment until action.

        --- Any accused sentenced to death, or a punitive discharge and confinement for six months or less, or confinement for more than six months, shall automatically forfeit their pay and allowances up to the jurisdictional limits of their court-martial (GCM—total forfeitures; SPCM—2/3 forfeitures), for any period of confinement or parole. The convening authority can waive any or all of these forfeitures for a period not to exceed six months in order to direct an involuntary allotment to provide for the support of the accused’s dependent family members.

    -- A sentence to confinement begins as soon as it is adjudged, unless the accused requests a deferment. Unless a deferment of confinement is requested by the accused and approved by the convening authority, the time of confinement will run even if the accused is not actually confined.

WRITTEN MATTERS
- The accused may submit written matters relevant to the convening authority’s decision whether to approve findings of guilt or to approve or disapprove all or part of the sentence.

- Written matters may include:

    -- Allegations of legal errors that affect the findings or sentence

    -- Portions or summaries of the record and copies of documentary evidence offered or introduced at trial

    -- Matters in mitigation that were not available for consideration by the court

    -- Clemency recommendations by any court member, the military judge, or any other person
The Military Commander and the Law

Review

- The type of appellate review depends upon the adjudged sentence and type of court-martial.

- In cases where a punitive discharge is adjudged, the discharge cannot be ordered executed until appellate review is completed.

  -- Members are placed in mandatory excess leave (nonpay) status in cases where a punitive discharge is approved by the convening authority and confinement, approved by the convening authority, has been completed. When no confinement is adjudged, and a punitive discharge is approved, excess leave should start when the convening authority takes action.

  -- The convening authority, or successor, must take additional action to execute the punitive discharge after appellate review has been completed.

- A judge advocate will conduct a review of all summary courts-martial, special courts-martial that do not include a punitive discharge or one year confinement and cases in which appellate review as described below has been waived. No review is required on cases where the accused was acquitted on all charges.

  -- The Judge Advocate General is the review authority in general courts-martial where the sentence does not include death, punitive discharge, or confinement for one year or more. The Judge Advocate General may elect to certify any case he/she reviews to the Air Force Court of Criminal Appeals (AFCCA).

  -- Unless appellate review is waived by an accused, the AFCCA automatically reviews all cases involving sentences of death, punitive discharge, or confinement of one year or more. The AFCCA reviews both legal and factual sufficiency.

  -- After review by the AFCCA, the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces (CAAF) may elect to review any case. Review is automatic in death penalty cases and cases certified to the court by The Judge Advocate General of each service. The CAAF reviews only questions of law and legal sufficiency.

  -- Cases actually reviewed by the CAAF may be considered for review by the Supreme Court of the United States.

TOTAL FORCE: RESERVE AND NATIONAL GUARD FORCES

TOTAL FORCE CONCEPT (AIR RESERVE COMPONENT, ARC)
- In 1973, Total Force policy was established, calling for a mix of active and reserve component forces to ensure maximum military capability is achieved at minimum cost. There are three overarching groups of reserve forces personnel.

-- Ready Reserve: Main component is the Selected Reserve

--- Can be units or individuals

--- Includes all Air National Guard personnel

-- Standby Reserve: Members maintain affiliation without being in Ready Reserve; not in units, not required to train

-- Retired Reserve: Subject to recall by SecAF. Retired Reserve over 60 years of age or who have served more than 30 years will not be recalled under any circumstances.

AIR FORCE RESERVE
- Mission: To provide citizen Airmen to defend the United States and protect its interest through air and space power

- Primary reserve categories:

-- Category A: (assigned to a stand-alone reserve unit)

--- Assigned to and train on weekends as a reserve unit, such as an airlift group or fighter wing

--- Commanders and supervisors with questions about how to handle alleged misconduct involving Category A reservists should contact their unit staff judge advocate (SJA). In addition, they may contact HQ AFRC/JA at Robins Air Force Base, Georgia.

-- Category B: (assigned/train as an individual; backfill active duty members)

--- Individual mobilization augmentees (IMAs)

--- Attached to active duty organizations worldwide
Commanders and supervisors with questions about how to handle alleged misconduct involving category B (IMA) reservists should contact their wing SJA. In addition, they may contact HQ AFRC/JA at Robins Air Force Base, Georgia.

- Annual Membership Requirements:

  Category A Reservists

  - 48 unit training assembly (UTA) periods (also known as inactive duty for training (IDT) status); four periods per weekend for a total of twelve weekends per year

  - 15 active duty for training (ADT) days

  Category B Reservists (IMAs)

  - 24 IDT periods per year (2 IDT periods per day for a total of 12 days per year)

  - 12-14 annual tour (AT) active duty days per year

- Fulltime Management:

  - Air reserve technicians (ARTs) or military technicians (MTs) are Title 5 federal civilian employees with a “condition of employment” requiring they maintain active reserve membership in a reserve unit. If they lose reserve status, they usually lose Title 5 civilian employee status, which normally results in removal for failing to meet a condition of employment.

  - Active duty personnel

    - AGRs (Active Guard/Reserve): Reserve personnel on extended active duty for more than 180 days (often four or six years) who provide full-time support to Air Force Reserve units

    - Air Force active duty personnel

  - Federal civil service employees

- UCMJ Jurisdiction: Reserve personnel are subject to the UCMJ while in active status (ADT or full-time active duty) or inactive duty for training status (UTAs or IDTs)
Air National Guard
- Dual mission based upon Militia Clause of U.S. Constitution, Article 1, Section 8
  - Federal Status: Title 10 of the United States Code
  - State Status: Title 32 of the United States Code (e.g., disaster relief, riot control, etc.)
  - Annual Membership Requirements: 48 UTAs (12 weekends) and 15 ADT days

- Full-time Support:
  - Active duty personnel
    - AGRs: ANG personnel on active duty; same as for Air Force Reserve
    - Active duty Air Force advisors
  - Air National Guard technicians or military technicians (MTs) are federal civilian employees who occupy technician positions. They must be members of both state guard and federal civil service. If they lose one status, they lose the other.
  - State civilian employees

- UCMJ Jurisdiction: ANG personnel are only subject to the UCMJ when “in federal status” art. 2(a)(3), UCMJ, which requires being on Title 10 orders (either ADT, full-time active duty, or called up for federal service). In any other status, such as Title 32 training or state service only the state has jurisdiction.

REASSIGNMENT TO THE INDIVIDUAL READY RESERVE

The Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) is a manpower pool consisting of individuals who have had some training and who have served previously in the Active Component or in the Selected Reserve. Members may voluntarily participate in training for retirement points and promotion. Transfers to the IRR may be involuntary or voluntary.

IN Voluntary Reassignment

- Involuntary reassignment from the Ready Reserve for cause is generally inappropriate. Use involuntary reassignment only as a last resort. Initiate involuntary reassignment for cause or derogatory reasons only after all appropriate disciplinary and/or administrative actions have been taken and documented. Consider exceptions to these policies on a case-by-case basis.

- If administrative discharge is warranted, process IAW AFI 36-3209

- The unit commander will examine and evaluate any information received that indicates a member should be considered for involuntary reassignment

  -- If the commander determines grounds exist to warrant initiation of involuntary reassignment action, a memorandum of notification (MON) is sent to the member in accordance with AFI 36-2115. A sample MON is provided in the AFI at Attachment 5, and includes a list of information which must be provided to the member.

  --- When feasible, the MON should be personally delivered to the member. The delivering official must obtain a written acknowledgement of receipt, and a sample is provided at Attachment 6. If the member refuses to acknowledge receipt, the delivery official makes an annotation to that effect on the receipt, including the date and time of delivery of the notification. The receipt should be kept in the case file.

  --- When personal delivery is not feasible, the unit should send the MON by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the member’s last known address. If attempts to deliver the MON by certified mail are unsuccessful, send the MON by first class mail using the format at Attachment 7.

  --- If the postal service returns the MON without indicating a more current address, file the returned envelope in the case file and request verification of last permanent mailing address from the postmaster using the format at Attachment 8. If an address correction is received, send the MON to the member at that address. If all attempts to deliver the MON by certified and first class mail are unsuccessful, complete the Affidavit of Service by Mail at Attachment 9.
-- The member must be allowed 15 calendar days to consult with legal counsel and submit statements or documents on their behalf. The commander reviews any matters submitted by the member and determines whether or not to continue involuntary reassignment action.

-- If the commander elects to continue involuntary reassignment action, the case file must be processed through the servicing staff judge advocate and chain of command to the approval authority. The approval authority reviews the case, approves or denies the reassignment and notifies the member.

- It is in the best interest of both the Air Force and the member to process the case as expeditiously as possible. Commanders should monitor the process to ensure cases are processed without undue delay.

Voluntary Reassignment

- Members no longer desiring to actively participate in the Air Force Reserve may choose to be reassigned to the IRR

-- Members may request reassignment to the IRR by submitting AF IMT 1288 or a personal letter to the unit commander

-- The wing commander or equivalent is the approval authority for voluntary requests

-- Any commander in the chain of command may disapprove a request for reassignment. The commander must notify the member and give the reasons for the disapproval.

-- Commanders must deny voluntary requests for reassignment to ARPC resource pools (IRR, Standby Reserve, or Retired Reserve) when discharge is more appropriate

- Once approved by the approval authority, processing of the request will take a minimum of 180 days unless the member provides written justification for a waiver

ACTIVE GUARD/RESERVE CURTAILMENTS

The Active Guard Reserve (AGR) Program was established by Title 10, United States Code, and is administered by Air Force Instruction 36-2132, Full-Time Support (FTS) Active Guard Reserve (AGR) Program.

- Initial entry into the AGR Program is by individual application for selection for assignment. Initial tours are normally for four years, and personnel are normally reviewed by the AGR Review Board for possible entry into the AGR Career Program, which could lead to a military retirement.

- A voluntary release from an AGR tour is referred to as a curtailment

- AGRs may request a curtailment of an AGR tour based on position realignment, personal hardship, or other valid reasons

-- AGRs submit a curtailment request through the chain of command to arrive at AF/REAMO no later than 180 days prior to requested date of separation (DOS)

--- Exceptions to the 180-day rule will be considered on a case-by-case basis

--- Curtailment packages must contain a written request with justification, a requested DOS, copy of aviator continuation contract (if applicable), copy of current assignment order, and coordination from the immediate supervisor and commander

--- Curtailment packages must contain the following: detailed written request with justification and requested date from the member and appropriate supervisor and commander endorsements through appropriate chain of command. Additionally, the package must include a copy of the last reassignment order.

-- AF/REAMO will process the request for the Deputy, AF/RE, approval or disapproval

- Normally an AGR must serve at least two years of his/her current assignment and complete applicable service commitments before being approved for early release

- Curtailment requests will be reviewed for compliance with AFI 36-2131, Administration of Sanctuary in the Air Force Reserve Components

MOBILIZATION AUTHORITY

Federal law authorizes the involuntary mobilization of Reservists by the President and Service Secretaries in a time of war. To the extent possible given operational considerations, Reserve forces shall be activated with the consent of the individuals being called to active duty. It is Department of Defense policy that units and individuals of the Ready Reserve ordered to active duty without their consent shall be kept on active duty no longer than absolutely necessary.

PRESIDENTIAL MOBILIZATION
- 10 U.S.C. § 12304 permits the President to authorize the involuntary mobilization of members of the Selected Reserve (including the ANG) and the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) for a period not to exceed 270 days

- Under this authority no more than 200,000 members of the Selected Reserve and the IRR may serve on active duty at any one time

- The President may activate Reservists under this provision of the law without approval from Congress

  -- The President is required to notify Congress within 24 hours of such mobilization

  -- This authority has been used to mobilize Reservists during the earlier part of the Persian Gulf War (1990-1991), during the intervention in Haiti (1994-1996), during the Bosnian peacekeeping mission (1995-2004) and during the low intensity conflict with Iraq (1998-2003)

PARTIAL MOBILIZATION
- In time of national emergency declared by the President, 10 U.S.C. § 12302 permits the Service Secretaries to authorize the involuntary activation of members of the Ready Reserve under their jurisdiction for a period not to exceed 24 consecutive months

- Not more than 1,000,000 members of the Ready Reserve may be on active duty, without their consent, under this section at any one time

  -- Although Reservists may be mobilized under this provision of law without approval from Congress, the Secretary of Defense is required to make annual reports to the House and Senate Armed Services Committees on the policies and procedures used to implement this authority

  -- This authority was used to mobilize Reservists during the later part of the Persian Gulf War (1991) when the Presidential authority was no longer sufficient to activate the number of Reservists needed
President George W. Bush invoked this authority in the aftermath of the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks; this authority has been used to mobilize Reservists for Operations Noble Eagle, Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom.

FULL MOBILIZATION

- In time of war or national emergency declared by Congress, 10 U.S.C. § 12301(a) permits the Service Secretaries to authorize involuntary activation of any member of the Reserve Components under their jurisdiction.

- There is no limit on the number of Reservists which may be ordered to active duty under this provision.

- Reservists may be kept on active duty for the duration of the war or emergency and for six months thereafter.

- A member on an inactive status list or in a retired status may not be ordered to active duty under this subsection unless the Department of Defense determines there are not enough qualified Reserves in an active status who are readily available.

PUBLISHING ORDERS

- Accurate records are vital to ensuring proper credit for benefits earned by Reserve members.

- To ensure Reservists receive proper credit for qualifying active duty service, it is imperative that all active duty orders (MPA and RPA) include a reference statement providing the appropriate section of law under United States Code by which a member is ordered to active duty.

HQ USAF/RE Memorandum, “Guidance for Publishing Orders with Title 10 Authority Documented” (16 December 2009)
RETURN OF MILITARY PERSONNEL, EMPLOYEES, AND FAMILY MEMBERS FROM OVERSEAS FOR TRIAL

Congress requires the Armed Services to have uniform regulations for delivering military members accused of a crime to civil authorities. The DoD regulations require cooperation with federal and state officials who request assistance to enforce court orders, which are the subject of a felony charge, felony conviction, and contempt or show cause orders. Air Force policy is as follows:

- Air Force members, civilian employees, and family members are expected to comply with orders issued by a federal or state court of competent jurisdiction unless noncompliance is legally justified. Members and employees who persist in noncompliance are subject to adverse administrative action, including separation for cause.

- Air Force officials will ensure that members, employees, and family members, do not use assignments or officially sponsored residences outside the United States to avoid complying with valid court orders.

PROCEDURE: REQUEST FOR MILITARY MEMBERS WHO ARE OVERSEAS

- When federal, state, or local authorities request delivery of an Air Force member who is stationed outside the United States and who is convicted of, or charged with, a felony or who is sought for the unlawful taking of a child, he or she will normally be expeditiously returned to the United States for delivery to the requesting authorities. The OPR for this process is the Air Force Legal Operations Agency (AFLOA/JAJM).

-- Requests for delivery of military members to state or local authorities must be accompanied by a warrant or a representation by a federal marshal or agent that such a warrant has been issued.

-- Before taking action to return a member under these circumstances, the member must be afforded an opportunity to show legitimate cause for noncompliance.

-- The Judge Advocate General (TJAG) may direct return for less serious offenses when deemed appropriate under the facts and circumstances of a particular case.

-- Return is not required if the controversy can be resolved without returning the member to the United States.

-- If approved, member receives permanent change of station (PCS) orders from the Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC) with an assignment to an installation as close to the requesting jurisdiction as possible.
-- Requesting authorities will be notified of member’s new assignment, port of entry, and estimated time of arrival

- A request for return of a member to the United States by civilian authorities may be denied if any of the following exist:

  -- The member’s return would have an adverse impact on operational readiness or mission requirements

  -- An international agreement precludes the member’s return

  -- The member is subject to foreign judicial or court-martial proceedings or a military department investigation

  -- The member shows satisfactory evidence of legal efforts to resist the request or other legitimate causes for noncompliance

  -- Other unusual facts or circumstances warrant a denial

- Commanders send recommendations for denial through their legal office to AFLOA/JAJM, SAF/GC, and SAF/MI. The Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (USD/P&R) is the decision authority.

- Requests must be processed expeditiously. A delay of up to 90 days may be granted by TJAG if any of the following apply:

  -- Efforts are in progress to resolve the controversy without the member’s return

  -- Additional time is required to permit the member to provide satisfactory evidence of legal efforts to resist the request or show legitimate cause for noncompliance

  -- Additional time is needed to determine the mission impact of the member’s loss or impact on any international agreement, foreign judicial proceeding or ongoing military department investigation or court-martial

  -- Other unusual facts or circumstances warrant delay

PROCEDURE: EMPLOYEES OR FAMILY MEMBERS WHO ARE OVERSEAS

- Upon receipt of a request for assistance from federal, state, or local authorities for custody involving noncompliance with a court order—such as arrest warrant, indictment, information, or contempt violation involving the unlawful removing of a child. After exhausting all reasonable efforts to resolve the matter without the employee or family member returning to the United States, the commanders shall strongly encourage the employee or family member to comply.

- If an employee does not comply, the commander shall consider imposing disciplinary action including removal against the employee. If a family member does not comply, the commander shall consider withdrawing command sponsorship of the family member.

DRUG ABUSE

AIR FORCE POLICY
- Military and civilian personnel are expected to refrain from drug abuse and maintain standards of behavior, performance, and discipline consistent with the UCMJ, public law, and Air Force policy.

- The illegal use of drugs by Air Force members is a serious breach of discipline that is incompatible with Air Force standards. This misconduct places the member’s continued service in jeopardy and could lead to action resulting in a punitive discharge or an administrative discharge under other than honorable conditions.

- Civilian employee abusers are given the same consideration and help as employees with other health problems.

DRUG ABUSE AND MILITARY MEMBERS

- Unit Commanders and Supervisor Responsibilities

  -- Observe and document the performance and conduct of subordinates, and direct immediate supervisors to do the same.

  -- Evaluate potential or identified abusers through the evaluation process of AFI 44-121, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) Program.

  -- Provide appropriate incentives to encourage members to seek help for problems with drugs without fear of negative consequences.

  -- The commander is responsible for and has control of all personnel, administrative, and disciplinary actions pertaining to members involved in the Air Force ADAPT Program.

  -- Commander involvement in treatment is critical. The commander provides the authority for treatment when the member refuses to comply with treatment decisions.

- Abuser Identification

  -- Self-Identification: Members who voluntarily disclose prior drug use or possession are granted limited protections. Such disclosure may not be used against the member in UCMJ actions or in characterizing an administrative discharge as long as he or she:

  --- Is seeking treatment and voluntarily reveals nature and extent of drug involvement to Commander, First Sergeant, Military Equal Opportunity (MEO) personnel, or medical authority; and
--- Has not previously been apprehended for drug involvement; placed under investigation for drug abuse; ordered to give a urine sample; advised he or she was recommended for discharge for drug abuse; or entered into drug abuse treatment

--- The limited protection for self-identification also does not apply to disciplinary or other action based on independently derived evidence (other than commander-directed drug testing), including evidence of continued drug abuse after the member initially entered the treatment program

--- Commander Referral: Commanders shall refer a member for assessment when drugs are thought to be a contributing factor in any incident, such as deteriorating duty performance, excessive tardiness or absenteeism, misconduct, unacceptable social behavior; or domestic disturbances/family violence

--- As a Result of Arrest, Apprehension and Investigation: Commanders who receive information of this nature must refer the member for a substance abuse assessment if substance abuse is, or is suspected to be, a contributing factor in any incident

--- Incident to Medical Care: Medical personnel must notify the commander and the ADAPT Program Manager (ADAPTPM) if their treatment of a patient reveals proof of drug use

--- Random Drug Testing: Positive results mandate a substance abuse evaluation

Substance Abuse Assessment

- The ADAPT Program attempts to identify and provide assistance to military members with drug problems, but the focus of the ADAPT program is prevention and clinical treatment

--- The ADAPT staff members evaluate all members suspected of drug abuse in order to help the commander understand the extent of the drug abuse problem and to determine the patient’s need for treatment and the level of care required

--- Except in cases of self-identification, personal information provided by the member in response to assessment questions MAY be used against the member in a court-martial or considered for characterizing service in an administrative discharge proceeding

- Before the assessment, the patient is advised of the ADAPT program's nature, the limits of confidentiality, the relevant Privacy Act provisions, and the consequences of refusing treatment

- Upon completion of the assessment, the information gathered will form the basis for patient diagnosis, treatment planning, and delivery of substance abuse services
The information is presented to the Treatment Team (TT) so that the TT may develop and guide the clinical course of treatment. The TT decides the proper course of action and treatment plan for the client after examining all the facts presented.

The TT is generally comprised of:

-- The commander, the first sergeant, or both who must be involved at program entry, termination, and any time there are problems treating the patient

-- The patient’s immediate supervisor

-- The ADAPTPM

-- A certified substance abuse counselor

-- The therapist currently involved in patient care

Treatment Plan

- The treatment plan establishes a framework for the patient’s treatment and recovery. The plan documents the treatment’s nature, extent, and goals and is reviewed at least quarterly.

- The ADAPTPM makes the treatment decision after consulting with the TT. The decision must be made within 15 days after referral to the ADAPT Office.

- Although treatment is available for drug abusers and members’ dependent family members on drugs, as a practical matter, military members will be processed for separation and treatment may not be completed

  -- Members being separated are entitled to appropriate medical care, but separation action will not be postponed because of participation in the ADAPT program

  -- For drug dependent members, at a minimum, the Air Force will provide medical care and treatment to detoxify them and refer them for continued treatment

- Substance abuse treatment falls into two categories:

  -- Non-Clinical Services: For those patients not meeting the diagnostic criteria for drug abuse or dependence

  --- At a minimum, they are provided 6 hours of awareness education and additional counseling can be prescribed. The length of involvement is flexible.
--- Substance abuse awareness training includes information on Air Force standards, individual responsibility, and the legal and administrative consequences of abuse.

--- Clinical Services: Used for patients meeting the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (DSM)-V diagnostic criteria for drug abuse or dependence.

--- The level and intensity of the treatment are determined by the ADAPTPM using criteria developed by the American Society of Addiction Medicine. The ADAPT program develops procedures to evaluate program effectiveness.

--- Patients are treated in the least restrictive setting possible and the length and duration of the treatment will vary according to the patient’s needs. Program requirements will be tailored to the individual and will include awareness education. Family involvement is encouraged.

--- Patients must adhere to the treatment plan developed by the TT.

--- In appropriate cases, patients may be referred for in-patient treatment to a Substance Abuse Recovery Center located on several installations. Patients who are drug dependent may be referred to private institutions.

--- Patients meeting these diagnostic criteria are put on a duty limiting profile for 6 months to give them an opportunity to adapt to the treatment program. The profile limits their ability to go TDY or PCS.

- Patients successfully complete the program when they meet DSM-V criteria for early full remission.

--- The TT determines if the patient successfully completes the program or fails.

--- Failure in the program is based on a demonstrated pattern of unacceptable behavior, inability, or unwillingness to comply with the treatment plan, or involvement in a substance abuse related incident after initial treatment.

--- Individuals who fail the ADAPT program shall be considered for administrative separation.

Management of Drug Abusers

- Tools available to the unit commander to manage drug abusers include:

  --- Line of Duty (LOD) Determinations, when appropriate (AFI 36-2910)
-- Action involving security clearance, access to classified information, or access to restricted areas (AFI 31-501)

-- Personnel Reliability Program (AFMAN 13-501)

-- Duty assignment review to determine if member should continue in current duties

-- Unfavorable Information File (UIF) or control roster action based on drug related misconduct or substandard duty performance (AFI 36-2907)

-- Separation under AFI 36-3206 and 36-3208 for documented failure to meet standards (members who fail the ADAPT program due to refusal to cooperate may be separated)

-- Administrative demotion, withholding of promotion, and denial of reenlistment

- Drug abuse is incompatible with military service and Airmen who abuse drugs one or more times are subject to discharge for misconduct under AFI 36-3208

-- Drug abuse under AFI 36-3208 is the illegal, wrongful, or improper use, possession, sale, transfer, or introduction onto a military installation of any drug. This includes:
  --- Improper use of prescription medication
  --- Any intoxicating substance, other than alcohol, introduced into the body in any manner to alter mood

-- Evidence obtained through urinalysis or from the member in connection with initial entry in rehabilitation and treatment may be used to establish a basis for discharge

-- Generally, a member found to have abused drugs will be discharged unless the member meets ALL seven of the following criteria:
  --- Drug abuse is a departure from the member’s usual and customary behavior
  --- Drug abuse occurred as the result of drug experimentation
  --- Drug abuse does not involve recurring incidents, other than drug experimentation
  --- The member does not desire to engage in or intend to engage in drug abuse in the future
Drug abuse under all the circumstances is not likely to recur

Member’s continued presence in the Air Force is consistent with the interest of the Air Force in maintaining good order and discipline

Drug abuse did not involve drug distribution

It is the member’s burden to prove retention is warranted under these limited criteria

Drug Abuse and Civilian Employees

- The civilian drug abuse prevention and control program is intended to prevent, reduce, and control substance abuse; refer employees to appropriate assistance resources; restore employees to full effectiveness; and train managers, supervisors and employees on how best to address substance abuse issues

- AFI 44-107, Air Force Civilian Drug Demand Reduction Program, provides policy and procedures to identify and rehabilitate civilian drug abusers

- All supervisors and personnel must attend training sessions concerning drug abuse, be alert to the signs of abuse in subordinates, and report actual or suspected drug activity. Local unions and shop stewards are aware of the regulatory program.

- The unit commander consults the Civilian Personnel Office or the legal office regarding civilian employees whose poor performance, discipline, or conduct may be caused by drug abuse

Alcohol Abuse

Introduction
- The Air Force recognizes alcoholism as a disease that affects the entire family. Alcoholism is both preventable and treatable. The Air Force further recognizes that alcohol abuse negatively affects public behavior, duty performance, and/or physical and mental health.

  -- Treatment is available for alcohol abusers in an effort to minimize the negative consequences of such abuse to the individual, family, and the organization.

  -- The Air Force attempts to provide treatment and restoration to unrestricted duty status whenever possible. If restoration to duty is not appropriate, transitional counseling is offered pending separation.

  -- In addition to treatment issues, there are a number of other issues surrounding the use of alcohol, including drunk driving, dramshop liability, and drinking age.

- The Air Force Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) Program attempts to identify and provide assistance to military members with alcohol problems, but the focus of the ADAPT Program is prevention and clinical treatment. The ADAPT Program replaced the Substance Abuse Reorientation and Treatment (SART) Program.

Military Members
- Commanders and supervisors have primary responsibility for prevention, early identification, treatment, and discipline of substance abusers. The commander should do the following:

  -- Observe and document the performance and conduct of subordinates, and direct the immediate supervisors to do the same.

  -- Evaluate all potential or identified abusers through the evaluation process of AFI 44-121.

  -- Provide appropriate incentives to encourage members to seek help for problems with alcohol without fear of negative consequences.

  -- Recognize their responsibility for all personnel including administrative and disciplinary actions pertaining to any of their members involved in the ADAPT program.

  -- Understand that their involvement in treatment is critical, and they provide the authority to implement treatment when the member refuses to comply with treatment decisions.
Alcohol abusers are identified through several channels, including:

--- Self-Identification: The Air Force provides nonpunitive assistance to members seeking help in dealing with alcohol abuse

--- Commander Referral:

Commanders who suspect alcohol abuse shall refer members for evaluation. Commanders must refer the member for an evaluation if alcohol is, or is suspected to be, a contributing factor in any incident. Some instances which could lead to referral include the following:

---- Deteriorating duty performance

---- Errors in judgment

---- Excessive absenteeism or lateness for duty

---- Misconduct

---- Unacceptable social behavior

---- Incidents involving domestic violence or disturbances

---- Incidents highlighted in DD Form 1569, Incident Complaint Record, involving alcohol

--- If a commander refers an individual for an evaluation, the member must be advised of:

---- The reason for the evaluation

---- The evaluation is not punitive in nature; and

---- The member must report in uniform to the assessment appointment at the appointed date and time

--- Coordinate with the SJA before directing required drug testing on members involved in an alcohol-related incident, exhibiting bizarre behavior, or who are reasonably suspected of drug use. Commanders must order the test within 24 hours of the incident and should attempt to get the individual’s consent prior to directing the drug test. Blood alcohol tests are encouraged when alcohol is thought to be a factor in any incident.
The commander ensures the member is referred within seven calendar days after notification of the suspected alcohol incident

Incident to Medical Care:

- Health care providers should be alert for potential indicators of alcohol related problems

- Medical personnel must notify the unit commander and the ADAPT program manager (PM) when a member:
  - Is observed, identified, or suspected to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol
  - Receives treatment for an injury or illness that may be the result of substance abuse
  - Is suspected of abusing substances; or
  - Is admitted as a patient for alcohol (or drug) detoxification

Substance Abuse Assessment

- ADAPT staff members evaluate all members suspected of alcohol abuse in order to help the commander understand the extent of the alcohol abuse problem and to determine the patient’s need for treatment and the level of care required. Except in cases of self-identification, personal information provided by the member in response to assessment questions may be used against the member in a trial by court-martial or considered on the issue of service characterization in an administrative discharge proceeding.

- Before the assessment, the patient is advised of, among other things, the nature of the ADAPT Program, the limits of confidentiality, the relevant Privacy Act provisions, and the consequences of refusing treatment

- Upon completion of the assessment, the information gathered will form the basis for patient diagnosis, treatment planning, and delivery of substance abuse services

- In cases of driving under the influence (DUI) or driving while intoxicated (DWI), the ADAPT provider will give the assessment results to the patient’s commander for consideration prior to any decisions by the commander regarding the disposition of such a case
- The information is presented to the Treatment Team (TT) so that the TT may develop and guide the clinical course of treatment. The TT decides the proper course of action for the client after examining all of the facts presented. In particular, the TT develops the treatment plan.

-- The TT is made up of:

--- The commander, First Sergeant, or both, who must be involved at program entry, termination, and any time there are problems treating the patient

--- The patient’s immediate supervisor

--- The ADAPT PM (who chairs the TT meetings)

--- A certified substance abuse counselor

--- The therapist currently involved with the care of the patient

--- Any other individuals deemed necessary in some cases, the patient may also be on the TT

TREATMENT PLAN

- The treatment plan, developed by the TT, is used to establish a framework for the patient’s treatment and recovery. The plan isindividual specific and it documents the nature and extent of the treatment and the goals of treatment. The plan is reviewed at least every quarter to ensure effectiveness.

- The ADAPT PM makes the treatment decision after consulting with the TT. The decision must be made within 15 days after referral to the ADAPT Office.

- Substance abuse treatment falls into two categories:

-- Non-Clinical Services: For those patients not meeting the diagnostic criteria for alcohol abuse or dependence

--- At a minimum, they are provided 6 hours of awareness education and additional counseling can be prescribed. Length of involvement is flexible.

--- Substance abuse awareness education includes, among other things, information on individual responsibility, Air Force standards, and the legal and administrative consequences of abuse
--- Members being separated are entitled to appropriate medical care, but separation action will not be postponed because of participation in the ADAPT Program

-- Clinical Services: Used for patients meeting the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (DSM)-V diagnostic criteria for alcohol abuse or alcohol dependence

--- The ADAPT PM, using criteria developed by the American Society of Addiction Medicine, determines the level and intensity of the treatment. The local ADAPT Program develops procedures to evaluate the effectiveness of the program.

--- Patients are treated in the least restrictive setting possible and the length and duration of the treatment will vary according to the needs of the patient. Program requirements will be tailored to the individual and will include awareness education (minimum of 6 hours). Family involvement is encouraged.

--- Patients must adhere to the treatment plan developed by the TT

--- In appropriate cases, patients may be referred for in-patient treatment to one of several Substance Abuse Recovery Centers which are located on several different installations

--- Total abstinence is a critical treatment goal, but relapses into drinking behavior are not uncommon and are to be anticipated. Drinking, by itself, is not grounds for program failure.

--- Patients meeting these diagnostic criteria are put on a duty-limiting profile for 6 months to give them an opportunity to adapt to the treatment program. The profile limits their ability to go TDY or PCS.

- Patients successfully complete the program when they meet DSM-IV criteria for early full remission

-- The TT makes the determination whether the patient successfully completes the program or fails

-- Failure in the program is based on a demonstrated pattern of unacceptable behavior, inability or unwillingness to comply with the treatment plan, or involvement in an alcohol related incident after initial treatment. Individuals who fail the ADAPT Program shall be separated from the service.
Management of Alcohol Abusers

- Tools available to unit commanders to assist in managing alcohol abusers include:

  -- Line of Duty (LOD) determination, when appropriate (AFI 36-2910)

  -- Action involving security clearance, access to classified information, or access to restricted areas (AFI 31-501)

  -- Personnel Reliability Program (AFMAN 13-501)

  -- Duty assignment review to determine if member should continue in current duties

  -- Unfavorable Information File (UIF) or control roster action based on alcohol related misconduct or substandard duty performance (AFI 36-2907)

  -- Separation under AFI 36-3206 and 36-3208 for documented failure to meet standards

  -- Administrative demotion, withholding of promotion, and denial of reenlistment

- Orders not to consume alcohol will be valid ONLY if there is a reasonable connection between the order and military duties. Therefore, such orders must be carefully tailored. Always consult with your SJA before issuing an order not to consume alcohol.

Civilian Employees

- The Air Force attempts to prevent, reduce, and control alcoholism and drinking problems through education and training of employees and supervisors. The Air Force assists employees in finding rehabilitative services and treatment in an effort to restore civilian employees to full effectiveness.

- AFI 44-121 provides policy guidance and outline procedures to identify and rehabilitate civilian employees who abuse alcohol

- Indicators of possible alcohol related problems include: absenteeism, tardiness for work, extended lunch periods, unexcused absences, deteriorating job performance, marked changes in personal appearance, chronic lying, behavioral changes, and misconduct

- Under the Rehabilitation Act, alcohol abuse may be a physical handicap that entitles the employee to special protection. Consult with your SJA and Civilian Personnel Officer.
LEGAL ASPECTS OF ALCOHOL RELATED ISSUES

- Drunk Driving

-- Operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol (DUI) or driving while intoxicated (DWI), on or off the installation, is a serious offense and is incompatible with Air Force standards

--- Military members who commit this offense are subject to punitive action under the UCMJ

--- Civilian employees apprehended for DUI on exclusive or concurrent federal jurisdiction installations are subject to prosecution in U.S. Magistrate Court

--- A DUI conviction, in either state or federal court, will subject the individual to revocation of on-base driving privileges

-- Individuals identified as alcohol abusers as a result of a DUI/DWI will receive a minimum of 6 hours of awareness education before base driving privileges are reinstated

- Minimum Age

-- The minimum age for purchasing, possessing, or consuming alcoholic beverages on Air Force installations will be consistent with the law of the state, territory, possession, or foreign country in which the installation is located. Adults may only furnish alcohol to minors in accordance with applicable state law.

--- Air Force members who violate these restrictions may be punished under Article 92, UCMJ, for a violation of AFI 34-219, Alcoholic Beverage Program

--- When an entire unit marks a unique or nonroutine military occasion on a military installation, the minimum drinking age for military attendees at a particular unit gathering may be lowered
Military personnel 18 years old or older may purchase, serve, sell, possess, and consume alcoholic beverages outside the United States, its territories, and possessions unless a higher drinking-age requirement exists in accordance with applicable status of forces agreement or country-to-country agreement. A higher drinking age requirement may also be imposed based on the local situation as determined by the installation commander or the senior on-site unit commander when there is no installation commander. Coordination with any host commander is required.

- Dramshop Liability

  - Under the dramshop theory of liability, which is generally a matter of state law, a server of alcoholic beverages, whether it is an individual, activity, or facility, has a duty to refuse to serve anyone who is or appears to be intoxicated.

  - Liability may extend to damage the intoxicated person causes to property, others, and himself.

  - Installations must, among other things:

    --- Publish instructions prohibiting serving alcohol to intoxicated persons.

    --- Ensure each server annotates an AF IMT 971, Supervisor’s Employee Brief, stating the server is aware of the Operating Instruction and agrees to enforce its provisions.

    --- Establish controls to protect intoxicated persons and Air Force assets.

    --- Report alcohol incidents that may lead to government claims to the SJA.

    --- Not permit personal supplies of alcohol in buildings or grounds that serve alcohol (i.e., golf course).

    --- Not provide coupons for reduced prices on alcoholic beverages.

    --- May serve complimentary nonalcoholic beverages to designated drivers.

- Private organizations may not sell or serve alcoholic beverages on Air Force installations

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) is a disclosure statute that permits access to information maintained by government agencies. The basic goals of the FOIA are to ensure an informed citizenry, to serve as a check against corruption, and to help hold the government accountable. The Act applies to the Department of Defense, Air Force, and other federal executive agencies. Enacted in 1966, FOIA generally provides a right of access to federal executive agency information, except records (or portions) that are protected from disclosure by one of the FOIA exemptions listed below.

FOIA Exemptions
- There are seven exemptions under the FOIA that commonly apply to the Air Force, which provide a basis for withholding information
  - Classified information (confidential, secret, top secret). “For Official Use Only” is not a security classification.
  - Those matters relating solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of the agency
  - Information exempted by another statute (e.g., drug rehabilitation information)
  - Trade secrets or commercial or financial information submitted on a privileged or confidential basis. (e.g., bid contract proposals)
  - Interior intra-agency documents normally privileged in the civil court context (e.g., attorney work-product and pre-decisional policy discussions)
  - Law enforcement information (e.g., information that would disclose the identity of confidential informants)
  - Information in personnel, medical, and similar files which, if disclosed to the requester, would result in a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy

Some examples of personal information which are releasable because there is no unwarranted invasion of personal privacy are: name, rank, date of rank, gross pay, present and past duty assignments, future assignments which have been finalized, office/organizational address, and duty phone number. However, the names and addresses (postal and/or e-mail) of DoD military and civilian personnel in sensitive units, routinely deployable units, or assigned in foreign territories are normally not releasable.

--- Information not normally releasable as an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy includes home addresses, home phone numbers, and social security numbers.
FOIA Requests
- If you receive a FOIA request, immediately take it to the base FOIA office for processing. By law, the agency must respond to the requester within 20 working days of receiving a perfected FOIA request.

- The FOIA request can be made by “any person,” which has been broadly defined to include foreign citizens and governments, corporations, and state governments. To comply with the rules, the request must:
  -- Be in writing (includes requests sent by facsimile, or electronically)
  -- Explicitly or implicitly invoke the FOIA
  -- Reasonably describe the desired record
  -- Give assurances to pay any required fees or explain why a waiver is appropriate

FOIA Processing
- Written request received at the base FOIA office is sent to the OPR for initial review

- After initial review, forward to JA for comment
  -- If JA recommends approval, local release authority can approve request and release information
  -- If JA recommends denial, then a legal review is attached and the case is forwarded immediately to the initial denial authority (IDA), typically the MAJCOM commander or designee

- The IDA takes appropriate action. If records are denied, wholly or in part, the IDA tells requester the reason for the denial and the appeal procedure to follow. The IDA must issue its decision within 20 working days of receipt of the request by the base FOIA office.

- Appeals are taken to SAF/GCA for resolution after being reassessed by the MAJCOM FOIA office

- Requester may file suit in federal district court for release of information if the appeal results in denial

- Agencies are not required to create, compile, or obtain records not in their possession, but must apply a reasonableness standard if extracting data from an existing record to comply with the request would be a “business as usual approach”
Honoring form or format requests: In making any record available to a person, the agency shall provide the record in any form or format requested by the person if the record is readily reproducible by the agency in that form or format. Agencies are required to make reasonable efforts to maintain their records in forms or formats that are reproducible, and have an affirmative duty to search for records in electronic form or format.

Multi-track processing is authorized if the number of pending requests or complexity of a request precludes response within the statutory 20 working day limit. All tracks operate on a first-in, first-out system. If the base FOIA office determines a request is not eligible for its fastest track, it must give the requester the opportunity to limit the scope of the request.

--- Simple Requests: Ones that clearly identify the requested records, have few responsive records, deal with only one installation and, generally, one OPR, and do not involve Privacy Act, classified, or deliberative process materials

--- Complex Requests: Ones that include massive responsive records, cause significant impact on units, require coordination from multiple offices, or include material that is classified or privileged, or originated from a non-government source

--- Expedited Track: Agencies are required to promulgate regulations providing for expedited processing of requests for records if the requester demonstrates a “compelling need.” Agencies must notify expedited processing requesters whether the request has been granted within 10 calendar days. Denial of a request for expedited processing, whether initially or on appeal, is subject to judicial review. A “compelling need” means failure to receive the records in an expedited manner reasonably poses an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual. Agencies may process “urgently needed” material in the expedited track after “compelling need” requests have been fulfilled.

Electronic Reading Rooms

- Installation commanders must establish electronic reading rooms on the installation web site and make frequently requested records—records requested three or more times per quarter, within reason—available through links in the reading room site

- Certain records, such as policy statements, created on or after 1 November 1996, must be made available electronically in a public reading room within one year of creation

Incorporating Change 2 (22 January 2015)
The Privacy Act (PA) is designed to accomplish several purposes. Primarily, it limits the government’s ability to collect information about an individual to those instances authorized by law or executive order and necessary for government business. The PA also authorizes individuals to access records maintained on them by the government and to correct factual errors in those records. The PA only governs activities of the federal executive branch of government.

Basic Structure of PA Systems

- Every system of records must be listed in the Federal Register before information may be collected.

  -- A system of records contains information on individuals that is retrieved by the individual’s name or personal identifier, such as a Social Security Number. All systems of records must have a PA warning on them.

  -- System of records developers and managers must perform privacy impact assessments before creating a system of records or modifying information contained in a system of records.

  -- Do not place PA information in areas where individuals without an official need to know will have access (including common drives on computer systems).

  -- Personal notes maintained by a supervisor as memory aids at her own initiative are not considered a system of records, even if maintained by name or personal identifier, unless the records are required by command policy or regulation, or the supervisor shows the records to other agency personnel.

- Contractors who maintain systems of records for an executive agency are bound by the PA.

- Before being required to provide information for a system of records, an individual must be given the opportunity to read the privacy act statement (PAS) for the system of records; the PAS appears in the Federal Register listing for the system of records and can be posted as a sign or printed and handed to the individual. The PAS may also be verbally told to the individual. It includes the authority for collecting the information, whether disclosure is voluntary or mandatory, routines uses of the information, and the consequences of not providing the information, if any.
Disclosure Procedures

- To the Individual Subject of the Record

  -- Subjects of PA records and their designated representatives may request copies of their records

  --- Individuals do not need to state a reason for requesting access

  --- System managers must verify the requester’s identity

  -- Requesters must describe the records they are seeking—“all records on me” is not sufficient—system managers may ask for clarification

  -- Requesters may not use government resources to create or send their request

  -- If records will be released, the system manager must notify the sender within 10 work days and provide access to the record within 30 work days of receiving the request. The system manager may take up to 20 work days to determine whether release is authorized if he notifies the requester of the reason for the delay within 10 work days.

  -- The requester may have to pay fees if the record exceeds 100 copied pages

  -- Denials

    --- For a record to be denied, it must be covered by an exemption

      ---- Only specific documents in the record covered by the exemption may be denied

      ---- Segregate non-exempt documents and release them

    --- Third-party information contained in the record may be redacted depending on the nature of the information and its relevance to the record; always contact your servicing legal office for guidance on releasing third party information in a PA record

    --- System managers send recommendations for denials to their servicing legal office and PA office for review within five days of receiving the request

    --- MAJCOM commanders take action on recommended denials
-- Commonly encountered limits on release to the subject of record are as follows

--- Do not release information collected in anticipation of civil litigation or created as attorney work product

--- Have medical records reviewed by a doctor before release; if the doctor determines disclosing the records could cause mental harm or hardship to the requester, ask the requester for the name of a physician to whom the records can be sent. Include a letter to that physician with the records explaining the reviewing doctor’s basis for not disclosing the records directly to the requester. Consult AFI 41-210, Tricare Operations and Patient Administration Functions and DoD 6025.18-R, DoD Health Information Privacy Regulation for additional guidance regarding medical records.

- To Third Parties

-- The PA requires written consent from the subject before releasing information unless an exception applies

-- Exceptions allowing disclosure to third parties without subject consent

--- To DoD employees with an official need to know

--- Disclosure is required by the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)

--- To agencies outside DoD, if consistent with the routine uses listed in the Federal Register’s system of records notice

--- To the Bureau of the Census

--- Compilations of statistical data where individual data is not identifiable

--- To the National Archives and Records Administration for permanent storage

--- To a federal, state, or local agency for civil or criminal law enforcement action

--- To an individual or agency requiring the information for compelling health or safety reasons

--- To the Congress

--- To the Comptroller General
--- To a court of competent jurisdiction in response to a court order from a judge

--- To a consumer reporting agency, if allowed by system of records notice

SPECIAL HANDLING REQUIREMENTS

- Medical Records of Minors

  -- If overseas and the minor is between ages 15 and 17 do not release a minor’s medical records to the minor’s parents or legal guardians without court order or consent from the minor, if regulation or statute provides for confidentiality of the records and the minor has asked for confidentiality

  -- If within the territorial United States, state laws may limit parental access to medical records of their children. Consult with your servicing legal office for compliance requirements.

- When transmitting PA material using e-mail, the sender must include a warning that the e-mail contains PA material and is FOUO at the beginning of the message and include “FOUO” at the beginning of the subject line

- Do not place PA material on Internet sites accessible by individuals without an official need to know the information

- Violations

  -- Subjects may file suit in civil court to gain access to PA materials and correct errors in those materials. The court may award attorneys fees, court costs, and damages.

  -- Individuals may be criminally prosecuted for willful, unauthorized disclosures of PA information or maintenance of an unauthorized system of records. This is a misdemeanor offense carrying a maximum fine of $5,000.

ARMY AND AIR FORCE EXCHANGE SERVICE AND COMMISSARY BENEFITS

Although Department of Defense directives and service regulations govern exchange and commissary benefits, commanders exercise some discretion in granting, suspending, or revoking privileges.

EXCHANGE
- Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES): The establishment of an exchange is authorized by the Departments of the Army and the Air Force at each installation where extended active duty military personnel are present and assigned to duty
- An exchange may be established at other locations, such as state-operated National Guard installations or Reserve Training Centers, provided it is cost-effective

EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES
- Unlimited exchange privileges extend to all uniformed personnel and their family members, retired personnel and their family members, and others, such as Medal of Honor recipients and their family members
- Unlimited exchange privileges may be extended to government departments or agencies outside the Department of Defense (DoD) when:
  -- The local commander determines the desired supplies or services cannot be conveniently obtained elsewhere, and
  -- The supplies or services can be furnished without unduly impairing the service to exchange patrons
- Limited exchange privileges extend to some government civilian employees and to others, such as members of foreign military services visiting a military installation
- In non-foreign areas outside the Continental United States (CONUS), e.g., Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, the responsible commander may extend limited or unlimited privileges to other personnel or organizations if it is in the best interest of the mission of the command concerned
- Exceptions involving patron privileges are based on alleviating personal hardships and may only be granted by the Secretary of the department concerned upon request by the installation commander through command channels
ABUSE OF EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES
- Exchange patrons are prohibited from abusing privileges, including:
  -- Purchasing items for the purposes of resale, transfer or exchange to unauthorized persons
  -- Using exchange merchandise or services in the conduct of any activity for the production of income
  -- Theft, intentional or repeated presentation of dishonored checks, and other indebtedness

COMMANDER ACTIONS WHEN ABUSE OF EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES OCCURS
- When an abuse of privileges occurs, the commander will take prompt disciplinary and other appropriate action, such as revocation or suspension of exchange privileges
  -- Commanders may revoke exchange privileges for any period deemed appropriate, except the minimum period of revocation is six months for shoplifting, employee pilferage and intentional presentation of dishonored checks
  -- The individual concerned will be provided notice of the charges and the opportunity to offer rebutting evidence
  -- On appeal, the commander who revoked the privileges, or the next higher commander, may reinstate exchange privileges for cogent and compelling reasons

COMMISSARY PRIVILEGES
- The DoD operates commissaries as an integral element of the military pay and benefits system and as an institutional element to foster the sense of community among military personnel and their families. The intent of patronage is to provide an income effect benefit through savings on food and household items necessary to subsist and maintain the household of the military family.

  - Authorized Patrons
    -- Several classes of individuals are authorized commissary privileges by regulation, including active duty and their dependent family members, retired personnel and their dependent family members, reservists and others
    -- At overseas locations, military commanders or Secretaries of military departments may extend commissary privileges to certain individuals and groups of individuals, provided it is without detriment to the ability to fulfill the military mission
- Restrictions on Purchases

  -- Authorized personnel may not sell or give away commissary purchases to individuals or groups not entitled to commissary privileges

  -- Personnel are prohibited from using commissary purchases to support a private business

- Sanctions for Violating Restrictions on Purchases

  -- Suspension of commissary privileges or permanent revocation of commissary privileges

  -- Disciplinary action under the UCMJ, civil service, or other pertinent regulations or agreements should be taken against the individual if the violations warrant such action

Appointing Agents for Authorized Users

- The wing commander can extend use of the exchange and commissary to an agent of an authorized user, when the user is not capable of shopping

Driving on a military installation, whether in a government owned vehicle (GOV) or a privately owned vehicle (POV) is a privilege granted by the installation commander or designee. This authority may be delegated to the vice commander, mission support group commander, or other appropriate official not occupying a law enforcement, investigative, or other position raising the appearance of a conflict of interest.

Operating a POV on the Installation

- A person must do the following in order to drive on an Air Force installation:

  -- Comply with all laws and regulations governing motor vehicle operations on base

  -- Comply with installation vehicle registration requirements

  -- Possess, produce on demand, and comply with restrictions contained in a valid state driver’s license (or host nation/ SOFA license); possess and produce on demand proof of ownership or state registration; properly display vehicle safety inspection stickers, if required

  -- Comply with the minimum requirements of the motor vehicle insurance laws and regulations in the state where the installation is located

Implied Consent

- When operating a motor vehicle on a military installation, a driver gives implied consent in a number of areas

  -- Consent to test for the presence of alcohol or drugs in their blood, on their breath, and in their urine, provided there is a lawful stop, apprehension, or citation for any impaired driving offense committed while driving or in physical control of a motor vehicle on a military installation

  -- Consent to the removal and temporary impoundment of their POVs if it is (1) illegally parked; (2) interfering with traffic operations; (3) creating a safety hazard; (4) disabled by accident or incident; (5) abandoned; or (6) left unattended in a restricted or controlled access area

Suspension

- The installation commander can administratively suspend or revoke installation driving privileges. A suspension up to 12 months may be appropriate if a driver continually violates installation parking standards, or habitually violates other nonmoving standards. The installation commander will immediately suspend installation driving privileges pending resolution of an intoxicated driving incident under any of the following circumstances:
-- Refusal to take or complete a lawfully requested chemical test for the presence of alcohol or other drugs in the driver’s system

-- Operating a motor vehicle with blood alcohol content (BAC) or breath alcohol content (BRAC) of 0.10 percent by volume or higher, or in excess of the applicable BAC or BRAC level in the local civilian jurisdiction, whichever is applicable

-- Receipt of an arrest report or other official document reasonably showing an intoxicated driving incident occurred within a reasonable time period

Revocation

The installation commander will immediately revoke driving privileges for a period of not less than one year in any of the following circumstances:

-- A person is lawfully detained for intoxicated driving and refuses to submit to or complete tests to measure blood alcohol or drug content

-- Conviction, nonjudicial punishment, or a military or civilian administrative action resulting in the suspension or revocation of a driver’s license for intoxicated driving

-- The installation commander determines an immediate revocation is required to preserve public safety or the good order and discipline of military personnel

Procedures

A point system is used on-base to provide a uniform administrative device to supervise traffic offenses impartially. Points are assessed for violations of motor vehicle traffic regulations for on-base and off-base traffic offenses. Certain procedural guidelines apply before an individual’s driving privilege may be suspended or revoked.

-- The individual has the right to a hearing before a designated hearing officer. The individual must be notified of his/her right to a hearing, but it is only held if the individual requests it within the prescribed time period.

-- A suspension for a driving while intoxicated offense may be effective immediately if based on reliable evidence. Such evidence can include witness statements, a military or civilian police report, chemical test results, refusal to complete chemical testing, video tapes, written statements, field sobriety test results, or other evidence.

-- Civilian offenders may be prosecuted in Federal Magistrate’s Court for on-base traffic offenses. Installation commanders are authorized to prescribe installation traffic rules.

Debarment

Installation commanders have broad authority to control activities on their installations, including the authority to remove or exclude any person whose presence on the installation is unauthorized or disrupts good order and discipline. This authority enables a commander to fulfill his/her responsibilities to protect personnel and property, to maintain good order and discipline, and to ensure the successful, uninterrupted performance of the Air Force mission.

Commander’s Responsibilities and Options
- An installation commander’s decision to remove or exclude a person from the installation is subject to judicial review
  -- However, the decision is given substantial deference and will not be overturned unless proven to be arbitrary or capricious
  -- An illegal debarment could subject a commander to personal civil liability in a lawsuit
- An installation commander may not delegate to a subordinate the authority to debar an individual from an installation

Who is Subject to Debarment?
- Members of the armed forces are not normally debarred. Service members being involuntarily separated may, in conjunction with their discharge, be debarred for good cause
- Civilians may be debarred from a military installation
- Dependent family members and retirees may be debarred, but they must be granted access for medical care (a statutory right—10 U.S.C. §§ 1074, 1076)
- Civilian employees may be debarred, but they should be removed from federal service before being debarred
  -- Otherwise, the employee may still be entitled to collect a salary
  -- Check with the Civilian Personnel Office to determine if the local collective bargaining agreement contains additional due process requirements
- Salespersons and businesses may be debarred for misconduct. Misconduct may lead to debarment of a single agent or an entire firm.
Contractor employees may be debarred for misconduct. Contractor employees with security clearances are not entitled to greater protection from debarment.

Possession, distribution, or use of drugs is commonly used as a good cause for debarment, while exceeding weight standards, on the other hand, would not be a good reason.

PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS

A person who is debarred from an installation should be notified, in writing, that he or she is prohibited from entering the installation. The notification (debarment letter) should state the reason for and period of the debarment.

Determining the debarment period is a matter of discretion. The commander should consider the individual, the reason for the debarment, and the need for good order, discipline, and security. The bottom line is what is reasonable given all the circumstances.

The length of the debarment period should be stated on the notification letter. The commander may debar an individual for a specific length of time or, in appropriate cases, the debarment may be for an indefinite period of time.

The individual can ask the installation commander to lift the debarment at any time, regardless of whether the debarment is for a set period or indefinite.

A copy of the debarment letter should be hand-delivered to the individual or sent by certified mail to ensure a record of receipt.

An individual who enters an installation after receiving notice of debarment from the installation commander is subject to federal criminal prosecution under Entering Military Naval or Coast Guard Property, 18 U.S.C. § 1382. Maximum penalty for violation of the law is six months confinement and a $500 fine.

FREE SPEECH, DEMONSTRATIONS, OPEN HOUSES AND HATE GROUPS

Air Force commanders have the inherent authority and responsibility to execute the mission, protect resources, and maintain good order and discipline. This authority and responsibility includes placing lawful restrictions upon certain demonstration and protest activities.

COMMANDER RESPONSIBILITIES

- Commanders must preserve the service member’s right of expression, consistent with good order, discipline and national security, to the maximum extent possible. To properly balance these interests, commanders must exercise prudent judgment and consult with their staff judge advocates (SJA).

-- Air Force members may not distribute or post any unofficial printed or written material within any Air Force installation without permission of the installation commander

-- Air Force members may not write for unofficial publications during duty hours

-- Military personnel must reject participation in organizations that espouse supremacist causes; attempt to create illegal discrimination based on race, creed, color, sex, religion, or national origin; advocate the use of force or violence; or otherwise engage in an effort to deprive individuals of their civil rights

--- Members who actively participate in such groups or activities are subject to adverse administrative and disciplinary action, including separation and punishment under the UCMJ

--- Mere membership in these groups is not prohibited; however, membership must be considered in evaluating or assigning members, particularly supervisory positions

- Air Force members may complain and request redress of their grievances under Article 138, UCMJ, and through the inspector general complaint system. They may also petition any member of Congress without fear of reprisal.

CONTROLLING OR PROHIBITING DEMONSTRATIONS AND PROTEST ACTIVITIES

- Commanders may also take measures to control or prevent demonstrations and protest activities within the installation

-- Demonstrations or related activities on an Air Force installation may be prohibited if:

--- They interfere with mission accomplishment, or

--- They present a clear danger to loyalty, discipline, or morale of service members
-- No one may enter a military installation for any purpose prohibited by law or regulation, or reenter an installation after having been barred by order of the installation commander.

-- Air Force members are prohibited from participating in demonstrations when they are on duty, when they are in a foreign country, when they are in uniform, when their activities constitute a breach of law and order, or when violence is likely to result. Members who violate this provision are subject to disciplinary action under Article 92 of the UCMJ.

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES BY MEMBERS OF THE AIR FORCE
- Air Force members may register to vote and express a personal opinion on political candidates and issues, but not as a representative of the Armed Forces.

- For a list of prohibited and permitted political activities, see AFI 51-902, Political Activities by Members of the U.S. Air Force, para 3 and 4.

OPEN HOUSE REQUIREMENTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES
- An open house where the general public is invited onto the installation does not, in and of itself, cause the installation to lose its status as “closed” for the purposes of preventing political or ideological speech. “Closed” means not a public forum for protests or demonstrations, such as community parks or sidewalks.

-- Open houses are for local community relations. Commanders retain the authority to prevent political or ideological speech or demonstrations on the installation during an open house.

-- Commanders can prevent or stop political or ideological speech because such speech creates a danger to loyalty, good order and discipline.

--- Commanders need not wait until loyalty, good order or discipline are actually negatively affected before preventing or stopping the speech.

--- Speech that presents such a danger can be prevented at the outset because it presents such a danger.

-- If a person or group attempts to engage in political or ideological expression or demonstrations on an installation, the commander should escort the offending party or parties off the installation and issue a barment letter, the violation of which can subject the offender to criminal penalties.

-- An installation loses its status as “closed” for the purposes of preventing political or ideological speech or demonstrations ONLY IF the commander allows political or ideological speech or demonstrations to occur or by abandoning control over the installation or parts of it

- Installation commanders should be careful about whom they invite onto the installation and what they allow those people to do. It is important to work closely with the SJA to plan open houses so that potential problems can be prevented and to solve free speech issues should they arise.

PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS

DEFINITION
- A private organization (PO) is a self sustaining special interest group, set up by people acting outside the scope of any official position they may have in the federal government.

- POs are not integral parts of the military service nor are they federal entities. They are not nonappropriated fund instrumentalities (NAFIs) nor are they entitled to the sovereign immunities and privileges given to NAFIs.

- When an unofficial activity’s or organization’s current monthly assets (which include cash inventories, receivables, and investments) exceed a monthly average of $1,000 over a three month period, the activity/organization must become a PO, discontinue on-base operations, or reduce its current assets.

OPERATING RULES
- Each PO must be approved in writing by the installation commander or his/her designee.

- The force support squadron commander or director monitors and advises all POs and directs the resource management flight chief to keep a file on each PO.

- The resource management flight chief reviews each PO annually to make sure documents, records and procedures are in order.

- POs must be self-sustaining and cannot receive direct financial assistance from a NAFI in the form of contributions, dividends or donations.

- Logistical support to POs is also very limited. Consult the SJA before supporting POs in any way.

- POs with gross revenues of $250,000 or more must have an annual audit done by a certified public accountant (CPA). POs with gross revenues of $100,000 but less than $250,000 must have an annual financial review conducted by an accountant (CPA not required). POs with gross revenues of less than $100,000 but more than $5,000 are not required to conduct independent audits or financial reviews, but must prepare an annual financial statement for review by the resource management flight.

- The installation staff chaplain should coordinate on requests to establish religiously oriented POs.

- POs may not unlawfully discriminate on any proscribed basis, including race, color, sex, marital status, age, religion, national origin, political affiliation, or physical handicap.
- Each PO has the responsibility of obtaining adequate insurance or waiver thereof by the installation commander or designee. A waiver of the insurance requirement will not protect the PO or its members from valid claims or successful suits.

- POs will not engage in activities that duplicate or compete with activities of the Army and Air Force Exchange Service or Services NAFIs.

- POs must comply with all applicable federal, state and local laws governing such activities. POs desiring tax-exempt status must file an application with the IRS. To qualify as tax-exempt organizations for federal tax purposes, POs must be organized for one or more of the purposes specifically outlined in the Internal Revenue Code.

- Fundraising by POs is governed by AFI 36-3101, Fundraising Within the Air Force and the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER).

- POs are prohibited from conducting games of chance, lotteries, or other gambling activities, except in very limited circumstances, e.g., certain types of raffles, as set forth in AFI 34-223, paragraph 10.16, and the JER.

- POs may not sell or serve alcoholic beverages.

- POs will not engage in resale activities unless specific authorization is granted. The installation commander or designee may authorize occasional sales for fund raising purposes such as bake sales, dances, carnivals, and similar infrequent functions.

- “Occasional sales” for fund-raising purposes is specifically defined as not more than two fund-raising events per calendar quarter. This prohibition against frequent or continuous resale activities does not preclude collective purchasing and sharing of purchased items by members of POs or unofficial activities and organizations so long as there is no actual resale.

The Role of Spouses’ Clubs

Officer or NCO spouses’ clubs are POs that the installation commander may authorize to operate on base when he or she concludes the organization will make a positive contribution to the lives of base personnel.

- Because spouses’ clubs are POs, it is important to remember these organizations are composed of people “acting outside the scope of any official position they may have in the federal government.”

- Unlike the Air Force and other instrumentalities of the federal government, which have distinct legal and regulatory systems of command, spouses’ clubs have no formal lines of authority interconnecting the various base clubs.
Many of the activities that spouses’ clubs engage in are subject to state and federal laws and regulations.

They are bound by the terms of their constitution and bylaws.

To operate on Air Force installations, spouses’ clubs, like other POs, must comply with AFI 34-223, governing the basic responsibilities, policies, and practices of private organizations. Further, AFI 34-223 defines and classifies POs.

With the exception of thrift shop sales of used clothing and other used merchandise, POs are generally prohibited from engaging in frequent or continuous resale activities and may not operate amusement or slot machines.

Continuous operation of a thrift shop requires specific approval of the installation commander (or designee).

Clubs must get specific permission from the installation commander (or designee) to conduct bake sales, carnivals, and other occasional sales for fundraising purposes.

Logistical Support to Private Organizations

Logistical support to POs is limited. Consult the SJA before supporting POs in any way.

Logistical support to POs is permitted when the installation commander determines that it meets the follow test under the JER 3-211:

-- Does not interfere with performance of official duties or detract from readiness

-- Community relations or other public affairs purposes are served by the support

-- It is appropriate to associate DoD with the event

-- The event is of interest and benefits the local community or DoD

-- The base is able and willing to provide comparable support to other similar events

-- Support is not restricted by other statutes

-- There is no admission fee beyond reasonable costs

-- POs in overseas areas can request additional support through the installation commander to MAJCOM/A1S

Religious Issues in the Air Force

This section does not create, implement, expand, or contract policy. It explores the fundamental legal underpinnings of existing policy(ies) so that commanders will have the knowledge necessary for analysis of and action on some of the religious issues they might encounter.

Issues in this area have inherent potential to generate media, advocacy group, and political attention quickly. Resolution of religious issues (particularly regarding accommodation and whether speech or practices in a duty context are permissible) is always highly fact and situation dependent and seldom amenable to simple bright line, “one-size-fits-all” rules. It is essential that commanders consult their staff judge advocates (SJAs) and staff chaplains.

Basic Constitutional Underpinnings—First Amendment

- Free Exercise Clause
  -- Constitutional protection for religious speech and practices (does NOT protect all religious speech under all circumstances)
  -- There are Supreme Court cases your SJA will be familiar with establishing the standards for analysis of governmental restrictions on religious expression

- Establishment Clause
  -- Essentially requires (in appearance and reality) government neutrality regarding religion and religious practices, e.g., generally prohibits mixing religion with governmental business and governmental endorsement of or involvement with religion and religious practices
  -- Thomas Jefferson’s 1802 Letter to the Danbury Baptist Association, as well as the Establishment Clause, provides the basis for the “separation of church and state” slogan, even though those words per se do not appear in the Constitution

- Many situations which might confront commanders involve reconciling the “inherent tension” between the two clauses

Accommodation

- Part Constitutional (Free Exercise) and Part Statutory (Religious Freedom Restoration Act, aka “RFRA;” 10 U.S.C. § 774); details below (pp. 224-226)
Related Basic Considerations—Military Realities

- Constitutional/Legal issues are only part of what a commander needs to be aware of. Commanders must be sensitive to the potential for some real-world military implications when mixing religion and official business. For example, a commander inserting his/her personal religious views to his/her subordinates, particularly in a military setting (e.g., change of command ceremonies, commanders’ calls, staff meetings, etc.) may undermine esprit de corps and unit cohesion. When it does, it is not protected religious speech. On the one hand, a statement that is clearly personal and cannot be reasonably regarded as an official pronouncement or as an implied suggestion that personnel might be wise to emulate him or her may be legally and militarily OK (the “may” qualification reflects the extreme importance of having to base definitive judgments on all the facts and circumstances of individual cases). Great caution should be exercised here. “I thank God for giving me the opportunity to assume command of this great organization is an example of such a “personal aside.” On the other hand, “My personal priorities are first, my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, second, my family, and third, everything else…” inherently generates the very problems commanders need to be attentive to avoiding.

- Not all members of the command will share the commander’s beliefs; they may feel alienated or marginalized

- Some may be offended by the recitation of religious views

- Some may question whether they will be viewed with impartiality or with disfavor if they do not agree with the new commander’s religious views

- Announcements of chapel activities

  - Wing/Installation Chaplains can properly advertise and encourage attendance at their events via base-wide media (e.g., e-mails, electronic scoreboard-type visual displays). They can also highlight the religious component of the event in ways that others cannot.

  - If, as is evidently the case at some wings/installations, chaplains do not have base-wide e-mail capabilities and their special events (e.g., religion-based marriage enrichment seminars, workshops conducted by a chaplain of one faith solely for people of that faith) are announced by other staff agencies, the appropriate commander needs to be sure the announcement is clearly understood to be distributed on behalf of the chaplain and as such as cannot reasonably be interpreted as an endorsement of the underlying religious viewpoint. The higher the organizational level of the announcement, the more important it is to be sensitive to this.

- Attendance at National Prayer Breakfast activities in uniform is neither prohibited nor encouraged (left to attendee’s discretion)
Preliminary Caveat: Advocacy from Outsiders Might Sound Authoritative but It’s Still Just Advocacy

Outside advocates (including lawyers) for a particular resolution of a religious issue of which they have become aware might call you directly, advising you that the law “requires” you to adopt their position. If this happens, here are some suggestions based on experience:

-- Commanders must be sensitive to the potential for some real-world military implications

-- Avoid sounding sympathetic or agreeable to their pronouncements

-- Threats of adverse publicity or litigation are to be expected; just tell the caller that you’ll let public affairs (PA) and/or your SJA know

-- Don’t take unilateral action (i.e., without first consulting JA and/or HC) to do what the caller is requesting/demanding!

-- Inform the caller that you need to discuss the matter with the people you get your advice from, i.e., your SJA (and maybe staff chaplain)

-- If a follow-up response is required, it might be preferable to disengage yourself and ask your Vice, exec, SJA, chaplain, or PA to do it

Religious Expression in the Workplace

General Principles

-- Broader than just prayer

-- When evaluating religious expression issues be sensitive to:

--- Whether attendance is mandatory (whether really so or perceived, e.g., “not mandatory but highly encouraged” and “not mandatory but expected” (as with “invitations”) from a commander, rater, supervisor, or other senior person

--- Seniority of the commander in grade and/or rank and/or position

-- Pertinent extracts from the “Interim Guidelines” (none of which is intended to serve as a “loophole” to permit religious expression when it would be inappropriate)

--- Leaders must ensure their words and actions cannot reasonably be construed to be officially endorsing or disapproving any faith belief or absence of belief
--- In official circumstances, or when superior/subordinate relationships are involved, superiors need to be sensitive to the potential that personal expressions may appear to be official.

--- Voluntary participation in worship, prayer, study, and discussion is integral to the free exercise of religion. Voluntary discussions of religion are permissible, even if conducted in uniform, where it is reasonably clear that the discussions are personal, not official, and can be reasonably free of the potential for, or appearance of, coercion (example: Attendance at annual prayer breakfasts, even if in uniform).

--- Public prayer must not imply government endorsement of religion; it should not be a part of routine official business (e.g., staff meetings).

--- Mutual respect and common sense should always be applied, including consideration of unusual circumstances (recent death; imminent danger; etc.).

--- Non-denominational, inclusive prayer or a moment of silence may be appropriate for military ceremonies or events of special importance when its primary purpose and effect are not the advancement of religion or religious beliefs (examples: Leadership School graduation, promotion ceremonies).

---- This may be tough to do if challenged. The burden would be on the Air Force to prove with more than just conclusory assertions that prayer at such an official event served a legitimate, overriding governmental purpose.

-- More religious content/prayer is generally acceptable in ceremonies which are essentially personal (e.g., retirements) even though they occur during duty hours, in government facilities, and are attended by Air Force personnel in duty status. On the other hand, routine prayers at weekly staff meetings are inappropriate.

--- Retirements, formerly regarded as entirely personal in nature, recently became official events for purposes of justifying Air Force people traveling to them TDY to have a role in the event (e.g., officiate). The hybrid nature of the event makes it advisable for the “emcee” or narrator to be alert to the advisability of avoiding creating the perception that any religious components are official, as by announcing, “CMSgt Retiree has requested that Rabbi Katcoff lead an invocation.”

- Workplace Religious Expression

-- Religious expression cannot be singled out for special restrictions not applicable to non-religious speech. Stated somewhat differently, expression cannot be restricted just because it involves religion. Any restriction would have to be based on generally applicable, content-neutral factors such as disruption to mission or adverse impact on good order.
and discipline. Religion-related restrictions would be appropriate if the expression could reasonably be regarded as suggesting Air Force endorsement of religion, superiors forcing subordinates to participate, listen, etc.

--- For example, if it is OK for an employee to put sports posters on his wall, leadership cannot prohibit an employee from putting a picture of the Ten Commandments or a religious figure on his/her cubicle wall.

---- Placement of objects (as opposed to where religious discussions take place) can be the critical determining factor. For example, a Ten Commandments poster conspicuously posted over the main entrance, adjacent to the commander’s office door, or behind the commander’s desk for all to see, sends a strong message of Air Force endorsement of religion and particular religious beliefs not conveyed by the same poster on a SrA’s cubicle wall.

--- Similarly, “evangelizing” (sharing one’s faith) and “proselytizing” (inducing someone to convert to one’s faith or cause) are free exercises of religion, and cannot be singled out for special restrictions not applicable to non-religious speech. For example, just as it is not wrong to share one’s passion for sports there is nothing wrong with an Airman sharing his/her faith or inviting another co-worker to attend his/her place of worship. The active, interpersonal nature of evangelizing or proselytizing, however, makes it more likely (than display of religious items) to affect mission accomplishment and good order and discipline.

Emerging Area: Web Logs (“Blogs” & Other Electronic Media)

- AFI 35-113, para 15, Chapter 15 encourages Air Force members to use these new media and contains some guidelines.

- Military people have a right to use these sites for religious expression even if their identity as Air Force members is explicitly stated or can be easily determined.

-- Test as to whether the religious expression and/or military identity can/should be restricted must flow from something more than just status, e.g.,

--- Express or inferential language suggesting Air Force endorsement of the expression and/or of religion

--- Could involve JER issues, e.g., indications of federal support of non-federal entities

-- Stronger, more prominent disclaimer than the minimums suggested/required by AFIs can head off potential problems for the poster and the Air Force, and better inform the public.
ACCOMMODATION OF RELIGIOUS PRACTICES

- DoD policy provides that commanders should approve requests for religious accommodation when approval will not have an adverse impact on military readiness, unit cohesion, standards, or discipline. For guidance on handling religious accommodation requests regarding conscientious objectors, dress and personal appearance, or immunizations, refer to the AFIs specifically covering these areas. For all other religious accommodation requests, follow the guidance in DoDI 1300.17. You may also want to review the guidance provided in the Revised Interim Guidelines Concerning Free Exercise of Religion in the Air Force issued by SecAF on 9 February 2006.

- The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA): Government cannot (1) substantially burden an (2) Airman’s exercise of religion unless (3) the burden is the least restrictive means of (4) furthering a compelling governmental interest.

  -- Each of the four emphasized items is deceptively complex and situation-dependent and virtually screams for the advice of your chaplain and SJA each time a potential RFRA issue arises. (You would be well-advised to keep a copy of DoDI 1300.17 among your desk references.)

  -- Two-part threshold issue: Whether there is a “substantial burden” on an “exercise of religion”

    --- Not every passing action that tangentially involves religion constitutes an “exercise of religion”

    --- If the threshold is met, then you have to do the additional two-part analysis, i.e., articulate whether a compelling government interest is being furthered and whether the action under contemplation is the least restrictive means of doing it.

- 10 U.S.C. § 774: This statute allows wear of religious apparel in uniform unless, as determined pursuant to regulation, the apparel would interfere with performance of duty or is not neat and conservative

- The Revised Interim Guidelines Concerning Free Exercise of Religion in the Air Force highlights that commanders should ensure requests for religious accommodation are welcomed. The Air Force should accommodate the free exercise of religion and other personal beliefs except as must be limited by compelling military necessity (with any limitations being imposed in the least restrictive manner feasible).

  -- The military necessity must be real and not hypothetical

  -- Factors to consider in deciding whether to accommodate religious practices include
--- The importance of the military requirement in terms of mission accomplishment, military readiness, unit cohesion, standards, and discipline

--- The religious importance of the accommodation to the requester

--- The cumulative impact of repeated accommodations of a similar nature

--- Alternative means available to meet the requested accommodation; and

--- Previous treatment of the same or similar requests, including requests made for other than religious reasons

-- Encourages commanders to anticipate certain predictable kinds of accommodation rather than wait for a request, e.g., religious dietary restrictions

- Accommodation: Uniforms - Religious Apparel and Items

-- Religious apparel is defined as articles of clothing worn as part of the doctrinal or traditional observance of the religious faith practiced by the member. Hair and grooming practices required or observed by religious groups are not included within the meaning of religious apparel.

-- Religious apparel covered by both 10 U.S.C. § 774 (allowed unless it interferes with performance of duty or is not neat and conservative) and RFRA (prohibition must be least restrictive means of furthering a compelling governmental interest)

-- AFI 36-2903, para 9.12 addresses religious accommodation and religious apparel waivers. Installation commanders have discretion to approve requests for wear of religious head covering indoors that are plain and dark blue or black, minimally conspicuous, does not impair the ability to readily assess compliance with hair standards, and can fit under the appropriate uniform headgear.

-- Commanders should consider the following non-exclusive factors when deciding on a uniform accommodation request: Team identity, unit cohesion, morale, good order, discipline, symbolic impact on public perception of the military, safety, and others.

-- Though not currently addressed by AFI 36-2903, Commanders should be able to articulate, as required by RFRA and DoDI 1300.17 what governmental interest is served by a rule or denial of request for accommodation, why that interest is compelling, and how it is the least restrictive means of furthering that compelling governmental interest

Citizenship for Military Members

Members and certain veterans of the U.S. military may be eligible for naturalization through their military service under Section 328 or 329 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA). The INA allows for posthumous naturalization under section 329A.

Naturalization through Peacetime Service
- A member who has severed honorably in the U.S. armed forces at any time may be eligible to apply for naturalization under Section 328 of the INA

- In general, an applicant for naturalization under Section 328 of the INA must:
  -- Be age 18 or older
  -- Have served honorably in the U.S. armed forces for at least one year and, if separated from the U.S. armed forces, have been separated honorably
  -- Be a permanent resident at the time of examination on the naturalization application

In the latter case, the applicant is not required to meet these residence and physical presence requirements.

Naturalization through Wartime Service
- Generally, members of the U.S. armed forces who serve honorably for any period of time (even one day) during specifically designated periods of hostilities are eligible for naturalization under Section 329 of the INA
In general, an applicant for naturalization under INA Section 329 must:

- Have served honorably in active-duty status, or as a member of the Selected Reserve of the Ready Reserve, for any amount of time during a designated period of hostilities and, if separated from the U.S. armed forces, have been separated honorably

- Have been lawfully admitted as a permanent resident at any time after enlistment or induction, OR have been physically present in the United States or certain territories at the time of enlistment or induction (regardless of whether the applicant was admitted as a permanent resident)

- Be able to read, write, and speak basic English

- Demonstrate knowledge of U.S. history and government (Civics)

- Have been a person of good moral character during all relevant periods under the law

- Have an attachment to the principles of the U.S. Constitution and be well disposed to the good order and happiness of the U.S. during all relevant periods under the law

There is no minimum age requirement for an applicant under this section. The designated periods of hostilities are:

- April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918

- September 1, 1939 to December 31, 1946

- June 25, 1950 to July 1, 1955

- February 28, 1961 to October 15, 1978

- August 2, 1990 to April 11, 1991

- September 11, 2001 until the present

The current designated period of hostilities starting on September 11, 2001, will terminate when the President issues an Executive Order terminating the period
POSTHUMOUS CITIZENSHIP FOR MILITARY MEMBERS

- Members who served honorably in the U.S. armed forces and who died as a result of injury or disease incurred while serving in an active duty status during specified periods of military hostilities, as listed above, may be eligible for posthumous citizenship under section 329A of the INA.

- Form N-644, Application for Posthumous Citizenship, must be filed on behalf of the deceased service member within two years of his/her death. If approved, a Certificate of Citizenship will be issued in the name of the deceased veteran establishing posthumously that he or she was a U.S. citizen on the date of his/her death.

APPLICATION PROCESSING

- Service members must apply for naturalization through the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). Service members are not charged filing or biometrics fees associated with the naturalization process.

- Every military installation should have a designated point-of-contact (POC) to assist members with the Naturalization Application (Form N-400) and certify the Request for Certification of Military or Naval Service (Form N-426).

- Once the packet is complete, it should be sent to the specialized military naturalization unit at the USCIS Nebraska Service Center for expedited processing.

The Air Force Review Boards Agency (AFRBA) is a Field Operating Agency that acts for the Secretary of the Air Force (SAF) to make recommendations or decisions on individual personnel cases and applications reserved for Secretarial action. The AFRBA is functionally aligned as a Directorate (SAF/MRB) under the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (SAF/MR). The Director of the Review Boards Agency is a member of the Senior Executive Service, vested with substantial delegated authority from SAF and SAF/MR.

The AFRBA’s mission is to ensure equity, fairness, justice, and due process for the affected individuals and the United States Air Force in the most sensitive personnel actions, including officer discharges, approval or disapproval of restricted retirements, grants or denials of clemency and parole, officer and enlisted grade determinations, final agency action on Equal Opportunity complaints, appeals of security clearance revocations, and much more. The AFRBA is the home of more than 9 statutory and regulatory boards, described below, including the SAF Personnel Council and the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records.

The Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records (AFBCMR)
- The AFBCMR provides the highest level administrative review of military personnel issues within the Department of the Air Force; unless procured by fraud, its corrections are final and conclusive on all officers of the United States
- Applicants must exhaust all other administrative remedies before applying to the AFBCMR
- Applicants have the burden of proof to show that their records contain error or injustice
- By law, the AFBCMR voting members are civilians in the executive part of the Department of the Air Force

The Secretary of the Air Force Personnel Council (SAFPC)
- Acts for, recommends to, and announces decisions on behalf of SecAF for a variety of total force, military personnel issues reserved for Secretarial action. Delegates certain authorities (such as unrestricted, voluntary separations and retirements) to special assistants at the Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC) and the Air Reserve Personnel Center (ARPC).
- Composed of regular, United States Air Force Reserve (USAFR), and Air National Guard (ANG) commissioned officers, noncommissioned officers, and Department of the Air Force civilians
- SAFPC is comprised of seven (7) component boards:

An extensive list of the types of cases the AFPB consider is included in AFI 36-2023. Procedures for processing cases to the AFPB are contained in the respective AFI governing the underlying action. Common matters reviewed by the AFPB include:

--- Resignations, Retirements, Separations, Transfers and Releases. The AFPB is the final recommending entity for cases regarding involuntary officer discharges (including resignations/retirements in lieu of discharge or court-martial); involuntary enlisted discharges/denials of reenlistments for lengthy service (16 or 18 years of service) and retirement eligible airman (including lengthy service probation [LSP]); most conscientious objector applications, certain restricted retirements (such as retirements in lieu of demotion), certain restrictions on voluntary officer separation/retention, disability separation/retirement appeals and dual actions, and collateral consequences of disenrollment from the Air Force Academy.

--- Entitlements, Benefits, and Pay. Establishes the highest grade an individual satisfactorily held for retirement or separation (see also, Officer Grade Determinations and Enlisted Grade Determinations, Chapter 7).

--- Air Force Discharge Review Board (AFDRB): Statutory Board that examines an applicant’s administrative discharge and may change the characterization of service and/or reason for discharge based on standards of equity or propriety

--- Applications submitted on DD Form 293, Application for the Review of Discharge from the Armed Forces of the United States

--- The AFDRB permits applicants to appear personally or via video teleconference

--- Applicants may appeal to the AFBCMR if they do not receive the desired outcome

--- Air Force Decorations Board: Acts on behalf of the Secretary in reviewing recommendations for all high level decorations and awards. Maintains the integrity and prestige of the Air Force’s highest awards, ensuring nominations meet standards established by law and policy for past, present, and future conflicts. Individual awards include the Airman’s Medal through the Medal of Honor, Unit awards include the Air Force Organizational Excellence Award through the Presidential Unit Citation, and Air Force Civilian Honorary Awards.

--- Approves, disapproves, downgrades, upgrades, or recommends upgrade of decorations, unit awards, or other awards/decorations requiring SecAF approval

--- Determine entitlement, at time of approval, to 10 percent increase in retirement pay (applies to enlisted personnel only) for award of the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross (noncombat), and Airman's Medal awarded for extraordinary heroism, in accordance with 10 U.S.C. § 8991

--- Drafts statutory time waivers for Medal of Honor nominations considered under 10 U.S.C. § 1130 to be included in the nomination package that the SecAF forwards to the Secretary of Defense (SECDEF)

--- Air Force Clemency and Parole Board: Assists the SecAF in executing clemency, parole, mandatory supervised release, and return to duty authorities established by law

--- DoD Civilian/Military Service Review Board: Assists the SECDEF in determining if civilian service in support of the U.S. Armed Forces during a period of armed conflict is equivalent to active military service for VA benefits

--- SAF Remissions Board: Acts on behalf of the Secretary in reviewing remission applications and providing final decisions or recommendations to the Director, AFRBA

--- Permits applicants to request remission of debts to the United States Air Force which were incurred while serving on active duty. Applications are submitted to the servicing Financial Services Office.

--- Prior to applying, the debt must be established and any administrative procedures and appeals regarding the existence, validity or amount of the debt must have been completed

--- The applicant bears the burden to prove remission of the debt is in the best interest of the United States. The application must demonstrate the collection of the debt is unjust, inequitable, or would create undue hardship.

--- Applicants may appeal decisions which do not grant the full relief requested. When the decision was issued by the SAF Remissions Board, the appellate authority is the Director, AFRBA. When the decision was issued by the Director, AFRBA, the Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (SAF/MR (PDAS)) is the appellate authority.

--- Air Force Disability Review Board: Reviews the case of a member or former member of the uniformed services, upon request, retired or released from active duty without pay for physical disability, the findings and decisions of the retiring board, board of medical survey, or disposition board in the member's case.
The Air Force Civilian Appellate Review Office (AFCARO)
- Processes and adjudicates discrimination complaints and administrative grievances by civilian employees and military applicants, filed against the Air Force

- AFCARO analyzes grievances and complaints, recommends final Air Force decisions to the Director, AFRBA, and is the Air Force liaison to EEOC in all matters involving civilian discrimination complaints

The Personnel Security Appeal Board (PSAB)
- Adjudicates appeals of security eligibility/clearance withdrawals by the Air Force Central Adjudication Facility (AFCAF)

- Determines whether to reinstate an appellant’s eligibility/clearance, or render a final decision to deny the appeal

The DoD Physical Disability Board of Review (PDBR)
- By Congressional mandate, will review any applications submitted by personnel that received a disability rating of 20% or less from all services between September 11, 2001 and December 31, 2009

- As the DoD Lead Component, the Air Force, through SAF/MRB, oversees operation of the PDBR

- This Board has also been utilized to offer additional disability reviews to other select groups as identified by Congress

HUMANITARIAN REASSIGNMENTS/DEFERMENTS

When Air Force members incur substantial and continuing personal or family problems that can be relieved by reassigning them to a particular geographical area or allowing them to stay in a current assignment instead of being moved, the member may apply for a humanitarian reassignment or deferment under the provisions of AFI 36-2110. This instruction applies to both officer and enlisted members.

GENERAL POLICIES

- A move may not be made at government expense when it is based solely on humanitarian reasons. The determining factor is the needs of the Air Force.

- If the problem can be solved by the member taking ordinary or emergency leave, humanitarian deferment or reassignment will ordinarily not be granted.

- Requests will normally be disapproved when it is likely the problem will exist for an indefinite period of time.

- When the commander learns of a member with personal hardships who may be interested in applying for a humanitarian reassignment or deferment, he or she should first direct the member to AFI 36-2110. Following that, the member receives additional counseling from the local MPF assignments section, which will provide the member with the information needed to submit a formal application.

- Requests are submitted through the Total Force Service Center (TFSC) via vMPF with supporting documentation. The burden is on the applicant to provide sufficient justification for the request.

- HQ AFPC/DPAPPH is the approval/denial authority.

ELIGIBILITY

- To be eligible for a humanitarian action, several conditions must be met, including:

  -- A valid vacancy must exist at the new duty station and member must meet service retainability requirements for PCS.

  -- The problem must be more severe than those normally encountered by comparable Air Force members.

  -- The member’s presence is absolutely essential to alleviate the problem.

  -- The problem can be resolved within a reasonable period of time (normally 12 months).
CIRCUMSTANCES
- While not inclusive, requests substantiating problems arising from any of the following circumstances usually warrant approval:

  -- Recent death (within 12 months) of member’s spouse or child or stepchild under age 18, including miscarriage of 20 or more weeks gestation

  -- Serious financial problems not the result of overextension of personal military income that cannot be resolved by leave, correspondence, power of attorney, or other person or means

  -- Terminal illness of family member when death is imminent within two years

  -- State law requires presence to complete adoption procedures

  -- Successful establishment or operation of an effective family advocacy program

  -- Spouse abandons dependents while the service member is serving an unaccompanied overseas tour

  -- Sexual abuse or assault of a dependent when it would be detrimental to stay in the area where the incident occurred

- Service members who file an unrestricted report of sexual assault have the option of requesting a temporary or permanent expedited transfer to a different command or installation

  -- The Wing Commander must act on the request within 72 hours of receiving the request

  -- If the request is disapproved, the first general officer in the chain of command must review the decision. DoDI 6495.02, Enclosure 5

The Air Force Urinalysis Program

The purpose of the Air Force urinalysis program is to assist commanders in ensuring their troops are mission ready by deterring Air Force members from using illegal drugs and other illicit substances.

Objectives
- Identifying individuals who use and abuse illegal drugs and other illicit substances
- Providing a basis for action, adverse or otherwise, against a member based on a positive test result
- Enhance mission readiness and foster a drug free environment through a comprehensive program of education, prevention, deterrence and community outreach in support of the President’s National Drug Control Strategy

Procedures
- Close command coordination with legal, law enforcement, and other agencies is required for an effective urinalysis program
  -- Carefully controlled and standardized collection, storage, and shipment procedures, supported by a legally defensible chain of custody, are required by directive and instruction to ensure the integrity of the program
  -- By failing to follow proper procedures, use of urinalysis test results in Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) or administrative actions may be limited or, in some cases, prohibited

Air Force Drug Testing Laboratory (AFDTL)
-- With the exception of urine samples tested for steroids and other nonstandard drugs of abuse, all Air Force member urine samples are tested at the Air Force Drug Testing Laboratory (AFDTL), Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, Texas. Testing for all drugs is coordinated through the AFDTL.
  -- The AFDTL can test for the presence of cocaine, marijuana, amphetamine/methamphetamine, designer or analog amphetamines (to include MDMA [Ecstasy], MDA and MDEA), 6-MAM (heroin metabolite), opiates (codeine, morphine, hydrocodone, hydromorphone), benzodiazepines, and opioids (oxycodone, oxymorphone)
-- The AFDTL uses a DoD prescribed combination of analytic techniques to determine whether or not samples are positive for various drugs
-- Each sample must undergo at least two tests before it may be considered positive: screen and confirmation

-- The screen test is conducted using immunoassay testing

-- Gas chromatography/mass spectrometry (GC/MS) is used for all confirmation testing

-- The DoD prescribes a minimum level beyond which a test is reported as positive. Only samples that test positive above the DoD minimum level on every test are reported as positive. Samples not testing positive on any screen or on the confirmation test are discarded.

Urinalysis Testing

- In addition to unit administered random drug testing, there are five common situations that may require urinalysis testing. Each of these has its own legal considerations for when it can be taken and how it can be used. These include consent, probable cause, commander-directed, inspection, and medical care.

-- Consent

--- Prior to a probable cause or commander-directed urinalysis test, the member should first be asked if he or she will consent to a urinalysis test

--- When practicable, consent should be given in writing, utilizing the AF IMT 1364

--- You are not required to give Article 31, UCMJ, rights prior to asking for consent. However, evidence that a member was read these rights may be used to help demonstrate that consent was truly voluntary.

--- Always coordinate with the SJA prior to obtaining a urine sample through consent

--- Results may be used for UCMJ or administrative actions, including adverse characterization of administrative discharges

-- Probable Cause

--- To have probable cause there must be a reasonable belief illegal drugs, or drug metabolites, will be present in the individual's urine

--- Requires a search and seizure authorization from a military magistrate or a neutral and detached commander with authority over the person being searched to seize a urine specimen
--- Always coordinate with the SJA prior to obtaining a urine sample through a probable cause search

--- Results may be used for UCMJ or administrative actions, including adverse characterization of administrative discharges

-- Commander-Directed

--- Appropriate where the member displays strange, bizarre, or unlawful behavior or where the commander suspects or has reason to believe drugs may be present, but probable cause does not exist

--- Drug rehabilitation testing is commander-directed

--- Results obtained through commander-directed testing can be used as a basis for administrative discharge action (honorable discharge only) or to support administrative actions such as letters of reprimand and promotion propriety actions

--- Commander-directed test results cannot be used to take UCMJ action, such as court-martial or Article 15, or to adversely characterize administrative discharges

-- Inspection

--- Urine specimens may be ordered and collected as part of an inspection under Military Rule of Evidence 313(b)

--- The primary purpose of an inspection is to determine and ensure the security, military fitness, or good order and discipline of the unit. This may include an inspection to determine whether the command is functioning properly, if proper standards of readiness are maintained, and if personnel are present, fit and ready for duty.

--- Sometimes called a unit sweep, an entire unit or a part of the unit may be inspected, or you may participate in a base-wide random selection process

--- Individual members may not be singled out for inspection

--- Do not use an inspection when you suspect a specific individual of drug abuse. Consult the SJA for more appropriate options.

--- Coordinate inspections with the installation drug demand reduction program manager. Do not announce the inspection in advance to those being inspected.
Inspection testing is the best deterrent presently available against drug abuse.

Results may be used for UCMJ or administrative actions, including adverse characterization of administrative discharges.

Medical Care

A urine specimen collected as part of a patient’s routine or emergency medical treatment, including a routine physical, may be subjected to urinalysis drug testing.

Results may be used for UCMJ or administrative actions, including adverse characterization of administrative discharges.

Positive Results

- Upon receipt of a report of a positive test, regardless of the category of test used, immediately contact the SJA.

- Upon notification of a positive urinalysis test, AFOSI or SFS will schedule an interview with the member. DO NOT advise the member in advance of the interview or of the positive test result.

Actions Authorized by Positive Drug Test Results

NOTES:
1. Administrative actions include, but are not limited to, letters of admonishment, counseling and reprimand, denial of re-enlistment, removal from PRP, removal from duties involving firearms, removal from flying status or sensitive duties, suspension of security clearance, and removal of restricted area badges. If there are any questions regarding actions authorized for positive drug test results, consult the local servicing staff judge advocate.

2. Inspections under Mil. R. Evid. 313(b) include those under the installation’s random urinalysis drug testing program and unit sweeps.

3. Probable cause tests are authorized searches and seizures ordered by a military magistrate or commander (See Mil. R. Evid. 315 and 316).

4. Absent probable cause, commander directed results may not be used for disciplinary action under the UCMJ or to characterize service under administrative separation. Exception: Commander directed results may be offered for impeachment purposes or in rebuttal when a member first introduces evidence to infer or support a claim of non use of drugs.

5. Members may not be disciplined under the UCMJ when they legitimately self-identify for drug abuse and enter the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) Program. In the interests of safety and security, commanders may initiate non-adverse administrative actions such as removal from flying status or, PRP, or terminating restricted area badges, etc. Individuals in the ADAPT Program may also be disciplined under the UCMJ when independent evidence of drug use is obtained.

6. Specimens from an exam for a valid medical purpose may be used for any lawful purpose.

Generally
- Do you brief the consequences of drug abuse at commander’s calls? Do you consult the SJA before you do so? Do you invite a judge advocate to speak?
- Do you ensure that all military members, regardless of rank or status, are subject to inspection testing?
- Do you restrict knowledge of unit or random inspections only to those individuals with a “need-to-know”?

Personnel
- Are tests coordinated with the drug demand reduction program manager (DDRPM)?
- Do you coordinate all inspections and searches (i.e., unit sweeps, consent, probable cause, and commander-directed testing) with the SJA?
- Have you chosen credible people to serve as urinalysis observers in the program in accordance with AFI 44-120?
  -- Have you reviewed the personnel information files (PIFs) of the observers and determined they have no UIF, history of conviction by prior courts-martial or civilian court, Article 15s, LORs, or similar administrative action for misconduct involving dishonesty, fraud, or drug abuse?
  -- Have you ensured no observer has any pending action, either UCMJ or administrative?
  -- Do all observers have more than six months remaining time in service until either separation or retirement from active duty?
  -- Have you ensured that observers have no medical or mental health conditions which could prevent them from performing observer duties?
  -- Are observers either commissioned officers or noncommissioned officers (NCOs)? If SrA are selected, have you obtained the concurrence of the SJA?
-- Are there enough observers, both male and female, to accommodate the number of individuals being tested? Have arrangements been made for additional observers to meet unexpected requirements?

-- Have you ensured that no observer is assigned to work in any legal office?

- Have you appointed credible trusted agents to notify individuals for testing?

-- Have you reviewed the PIFs of the trusted agents and determined they have no UIF, history of conviction by prior courts-martial or civilian court, Article 15s, LORs, or similar administrative action for misconduct involving dishonesty, fraud or drug abuse?

-- Have you ensured that no trusted agent has any pending action, either UCMJ or administrative?

Notifications

- Do you personally sign the written order to each member directing each inspection?

  -- If not, are you personally aware of the identity of each member who has been randomly selected before a pre-signed letter (by you) is issued to the member by the Trusted Agent?

- Do you notify members no sooner than two hours prior to collection time?

  -- Do you require each member to properly acknowledge (date, time and member signature), in writing, receipt of the order?

  -- If a member refuses to acknowledge receipt of the order, does the person serving the order document the member's refusal?

- Do you ensure copies of such orders are maintained within the unit?

- Do you ensure that all members selected for testing report to the collection site within the designated collection time on the written order?

- Do you make sure shift workers or personnel on scheduled “days off” report for testing on their next duty day?
Other Considerations

- Do you make sure members who are unavailable for testing due to leave, pass, TDY, quarters, flying status, crew-rest, missile duty, or non-duty status are tested upon return of the member to duty? Do you coordinate this with the DDRPM?

- Do you seek advice and assistance from the SJA regarding members who fail or refuse to provide a sample?

- Do you immediately contact the SJA for advice and assistance regarding all positive test results?
CHAPTER SEVEN  Personnel Issues for the Commander—Military Members

FRAternization and Unprofessional Relationships

Overview
- AFI 36-2909, Professional and Unprofessional Relationships, sets out a detailed discussion of Air Force policy concerning fraternization and unprofessional relationships.

- Professional relationships are essential to the effective operation of all organizations. The nature of the military mission requires absolute confidence in command and an unhesitating adherence to orders that may result in inconvenience, hardships, or, at time, injury or death.

- Personal relationships become matters of official concern when they adversely affect or have the reasonable potential to adversely affect the Air Force by eroding morale, good order, discipline, respect for authority, unit cohesion, or mission accomplishment.

Unprofessional Relationships
- Unprofessional relationships, whether pursued on or off-duty, are those relationships that detract from the authority of superiors or result in, or reasonably create the appearance of, favoritism, misuse of office or position, or the abandonment of organizational goals for personal interests.

- Unprofessional relationships can exist between officers, between enlisted members, between officers and enlisted members, and between military personnel and civilian employees or contractor personnel.

- Certain kinds of personal relationships present a high risk of becoming unprofessional.
  -- Familiar relationships in which one member exercises supervisory or command authority.
  -- Shared living accommodations, vacations, transportation, or off-duty interests on a frequent or recurring basis in the absence of any official purpose or organizational benefit.

- Tailored rules for unprofessional relationships exist in the recruiting, training, and education environments.

- All military members share responsibility for maintaining professional relationships, but the senior member in a personal relationship bears primary responsibility.

Fraternity
- Fraternization is an aggravated form of unprofessional relationship. It is a personal relationship between an officer and an enlisted member which violates the customary bounds of acceptable behavior in the Air Force and prejudices good order and discipline, discredits the armed services, or operates to the personal disgrace or dishonor of the officer involved.
The following officer conduct is specifically prohibited by AFI 36-2909, and may be prosecuted under Article 92, UCMJ, Article 133, UCMJ, and/or Article 134, UCMJ, with reasonable accommodation of married members or members related by blood or marriage:

-- Officers will not gamble with enlisted members

-- Officers will not lend money to, borrow money from, or otherwise become indebted to enlisted members

--- An exception exists for infrequent, non-interest-bearing loans of small amounts to meet exigent circumstances (e.g., an individual who forgets his/her wallet or purse and can’t pay for lunch at a unit function)

-- Officers will not engage in sexual relations with or date enlisted members. In dealing with officer/enlisted marriages, the evidence should be assessed. When evidence of fraternization exists, the fact that an officer and enlisted member subsequently marry does not preclude appropriate command action based on the prior fraternization.

-- Officers will not share living accommodations with enlisted members

-- Officers will not engage, on a personal basis, in business enterprises with enlisted members, or solicit or make solicited sales to enlisted members, except as permitted by the Joint Ethics Regulation

Command and Supervisory Responsibilities

- A commander or supervisor must take corrective action if a relationship is prohibited by AFI 36-2909 or is causing a degradation of morale, good order, discipline, or unit cohesion. Failure to take corrective action may lead to punishment of the commander or supervisor.

-- Action should normally be the least severe necessary to terminate the unprofessional aspects of the relationship

-- Counseling is often an effective first step in curtailting unprofessional relationships. However, the full spectrum of administrative actions should be considered. More serious cases may warrant nonjudicial punishment. Referral of charges to a court-martial is only appropriate in aggravated cases.

-- An order to cease the relationship, or the offensive portion of the relationship, can and should be given. Any order should be in writing, if possible.

-- Officers or enlisted members who violate orders are subject to UCMJ action

HAZING

Department of Defense policy recognizing the potential adverse effects hazing can have on morale, operational readiness, and mission accomplishment. Hazing is prohibited and should never be tolerated.

Definition
- Hazing is defined as any conduct whereby a military member without proper authority causes another military member, regardless of service or rank, to suffer or be exposed to any activity which is cruel, abusive, humiliating, oppressive, demeaning, or harmful
  - Physical contact is not necessary—verbal or psychological abuse will suffice
  - Soliciting or encouraging another to engage in such activity is also considered hazing
  - Hazing is typically associated with “rites of passage” or initiations
- Some examples include hitting or striking, tattooing, branding, shaving, “blood pinning,” and forcing alcohol consumption
- Hazing does not include authorized training of any sort, administrative corrective measures, or additional military instruction
- Actual or implied consent to hazing does not eliminate the perpetrator’s culpability

Command Action
- Commanders and senior NCOs must promptly and thoroughly investigate all allegations of hazing and take appropriate action if hazing is substantiated
- A commander’s options begin with counseling and reprimands and extend to court-martial for serious cases that involve assault, aggravated assault, maltreatment of subordinates, etc.
- Commanders must evaluate all activities that appear to be an initiation or “rite of passage” to ensure that the dignity and respect of all members is maintained

Punitive Regulations and the UCMJ
- Although the Secretary of Defense has authorized all services to incorporate this policy into a punitive regulation, the Air Force does not have such a regulation and there are no plans to incorporate the policy into such a regulation; however, the Air Force may pursue disciplinary action under the UCMJ for dereliction of duty or for the underlying misconduct, such as assault, battery, maltreatment of subordinates, etc.

The Military Commander and the Law

PERSONAL BANKRUPTCY

- Air Force members are required to meet financial obligations in a timely manner. However, the Air Force maintains a policy of strict neutrality with respect to bankruptcy.

-- Filing for bankruptcy protection is a statutory right of all citizens and does not provide a basis for adverse action

-- However, underlying misconduct associated with the circumstances leading to bankruptcy may be a proper basis for discipline

- The base legal office assists in the following two ways:

-- Legal assistance attorneys assist Air Force members and eligible beneficiaries with advice regarding personal bankruptcy

-- Legal office staff advises commanders whether disciplinary action is appropriate in a particular case. The staff judge advocate will resolve any potential conflicts of interest.

- As with any question of financial responsibility, the commander must balance the personal interests and well-being of the individual against the needs of good order and discipline. Bankruptcy is one way of dealing with financial problems responsibly. Unfortunately, it is often the result of actionable financial irresponsibility.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Air Force personnel are expected to satisfy their financial obligations in a proper and timely manner. Failure to do so can result in administrative or disciplinary action and/or the debt being paid involuntarily via official Air Force channels.

COMMANDER’S RESPONSIBILITIES
- In all cases involving allegations of financial irresponsibility, the commander is responsible for the following:
  -- Reviewing and assessing the basis of the complainant’s allegation
  -- Providing a copy of any pertinent “fact sheet,” (AFI attachment) to the parties
  -- Monitoring the processing of a complaint, attempting to respond within 15 days
  -- Advising the military member and the complainant that the Air Force has no authority to arbitrate disputed cases of nonsupport or personal indebtedness
  -- Ensuring information on contemplated or completed action is not disclosed to third parties
  -- Referring members with demonstrated financial irresponsibility to the appropriate base agency for assistance, normally through the Airmen and Family Readiness Center
  -- Considering whether an administrative or a disciplinary action is appropriate
  -- Coordinating the action with the appropriate base agencies (SJA, MPF, IG, etc.)
  -- Responding to inquiries from HQ AFPC High Level Inquiries Division (MSH)

FINANCIAL SUPPORT TO DEPENDENTS
- Members are expected to provide adequate financial support to their dependents
  -- The amount of support should be based on the family and the member’s ability to pay
  -- Support may be “in kind,” such as paying mortgage, car payments, or joint debts
  -- Members may not receive BAH at the “with dependent” rate if they do not provide financial support to their spouse or children
  -- Commanders cannot force a member to provide support or act as intermediaries
The Air Force can terminate allowances and recoup “with dependent” rate allowances for those periods of nonsupport of dependents.

Falsifying support documentation can result in disciplinary or administrative action.

Personal Debts to Federal Agencies

- Personal debts to the Air Force, federal agencies, or nonappropriated fund activities (including the BX, enlisted club, MWR, etc.) may be involuntarily deducted from a member’s pay.

Child Support and Alimony Payments

- State courts with jurisdiction over dependent children or a state agency with the proper authority can order child support payments.

  -- Complainant obtains the garnishment order from a state court over the military member and serves it on the Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS).

  -- DFAS notifies the military member of the garnishment order.

  -- Military member may provide DFAS with additional information concerning their cases or status of arrearages.

  -- Air Force has no authority to dispute an order and, if it appears valid, normally must honor it.

  -- Alimony payments can also be satisfied through a garnishment order.

- Child support can additionally be secured through a statutory allotment.

  -- Statutory allotments are initiated by a complainant or a state agency/attorney, who can establish a support obligation and arrearages greater or equal to two months.

  -- DFAS is responsible for notifying the commander or the military member.

  -- The commander should ensure the military member has access to legal assistance at the base legal office.

  -- Allotment goes into effect 30 days after the notice was sent to the military member.

  -- DFAS can decline to act if the member can demonstrate the request is inaccurate.
Third Party Allotments

- A third party can secure an involuntary allotment from a military member to satisfy a final judgment from a court with jurisdiction over the parties

  -- DFAS notifies the commander, who provides a copy of the package to the member

  -- The commander apprises the member on his/her rights and obligations, including the right to speak with an attorney

  -- The military member is provided 90 days to respond, which can be extended by the commander for good cause (normally not to exceed 30 days)

  -- If the military member consents to the allotment, the commander returns the completed forms to DFAS

  -- If the allotment is contested, the member must fully explain and support the reasons contesting the allotment

  -- In some cases a member may assert that military exigencies prevented them from adequately responding during the legal proceeding

    --- The commander makes this determination and the decision is binding on DFAS

    --- Before making this decision, the commander should contact the legal office

  -- If the member contests the allotment on any basis other than military exigencies, DFAS will review the case and make a final decision

BAD CHECKS

Every check, draft, or money order carries with it the promise of payment in full when presented. When a military member writes a check that fails to clear for payment, it may be necessary to take administrative or disciplinary action to correct the behavior.

- Consult with the legal office to determine if administrative or disciplinary action is appropriate

- Dishonored checks are evidence of personal indebtedness until redeemed

- If the incident is the first, or if it is relatively minor, counseling the member regarding Air Force policy and referral for professional counseling may be an appropriate first step to correct the behavior

-- Every base has programs in place that can help teach financial management to Air Force members experiencing difficulty in this area

-- Two such programs are the Personal Financial Management Program and the budget restructuring program (comptroller and/or Airman and Family Readiness Center)

- Repeated cases of dishonored checks, or a single instance involving a large amount of money, may be the basis for administrative action, such as a letter of reprimand, UIF, control roster, administrative separation, and/or involuntary deductions by DFAS for personal indebtedness to the federal government

- Writing bad checks can also qualify as criminal conduct under some circumstances. Criminal conduct prohibited by Articles 123a and 134, UCMJ, may be evident if the individual was:

  -- Procuring or making payment by check with intent to defraud

  -- Dishonorably failing to maintain sufficient funds to cover checks

  -- Making or delivering a check knowing that sufficient funds did not exist

  -- Evidence of knowledge and intent can be shown by proof of notice of a dishonored check and failure to make payment within 5 days after such notice

CHILD ABUSE, CHILD NEGLECT, AND SPOUSAL ABUSE

It is Air Force policy to prevent or minimize the impact of child abuse, child neglect, and spousal abuse and their associated problems. To further this policy, the Air Force attempts to identify abuse and neglect, document such cases, assess the situation, and assist the family. Commanders should take administrative or judicial action in appropriate cases.

The Family Advocacy Program (FAP) is responsible for implementing this policy. The FAP enhances Air Force readiness by promoting family and community health and resilience. The FAP consists of prevention services, maltreatment intervention, and research and evaluation.

REPORTING MALTREATMENT
- Notice of suspected abuse cases come from many sources: security forces blotter, commanders, co-workers, medical care providers, childcare providers, and anonymous calls

- All Air Force personnel, military or civilian, have a duty to report all incidents of suspected family maltreatment to FAP. The identity of the person making the notification is kept confidential and is not released to the family allegedly involved.

- Report suspected cases to the family advocacy officer (FAO), who will notify AFOSI. AFOSI is responsible for investigating all but minor incidents of maltreatment.

-- AFOSI accesses the Defense Clearance Investigations Index (DCII), which serves as a register of substantiated and suspected cases of abuse

-- AFOSI investigation preserves command prerogatives to take appropriate administrative or judicial actions

- Adult victims of domestic abuse have two reporting options:

-- Unrestricted Reporting: Allows the victim to report an incident using the chain of command, law enforcement or AFOSI, and family advocacy for clinical intervention. Victims who choose to pursue an official command or criminal investigation of an incident should use these reporting channels.

-- Restricted Reporting: Allows the victim, who is eligible to receive military medical care, the option of reporting an incident of domestic abuse to specified individuals for the purpose of receiving medical care and other services without initiating the investigative process or notification to the victim’s or alleged offender’s commander
THE FAMILY ADVOCACY COMMITTEE (FAC)
- The ultimate responsibility to implement the FAP rests with the installation commander. The medical treatment facility (MTF) commander, is responsible for each of the three FAP components, and chairs the FAC.

- Members of the FAC normally include: installation commander (or designee), MTF commander, FAO, family advocacy outreach manager, Airmen and family readiness director, staff judge advocate (or designee), chief of security forces, AFOSI detachment commander, chaplain, command chief master sergeant, Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA) representative, and representatives of local child protection agencies (optional)

- The FAO is the action officer for the FAP, and is a clinical social worker. The FAO coordinates the Central Registry Board (CRB) and chairs the clinical case staffing (CCS), Outreach Management Prevention Council (OPMC), child sexual maltreatment response team (CSMRT), high risk for violence response team (HRVRT), and the new parent support program (NPSP) case-staffing

THE CENTRAL REGISTRY BOARD (CRB)
- The CRB is a multidisciplinary team that makes administrative determinations for suspected family maltreatment. The CSS team manages clinical and safety issues.

- CRB meets at the call of the FAO, but at least monthly. Membership is determined by the FAC, but should include: AFOSI, JA, SFS, FAO, and other relevant agencies.

- Duties of the CRB include:
  -- Make incident status determinations (ISD) on each allegation of maltreatment within 60 days of referral
  -- Ensure involved adult family members receive notification of CRB ISDs
  -- Ensure both the adult victim and adult offender are notified of the ISD
  -- CRB discussions are confidential

- The unit commander of any member whose case will be discussed at the CRB should attend the CRB meeting
Child Sexual Maltreatment Response Team
- Membership includes the FAO, AFOSI representative, legal office representative, and other members appointed by the unit commander and approved by the FAC

- Goal of the team is to minimize the trauma to the victim and family and ensure no one individual agency makes decisions regarding these incidents independent of the concerns of other involved agencies

- The team coordinates a course of action by determining how organizations will proceed in making notifications, conducting interviews, scheduling exams, arranging for safety of family members, and conducting psycho-social assessments

High Risk for Violence Response Team
- Members include the FAO, FAP clinician working with the family, sponsor’s squadron commander, SJA, security forces representative, mental health clinic provider, AFOSI, victim advocate, and other agencies as appropriate

- Team is activated when there is a threat of immediate and serious harm to family members or FAP staff. Team addresses safety issues, risk factors, and develops and implements a management and tracking mechanism for high-risk individuals.

Child Neglect and Abandonment
- Most Air Force installations will have several cases each year of alleged child abuse or neglect through parental abandonment (i.e., leaving children alone in military family housing without adult supervision)

- Some installations have addressed this issue by having the FAC draft guidelines to assist parents in assessing whether a child is mature enough to be left unattended

- The FAC only proposes guidelines. Situations must be evaluated individually.

ADOPTION REIMBURSEMENT

The Defense Authorization Act of 1993 authorizes a military member (including Coast Guard personnel) to be reimbursed for certain adoption expenses up to $2,000 per adoption with a maximum of $5,000 in any calendar year.

REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES
- Members should contact their local military personnel flight (MPF), customer service section, for guidance and copies of the application forms (DD Form 2675). Once the application is assembled, MPF forwards the package to DFAS for review, decision, and payment.

- At the time of application, the member must be on active duty and have served at least 180 consecutive days of active duty. In addition, the following criteria must be met:
  -- The adoption must be final
  -- The application must be filed no later than one year after the adoption
  -- The member must be on active duty when the adoption becomes final and the application must be filed before the member is discharged

- The Act limits reimbursement to “qualifying” adoption expenses incurred by active duty military members
  -- A “qualifying” adoption includes an adoption by either married couples or a single person, of a child (under 18 years of age and not the biological offspring of the member), through a U.S. or an inter-country adoption; and, an adoption of a child with special needs (as defined by 42 U.S.C. § 673(c)). Adoption of a stepchild by a military member finalized after 2 November 2007, also are qualifying adoptions.

  -- The adoption must have been arranged through a state or local government agency or through a nonprofit, voluntary adoption agency, or other source authorized under state or local law

- The reimbursement is for “reasonable and necessary” adoption expenses, which include agency fees, placement fees, legal fees and court costs, certain medical expenses, and temporary foster care fees (when required by the adoption process). Travel costs are not reimbursed.
COMMANDER’S ROLE
- The unit commander certifies a claim’s validity and sends it to the MPF

- The MPF is the primary coordinating entity. It is responsible for assisting the member in assembling expense receipts and providing additional information on the program as well as furnishing the necessary forms and the DFAS instructions.

- DFAS reviews completed claims packages, determines if the adoption and associated expenses are eligible for reimbursement, and issues payment to the member. If the claim is denied, a letter stating such will be sent to the member. The claim documents will not be returned to the member.

TAX CREDIT
- As of 2014, taxpayers are able to claim a tax credit of up to $13,190 per child for qualified expenses and exclude up to $13,190 from income for qualified expenses. However, both the credit and exclusion cannot be taken for the same expenses.

- The maximum tax credit begins to phase out for a taxpayer whose modified adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds $197,880 and is completely phased out for modified AGI exceeding $237,880. The adoption credit is nonrefundable.

- Qualified adoption expenses consist of reasonable and necessary adoption fees, court costs, attorney fees, and other expenses which are directly related to the adoption of an eligible child

- The credit can be claimed even if the adoption is unsuccessful, except in the case of a foreign adoption. Expenses connected with a foreign adoption only qualify if the child is actually adopted.

PATERNITY CLAIMS

- If an individual claims an active duty member is the father of their child, the commander should:

  -- Counsel the member about the allegations, and

  -- Advise the member about the entitlement to legal assistance on legal rights and obligations

  --- If the member denies paternity, inform the claimant accordingly and advise them the Air Force does not have authority to adjudicate paternity claims

  --- If the member acknowledges paternity, advise the member of financial support obligations. Also, refer the member to the MPF, Customer Service Element, for guidance about the child’s eligibility for an ID card and to the finance office for guidance about “with dependent” rates.

- If the member does not establish paternity by his own admission, paternity can be established through a judicial order or a decree of paternity or child support order from a United States or foreign court of competent jurisdiction. If paternity is established, the commander should counsel the individual on his support obligations.

CIVILIAN JURY SERVICE BY MILITARY MEMBERS

- The commander determines whether the member should perform jury service pursuant to AFI 51-301. When an Air Force member on active duty receives a summons to state or local jury duty, the member should inform his/her immediate commander. Not every military member is exempt from jury service.

- For the purpose of jury service, “active duty” includes full-time duty in the active military service, full-time training duty, annual training duty, active duty for training, and attending a service school while on active military service.

EXEMPTION FROM JURY SERVICE

- Categorical Exemption: All general officers, commanders, operating forces (forces whose primary missions are participating in and supporting combat), personnel in training, and personnel stationed outside the U.S. are categorically exempt from serving on a state or local jury.

- General Exemption (Not Categorical): For all other personnel, the commander determines whether jury duty would unreasonably interfere with military duties or adversely affect the readiness of a unit, command or activity. This authority to determine such exemptions is pursuant to 10 U.S.C. § 982 and delegated to the special court-martial convening authority (SPCMCA) by the SecAF.

PROCEDURES

- If the member is categorically exempt, the immediate commander or designee notifies the issuing state or local official by written notice (complying with the format in AFI 51-301).

- If the member is generally (but not categorically) exempt, the immediate commander decides whether jury duty would unreasonably interfere with military duties or adversely affect the readiness of a unit, command or activity.

  -- If jury duty would not unreasonably interfere with military duties or adversely affect the readiness of a unit, command or activity, the member must perform jury duty.

  -- If the immediate commander decides jury duty would unreasonably interfere with military duties or adversely affect the readiness of a unit, command or activity, the immediate commander requests approval of the exemption from the SPCMCA using the criteria in AFI 51-301.
--- The SPCMCA may then decide whether:

--- Exemption is inappropriate and instruct the member to comply with the jury summons

--- Exemption is appropriate, and direct the immediate commander to send a written notice of exemption to the issuing state or local official complying with AFI 51-301

--- The SPCMCA's determination is final

- Time spent by military members on jury duty service should not be charged against them as leave

- Pay or entitlements should not be deducted for the period of jury service

Fees and Reimbursement

--- Military members are not entitled to keep any fees for jury service; those fees should be made payable to the U.S. Treasury and turned in at Finance

--- Military members may receive and keep reimbursement from the state or local jury authority for expenses incurred in the performance of jury duty, such as transportation costs or parking fees

ACQUIRED IMMUNE DEFICIENCY SYNDROME (AIDS)

MEDICAL BACKGROUND
- Human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection is a viral disease involving the breakdown of the body’s immune system
- AIDS is an advanced stage of HIV infection, where there is evidence of immune deficiency by illness or laboratory traits
- Medical experts believe the nonsexual person-to-person contact that occurs among workers in the workplace does NOT pose a risk for transmitting the virus

AIDS AND MILITARY MEMBERS
- Testing: The Air Force tests all members for antibodies to HIV, medically evaluates all infected members, and educates members on means of prevention
  - All applicants for the Air Force are screened for the HIV infection. Applicants infected with HIV are ineligible to join the Air Force, with no waiver authorized.
  - All active duty personnel are screened for HIV infection every two years, preferably during their Preventive Health Assessment, for clinically indicated reasons; with newly diagnosed active tuberculosis; during pregnancy, when diagnosed with a sexually transmitted disease; upon entry to drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs, and prior to incarceration
  - Air Reserve Component (ARC) personnel are screened for HIV infection every two years, preferably during their PHA and must be tested within two years of the date called to active duty for 30 days or more
  - An active duty member testing positive for HIV is referred to San Antonio Military Medical Center (SAMMC) at Joint Base San Antonio for medical evaluation and to determine status for continued military service
  - HIV-infected active duty members retained on active duty must be medically evaluated annually and are assigned within the United States, including Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. HIV-infected members shall not be assigned to OCONUS mobility positions. HIV-infected members on flying status must be placed on Duty Not Involving Flying (DNIF) status pending medical evaluation.
  - Waivers are considered using normal procedures established for chronic diseases
- Testing Confidentiality: Air Force policy strictly safeguards results of positive HIV testing

  -- There is no release to persons outside the Air Force without the member's consent

  -- The Air Force will neither confirm nor deny testing results of specific service members

  -- Very limited release within Air Force on “need-to-know” basis only (i.e., unit commanders should not inform First Sergeants and/or supervisors unless a determination is made that those individuals truly need to know)

- Adverse Administrative Actions: Information obtained by DoD as a result of epidemiological assessment (EA) with member who has been identified as having been exposed to virus associated with AIDS MAY NOT be used to support any adverse personnel action against member

  -- Adverse personnel actions includes court-martial; nonjudicial punishment; line of duty determination; demotion; involuntary separation for other than medical reasons; denial of promotion or reenlistment; and unfavorable entry in a personnel record

  -- Nonadverse personnel actions in which limits on use of epidemiological assessment results do not apply include: reassignment; disqualification (temporary or permanent) from the Personnel Reliability Program (PRP); denial, suspension, or revocation of security clearance; suspension or termination of access to classified information; transfer between Reserve components; removal (temporary or permanent) from flight status or other duties requiring high degree of stability or alertness; and removal of AFSC

  -- These nonadverse actions CANNOT be accompanied by unfavorable entries in service member's records

- Safe Sex Orders: “Order to Follow Preventive Medicine Requirements” is issued to all HIV-positive personnel who remain on active duty

  --- The health care provider will notify member that he or she has tested positive. The member’s unit commander will also be notified through separate channels.

  --- The unit commander issues the order to follow preventive medicine requirements

  --- The order should be signed and dated by the commander and member

  --- The unit commander is responsible for confidentially safeguarding the order

  --- Upon reassignment, unit commander forwards the order in a sealed envelope to the gaining commander marked “TO BE OPENED BY ADDRESSEE ONLY”
- Disability Evaluation and Medical Separation: HIV positive members who show no evidence of illness or impairment shall not be separated solely on basis of being infected with the AIDS virus. Medical retirement is, however, a strong possibility once member develops AIDS.

-- A member subject to separation undergoes a Medical Evaluation Board (MEB), then an Informal Physical Evaluation Board (PEB) to determine whether he or she should be retained on active duty or separated from the service because he or she is “unfit” for continued service. The member has appeal rights to appear personally before a Formal PEB and also to appeal to the Air Force Personnel Council.

-- The member may be simply separated with a medical severance lump sum payment or temporarily or permanently medically retired with monthly medical retirement pay depending on the Board’s recommendations and the final action by SecAF.

-- Placement on the Temporary Disability Retirement List (TDRL) is termed a temporary retirement because the member is reevaluated every 18 months to determine if fit for return to active duty or unfit and to be separated or retired. Maximum time on TDRL is 5 years.

-- The member may voluntarily separate upon request

Military Justice/Policy Issues
- A service member who knows he or she is HIV positive but engages in sexual intercourse with another can be punished under the UCMJ for:

-- Engaging in unprotected sexual intercourse with another

-- Violating a “safe sex” order

-- Failing to warn sexual partner about HIV status, despite wearing a condom (merely taking “safe sex” precautions won’t remove the duty to warn)

-- Having unprotected sexual intercourse even though the partner is aware of the member’s HIV status, and consents

AIDS and Air Force Civilian Employees
- The Air Force does not test Air Force civilian employees for AIDS, except for those civilian employees (appropriated or nonappropriated) selected for assignment overseas who will be screened for HIV infection pursuant to host country requirements. This screening does not apply to contractor personnel, family members or foreign nationals. Civilian employees are also tested for occupational exposures.
AIDS is a disability under federal civil rights laws, and these laws prohibit discrimination on the basis of physical or mental disability. Under these laws, disabled employees could recover back pay, compensatory damages, attorney fees, costs, and expert fees against liable employers.

In March 1988, the U.S. Office of Personnel Management issued the following guidelines in the Federal Personnel Manual Bulletin 792-42, for federal agencies on handling AIDS in the federal workplace

-- Extensive AIDS Information and Education Programs must exist

-- HIV-positive employees may not be denied employment or fired provided they are able to continue working (their privacy and confidentiality must be protected)

-- Employees should be granted the same sick, annual leave, or leave without pay as other employees with medical conditions (accommodation of handicap)

-- Employees are eligible to receive disability retirement if medical condition warrants and they have the required number of years

-- If an employee refuses to work with infected employees, he will receive information and counseling, and if he still refuses may be disciplined

Anthrax Immunizations

In general, Air Force Instruction (AFI) 48-110 sets forth the requirements and procedures for the immunization program. Commanders are responsible for ensuring that all military and nonmilitary personnel under their jurisdiction receive all required immunizations. However, anthrax immunizations are controlled by the Department of Defense Anthrax Vaccine Immunization Program (AVIP).

Background

- Anthrax is 99 percent lethal to unprotected individuals; inhalation of the disease causes severe pneumonia and death within a week; at least 10 countries are believed to possess the biological agent

- Immunization consists of three injections given two weeks apart, followed by three injections given at the 6, 12, and 18 month point; thereafter booster shots are required every year

- On 15 December 2005, after reviewing extensive scientific evidence and carefully considering comments from the public, the FDA determined that anthrax vaccine adsorbed is licensed for the prevention of anthrax infection

- On 12 October 2006, the Deputy Secretary of Defense directed resumption of a mandatory AVIP for military and civilian personnel in higher risk areas or with special mission roles

Air Force Implementation of Resumption of AVIP

  -- Uniformed personnel serving in the U.S. Central Command (USCENTCOM) Area of Responsibility (AOR) or the Korean Peninsula for 15 or more consecutive days

  -- Uniformed DoD personnel designated as early deployers to the Korean Peninsula for 15 or more consecutive days

  -- Emergency-essential and equivalent DoD civilian employees assigned for 15 or more consecutive days to the USCENTCOM AOR or to the Korean Peninsula

  -- DoD contractor personnel carrying out mission-essential services and assigned for 15 or more consecutive day to the USCENTCOM AOR or Korea

  -- Members of all special groups covered by previously approved exceptions to policy
Other personnel designated by the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs, upon recommendation of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Secretary of a Military Department or the Commandant of the Coast Guard, based on critical mission assignments

- Individuals in the designated mandatory population cannot decline the vaccination

- Voluntary Anthrax vaccinations will be available for those who already started the vaccine series but are no longer deployed to a higher threat area or no longer assigned designated special mission roles

Installation Commanders will ensure compliance with the AVIP

- Maintain oversight and ownership of the installations AVIP implementation program

- Develop and implement an installation AVIP implementation plan consistent with the Under Secretary of Defense and USAF plan for implementation

- Designate, in writing, a senior line officer as the installation AVIP team chairperson to oversee continued operation of the installation AVIP team

- Direct the Medical Treatment Facility Commander to designate, in writing, a medical officer-in-charge to coordinate the medical administrative and clinical functions of the AVIP

- Ensure personnel receive education on the AVIP prior to receiving or administering Anthrax vaccinations

  --- Provide a copy of the AVIP tri-fold brochure (dated 12 October 2006, or later) to all personnel subject to mandatory vaccinations or those eligible for voluntary vaccinations

  --- Recommend supplementing the tri-fold brochure with a briefing to unit personnel

- Vaccinations can begin up to 120 days prior to the scheduled departure date

ENFORCEMENT OF AVIP

- Requirement for military members to take the anthrax vaccine is a lawful order

- If a member indicates they will refuse or has refused the vaccine

  -- Determine why member is reluctant
-- Provide member with appropriate education

--- Concerns about vaccine safety should be referred to the supporting medical organization

--- Concerns about the threat should be addressed by intelligence personnel

--- If the member is still reluctant after additional education, send the member to the area defense counsel (ADC) for an explanation of the potential consequences of their refusal

-- Following appropriate counseling, commanders should again order the individual to take the vaccine

-- If the member continues to refuse, consult with the staff judge advocate for appropriate action

CHAPTER SEVEN  Personnel Issues for the Commander—Military Members  303

COMMANDER DIRECTED MENTAL HEALTH EVALUATIONS

PURPOSE
Commanders who have concerns that a member under their command may be suffering from a legitimate mental health problem that may affect that member’s ability to carry out the mission, may refer the member to the mental health clinic for a mental health evaluation (MHE).

- DoDI 6490.4 establishes the uses of and procedures for commander directed MHEs
  -- Provides commanders guidance on making a referral
  -- Establishes the rights of service members referred for mental health evaluations
  -- Establishes procedures for outpatient and inpatient mental health evaluations
- AFI 44-109 also provides guidance on mental health issue
  -- Establishes the limited privilege suicide prevention (LPSP) program for members facing potential disciplinary action under the UCMJ who may be at risk of suicide. The details of LPSP are contained in a separate article.

COMMANDER’S RESPONSIBILITIES
- A commander or supervisor who wishes to refer a member for a MHE must:
  -- Refer a member only if he or she believes the individual has a legitimate mental health problem
    --- A commander cannot refer a member simply to buy time or as a disciplinary tool
    --- A commander cannot refer a member as a reprisal for the individual’s attempt or intent to make a protected communication
  -- Consult with a mental health provider (MHP) concerning the need for a MHE prior to referring the member for a MHE
  -- Provide the member with written notice of the MHE at least two days prior to the referral. The notice must include:
    --- The date and time of the MHE
    --- A brief factual description of the behavior that gave rise to the need for a referral
    --- The name of the MHP the commander consulted with prior to the referral
--- Contact information as to the authorities that can assist the member who wants to question the referral

--- A listing of the member’s rights

-- Consult the legal office for assistance in preparing the notification letter

-- In an emergency situation, refer the individual for a MHE as soon as possible without regard to waiting periods or other things that might delay the evaluation

Member’s Rights
- When referred for a nonemergency MHE the member has the following rights:

  -- To request a second MHE by another MHP

  -- To make a lawful communication to the IG, his/her attorney, or other appropriate authority, including the chaplain (as soon after admission as the service member’s condition permits in emergency referrals)

- If the member is involuntarily hospitalized for treatment, that treatment must take place in a setting no more restrictive than necessary for effective treatment

Involuntary Inpatient Admissions
- A member should be admitted for inpatient treatment only when outpatient treatment and evaluation is not appropriate

  -- The member must be admitted by a qualified MHP

  -- A qualified reviewing official (normally a neutral and detached MHP) must review the admission within 72 hours to determine whether the referral and admission were appropriate

  -- The reviewing official will review the case file, interview the authorities involved and interview the member, if possible

- In addition, members involuntarily admitted for treatment are afforded the following rights:

  -- To be informed of the reasons for the MHE and of the nature and consequences of the MHE and any treatment to the extent his/her condition permits

  -- To contact a friend, relative, or anyone else the member wishes to the extent the member’s condition permits such communication
- The MHP who conducts the initial MHE must:

  -- Determine within two workdays (i.e., the MHP’s normal duty day) whether continued treatment or hospitalization is necessary; and

  -- Notify the member orally and in writing of the reasons for continued hospitalization or treatment

Prohibited Practices

- The commander MAY NOT:

  -- Refer a member for a MHE as a reprisal for making a protected communication

  -- Restrict the member from lawfully communicating with his/her attorney, the IG, or other authority about the referral

- Either act by the commander could constitute a violation of Article 92, UCMJ, and result in disciplinary action

- Commander directed MHEs should not be confused with referrals under the alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment program (AFI 44-121), the family advocacy program (AFI 40-301), or those referrals made pursuant to a ruling from a military judge concerning the administration of a sanity board

LIMITED PRIVILEGE SUICIDE PREVENTION PROGRAM

PURPOSE
- Commanders who have concerns that a member under their command who is facing disciplinary action may be at risk of suicide, can refer the member to the mental health clinic for a mental health evaluation (MHE). Under limited circumstances, confidences revealed during such consultations may be kept confidential between the patient and the mental health provider.

-- The objective of the program is to identify and treat those members who pose a genuine risk of suicide by providing limited confidentiality with respect to their discussions with a mental health provider (MHP)

-- AFI 44-109 is the governing instruction for the program. This instruction:

--- Provides guidance for commanders who wish to make a referral

--- Establishes the rights of Air Force members referred by their commanders for mental health evaluations

--- Establishes a limited confidential privilege between the MHP and the patient

- This program operates in conjunction with the guidance on commander directed MHEs

APPLICATION AND PROCEDURES
- Eligible Members: The Limited Privilege Suicide Prevention (LPSP) Program applies to those military members who have been officially notified (written or oral) that they are under investigation or suspected of violating the UCMJ

- Initiation:

-- After official notification, if an individual involved in the processing of the disciplinary action has a good faith belief the member being disciplined may present a risk of suicide, the individual shall communicate that fact to the member’s immediate commander along with a recommendation for a MHE and treatment in the LPSP program

-- Individuals involved in the processing of the disciplinary action who would be in a position to make this assessment include, but are not limited to, the defense counsel, the trial counsel, law enforcement officials, the staff judge advocate or any assistant staff judge advocate, the first sergeant, or the squadron executive officer
Based on the information provided by such an individual and upon any other relevant information and after consultation with an MHP, the commander may refer the member for an MHE.

The procedures and rights associated with MHEs apply to such a referral.

The MHP conducting the evaluation determines if the member poses a risk of suicide and, if so, initiates treatment.

Duration:

The limited protection offered by this program lasts only so long as the MHP believes there is a continuing risk of suicide.

The MHP must notify the commander when the member no longer poses a risk of suicide.

The limited protection offered under the program ends at that time.

Though the instruction does not make this clear, as a practical matter, it appears the initial evaluation would be subject to that privilege even if the MHP determines afterward that the member does not pose a risk of suicide.

Limited Protection

Members in the program are granted limited protection with respect to the information revealed during or generated by their clinical relationship with the MHP. Any such information may not be used in any existing or future UCMJ action or when weighing the characterization of the member’s service in a separation.

The limited protection does not apply to:

The use of the information as evidence for impeachment or rebuttal purposes in any proceeding in which the information generated by and during the LPSP relationship was first introduced by the member concerned.

Disciplinary or other action based on independently derived evidence.

Any information gathered by the MHP or other provider prior to placement in the program or after release from the program (except for later created summaries/documents which pertain to treatment under the LPSP Program).
Related Issue

- Any confidential communication which a military member has with a psychotherapist may be privileged regardless of whether the member has been enrolled in the LPSP Program according to Military Rule of Evidence (M.R.E.) 513

  -- M.R.E. 513 offers a limited privilege to persons subject to the UCMJ. A patient has a privilege to refuse to disclose and to prevent any other person from disclosing a confidential communication made between the patient and a psychotherapist or an assistant to the psychotherapist, in a case arising under the UCMJ, if such communication was made for the purpose of facilitating diagnosis or treatment of the patient’s mental or emotional condition.

  -- “M.R.E. 513 has no application outside UCMJ proceedings.” However, disclosure should be limited to “persons or agencies with a proper and legitimate need for the information and authorized by law or regulation to receive them.” SJAs resolve disputes and determine whether disclosure should be made.

  -- The privilege may be claimed by the patient or the guardian or conservator of the patient. A person who may claim the privilege may authorize trial counsel or defense counsel to claim the privilege on his/her behalf. The psychotherapist or assistant to the psychotherapist who received the communication may claim the privilege on behalf of the patient. The authority of such a psychotherapist, assistant, guardian, or conservator to so assert the privilege is presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

  -- Exceptions:

    --- The patient is dead

    --- Crimes of child abuse/neglect or a proceeding in which one spouse is charged with a crime against a child of either spouse

    --- When federal or state law, or service regulation, imposes a duty to report

    --- When the patient is a danger to any person, including the patient

    --- If the communication contemplates, or the services of the psychotherapist are sought to commit, a future fraud/crime

    --- When necessary to ensure the safety and security of military personnel, military dependents, military property, classified information, or the accomplishment of a military mission
When an accused offers evidence concerning his mental condition in defense, extenuation, or mitigation, under circumstances not covered by Rule for Courts-Martial (R.C.M.) 706 or M.R.E. 302

- Confidential communications will be disclosed to persons or agencies with a proper and legitimate need for the information who are authorized by law to receive it (except as provided by M.R.E. 513)

- In cases not arising under the UCMJ, psychotherapists may appeal requests for confidential information to the installation staff judge advocate (SJA)

- When applying M.R.E. 513, the installation SJA will resolve any questions of whether an exception to M.R.E. 513 requires or allows disclosure. Admissibility at trial will be determined by the military judge.

- Before inquiring with care providers, commanders should consult with their servicing SJA

HEALTH INSURANCE PORTABILITY AND ACCOUNTABILITY ACT (HIPAA)

INTRODUCTION
- In 1996, Congress enacted HIPAA to improve portability and continuity of health insurance coverage, to combat waste, fraud and abuse in health care delivery, and to improve access to long-term care services and coverage

- The statute has several components. One component, the Privacy Rule, specifically provides for increased privacy protection of protected health information (PHI). The HIPAA Security Rule addresses the use of technology and physical safeguards required to protect information.

- The DoD has implemented the Privacy Rule through the DoD Health Information Privacy Regulation, DoD 6025.18-R and the HIPAA Security Rule in the DoD Health Information Security Regulation, DoD 8580.02-R

- HIPAA’s Privacy Rule applies to organizations that meet the definition of “covered entities.” Covered entities include healthcare providers and healthcare facilities. This means that Air Force medical treatment facilities (MTFs) must comply with HIPAA whenever they use or disclose medical information. Commanders are not considered “covered entities,” under HIPAA but medical information they receive from the covered entity is still subject to the Privacy Act.

- HIPAA does not create a private cause of action for violations, but the Department of Health and Human Services has authority to impose civil fines on covered entities and to pursue criminal actions for individual violations of the Privacy Rule; Air Force personnel in the covered entity are also subject to UCMJ or administrative actions for HIPAA violations

PRIVACY RULE
- The general prohibition under HIPAA is that the PHI of individuals, living or deceased, shall not be used or disclosed except for specifically permitted purposes

- PHI is information transmitted or maintained by electronic or any other form or medium, that tells someone about the past, present, or future health of an individual; the provision of healthcare to an individual; or the past, present or future payment for the provision of healthcare to an individual when the information identifies the individual or there is a reasonable basis to believe the information can be used to identify the individual. Health information is considered individually identifiable if it includes demographic information such as the patient’s name, address, zip code, phone number, social security number, full face photographic image, finger or voice print, or other identifier.

- However, HIPAA allows PHI to be used freely for treatment, payment or routine healthcare operations. If the use of information is not for one of these purposes, the MTF will either need the patient’s written authorization, or the disclosure must fall into one of the “permissible disclosures” categories

- “Treatment” generally means the provision, coordination, or management of health care and related services by or among health care providers

- “Payment” generally refers to billing and collection activities. This would include Air Force third-party collection programs.

- “Health care operations” are certain administrative, financial, legal, and quality improvement activities that are conducted by the covered entity. This would include, for example, our medical malpractice claims investigation process and the Surgeon General’s Quality Assurance Program activities.

- HIPAA also contains provisions for when providers and health plans give PHI to “business associates,” who are not members of their workforce, but who act on behalf of an MTF, performing, or assisting in the performance of a function or activity on behalf of the MTF involving the use or disclosure of PHI. Business associates must give written assurance that they will comply with HIPAA (i.e., a business associate agreement or BAA). There is no need for BAAs within the DoD, as DoD 6025.18-R establishes the HIPAA requirements for all DoD components.

- Certain records that you might expect to be subject to HIPAA are not. For example, the DoD drug testing program is not subject to HIPAA. DoD 6025.18-R, paragraph C2.2 contains a full list of health-related records and activities to which HIPAA does not apply.

Permissible Disclosures

- Under HIPAA, even without the individual’s authorization, an MTF may still disclose information for certain purposes, as summarized below. Note that most of these purposes have specific requirements that must be met prior to disclosure of PHI, as outlined in Chapter 7 of DoD 6025.18-R.

- As required by any law (includes requirements in Air Force and DoD Regulations)

- To avert serious threats to health or safety

- For specialized governmental functions. This provision allows certain disclosures of the PHI of Armed Forces personnel for “activities deemed necessary” by appropriate military command authorities to assure the proper execution of the military mission (see further discussion below). This provision also permits, among other things, disclosure of PHI to DoD or other Federal officials as described in Section C7.11 of DoD 6025.18R.
-- For judicial and administrative proceedings

-- For law enforcement purposes (which includes AFOSI, SF, and Judge Advocates when acting as prosecutors)

-- For organ, eye, or tissue donation purposes

-- For certain research activities (subject to IRB approval of a waiver)

-- Regarding victims of abuse, neglect or domestic violence

-- Regarding inmates in correctional institutions or in custody

-- For workers’ compensation cases

-- For public health activities

-- For health oversight activities

-- About decedents (to a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director)

- Most of these disclosures are accountable, which meant the MTF must account for the use or release, so the MTF will have to keep track of who received the information, when, and for what purpose. Law enforcement personnel (to include JA) may request a temporary suspension of the accounting for law enforcement purposes if the MTF gets a written statement that the accounting would be “reasonably likely” to impede the agency’s activities and specifies the time that such a suspension would be required. If the request is oral, the MTF will only temporarily suspend the individual’s right to an accounting for 30 days unless, in that time, they receive a written request.

- Uses and disclosures incidental to a use or disclosure otherwise permitted under HIPAA are permissible as long as the covered entity has made reasonable efforts to limit the use or disclosure of the PHI to the minimum necessary and the covered entity has appropriate physical, administrative and technical safeguards in place to protect PHI. Some examples of incidental uses/disclosures are sign-in sheets in waiting rooms, calling patients by their name, and posting the patient’s name outside the door of a hospital room.

MINIMUM NECESSARY STANDARD

- When HIPAA allows disclosure of information, MTFs must provide the minimum amount of information that will satisfy the intended purpose of the disclosure (similar to the Privacy Act’s “need to know” standard). The minimum necessary rule does not apply to uses and disclosures for treatment purposes between providers, to the subject of the information, when the individual authorizes full release, and when other laws require the use/disclosure.
It is possible the entire medical record is the “minimum necessary,” but the requester will have to articulate why the entire record is the “minimum necessary.”

Commanders’ Access to Information

- Under the “specialized government functions” rule described above, commanders can access PHI of Armed Forces personnel (this does not include dependants or civilian employees) for activities deemed necessary to assure the proper execution of the military mission. This rule generally permits disclosures for fitness for duty purposes.

  -- For example, commanders may need PHI related to readiness (vaccination status; profile status; etc.). Commanders may also require information related to medical conditions impacting members’ abilities to perform their duties (profile information; etc.). Commanders may even need PHI to verify the whereabouts of subordinates.

- However, under the “minimum necessary” standard stated above, any release of PHI must be limited in scope to what the commander actually needs to accomplish his/her mission:

  -- For example, if a member has a foot injury that precludes prolonged standing, the MTF may disclose PHI to the commander related to the foot injury because it impacts the type of day-to-day duties that the member can be assigned (i.e., it impacts mission accomplishment). The MTF would not necessarily disclose the member’s dental records, mammograms, or other medical information unrelated to the foot injury, though, because that PHI may exceed the minimum necessary.

  -- These disclosures are subject to accounting (these disclosures must be tracked; the member can find out what information the commander accessed)

- There is no “blanket rule” concerning release of PHI to commanders. In each case, the nature and extent of PHI released must be determined by evaluating the commander’s need and applying the minimum necessary standard.

- Only commanders and their designees can access PHI under these rules. AFI 41-210 provides that a commander’s designee includes Vice Commander, Deputy Commander, First Sergeant or commander’s support staff. If the commander wishes to designate any other individual as an authorized recipient of PHI, the commander must do so in writing.

- Also, note that a commander’s access to information may be further limited by DoD policy such as confidentiality for sexual assault victims; DoD policies on reducing the stigma of mental health treatment, or other applicable policy.
MISCELLANEOUS

- All Tricare beneficiaries receive a Notice of Privacy Practice (NOPP), created by DoD for use by all the services. The NOPP puts patients on notice of how their PHI will be used or disclosed, and provides information on how to request certain actions such as restrictions and amendments to PHI, as well as the process to file complaints under HIPAA.

- Any time a patient signs an authorization to release PHI, the authorization must be HIPAA compliant by containing certain elements described in DoD 6025.18R. DD Form 2870 was created for that purpose and is considered a HIPAA compliant authorization.

- Certain provisions of the American Reinvestment and Recovery Act of 2009 will dictate changes to HIPAA pertaining to business associates, accounting for disclosure, actions required for breaches and level of penalties. These changes will soon be implemented by DoD for all services.

REFERENCES:

The Personnel Reliability Program (PRP) is a program designed to ensure the highest possible standards of individual reliability in personnel performing duties associated with nuclear weapons systems and critical components. It is intended to prevent the unauthorized launch of a missile or aircraft armed with a nuclear weapon, or the unauthorized detonation of a nuclear weapon. Personnel in the PRP must be certified.

Responsibilities

- Wing commanders are responsible for the wing PRP. They serve as the reviewing official for all permanent decertification case files started by subordinate units. They also ensure base PRP meetings are conducted quarterly at the wing level.

- Group and unit commanders who control or have access to nuclear weapons, weapon systems, or critical components, and perform the actual PRP certification are certifying officials (COs) who certify and initiate decertification for their personnel. They may delegate this duty to a deputy or assistant. Certifying officials and their delegates must be certified in a PRP category equal to, or higher than, the personnel they are certifying.

- Individuals in the PRP are subject to continuous evaluation of their reliability and are responsible for complying with the intent of PRP while away from their duty station (leave, TDY, etc.) Responsibility for ensuring continuous eligibility rests with each individual involved with PRP. Individuals in the PRP must monitor their own reliability. They must also notify the CO immediately of any potentially disqualifying information (PDI), either their own or that of co-workers.

Categories of PRP Positions

- Critical Position: a position in which an individual is assigned nuclear duties where he or she has access and technical knowledge or can either directly or indirectly cause the launch or use of a nuclear weapon

- Controlled Position: a position where an individual is assigned nuclear duties, which has access but no technical knowledge, controls access into areas containing nuclear weapons, but does not have access or technical knowledge, or is armed and assigned duties to protect and/or guard nuclear weapons

PRP Mandatory Selection Criteria

- Individuals selected and certified for the PRP must meet the following minimum criteria at all times:

  -- Physical competence and mental alertness
-- Dependability, flexibility in adjusting to changes in working environment, good social adjustment, emotional stability, sound judgment

-- Have the required security investigation and security clearance

-- Have a positive attitude toward nuclear weapons duty and the PRP objectives

-- U.S. citizenship or U.S. national status

-- Favorable personnel security investigation, medical evaluation, personnel records review, and personal interview with CO

-- Demonstrated and certified technical proficiency commensurate with nuclear-related duty position

Potential Disqualifying Information (PDI)
- Any of the following traits or conduct is PDI:

  -- Alcohol abuse, or dependency alcohol-related incident

  -- Drug abuse or dependency

  -- Negligence or delinquency in performance of duty

  -- Conviction or involvement in a serious incident

  -- Medical condition prejudicial to reliable performance of duties

  -- Poor attitude or lack of motivation

  -- Suicide attempt and/or threats

  -- Loss of confidence

Certifications
- A formal certification validates that an individual has been screened, evaluated, and meets the standards for assignment to PRP duties

- An interim certification limits access when an individual is placed in PRP and does not currently possess the required security investigation for formal certification but does have a security investigation adequate for interim clearance
An administrative certification is granted when an individual does not currently hold a formal or interim certification for PRP duties and is identified for an assignment to a PRP position.

Removal from PRP

- Members may be removed from PRP duties in one of two ways: suspension or permanent decertification.

  Suspension:

  - Suspension is used to immediately remove an individual from PRP related duties, initially up to 3 months, without starting decertification action. The CO may extend the suspension to 1 year in 3 month increments.

  - After 1 year, if the reason or conditions for suspension still exist and impacts reliability, the individual will be decertified.

  - The individual is still considered reliable with regard to the PRP, but because of the circumstances, is not authorized to perform the nuclear related duties requiring PRP certification. The CO can use this time to research the facts to determine if an individual's reliability is impaired. However, a suspension should not be used in place of decertification when the facts and circumstances indicate unreliable behavior.

  - The CO makes the final decision.

  Decertification:

  - Decertification is a result of a member having a disqualifying factor indicating the individual has questionable integrity or long-term impaired capability.

  - Any of the following conditions shall result in decertification:

    --- The individual is diagnosed as a drug abuser or drug dependent.

    --- The individual is diagnosed as alcohol dependent and subsequently fails required aftercare program.

    --- The individual is being involuntarily discharged or removed for cause.

    --- The individual no longer meets the mandatory selection criteria (see a list of the criteria at the beginning of this section).

    --- The individual's security clearance eligibility has been revoked.
--- The individual has used a drug that could cause flashbacks

--- The individual has been involved in drug trafficking, cultivating, processing, manufacturing, or sale of illegal or controlled drugs

-- Within 15 workdays of the decertification, the certifying official shall advise the individual in writing of the reasons for decertification and of the requirement for review by the reviewing official

-- A decertification or disqualification may be reinstated provided there is documented evidence which clearly demonstrates that the disqualifying problem no longer exists and the individual concerned is otherwise qualified

Lautenberg Amendment

The 1996 Domestic Violence Amendment to the Gun Control Act (referred to as the Lautenberg Amendment) makes it a federal offense for anyone convicted of a misdemeanor crime of domestic violence to ship, transport, possess, or receive firearms or ammunition. The DoD policy for implementing this law to military personnel and DoD civilian personnel is found in DoDI 6400.06.

Definition of Crime of Domestic Violence
- An offense that has as its factual basis, the use or attempted use of physical force, or threatened use of a deadly weapon committed by:

  -- A current or former spouse of the victim,

  -- A parent or guardian of the victim,

  -- Someone who has a child in common with the victim,

  -- Someone who is cohabitating with the victim or who has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse, parent or guardian, or

  -- Someone similarly situated as a spouse, parent, or guardian (such as a girlfriend/boyfriend relationship)

- The title of the crime does not have to be “domestic violence” if the underlying facts fit within the DoD definition

Qualifying Convictions
- Any state or federal conviction for a crime of domestic violence (misdemeanor or felony) qualifying as a conviction prohibiting the possession of a firearm under the Lautenberg Amendment

- Charges that are reduced or negotiated to a crime not entitled “domestic violence” may still qualify if the factual basis fits within the DoD definition

- A general or special court-martial conviction for a UCMJ offense meeting the DoD definition

- To qualify, the person convicted must have been represented by an attorney or affirmatively waived such right
The following do not qualify as a conviction:

-- Convictions that are expunged or set aside
-- Convictions that are pardoned
-- Summary court-martial convictions
-- Nonjudicial punishment
-- Deferred prosecutions or similar alternate dispositions in civilian courts

Local SJA will assist commanders in determining if there is a qualifying conviction

Air Force Implementation

- Commanders are required to give annual briefings regarding the Lautenberg Amendment

- Notices regarding the Lautenberg Amendment must be posted at all facilities where government firearms are stored, issued, disposed of, or transported

- Air Force members must complete a DD Form 2760, Qualification to Possess Firearms or Ammunition, under the following circumstances:

  -- Annually for all personnel who work with or are required to qualify on firearm, destructive device, or ammunition

  -- At the time of PCS, PCA, TDY, or other change in assignment

  -- Prior to any weapons training

Members with a qualifying conviction

-- Must lawfully dispose of all privately owned firearms and ammunition

-- Have 30 days to dispose of all firearms stored in the armory

-- Must immediately be denied access to all government firearms and ammunition, including MWR facilities (i.e., trap/skeet). Commanders must immediately retrieve any government-issued firearms and ammunition.

-- Are ineligible for all weapons training
-- May be subject to discharge for the underlying act of domestic violence or the underlying conviction but not simply because he/she is unable to possess a firearm

-- Members in career fields requiring firearms may be cross-flowed or retrained into an AFSC not requiring firearms

Conscientious Objection to Military Service

Although military service is an obligation of citizenship, Congress recognized early that certain individuals and groups hold convictions against the use of force in any form.

General Policies

- A conscientious objector (CO) is a person who is opposed to participation in war in any form or the bearing of arms, by virtue of a firm, fixed and sincere belief as a result of religious training or similar belief system. Moral or ethical beliefs, even if not characterized by the holder as “religious,” may provide sufficient grounds for CO status.

- The objection to war must be all-inclusive, not to specific wars or conflicts

- COs are classified as either Class 1-0 (a person who sincerely objects to participation in war in any form), or as Class 1-A-0 (a person who sincerely objects to participation as a combatant in war in any form, but whose convictions will permit him/her to serve in noncombatant status)

- Administrative discharge by the SecAF prior to completion of term of service is discretionary based on the facts of each case

- Applicants for CO status who are awaiting disposition of their case should be assigned to duties that conflict as little as possible with their beliefs

  -- Applicants must comply with the normal requirements of military service and perform duties they are assigned

  -- Applicants must comply with active duty or transfer orders in effect at the time of the application or subsequently issued

  -- Those awaiting promotion after selection are put on withhold status, and once their application is approved, they become ineligible for promotion

Application Procedures

- Applicant has the burden of proof to show he/she is a CO

- He/she must establish by clear and convincing evidence the following:

  -- He/she objects to participation in war in any form or the bearing of arms

  -- The applicant’s belief is honest, sincere, and deeply held
-- The applicant’s belief is by virtue of religious training or other belief system akin to religion

-- The nature or basis of the claim falls under the definition of conscientious objection in AFI 36-3204, Attachment 1

- Clear and convincing evidence is a standard of proof that does not require proof beyond a reasonable doubt but does require proof more substantial than a mere preponderance of the evidence

- The applicant submits the application to the servicing military personnel flight (MPF)/personnel relocation element, or to the immediate commander if serving in USAFR or ANG and not serving on extended active duty

- The application contains personal information required by AFI 36-3204, Attachment 2, and any other information deemed relevant by the applicant

- The information includes an extensive description of the individual’s personal background, a thorough description of the individual’s beliefs, and a listing of the private organizations to which the individual belongs

- MPF notifies the unit commander, reviews the personnel records of the applicant for pertinent information, and counsels the member about the effect of a CO determination on VA entitlements. MPF also schedules a chaplain and psychiatrist interview.

  -- The chaplain personally interviews the applicant to determine sincerity and depth of conviction against war

  -- The chaplain must submit a written report detailing conclusions and the reasons therefore, but does not make any recommendation concerning the application

  -- A psychiatrist interviews the applicant to determine the presence of any mental disorder warranting medical or administrative disposition. Again, no recommendation on the application is made.

- The Wing Commander appoints a judge advocate as an investigating officer (IO) to interview the applicant under oath, assemble all the relevant material and interview other witnesses

  -- The instruction contains procedures that permit the IO to hold a hearing on the matter, which the applicant may attend with an attorney at their own expense

  -- The hearing is informal and not governed by the courts-martial rules of evidence except that all verbal testimony must be under oath or affirmation. Relevant evidence may be received, written statements from persons not present may be under oath or affirmation. The hearing is non-adversarial.

-- The IO prepares a report that states his/her conclusions concerning the applicant's beliefs and the reasons therefore, and recommendations concerning disposition of the case.

-- The IO must give the applicant a copy of the final report and allow the applicant to submit rebuttal material within 15 calendar days after receiving the report.

Guidelines for approving or disapproving applications are found in Chapter 4 of AFI 36-3204.

-- Generally, the reviewing authorities must find that an applicant's moral and ethical beliefs oppose participation in war in any form and that the applicant holds these beliefs with the strength of traditional religious convictions.

-- Conscientious objection must be the primary controlling factor in the applicant's life.

-- A primary factor is the sincerity with which the applicant holds this belief. In evaluating applications, carefully examine and weigh the conduct of applicants, in particular their outward manifestation of their beliefs along with the applicant’s thinking and lifestyle in its totality, past and present.

The commander who appoints the IO makes a recommendation before forwarding the file up the chain.

SecAF or a designated representative makes the decision regarding CO status for officer applicants.

The final approval decision for enlisted personnel is by HQ AFMPC/DPMARS2 (active duty Airmen), ANGRC/DPM (ANG Airmen), HQ AFRES/CV (reserve unit Airmen), or HQ ARPC/CC (all other reserve Airmen).

FIDNESS PROGRAM

The goal of the Fitness Program is to motivate all members to participate in a year-round physical conditioning program that emphasizes total fitness, to include proper aerobic conditioning, strength/flexibility training, and healthy eating. The Air Force uses an overall composite fitness score and minimum scores per component based on aerobic fitness, body composition, and muscular fitness components to determine overall fitness. The Fitness Program applies to all Active Duty, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard members.

UNIT/SQUADRON COMMANDER’S DUTIES

- The unit/squadron commander’s duties include, but are not limited to, the following:
  -- Executing and enforcing the unit’s fitness program and ensuring appropriate administrative action is taken cases of non-compliance
  -- Implementing and maintaining a unit/squadron physical training (PT) program, in accordance with applicable guidelines
  -- Encouraging members to participate in physical training of up to 90 minutes three to five times weekly
  -- Appoints individuals to conduct fitness assessments in support of the Fitness Assessment Cell (FAC), appoints Physical Training Leaders (PTLs) and appoints a Unit Fitness Program Manager (UFPM)

PHYSICAL FITNESS STANDARD

- Members will receive a composite score on a 0 to 100 scale based on the following maximum component scores:
  -- 60 points for aerobic fitness assessment
  -- 20 points for body composition
  -- 10 points for push-ups
  -- 10 points for sit-ups

- The following fitness levels are determined by a member’s composite score:
  -- Excellent (90 or above) and all component minimums met
  -- Good (75 to 89.99) and all component minimums met
-- Unsatisfactory (under 75) and/or one or more component minimums not met

-- Airmen must be exempt in all four components to be entered exempt in Air Force Fitness Management System (AFFMS)

- Members will usually complete their fitness testing according to the following timelines:

  -- Excellent: member must test within 12 months

  -- Good score: Members are mandated to complete an official Fitness Assessment at a minimum of twice yearly

  -- Unsatisfactory score must test within 90 days. Retesting is not recommended during the first 42 days after an unsatisfactory test.

  -- Commanders may direct unofficial practice tests

ADMINISTRATIVE AND PERSONNEL ACTIONS

- Members are expected to be in compliance with Air Force fitness standards at all times. When members fail to comply with those standards (receive an Unsatisfactory Fitness Assessment (FA) score), they render themselves potentially subject to adverse action. Commanders should consult with their servicing Staff Judge Advocate before taking such action.

- Prohibited Actions: Commanders may not impose nonjudicial punishment (Article 15, UCMJ) solely for failing to achieve a Satisfactory fitness score

  -- Upon receipt of a Medical Evaluation Board (MEB) permanent exemption, a member is not subject to adverse personnel action for inability to take the FA

  -- While units may perform unofficial practice tests for diagnostic purposes, commanders will refrain from taking adverse action based solely on the results of these tests

- Authorized Actions: Unit CCs may take adverse administrative action upon a member’s Unsatisfactory fitness score on an official FA

  -- As appropriate, unit CCs will document and take corrective action for members’ unexcused failures to participate in the fitness program such as failing to accomplish a scheduled FA, failing to attend a scheduled fitness appointment, failing to complete mandatory educational intervention or failing to maintain the required documentation of exercise while on the fitness improvement program

  -- If adverse administrative action is not taken in response to an Unsatisfactory fitness score on an official FA, unit CCs will document in the member’s fitness case file as to why no action is being taken. The lack of such CC documentation does not discount the testing failure as a basis in support of administrative discharge action.

--- A unit CC MAY initiate (enlisted members) or recommend (officers) administrative discharge of a member when the member has:

--- Received four Unsatisfactory FA scores in a 24-month period, and

--- The CC finds that the member failed to demonstrate significant improvement despite the reconditioning period, AND

--- Evaluation by a military health care provider (e.g., a physician, physician’s assistant or nurse practitioner) has ruled out medical conditions precluding the member from achieving a passing score

--- Unit CCs MUST make a discharge or retention recommendation to the Installation CC (or special/general court-martial convening authority in the member’s chain of command) when an individual remains in the Unsatisfactory fitness category for a continuous 12-month period or receives four Unsatisfactory FA scores in a 24-month period. Prior to initiation of discharge action, a military medical provider must have ruled out medical conditions precluding the member from achieving a passing score.

FAILING TO PRESENT A PROFESSIONAL MILITARY IMAGE

- Commanders MUST ensure members present a professional military image while they are in uniform

- Commanders MAY

  --- Require individuals who do not present a professional military appearance (regardless of overall fitness assessment composite score) to enter the Fitness Improvement Program (FIP)

  --- Schedule members for fitness education/intervention

330  The Military Commander and the Law
Commanders may use more than one action per failure. Recommend commanders consult with their local Staff Judge Advocate (SJA). Refer to the governing instructions to determine the correct form and procedures for each action.

NOTES:
1. Commanders may render an Airman ineligible for reenlistment rather than denying reenlistment by specifying ineligibility versus non-selection on the AF Form 418, Selective Reenlistment Program Consideration. This allows the flexibility of authorizing Airmen to extend their reenlistment for either 4 or 7 months (7 or 12 for ARC) to improve their fitness level. Airmen non-selected for reenlistment are not allowed to extend for any reason and will separate on the date of separation (DOS). Commanders may complete a second AF Form 418 changing the Airman's ineligibility or non-selection status at any time.

2. For ARC, the use of this option should be weighed against use of administrative separation and is applicable where recall of this member would not jeopardize mission readiness.

3. If an Airman has a history of FA failures, then passes, only to fail again – commanders should consider a more aggressive approach for OPTIONAL actions.
The Air Reserve Component (ARC) Fitness Program

The goal of the ARC Fitness Program is to motivate all members to participate in a year-round physical conditioning program that emphasizes total fitness, to include proper aerobic conditioning, strength/flexibility training, and healthy eating. The Fitness Program applies to all Active Duty, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard members.

Unit/Squadron Commander’s Duties

- The unit/squadron commander’s duties include, but are not limited to, the following:
  - Determines frequency of PT programs during UTA and AT duty-time based on mission requirements
  - Encourages Air Reserve Technician and ANG Full-Time Technicians to participate in duty-time PT according to ARC policy for civilian employees and develop plans for their participation
  - May authorize points and pay to accomplish mandatory education and HLP/HLPR, and to receive benefit from RegAF EPs. This does not include authorization of points or pay for the sole purpose of performing PT.
  - Executing and enforcing the unit’s fitness program and ensures appropriate administrative action is taken cases of non-compliance
  - Implementing and maintaining a unit/squadron physical training (PT) program, in accordance with applicable guidelines
  - Encourage members to participate in physical training of up to 90 minutes three to five times weekly (ARC Caveat: The CC can only encourage this but the member cannot be put into status if they are TRs, ARTs, and the like to accomplish this and therefore, it is ultimately the member’s responsibility to stay fit on their own time)
  - Prepare a written policy that describes the unit’s fitness program and provide a copy of the written policy to the exercise physiologists or fitness program manager

Physical Fitness Standard

- Members will receive a composite score on a 0 to 100 scale based on the following maximum component scores:
  - 60 points for aerobic fitness assessment
  - 20 points for body composition
-- 10 points for push-ups

-- 10 points for sit-ups

- The following fitness levels are determined by a member’s composite score:

-- Excellent (90 or above) and all component minimums met

-- Good (75 to 89.99) and all component minimums met

-- Unsatisfactory (under 75) and/or one or more component minimums not met

- Members will usually complete their fitness testing according to the following timelines:

-- Excellent: member must test within 12 months

-- Good score: Members are mandated to complete an official Fitness Assessment at a minimum of twice yearly

-- Unsatisfactory score must test within 90 days. Retesting is not recommended during the first 42 days after an unsatisfactory test.

-- Commanders MAY direct unofficial practice tests but the member must be in status (ARC caveat)

- RegAF, AFR, and ANG (Title 10) must retest within 90 days (180 days for ANG (Title 32)). RegAF, AFR, and ANG AGR members must participate in a unit FIP and complete the HLP/HLPR (in person or online) within 10 days of the FA. Non-AGR ARC (AFR and ANG) must accomplish HLPR within 60 days of Unsatisfactory FA. Members in the Unsatisfactory fitness category will remain in the FIP/SFIP until they achieve a Satisfactory or better FA score.

- ARC members who commute from a lower altitude to perform duty at their assigned/attached unit at a location where the altitude ≥ 5250 feet, may perform FA with an Air Force unit at or near their home altitude, with commander’s approval. The UFPM at the unit of assessment will forward a copy of FA results to ARC member’s assigned/attached UFPM for AFFMS II update and tracking purposes. This variation is only for ARC members who are not afforded the 4-day acclimatization period at the assessment site.
ADMINISTRATIVE AND PERSONNEL ACTIONS

- Members are expected to be in compliance with Air Force fitness standards AT ALL TIMES. When members fail to comply with those standards (receive an Unsatisfactory Fitness Assessment (FA) score), they render themselves potentially subject to adverse action. Commanders should consult with their servicing Staff Judge Advocate before taking such action.

- Prohibited Actions: Commanders may not impose nonjudicial punishment (Article 15, UCMJ) solely for failing to achieve a Satisfactory fitness score.

- ARC medical unit providers will advise members to consult their PCP for evaluation if indicated to recommend specific PT appropriate for medical condition or may refer the member to host HLP if available. MTFs can provide space available evaluation as required for eligible ARC members. To obtain an exemption based on evaluation and recommendation of PCP, the member must provide the ARC medical unit with medical documentation to include diagnosis, treatment, prognosis, and period and type of physical limitations or restrictions. Individual Reservists (IR) may be referred by the MTF to their PCP.

  -- Upon receipt of a Medical Evaluation Board (MEB) permanent exemption, a member is not subject to adverse personnel action for inability to take the FA.

  -- While units may perform unofficial practice tests for diagnostic purposes, commanders will refrain from taking adverse action based solely on the results of these tests.

- Authorized Actions: Unit CCs may take adverse administrative action upon a member’s Unsatisfactory fitness score on an official FA (see ARC caveat below).

- For ARC members (except AGR), the Unit CC MUST consider administrative separation if a member remains in an unsatisfactory fitness category for a continuous 24-month period. A decision to retain the member does not remove or discount previous FA Unsatisfactory assessments. The decision may serve as potential basis for future discharge actions if member retests and continues to remain in an Unsatisfactory category (so long as it is within 24 months of the member’s most recent FA failure). While a commander approving a member’s continued retention need not re-visit this decision in the event of future FA failures by the member, Unit CCs remain obligated in response to such future failures, to either take adverse administrative action or document in the member’s fitness case file why no such action is being taken (see para 9.1.2.1.) The unit of attached/assigned CC may initiate reassignment of individual reservists after the second Unsatisfactory FA. The member may be reassigned to the inactive reserve, either Non-Affiliated Reserve Section (NSRS)-NB if obligated, or NARS-NA if non-obligated. Members will be reassigned according to AFI 36-2115, Assignments within the Reserve Components.
As appropriate, unit CCs will document and take corrective action for members’ unexcused failures to participate in the FP such as failing to accomplish a scheduled FA, failing to attend a scheduled fitness appointment, failing to complete mandatory educational intervention or failing to maintain the required documentation of exercise while on the FIP.

If adverse administrative action is not taken in response to an Unsatisfactory fitness score on an official FA, unit CCs will document in the member’s fitness case file as to why no action is being taken. The lack of such CC documentation does not discount the testing failure as a basis in support of administrative discharge action.

For ARC members, and per AFI 36-3209, para. 3.18.9, discharge reason can be failure to meet minimum fitness standards and is within the commander’s discretion.

UNAUTHORIZED ABSENCE

Most forms of unauthorized absence, from simply being late for work (“failure to go”), to an extended absence without leave, are punishable under Article 86, Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). Airmen who intend to abandon their military duties permanently are deserters and are subject to prosecution under Article 85, UCMJ. There are certain requirements and considerations the unit must satisfy in handling cases involving an unauthorized absence.

- When an unauthorized absence is discovered, it is important to note the date and time
  - An absence of less than 24 hours is classified as a failure to go for administrative purposes
  - When the absence continues longer than 24 hours, the member's unit must change the member's administrative status to “AWOL”
  - On the 31st day of continuous absence, the member's unit must change the member's administrative status to “deserter”
  - Except as noted below, these actions must normally be taken even if the commander suspects that the absence may be legally excused. Consult AFI 36-2911, Table 1.1, for a comprehensive list of actions to be taken upon realization of an unauthorized absence.
  - Taking these administrative steps WILL NOT, standing alone, prove that the member has committed an unauthorized absence. The administrative steps will affect pay and allowances and put the service member's name on a database civilian law enforcement can access during routine stops.

- Regardless of the reason for the absence, if the commander's initial investigation reveals any indication that the absence results from an involuntary casualty rather than desertion or unauthorized absence, a status of Duty Status Whereabouts Unknown (DUSTWUN) may be appropriate. Consult AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, the Military Personnel Flight (MPF), and the staff judge advocate (SJA) for advice in such cases.

- Under AFI 36-2911, Chapter 2 and Table 1.1, if the member reasonably appears to be absent without authority, the commander must:

  -- Immediate Actions:

    --- Contact the MPF and inform them of the member's status

    --- Determine if the member meets any of the criteria under AFI 36-2911, para 1.5. Criteria include duty or travel restrictions, access to classified documents, request for asylum or residence in a foreign country, uncompleted action for a previous AWOL, escaped prisoner, wanted for a serious UCMJ violation, or evidence of intent to remain away permanently.

---- If so, immediately change the member’s status to “Deserter”

---- In cases involving national security, take all appropriate actions under para 2.2.7

--- Evaluate the case to determine whether AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, applies

--- Notify Security Forces (SF) and request assistance once it becomes clear that the member is not merely late for duty

--- After 24 hours of absence: Prepare an AF Form 2098, changing the absentee’s status to either “AWOL” or “Deserter” as appropriate, and forward it to the MPF, with a copy to the local Finance Office. Consult your SJA.

--- On the third day of absence: Prepare and forward a 72 hour inquiry (IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.3) to SFS and MPF and re-evaluate whether AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, applies

--- On the 10th day of absence: Prepare and forward letters to the next of kin and allotment payees, and provide copies of these letters to MPF

--- On the 31st day of absence:

--- Notify MPF of the member’s continued absence; retrieve dependent ID cards as required by AFI 36-3026(I), Table 8.3 when member is placed in deserter status. Dependents retain medical benefits and shopping privileges IAW Table 9.2.

--- Ensure processing of DD Form 553 (MPF will assist in preparation) and decide (with SF and MPF help) to whom DD Form 553 should be sent

--- Initiate AF IMT 2098 changing status from “AWOL” to “Deserter”

--- Consult with SJA about filing court-martial charges

--- Prepare 31st day status report IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.5

--- On the 60th day of absence: Notify SF and MPF of the member’s continued absence, obtain update input from SF and include it in 60 day status report IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.5
-- On the 180th day of absence: Personnel Data Systems program automatically drops absentee from the unit rolls. Commander notifies SF of status change and consults with SJA concerning other options and/or requirements.

- Civilian and appropriate military authorities may apprehend absentees and deserters. Deserters may be arrested summarily by civilian law enforcement agents and returned to military control.

- United States authorities may apprehend absentees and deserters in foreign countries only when an international agreement with the country authorizes it or under an agreement with proper local authorities that does not violate an existing international agreement. Always consult the SJA in these cases.

- Disposition once the member has been returned to military control is covered by AFI 36-2911, Chapter 4 and Table 4.1

UNAUTHORIZED ABSENCE FOR AN AIR RESERVE COMPONENT (ARC) MEMBER

Most forms of unauthorized absence, from simply being late for work (“failure to go”), to an extended absence without leave, are punishable under Article 86, Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). Airmen who intend to permanently abandon their military duties are deserters and are subject to prosecution under Article 85, UCMJ. There are certain requirements and considerations the unit must satisfy in handling cases involving an unauthorized absence.

GENERAL POLICIES
- When an EAD order calls an ARC member to active duty (AD), the AD unit the member is temporarily assigned to processes the absentee only after coordination with the home unit. An ARC member voluntarily or involuntarily called or recalled to active duty (AD) or active duty for training (ADT) who fails to report is an absentee if strong evidence exists that the member received the orders (Title 10 orders).

- DoDD 1215.13 allows processing of AWOL or desertion without a signed receipt on file. To do so, however, substantial proof must exist that orders to report for ADT or transfer to the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) were properly mailed to the most recent address the member furnished. Substantial proof consists of written post office verification of current address. Contact the office issuing the orders to determine if proof exists.

REPORTING UNAUTHORIZED ABSENCES
- The unit to which the member is attached for AD must coordinate with the home unit before processing the AWOL/Deserter action

  -- If Special Activities Branch (AFPC/DPSOA) or Headquarters USAF Academy, Cadet Accessions (HQ USAFA/DPYQD) ordered the member to EAD, contact the appropriate office within 1 duty day to determine if substantial proof of delivery of orders exist before taking any unauthorized absence action

  -- The unit of assignment completes appropriate actions outlined here in Chapter 2

  -- Include the Military Personnel Division, Air National Guard, ANG/DPP, 1411 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3231 (for ANGUS members) and the Personnel Employment Branch, Air Force Reserve Command, HQ AFRC/DPMF, 155 Richard Ray Blvd, Robins Air Force Base, Georgia 31098-1635 (for USAFR members) on the distribution of all reports and the DD Form 553 when classifying a member ordered to ADT as a deserter

  -- If questions arise, contact AFPC/DPWCM (DSN 665-3727 or 1-800-531-5501)

Include the Military Personnel Division, Air National Guard, ANG/DPP, 1411 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3231 and the Personnel Employment Branch, Air Force Reserve Command, HQ AFRC/DPMF, 155 2nd Street, Robins Air Force Base, Georgia 31098-1635 (for USAFR members) as information addressees on the DD Form 616.

In some cases, the rules outlined above may not be appropriate. Under these circumstances, contact AFPC/DPWCM (DSN 665-3727 or 1-800-531-5501) for further guidance.

When an unauthorized absence is discovered, it is important to note the date and time.

An absence of less than 24 hours is classified as a failure to go.

When the absence continues longer than 24 hours, the member's unit must change the member's administrative status to “AWOL”.

On the 31st day of continuous absence, the member’s unit must change the member’s status to “deserter”.

Except as noted below, these actions must normally be taken even if the commander suspects that the absence may be legally excused. Consult AFI 36-2911, Table 1.1, for a comprehensive list of actions to be taken upon realization of an unauthorized absence.

Taking these administrative steps WILL NOT standing alone prove that the member has committed an unauthorized absence. The administrative steps will affect pay and allowances and put the service member’s name on a database civilian law enforcement can access during routine stops.

Regardless of the reason for the absence, if the commander’s initial investigation reveals any indication that the absence results from an involuntary casualty rather than desertion or unauthorized absence, a status of Duty Status Whereabouts Unknown (DUSTWUN) may be appropriate. Consult AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, the Military Personnel Flight (MPF), and the staff judge advocate (SJA) for advice in such cases.

COMMANDER’S RESPONSIBILITIES

Under AFI 36-2911, Chapter 2 and Table 1.1, if the member reasonably appears to be absent without authority, the commander must:
-- Immediate Actions:

--- Immediately contact the MPF and inform them of the member’s status

--- Immediately determine if the member meets any of the criteria under AFI 36-2911, para 1.5. Criteria include duty or travel restrictions, access to classified documents, request for asylum or residence in a foreign country, uncompleted action for a previous AWOL, escaped prisoner, wanted for a serious UCMJ violation, or evidence of intent to remain away permanently.

---- If so, immediately change the member’s status to “Deserter”

---- In national security cases, take all appropriate actions under para 2.2.7

--- Evaluate the case to determine whether AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, applies

--- Notify Security Forces (SF) and request assistance once it becomes clear that the member is not merely late for duty

-- After 24 hours of absence: Prepare an AF Form 2098, changing the absentee’s status to either “AWOL” or “Deserter” as appropriate, and forward it to the MPF, with a copy to the local Finance Office. Consult your SJA.

-- On the third day of absence: Prepare and forward a 72 hour inquiry (IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.3) to SFS and MPF and re-evaluate whether AFI 36-3002, Casualty Services, applies

-- On the 10th day of absence: Prepare and forward letters to the next of kin and allotment payees, and provide copies of these letters to MPF. AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.4.

-- On the 31st day of absence:

--- Notify MPF of the member’s continued absence; retrieve dependent ID cards as required by AFI 36-3026(I), Table 8.3 when member is placed in deserter status. Dependents retain medical benefits and shopping privileges IAW AFI 36-3026(I), Table 9.2.

--- Ensure processing of DD Form 553 (MPF will assist in preparation) and decide (with SF and MPF help) to whom DD Form 553 should be sent

--- Initiate AF IMT 2098 changing status from “AWOL” to “Deserter”
Consult with SJA about filing court-martial charges

Prepare 31st day status report IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.5

On the 60th day of absence: Notify SF and MPF of the member’s continued absence, obtain update input from SF and include it in 60 day status report IAW AFI 36-2911, para 2.2.5

Absentees gone for less than 180 days will be returned to their unit of assignment or to another unit with court-martial jurisdiction as determined by the unit of assignment commander

Absentees gone for 180 days or more are no longer carried on unit rolls and will be sent to the nearest Air Force installation with facilities for handling the case

Commander notifies SF of status change and consults with SJA concerning other options and/or requirements

Apprehension
Civilian and appropriate military authorities may apprehend absentees and deserters. Deserters may be arrested summarily by civilian law enforcement agents and returned to military control. AFI 36-2911, Chapter 3.

- United States authorities may apprehend absentees and deserters in foreign countries only when an international agreement with the country authorizes it or under an agreement with proper local authorities that does not violate an existing international agreement. See AFI 36-2911, para 3.2.3. Always consult the SJA in these cases.

Disposition
Disposition once the member has been returned to military control is covered by AFI 36-2911, Chapter 4 and Table 4.1

- When a Guard or Reserve member ordered to ADT returns to military control, actions in outlined in Chapter 4 apply, except paragraph 4.4.

- The detaining unit sends an e-mail notifying the return of a deserter to military control to AFPC/DPWC and the Military Personnel Division

Air National Guard, ANG/DPP, 38 AFI 36-2911 14 October 2009 (for ANGUS members)
-- Personnel Employment Branch, Air Force Reserve Command, HQ AFRC/DPMF (for USAFR members) as information addressees.

-- The detaining unit gives the member a non-chargeable transportation request if no escort is used

LINE OF DUTY DETERMINATIONS

A Line of Duty (LOD) determination is an administrative tool for determining a member’s duty status at the time an injury, illness, disability, or death is incurred. On the basis of the LOD determination, the member may be entitled to benefits administered by the Air Force, or exposed to liabilities. The key is the nexus between the injury, illness, disability, or death and the member’s duty status.

LIMITS ON USE OF LOD DETERMINATION
- An LOD determination shall not be used as disciplinary action against a member.

- An active duty member cannot be denied medical treatment based on an LOD determination. Moreover, an LOD determination does not authorize the United States to recoup the cost of medical care from the active duty member.

- An LOD determination may impact the following:
  -- Disability retirement and severance pay
  -- Forfeiture of pay
  -- Extension of enlistment
  -- Veteran benefits
  -- Survivor Benefit Plan
  -- Medical benefits and incapacitation pay for members of the Air Reserve Component (ARC)
  -- Basic Educational Assistance Death Benefit

WHEN LOD DETERMINATIONS ARE REQUIRED
- The LOD process must be initiated when a member, whether hospitalized or not, has an illness, injury, or disease that results in:

  -- Inability to perform military duties for more than 24 hours
  -- Likelihood of permanent disability
  -- Death of a member. In every case where a member dies on active duty, at a minimum, an AF IMT 348 must be completed. An administrative determination is not sufficient in a case of death.
-- Medical treatment of an ARC member regardless of the member’s ability to perform military duties

-- The likelihood of an ARC member applying for incapacitation pay

POSSIBLE LOD DETERMINATIONS

- Existed Prior to Service (EPTS), LOD Not Applicable: Medical diagnosis determined that the death, illness, injury or disease, or the underlying condition causing it, existed before the member’s entry into military service or between periods of service and was not aggravated by service

- In Line of Duty: Presumed unless disease, death, illness, or injury occurred while member was absent without authority or as a result of member’s misconduct

- Not In Line of Duty, Due to Own Misconduct: A formal investigation determined that the member’s illness, injury, disease, or death was proximately caused by the member’s own misconduct (regardless of whether member was absent without authority)

- Not In Line of Duty, Not Due to Own Misconduct: A formal investigation determined that the member’s illness, injury, disease, or death occurred while the member was absent from duty

PRESUMPTION OF LOD STATUS

- An illness, injury, disease or death sustained by a member in an active duty status or in inactive duty training status is presumed to have occurred in the line of duty. However, this presumption can be rebutted if:

  -- A medical officer diagnoses that the illness, injury or disease existed prior to service

  -- A formal investigation determines that the illness, injury, disease or death

    --- Occurred while the member was absent without authority, or

    --- Was proximately caused by the member’s own misconduct

EVIDENTIARY STANDARD

- A preponderance of evidence is required to find that an illness, injury, disease or death occurred while the member was absent without authority or was due to a member’s own misconduct. A preponderance of the evidence is the greater weight of credible evidence.

- Consider both direct and indirect evidence when evaluating all factors such as a witness’ behavior, opportunity for knowledge, information possessed, ability to recall and related events and relationship to the matter being considered
Types of LOD Determinations

- Administrative determinations are made by a medical officer. If the medical officer determines that the condition existed prior to service, the medical officer simply annotates the member’s medical record with an entry of “EPTS, LOD Not Applicable.” If the illness, injury, disease or death falls into one of the following conditions, the medical officer makes an administrative determination by finding the member’s condition to be “in the line of duty:” incurred as a passenger in a common carrier or military aircraft; characterized as a hostile casualty; an illness or disease clearly not involving misconduct or caused by abuse of drugs or alcohol; or a simple injury which is not likely to result in permanent disability.

- Informal determinations are processed on an AF IMT 348 and initiated when an administrative determination is not appropriate. The commander investigates the circumstances of the case to determine if the member’s illness, injury, disease, or death occurred while the member was absent without authority, or is due to the member’s own misconduct.

- Formal determinations are initiated with an AF IMT 348, but also include an investigation report and a DD Form 261

  -- Required to support a determination of “Not in Line of Duty”

  -- Immediate commander will recommend a formal determination when the illness, injury, disease, or death occurred

    --- Under strange or doubtful circumstances, or due to member’s misconduct or willful negligence

    --- While the member was absent without authority

    --- Under circumstances the commander believes should be fully investigated

  -- The commander forwards AF IMT 348 to the SJA for review for legal sufficiency

LOD and Misconduct Determinations for Various Situations

- See Attachment 5, AFI 36-2910, for appropriate guidance and rules. Some of these rules are based on historic precedents. For more in-depth research, check the Digest of Opinions of The Judge Advocate Generals of the Armed Forces.

Disability Evaluation System

Commanders must constantly balance their concern for mission accomplishment with their concern for service members’ health and safety. Challenges can arise when service members develop injuries, illnesses, and/or physical disabilities/limitations that impact their ability to perform their duties and/or to deploy. To resolve these cases, the DoD has developed the Disability Evaluation System (DES) to ensure maximum utilization of personnel with injuries, illnesses, and/or disabilities/limitations while preserving and promoting the service member’s health and well-being.

Profiles and Duty Limitations

- Service members may develop health problems that degrade their ability to perform military duties without jeopardizing their health and safety. In such cases, health care providers must communicate appropriate medical recommendations regarding fitness for duty and/or duty limitations to commanders so that commanders are able to determine the optimum yet safe utilization of members in their charge.

- When a service member’s health and/or ability to accomplish the mission are at risk due to health problems, health care providers must promptly convey this information to the commander. The AF IMT 469, Duty Limiting Condition Report, is the means of accomplishing this task. The AF IMT 469 includes, among other things, information concerning the health care provider’s recommendations regarding specific duty limitations for service members.

-- Because commanders are ultimately responsible for their personnel, profiles must be timely, accurate, and unambiguous to help commanders make the best decisions for their personnel and their mission

-- When a health care provider determines that a physical condition warrants a profile, one copy of the AF IMT 469 should be given to the member when he/she leaves the medical treatment facility, and another copy must be sent to the individual’s unit commander.

-- Because commanders must know the fitness for duty status of their members, the HIPAA Privacy Rule allows for disclosures of health information to commanders. Information pertaining to fitness for duty may be released to commanders even without the service member’s authorization; however, when the patient has not authorized the release, the release must be properly tracked by medical personnel.

Conflict Resolution

- In some situations, a commander may disagree with a health care provider regarding a service member’s profile and/or recommended duty limitations.

- The senior profile officer appointed by the Medical Group Commander (MDG/CC) consults with MAJCOM/SGPA when conflicts between patient interest and commander interest cannot be resolved locally. If there is a risk to the patient that the senior profile officer believes may not be fully realized by the unit commander, the wing commander will have the final authority to resolve the issue.

- Where a service member's profile renders him/her ineligible for deployment (“4T”), if the commander believes the benefit to the mission outweighs the potential risk to the member, the commander may consult with the MDG/SGP prior to deploying the member. High risk cases where there is an obvious or high degree of threat to a member’s personal safety or health will require HQ AFPC/DPAMM consultation and approval.

Office of Airmen’s Counsel

- The Office of Airmen’s Counsel (OAC) is comprised of active duty and civilian JAGs and paralegals

- The OAC’s mission is to represent Airmen throughout Disability Evaluation System processing

- The OAC staff reports directly to an independent JA chain of command, and are therefore, able to zealously advocate for the interests of the individual Airmen undergoing DES processing, within ethical boundaries

- A service member who is pending an Medical Evaluation Board (MEB) or Physical Evaluation Board (PEB) may contact the OAC for information, recommendations, and legal counsel at any stage of the proceeding

Evaluation Boards

- The Medical Evaluation Board (MEB) is the first step in the Air Force for assessing members whose retention is questionable due to health concerns/reasons

  -- The MEB is made up of three physicians appointed by the MTF/CC to determine whether the member has any medical issues that could make the member unfit for continued military service

- When an MEB determines a service member has a potentially unfitting condition(s), the case is referred to a PEB

  -- The service member’s immediate commander must provide a statement describing the impact of the medical condition upon the member’s ability to perform his/her normal military duties and deploy. In many cases, the commander’s letter is considered to be very persuasive evidence and is accorded great weight by the PEB.
The PEB may recommend the following:

- Return to duty (with or without assignment limiting code)
- Separation/retirement (with or without severance pay)

RELATIONSHIP TO LINE OF DUTY DETERMINATIONS

- DES procedures should not be confused with Line of Duty (LOD) determinations

- Whereas DES procedures are used to determine whether health problems limit a service member’s ability to perform his/her duties (and, ultimately, to remain in the Air Force), an LOD determination is an administrative tool for determining a service member’s duty status at the time an injury, illness, disability, or death is incurred. On the basis of the LOD determination, the member may be entitled to benefits administered by the Air Force, or exposed to liabilities.

- LOD determinations are discussed in depth elsewhere in this chapter

- In many cases, LOD and DES procedures are warranted. For example, if a service-member sustains a serious neck injury during an off-duty sporting event, an LOD determination may be required to determine whether the service member was in the line of duty at the time of the injury (the results will impact the service member’s benefits and/or obligations). Similarly, a profile may be required restricting the service member from deploying and/or participating in the physical fitness program (PEB/MEB may be warranted as well).

- LODs also play a significant role in the DES process for Air Reserve Component members

OFFICER GRADE DETERMINATIONS

While the grade at which an officer retires after serving at least twenty years is normally the highest grade held, federal law permits the SecAF to retire both active and reserve officers in a lower grade if their service has not been “satisfactory.” This authority has been delegated to the Director, Air Force Review Boards Agency. In those cases where an officer’s conduct or record raises questions as to the quality of his/her service in a particular grade, an officer grade determination (OGD) is required.

- When an officer applies for retirement, any commander in the officer’s chain may initiate an OGD if there is evidence the officer’s service in the higher grade has been less than satisfactory.

- A commander MUST submit an OGD request through the MAJCOM if the officer has:
  -- Applied for retirement in lieu of judicial or administrative separation
  -- A conviction by court-martial
  -- A conviction by a civilian court for misconduct which did (or would) result in a mandatory comment and referral in the member’s next OPR
  -- Been the subject or any substantiated adverse finding from an officially documented investigation. Such cases include, but are not limited to, nonjudicial punishment, UCMJ punishment, reprimand or admonition within four years of the application for retirement.

- A commander MAY submit an OGD request through MAJCOM in other cases if he or she believes an OGD is appropriate.

- At the time an officer applies for retirement, the commander will review the officer’s record to determine if any of the above conditions exist. If based on that review, the commander initiates an OGD.
  -- The commander must notify the officer the OGD is being initiated and why
  -- The officer is given 10 calendar days to respond

- The commander then will make a recommendation regarding the officer’s retirement grade. That recommendation must accompany the retirement application as it is forwarded to the MPF.
- For retirement in lieu of administrative or punitive action, notification must indicate retirement in a lower grade may result.

- OGD packages, including matters and documents submitted by the member, are forwarded through command channels to AFPC who sends the case file to the Air Force Review Boards Agency. It is reviewed by the Air Force Personnel Board at Joint Base Andrews, Maryland with a recommendation given to the Air Force Review Boards Agency Director.

- Any questions concerning officer misconduct, reporting requirements, or the appropriate administrative or judicial response to misconduct should be addressed through the servicing staff judge advocate or MPF.

Tattoos/Brands, Body Piercing, and Body Alteration

The Air Force policy on tattoos/brands, body piercing, and body alteration is found in AFI 36-2903, chapter 3. Failure to comply with the standards concerning tattoos/brands, body piercing, and body alteration is punishable under Article 92, UCMJ. Members not complying with these provisions are subject to disciplinary action and may be involuntarily separated.

Tattoos/Brands

- The following tattoos/brands are prohibited:

  -- Unauthorized

    --- Tattoos/brands that are any of the following:

    ---- Obscene or advocate sexual, racial, ethnic, or religious discrimination

    ---- Commonly associated with gangs, extremist and/or supremacist organizations

    ---- Prejudicial to good order and discipline

    ---- Of a nature to bring discredit upon the Air Force

    --- Unauthorized tattoos are prohibited anywhere on the body, in or out of uniform, regardless of whether they can be covered by uniform items or not

  -- Inappropriate

    --- Tattoos/brands that

    ---- Exceed one-fourth of the exposed body part; or

    ---- Are above the collarbone and readily visible when wearing an open-collar uniform

    --- Inappropriate tattoos/brands must be covered using current uniform items (e.g., long-sleeved shirt/blouse, pants/slacks, dark hosiery, etc.) or removed

Tattoo Removal

- Members with an unauthorized tattoo/brand will have the tattoo removed at the member’s expense. Covering the tattoo is not an option.

- Members with an inappropriate tattoo/brand will cover it with a current uniform item or remove it
-- Depending on DoD medical resource availability, commanders may seek Air Force medical support for voluntary removal of inappropriate tattoos

DETERMINATION

- The member's commander determines on a case-by-case basis whether or not a tattoo/brand is unauthorized or inappropriate

-- MAJCOM commanders may impose more restrictive standards for tattoos/brands and body ornaments, on or off duty, in those locations where Air Force-wide standards may not be adequate because of cultural sensitivities or mission requirements

-- For example, in a foreign country where tattoos/brands or body ornaments are objectionable to host country citizens or at installations where members are undergoing basic military training, a commander may impose more restrictive rules for military members, even off duty and off the installation

BODY PIERCING

- Members are prohibited from attaching, affixing, or displaying objects, articles, jewelry, or ornamentation through the ear, nose, tongue, eye brows, lips, or any other exposed body part (which includes visible through the uniform), when:

  -- Wearing a military uniform

  -- Performing official duty in civilian attire

  -- Wearing civilian attire on a military installation (not including areas around family and privatized housing)

- Females in uniform or in civilian clothes while on duty may wear one small spherical, conservative white diamond, gold, white pearl, silver pierced or clip earring per earlobe; the earrings in both earlobes must match and the earrings must fit tightly without extending below the earlobes unless the piece extending is the connecting band on clip earrings

- In civilian clothes while off duty but on a military installation, females may wear conservative earrings within sensible limits

- Male Airmen are not authorized to wear earrings on a military installation or while in uniform or in civilian attire for official duty

- Situations may arise where a commander may restrict the wear of even nonvisible body ornaments
These situations include any ornamentation that may interfere with the performance of the member’s military duties.

The factors to consider when making this determination include (but are not limited to) impairing the safe and effective operation of weapons, military equipment, or machinery; posing a health or safety hazard to the wearer or others; and interfering with the proper wear of special or protective clothing or equipment.

Commanders should consult with their servicing staff judge advocate prior to taking action.

Body Alteration/Modification

Members are prohibited from altering or modifying their bodies if the alteration

-- Is intentional; and

-- Results in a visible, physical effect that disfigures, deforms or otherwise detracts from a professional military image.

Examples include, but are not limited to, tongue splitting or forking; tooth filing; and acquiring visible, disfiguring skin implants, and gouging (piercing holes large enough to permit light to shine through).

FAMILY MEMBER MISCONDUCT

Installation commanders must constantly try to resolve difficult problems arising from family member misconduct. The installation commander is responsible for maintaining good order and discipline and protecting Air Force resources, yet has little authority when it comes to punishing civilians in general, and family members in particular. Nonetheless, there are certain actions available to address family member misconduct.

COMMANDER RESPONSIBILITIES AND OPTIONS
- Administrative Actions
  -- Suspend or revoke privileges
    --- Driving suspension may be mandatory in certain circumstances (e.g., drunk driving)
    --- BX/Commissary
    --- MWR facilities
    --- Commercial solicitation
  -- Terminate military family housing
    --- Requires 30-days written notice
    --- Air Force pays for the move
  -- Debarment
    --- 18 U.S.C. § 1382 makes it a crime to enter the installation after previously being debarred
    --- Debarment should be in writing, setting forth the specific reasons for debarment. Debarment may be indefinite, but set time limits are recommended.
    --- Must still provide access to medical treatment if authorized and available
Criminal Actions

-- Criminal actions depend upon the jurisdiction of the base

-- If the base is under exclusive federal jurisdiction, family members may be prosecuted in federal magistrate court. This is a federal prosecution and potential conviction.

-- If the base has concurrent jurisdiction, either federal court or state court may be the proper forum for prosecuting family members. Several states are very possessive of their jurisdiction over juveniles. Refer this issue to your staff judge advocate. Some bases have negotiated memoranda of understanding with state juvenile authorities to determine prosecution of such cases.

-- If the base has only proprietary jurisdiction, the state retains the authority to prosecute family member misconduct (involving only state crimes) occurring on the installation. Any family member misconduct should be referred to the local authorities for prosecution.

-- Some installations have established programs for handling juvenile misconduct. Often called Juvenile Correction Boards, these boards consider juvenile cases and recommend to the commander how to handle the matter.

Removal from Base Housing

- The Air Force prefers that military personnel retain their assigned family housing for the duration of their tour at the installation unless there are reasons that justify termination.

- Military personnel may be required to terminate occupancy of family housing when:

  -- The conduct or behavior of the member or dependent family member is contrary to accepted standards or is adverse to military discipline.

  -- The member or dependent family members are responsible for willful, malicious, or negligent abuse or destruction of property.

  -- The member fails to comply with the Air Force family child care program.

- Cases involving early termination must be fully documented and should be retained on file for a minimum of one year. An involuntary move from military family housing is at government expense; however, partial dislocation allowance is not payable. Commanders are authorized to terminate housing for the above reasons with 30-days written notice to the member. Basic due process probably requires allowing the member the right to respond (orally/in writing) before the commander makes his/her decision.

FAMILY DAY CARE HOMES

The purpose of establishing a family child care program on an Air Force installation is to make child care available to military members so that they can more successfully perform their military mission, secure in the knowledge that their children’s safety, health, and well-being are protected.

LICENSING REQUIREMENTS
- Any individuals caring for other families’ children a total of more than 10 hours a week on a regular basis must be licensed to provide care in on-base quarters.
  -- The requirement to be licensed is computed by multiplying the number of hours the provider offers care on a regular basis by the number of children in care.
  -- This requirement does not apply to:
    --- Individuals who occasionally provide care for a friend or neighbor.
    --- Individuals providing babysitting on an occasional basis for other families.
    --- Teenagers doing evening or weekend babysitting for families.
    --- Child care provided in the parents’ own home.
    --- Parent day care cooperatives.
    --- Temporary full-time care of a child during a parent’s absence for temporary duty or deployment by the person listed on the AF IMT 357, Family Care Certification.
- Those who wish to be licensed must submit a completed AF IMT 1928, Family Day Care License Application.
- Family home day care providers must have all licenses, certifications, and/or registrations required by the county, state or country in which the family day care home is located.
- Applicants’ homes must be inspected prior to receiving a license.
Requirements to Become a Provider
- Applicants must:
  -- Be at least 18 years of age
  -- Have the ability to read, speak, and write English
  -- Be physically and mentally capable of providing care
  -- Be willing and able to complete the training required of family child care providers
  -- Be willing to agree in writing to the requirements for family child care providers
  -- Be able to obtain the required insurance coverage

Prohibitions Against Licensing
- Applicants will not be licensed if:
  -- They have had their family child care license revoked on another military installation or by a county, state, or country unless there is evidence to suggest the reasons why their license was revoked would not be a factor in future home child care operations
  -- They or any of their household members have been arrested for or convicted of child abuse or neglect, a criminal act involving violence, or other acts which would make them unsuitable for caring for children
  -- They or any of their household members have a history of domestic violence or mental or physical illness that would suggest they are not suitable for caring for children
  -- They or any of their household members have been the perpetrator in a substantiated case of child abuse or neglect
  -- They are active duty members

- A provider can care for no more than six children including the provider's own children under the age of eight at one time

- A provider may not care for more than two children including the provider's own children less than two years of age
Suspensions
- The license of a family child care provider will be suspended if:
  -- They are under investigation for child abuse or neglect
  -- They have a household member who is under investigation for child abuse or neglect
  -- They are under investigation for a criminal act or have a household member under investigation for a criminal act
  -- They have life-threatening deficiencies in their homes
  -- They do not correct deficiencies identified in monthly inspections
  -- They have a long-term communicable illness that could affect the health of children
  -- They are experiencing extreme stress as a result of some unexpected personal or family situation

Revocations
- The license of a family child care provider will be revoked if:
  -- They committed substantiated child abuse or neglect
  -- They have a household member who committed substantiated child abuse or neglect
  -- They have been found to have a history of substantiated child abuse or neglect
  -- They exhibit a pattern of using inappropriate guidance techniques
  -- They exhibit a pattern of non-compliance with Air Force requirements for family child care homes
  -- They committed a criminal act or have a household member who has committed a criminal act that impacts their ability to provide in-home child care
  -- They do not correct life-threatening deficiencies

- The support group commander or wing commander has the final authority and responsibility for suspending and revoking family child care licenses
GENERAL PROGRAM RULES

- After a provider is approved, they will be subject to monthly, unannounced home visits

- Providers are required to report any suspected abuse or neglect to the family advocacy office and family child care coordinator

- Providers are not permitted to use negative punishments such as harsh verbal direction, shaming, belittling, spanking, hitting, arm-twisting, or withholding food or drink

- Each family day care provider must have at least $300,000 personal liability insurance before accepting children for care and automobile liability insurance if children are transported in a vehicle

AFI 34-276, Family Child Care Programs (1 November 1999)
CHILD DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS

INSTALLATION COMMANDER RESPONSIBILITIES
- Installation commanders are charged with:
  -- Establishing child development programs on the installation to provide child care for employed active duty and DoD civilian parents of children from six weeks to six years of age
  -- Making resources available to make child care services affordable
  -- Ensuring children’s health, safety, and well-being is protected while they are in child development programs

REGULATIONS
- The administration of child development programs is highly regulated.

- For example, AFI 34-248, Child Development Centers, establishes very detailed rules governing, among others, the following topics: facilities and equipment, fire protection, curriculum, staff-to-child ratios, nutrition and food service, child abuse protection, health, and safety.

SHORT-TERM HOURLY CARE
- Short-term hourly care, extending no longer than one hour before the start and one hour after the end of the function for which the care is being offered, can be made available if family child care providers or another Services program, such as the youth program, are otherwise unavailable

AIDS AND HIV ISSUES
- HIV-positive children may be enrolled when it is appropriate for their health, neurological development, behavior, and immune status. Do not require routine screening of children for HIV prior to program entry.

- The CDC director must inform only those with a need to know about the HIV-positive child’s condition. This does not usually include other staff in the center or the parents of the other children enrolled.

- HIV-positive individuals may be employed in child care programs and HIV-positive individuals may be approved as family child care providers unless their care would endanger their health or that of others
Persons with AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome), or persons with family members exhibiting symptoms of AIDS, may not be employed in child care or approved as family child care providers.

Child Development Center (CDC) Alternative
- As an alternative to the CDC, each installation with military family housing must have a procedure for approving individuals to provide family child care in on-base quarters on the installation. These providers often offer child care for extended hours for military members who work a swing shift or night shift and for special needs children.

  -- Program oversight is provided by the family child care panel

  -- Rigid requirements are in place to ensure providers are qualified, licensed, and insured

  -- Strict guidelines are maintained to ensure children’s health, safety, and well-being are protected

SUMMARY COURT OFFICERS

For deceased active duty Air Force members (and other entitled individuals), the Air Force collects, safeguards, and promptly disposes of their personal property and personal effects. The installation commander appoints a summary court officer (SCO) to perform these duties in accordance with AFI 34-511, Disposition of Personal Property and Effects. For deceased DoD civilians, see AFI 34-511, para 4.4, and AFI 36-809, Civilian Survivor Assistance.

Definitions

- Personal Effects: Any personal item, organizational clothing, or equipment physically located on or with the remains. Some examples of personal effects include eyeglasses, jewelry, wallets, insignia, and clothing.

- Personal Property: All of the other personal possessions of the decedent. Some examples of personal property include household goods, mail, personal papers, and privately owned vehicles. Personal property does not include real property except for any debts associated with real property.

Prioritized List of Recipients to Receive Personal Property and Personal Effects

- Surviving spouse or person designated by spouse

- Children in order of age. If the recipient is a minor, forward the property as instructed by the minor’s surviving parent, guardian or adopting parent.

- Parents in order of age. If parents divorced or legally separated while the deceased was a minor, then the recipient is the custodial parent.

- Siblings in order of age

- Next of kin of the deceased

- A beneficiary named in the will of the deceased

Handling and Disposing

- Personal Effects

  -- The mortuary officer (MO) inventories, cleans, and secures the personal effects

  -- The SCO collects and disposes of any organizational clothing and equipment

  -- Once the MO ensures the authorized recipient has been officially notified of the death, the MO asks the authorized recipient to provide instructions for disposing of the personal effects
-- The MO may only destroy personal effects after receiving written authorization by the authorized recipient

- Personal Property. The SCO:

  -- Obtains property disposition instructions and the name and contact information of the authorized recipient from the MO

  -- Corresponds with the authorized recipient

  -- Places at least two death announcements in the base bulletin and/or newspaper asking anyone with a claim for or against the estate to step forward

  -- Inventories all property on DD Form 1076

  -- Promptly gathers the uniform/clothes needed for burial and gives to the MO

DISPOSAL OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Personal property of Air Force members and employees, as well as residents and visitors on Air Force installations, can come into the custody or control of the Air Force for a variety of reasons: death, capture, missing in action, incompetency, absence without leave, desertion, medical evacuation, loss, abandonment, or a failure to claim. SecAF is authorized to dispose of such property pursuant to 10 U.S.C. §§ 2575 and 9712.

Special procedures are established in AFI 34-242, Mortuary Affairs Program, and AFI 34-511, Disposition of Personal Property and Effects, for disposition of property of deceased, missing, captured, or detained members, including a detailed method for determining the next of kin entitled to receive the property.

FOR DECEASED MEMBERS
- A base mortuary officer (MO) is responsible for collecting, cleaning, inventorying, and safeguarding property until the appointment of the summary court officer (SCO)
- A SCO is normally appointed by the installation commander to continue to collect, inventory, and safeguard the property. The SCO will also dispose of the property.

FOR MISSING, DETAINED, AND CAPTURED PERSONS
- The MO secures and holds the property for 30 days or until the member’s status is changed from missing to detained or captured
- If either (1) the missing member’s status is changed to detained or captured, or (2) there is no change in status after 30 days, then the property is released to the SCO
- If the missing member returns, the property is released to the member
- The SCO secures, inventories, and disposes of the property to those authorized to receive it in the event of the member’s death

CHAPTER NINE: THE AIR FORCE LEGAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Overview of Legal Assistance Program ................................................................................................................................. 370
Notaries ................................................................................................................................................................................. 374
Preventive Law Program ...................................................................................................................................................... 377
Wills and Powers of Attorney .............................................................................................................................................. 379
OVERVIEW OF LEGAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Under 10 U.S.C. § 1044, the armed services may provide legal assistance to eligible beneficiaries concerning personal, civil legal problems subject to the availability of legal staff resources. Legal assistance in the Air Force is provided in accordance with AFI 51-504.

LEGAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM STRUCTURE

- SJAs make every effort to satisfy all legal assistance needs. However, providing legal assistance is contingent upon SJAs local legal resources and expertise. The Air Force has two categories of service, with priority given to mobility and deployment related legal assistance.

  -- Mobility/deployment-related legal assistance: ensures the legal difficulties of military members do not adversely affect command effectiveness or mission readiness. Not determined solely by the subject matter, but by the relationship between command readiness and solving the member’s specific legal issue.

  -- Non-mobility/deployment-related legal assistance: not specifically defined in the instruction; however, it is limited to personal, civil legal problems. Base legal offices will provide non-mobility-related legal assistance as resources and expertise permit, as determined by the SJA.

ELIGIBILITY FOR LEGAL ASSISTANCE

- Active duty members, including reservists and guardsmen on federal active duty under Title 10 of the U.S. Code, and their dependents who are entitled to an ID card

- This includes Air Reserve component members performing Active Guard/Reserve (AGR) tours

- Members of reserve components not otherwise covered following release from active duty under a call or order to active duty for more than 30 days for a period of time equal to twice the length of order to active duty. Dependents entitled to an ID card are eligible during the same time period.

- Retirees and their dependents entitled to an ID card

- Civilian employees stationed outside the U.S. and its territories and their family members who are entitled to an ID card and reside with them

- Reservists and National Guard not on Title 10 status, but subject to federal mobilization in an inactive status, are eligible for legal assistance for mobility/deployment-related legal assistance
- DoD civilian employees and contractors deploying to or in a theater of operations for contingencies or emergencies shall be furnished assistance with wills and powers of attorney IAW DoDI 1400.32.

- Foreign military personnel may be provided legal assistance in limited circumstances for specific matters.

- Matters relating to the settlement of estates of service members who die on active duty or as a result of an injury or disability that resulted in retirement from active duty. Or to the primary next-of-kin.

Legal Assistance Services Provided

- Wills, living wills, powers of attorney, and notary service.

- Adoptions.

- Domestic relations.

- Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA) and veterans’ reemployment rights issues.

- Casualty affairs.

- Dependent care issues, including family care plans.

- Financial responsibilities.

- Landlord-tenant and lease issues, including privatized housing.

- Consumer affairs.

- Tax assistance.

- Victims of crime.

- Other issues deemed connected with personal civil legal affairs by The Judge Advocate General, the major command SJA, the numbered air force SJA, the base SJA, or the commander.

Matters Outside the Scope of the Program

- The following are specifically considered outside the scope of legal assistance:

  - Business or commercial enterprises, except in relation to the SCRA.

  - Criminal issues.
-- Standards of ethical conduct issues

-- Law of armed conflict issues

-- Official matters in which the Air Force has an interest, such as the Reports of Survey program

-- Legal concerns or issues raised on behalf of another person

-- Private organizations

-- Representation of a client in a civilian court or administrative proceeding

-- Drafting or reviewing real estate sales or closing documents, separation agreements, divorce decrees, or inter vivos trusts unless the SJA determines an individual attorney within the office has the expertise to do so

Ethical Responsibilities

- Information received from a client during legal assistance, and documents relating to the client are legally confidential and privileged

  -- Privileged information may be released only with the client’s express permission, pursuant to a court order, or as otherwise permitted by the Air Force Rules of Professional Responsibility

  -- Disclosure may not be lawfully ordered by any superior military authority

- If a commander is contacted by a legal assistance attorney on behalf of a client, e.g., regarding a member’s failure to provide financial support to family members, the commander should understand the legal assistance officer is representing the interests of that particular client

  -- If the commander needs advice concerning the matter, he or she should contact the SJA

  -- The SJA represents the interests of the Air Force, unlike the individual legal assistance officer who primarily represents the interests of the particular legal assistance client

- Referral: Due to the scope and limitations of the program, as well as the particular needs of the client, it is often necessary to refer clients to other sources, such as a civilian attorney (through the local bar referral service), the area defense counsel, chaplain, EO counselor, military personnel flight, family advocacy or the family support center

Notaries

Many important documents should be or are required by law to be notarized. Notarization demonstrates that the person who signed the document is in fact the person who is required to sign the document, and can also confirm that the person made an oath as a part of executing the document.

Eligibility for Air Force Notary Service
- Personnel eligible for notary service executed under Title 10 of the U.S. Code are:
  - Members of the armed forces
  - Other persons eligible for legal assistance under 10 U.S.C. § 1044 or other regulations of the DoD, to include AFI 51-504
  - Persons serving with, employed by, or accompanying the armed forces outside the U.S., Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands
  - Other persons subject to the UCMJ outside the United States

Persons with Notary Authority
- Under 10 U.S.C. § 1044a and Air Force instructions, the following individuals have the general powers of a notary public and of a consul of the United States in the performance of all notary acts:
  - Judge advocates on active duty
  - Reserve judge advocates at ALL times, not just when on active duty or performing inactive duty training
  - Civilian attorneys serving as legal assistance attorneys
  - Adjutants, assistant adjutants, and personnel adjutants, including Reserve members on active duty or performing inactive duty training
  - Enlisted paralegals, E-3 or higher, on active duty, or those Reserve component members performing inactive duty training
  - Commissioned officers or master sergeant and above stationed at geographically separated units (GSUs) or remote locations where no judge advocate or paralegal notary is assigned, who have been designated in writing by the GSU’s servicing general court-martial convening authority staff judge advocate
Special Rules for Certain Military Instruments

- 10 U.S.C. §§ 1044b, 1044c, and 1044d, provide for the execution of military powers of attorney, military advance medical directives (commonly referred to as a “living will”) and military testamentary instruments (commonly referred to as a “will”). These documents:

  -- Are exempt from any requirement of form, formality, or recording that is required under the laws of a state

  -- Military powers of attorney and advance medical directives, but not wills, are also exempt from any state requirements of substance

  -- Shall be given the same legal effect as powers of attorney, living wills, and wills prepared and executed in accordance with the laws of the state concerned. Military advance medical directives are not enforceable in states that otherwise do not recognize living wills.

- All other documents, notarized under the authority of 10 U.S.C. § 1044a, are subject to state law as to form, substance, formality or recording

Notary Procedures and Guidelines

- Notary procedures and guidelines include:

  -- Personnel signing documents as a notary under 10 U.S.C. § 1044a must:

    --- Specify date and location and list title and office

    --- Use an inked stamp or a raised seal that contains a cite to 10 U.S.C. Section 1044a, and the identifiers “U.S. Air Force” and “Judge Advocate”

    --- Verify the identity of each person whose signature is to be notarized, usually with an ID card

    --- Administer an oath for any “sworn” document

    --- Maintain a personal notary log that remains with the individual notary and which includes each signer’s name and signature, type of document, date, and location

  -- Personnel signing documents as a notary under 10 U.S.C. § 1044a must NOT:

    --- Notarize incomplete documents

    --- Accept any fees for the performance of a notarial act
--- Certify a document as a true and accurate copy unless they are the custodian of the original. Only the custodian of the original document can create “certified” copies.

PREVENTIVE LAW PROGRAM

The Air Force preventive law program’s purpose is to educate military members and their families on legal issues in order to allow them to focus upon mission requirements, to prevent legal problems from occurring, and to reduce the time and resources needed to correct legal problems when they do occur. The program includes information on all legal matters, not just legal assistance issues.

PROGRAM EMPHASIS AND CONTENT
- Every base must have a preventive law program that includes, as a minimum:

  -- Mobilization and Deployment Preparation: Educating members on personal legal needs for mobility readiness, such as the importance of preparing wills and powers of attorney

  -- Commander and First Sergeant Awareness: Educating commanders, first sergeants, and staff agency chiefs on the full range of legal services provided by the legal office and on all legal matters affecting the installation

  -- Promote Service Member Awareness: Educating base populace on the importance of recognizing legal issues and seeking timely legal advice, as well as considering the legal consequences of their actions prior to signing legal documents

  -- Identify Common Legal Problems and Novel Legal Concerns: Maintaining vigilance to identify new legal concerns such as local consumer scams

HOW THE PREVENTIVE LAW PROGRAM WORKS
- The program is administered through JA functional channels and its scope at a given base depends on the available resources of the base staff judge advocate and the judge advocate appointed as the base preventive law officer. Rather than focusing on individual legal assistance clients, the program consists of an aggressive base-wide education program. Examples of activities that are part of the preventive law program include:

  -- Conducting oral presentations at commander and first sergeant seminars, commanders’ calls, staff meetings, base committee meetings, and newcomers’ orientations

  -- Submitting articles for base newspapers, daily bulletin notices, or unit bulletin boards; preparing handouts or pamphlets on topics of interest for distribution at the legal office or other appropriate offices, such as the family support center

  -- Base radio, intranet, or television programs

  -- Presenting legal training workshops for law enforcement personnel

Wills and Powers of Attorney

To ensure mission readiness, members must effectively manage their personal and financial affairs. Wills and powers of attorney (POAs) can be very useful, especially for members with mobility responsibilities. A will is an instrument by which a person, known as a “testator,” makes a disposition of their property to take effect after their death. A POA is a document by which a person conveys the authority to handle specified affairs. Commanders should emphasize the importance of preparing wills, POAs, and other necessary documents prior to deployment, preferably upon initial assignment to a unit or to a mobility position.

Wills

- Though it must be a free and voluntary act by the service member, most Airmen should have a will, especially the following:

  -- Personnel with minor children

    --- Without a will, a court has little valid guidance to help determine where to place minor children

    --- The court will generally follow the designation of a guardian for the children in a will. More importantly, such designation normally prevents indecision and family disputes concerning who will care for orphaned children.

  -- Personnel with special needs children require expert advice to ensure the children are properly cared for and do not get removed from government programs due to inadequate estate planning or no estate planning at all

  -- Personnel with extensive or certain valuable property

  -- Personnel in a subsequent marriage or with blended families where either spouse comes to the marriage with children from a prior relationship

- Even between husband and wife with little property other than a house, a surviving spouse may find settling affairs easier with a will. Many states have “family probate” laws which allow a spouse to probate a valid will without a lawyer and with minimal expense.

- Without a will, property is distributed according to state law

  -- Generally, state laws leave all property in the following order of precedence: surviving spouse, children, parents, then siblings. Some states divide property between the surviving spouse and children; thus, minor children may receive property.
-- Each state’s scheme varies, but generally the property will only pass to blood relatives, not to in-laws or stepchildren.

-- A common misconception is that without a will, all of a person’s property goes to the state. Normally, a state will not receive the property unless there are no surviving relatives.

-- If a member does not want state law to determine what happens to his estate, the member must make a valid will.

- A will is normally written in general language and will be effective until changed or revoked by the testator. However, events may impact specific provisions in the will. Therefore, a will should be reviewed periodically and whenever any of the following occur:
  -- The birth or death of any person affected by the will
  -- The marriage or divorce of the testator
  -- A substantial change in the testator’s estate

- The requirements for making a valid will vary widely from state to state. The base legal office ensures each member’s will is validly executed under applicable law. For this reason, members should avoid “do-it-yourself” wills.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY

- A Power of Attorney (POA) is a document that allows someone else to act as your legal agent. Though the agent may not be an attorney-at-law, he or she becomes an “attorney-in-fact,” or agent, when granted authority under a POA. POAs are available at all base legal offices and should be tailored to a given situation.

- Although a POA can be very useful, it can be abused as well. Personnel should carefully choose to whom they grant authority. Third parties, e.g., businesses or banks, may or may not accept a POA, at their discretion. To revoke a POA before its expiration, personnel may execute a revocation of POA and give a copy to any person that might deal with the person who has the original POA.

-- Special POA
  --- Grants limited authority to accomplish specific transactions
  --- Duration is limited by the person giving the POA or to a reasonable time within which to accomplish the transaction, usually not more than one year
Examples include buying/selling real estate, purchasing/selling a car, or shipping/storing household goods.

-- General POA

--- Gives comprehensive authority over virtually all legal and some non-legal affairs. Basically, the person named can do any and all things the grantor could do.

--- Because the authority granted is so expansive, this type of POA should only be used if a special POA will not suffice and if the agent is completely trustworthy.

--- A person with a general POA, who is not trustworthy, has the ability to cause very serious problems, i.e., financial or legal, for the grantor.

--- Many banks and realtors will not accept a general POA for the purchase or sale of real estate, and instead require a special POA containing the legal description of the property and the actions authorized.

-- Durable POA

--- Takes effect upon, or is still effective notwithstanding, a person’s medical incapacity and designates another person to make decisions on behalf of the incapacitated person. A general or special POA may be made “durable” with appropriate language.

--- Allows the attorney-in-fact to make decisions or manage affairs on behalf of the incapacitated person for the duration of the incapacity.

--- The authority may extend to decisions for medical purposes, including a decision regarding terminating or limiting medical care in appropriate cases.

--- Generally eliminates the need for a court to establish a guardian and conservator for the incapacitated person.

- Military Powers of Attorney and Wills

  -- 10 U.S.C. §§ 1044b, 1044c, and 1044d, respectively provide for the execution of military powers of attorney, military advance medical directives, known as “living wills,” and military testamentary instruments, commonly referred to as a will. These documents:

--- Are exempt from any requirement of form, formality, or recording that is required under the laws of a state.
Military powers of attorney and advance medical directives are also exempt from any state requirements of substance.

Shall be given the same legal effect as powers of attorney, living wills, and wills prepared and executed in accordance with the laws of the state concerned. Military advance medical directives are not enforceable in states that otherwise do not recognize living wills.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND TREATMENT

INTRODUCTION
The federal government enacted many statutes to ensure equal opportunity (EO). Almost all of these apply to civilian employees as victims. They do not cover military members as victims, but DoD and Air Force anti-discriminatory policies protect both military members and civilian employees through a bifurcated system. The primary difference in this bifurcated system is that military members are limited to presenting their complaints to forums within the executive department. Civilian employees, on the other hand, have the right to file a complaint before an independent federal court after exhausting administrative remedies within the executive department.

- The following are key EO statutes:

  -- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

  -- Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972

  -- The Rehabilitation Act of 1973

  -- The Age Discrimination Act of 1978

  -- The Civil Rights Act of 1991

CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964
- The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is the most important single source of anti-discrimination law in this country

- Title VII of the act forbids illegal employment discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin, and gender

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY ACT OF 1972
- The Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972 made Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 applicable to the federal work force; however, the term “employee” only applies to federal civilian employees as victims

- The law does not apply to military members as victims

REHABILITATION ACT OF 1973
- The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 prohibits employment discrimination against handicapped individuals within the federal government

- The law does not apply to military members as victims
- The Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990 is the private sector counterpart to the Rehabilitation Act, but it does not apply to the federal government

Age Discrimination Act of 1978
- The Age Discrimination Act of 1978 forbids illegal discrimination on the basis of age for people over 40 years old
- The law applies to civilian employees as victims
- The law does not apply to military members as victims

Civil Rights Act of 1991
- The Civil Rights Act of 1991 amended Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to expand remedies available to victims of discrimination
- Compensatory damages (e.g., pain and suffering, emotional distress) awards up to $300,000 are allowed for a violation of Title VII
- The law does not apply to military members as victims
- Monetary judgments or settlements made during the “administrative phase” are payable from the local base O&M funds

Air Force Policy
- Air Force policy is to conduct its affairs free from unlawful, arbitrary discrimination or sexual harassment, and to provide equal opportunity and treatment irrespective of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex
- Commanders are required to immediately conduct a Commander-Directed Investigation (CDI) when an employee files a complaint of discrimination based on sexual harassment. This applies equally to both military members and civilians.
- Commanders must take appropriate administrative or disciplinary action to eliminate or neutralize discrimination and its effects

Air Force Equal Opportunity Program
- AFI 36-2706, Chapters 4 and 5, set out the Air Force Military Equal Opportunity program for processing both informal and formal discrimination complaints made by military members
- Military members are limited to presenting administrative complaints of discrimination, which when substantiated are addressed through command action; they cannot bring a civil action against the government for employment discrimination and they cannot receive any kind of monetary damages normally available for civilians in the same situation

-- Air Force policy is clear: “Zero tolerance” of any kind of unlawful discrimination against military members on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin or gender

-- Discrimination can be generally defined as any action that unlawfully or unjustly results in unequal treatment on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, national origin or gender, and the distinctions are not supported by legal or rational considerations

-- Such discrimination includes, but is not limited to:

--- Insults, printed materials, visual materials, signs, symbols, posters, or insignias that infer negative statements pertaining to protected status (e.g., race, religion)

--- Personal discrimination to bar or deprive a person of a right or benefit

--- Sexual harassment

--- Institutional practices that deprive a person or group of a right or benefit

-- The military equal opportunity (MEO) office is the OPR for the Air Force EO program and handles almost all informal and formal complaints of discrimination brought by military members

-- Exceptions include instances involving criminal misconduct investigated by base law enforcement authorities, and military EO complaints against senior officials, consisting of officers in the grade of O-7 select and above, Air National Guard colonels with a certificate of eligibility, and members of the Senior Executive Service, which are investigated by the inspector general (IG)

Installation Commander’s Responsibilities

- Provide an environment free from unlawful discrimination and sexual harassment

- Develop policies to prevent unlawful discrimination and sexual harassment and ensure those policies are prominently posted in locations and areas frequented by the base population

- Communicates the importance of the relationship of unlawful discrimination and sexual harassment prevention to readiness and a professional climate

- Ensure military and civilian personnel attend human relations education as required
- Direct the assessment of the installation human relations climate through the installation climate assessment committee

- Ensure appropriate disciplinary and corrective actions are taken if unlawful discrimination or reprisal is substantiated

- Review all closed EO cases on a monthly basis

- Ensure rating and reviewing officials evaluate compliance with directives prohibiting unlawful discrimination and sexual harassment and document serious or repeated deviations

- Decide first-level appeals of formal complaints of discrimination

UNIT COMMANDER’S RESPONSIBILITIES

- Inform unit members of the right to file EO complaints without fear of reprisal

- Inform members through briefings and EO policy memoranda that unlawful discrimination and sexual harassment will not be tolerated and that appropriate disciplinary and corrective action will be taken if unlawful discrimination or reprisal is substantiated

- At a minimum, provide MEO the demographics of participants and action taken on all EO allegations investigated within the unit

- Investigate allegations of unlawful discrimination or sexual harassment when the complainant has elected not to file with the MEO office

  -- Appoint an EO specialist to serve as a SME and be consulted on any report per AFI 36-2706, para. 1.23.14

- Take action to end unlawful discrimination or sexual harassment when a formal MEO complaint/incident is substantiated

- Enforce EO policy in a fair, impartial, and prompt manner

- Ensure rating and evaluating officials evaluate compliance with EO directives and document repeated or serious violations

- Inform alleged offender(s) they are the subject of a formal MEO complaint, ensure they are cautioned against taking reprisal or other retaliatory actions, and ensure they are briefed on the outcome of the MEO case when it is closed and advise on their right to appeal

- Accomplish unit climate assessments
COMPLAINT PROCESSING PROCEDURES

- MEO serves as the focal point for complaints of discrimination brought by military members, but the nature of the complaint will determine which agency conducts the investigation.

- Military EO complaints against senior officials, consisting of officers in the grade of O-7 select and above, Air National Guard colonels with a certificate of eligibility, and members of the Senior Executive Service, must be immediately referred to SAF/IGS.

- EO must notify the installation commander and local IG when there is a military EO complaint against an officer in the grade of O-6, an officer who has been selected for O-6, or a civil service employee in the grade of GS-15, and the installation commander must notify MAJCOM/IGQ and SAF/IGQ of such complaints.

- Complaints involving criminal activity such as assault, rape, or child abuse must be immediately referred to OSI or SFS. In cases of sexual assault, the EO specialist will also notify the SARC.

- Complainants may elect to use informal complaint process, which may include alternate dispute resolution (ADR).

- When MEO investigates a complaint of discrimination, it is called a clarification and the allegation is documented on AF IMT 1587.

- Base-level MEO personnel conduct clarifications of formal complaints.

- The purpose of clarification is to determine whether a formal complaint is supported by a preponderance of the credible evidence.

- A preponderance of the credible evidence means more likely than not.

- If a clarification results in a determination that an alleged violation has occurred, the case MUST be forwarded through the servicing SJA to the offender’s and the complainant’s commander for appropriate action.

- Both the complainant and the subject of a formal EO complaint may appeal the findings upon completion of complaint clarification.

- All appeals must be in writing.

- There is no right to a personal hearing.

- Commanders are not required to withhold command action pending an appeal.
Installation commanders, MAJCOM/CVs, and SAF/MRB are authorized to decide appeals of formal complaints of discrimination.

First level of appeal is to the lowest level of command authorized to decide the appeal, usually the installation commander.

The appellate authorities may sustain or overrule any finding rendered below or remand the matter for further fact finding.

SAF/MRB is the final review and appeal level for findings of formal complaints of unlawful discrimination.

Findings rendered pursuant to command action under the UCMJ are not subject to appeal through MEO channels.

EO must forward closure documents, as set forth in AFI 90-301, to SAF/IGQ in all completed EO cases with complaints against officers in the grade of O-6, officers who have been selected for O-6, and civil service employees in the grade of GS-15, and all completed EO cases with substantiated findings against officers in the grades of O-4 and O-5.

Performance Evaluation Reports
- Rating and reviewing officials MUST consider membership in groups espousing supremacist causes or advocating unlawful discrimination in evaluating and assigning military members.
- While mere membership in such groups is not prohibited, members who join groups espousing supremacist causes or advocating unlawful discrimination may not be suited to hold supervisory or other responsible positions if their personal views would be in conflict with EOT guidelines they are required to support.
- Rating and reviewing officials must document serious or repeated deviations from DoD and Air Force directives prohibiting discrimination.

Reprisal/Whistleblower
- Air Force members are protected from reprisal for making, preparing, or attempting to make, a complaint of unlawful discrimination or sexual harassment to EO personnel, an IG or a member of the IG’s investigative staff, members of Congress or a member of their staff, DoD law enforcement organizations, or any other person or organization in the member’s chain of command designated pursuant to AFI 90-301 or other established administrative procedures to receive such communications.
- Reprisal complaints are referred by EO to the installation IG (see “The Inspector General Complaints Resolution Process” on the next page).

THE INSPECTOR GENERAL COMPLAINTS RESOLUTION PROCESS

OVERVIEW
The inspector general (IG) is the “eyes and ears” of the commander. The IG complaints resolution program is a leadership tool to resolve problems affecting the Air Force mission promptly and objectively.

- The IG will encourage complainants to try to resolve their problem(s) at the lowest level first—this usually means the chain of command

- The IG has authority to process a variety of complaints related to violations of law, policy, procedures or regulations, abuse of authority, etc.

- The IG has the authority to process certain types of allegations: (1) fraud, waste and abuse, (2) reprisal, and (3) restriction

- The IG MAY NOT be used for:
  -- Matters normally addressed through other channels unless there is evidence those channels mishandled the matter or process
  -- Matters listed in AFI 90-301, Table 3.6 (e.g., civilian reprisal complaints, civilian EO complaints, military EO complaints not involving a senior official, claims against the government, Article 138, UCMJ, complaints)

IG INVESTIGATIONS
- IG investigations are distinct from other investigations, such as commander-directed investigations (CDIs)

- An investigating officer (IO) investigates pursuant to AFI 90-301 when properly authorized, in writing, by the appropriate appointing authority

- A complaint analysis may result in a referral, including referral to a commander to consider a CDI, or dismissal of the allegation(s)

- The standard of proof to substantiate an allegation during an IG investigation is a preponderance of the evidence
  -- The IO must be satisfied that the greater weight of the credible evidence supports the findings and conclusions
  -- This means that it is more likely than not that the events occurred
Reprisal (“Whistleblower” Protection) Complaints

- Reprisal is a violation of federal law, 10 U.S.C. § 1034, and may result in disciplinary action under the UCMJ or applicable civilian directives or instructions.

- Reprisal occurs when a responsible management official (RMO) takes (or threatens to take) an unfavorable personnel action or withholds (or threatens to withhold) a favorable personnel action for making or preparing to make a protected communication.

  -- RMOs include three categories: (1) deciding officials; (2) those who influenced/recommended the action; and (3) approvers/reviewers/endorsers.

  -- Personnel actions include actions that affect OR have the potential to affect a military member’s current position or career (e.g., promotion, disciplinary/corrective action, reassignment, performance report); the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014, which became effective 26 December 2013, specifically included a significant change in the duties or responsibilities of a military member not commensurate with the member’s grade as an example of a personnel action.

  -- There are three types of protected communications:

    --- (1) Any lawful communication made to a member of Congress or an IG.

      ---- An unlawful communication is a communication that itself constitutes misconduct, a violation of the UCMJ, or a violation of other criminal statute (e.g., knowingly false statements, unauthorized disclosures of classified information, threatening statements).

    --- (2) A communication of information reasonably believed to evidence a violation of law or regulation when made to any of the following (list is not all inclusive):

      ---- A member of Congress or a member of their staff; an IG or a member of the IG’s investigative staff; personnel assigned to DoD audit, inspection, investigation, law enforcement, equal opportunity, safety, and family advocacy organizations; any person in the member’s chain of command; and the Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force, command chiefs, group/squadron superintendents, and first sergeants; the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014, which became effective 26 December 2013, added a court-martial proceeding to this list.

    --- (3) The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014, which became effective 26 December 2013, added as a protected communication testimony or assistance in an investigation related to one of the other types of protected communications.
communication and filing, causing to be filed, participating in, or otherwise assisting in a reprisal or restriction action

Examples of a protected communication: a major tells his commander about what the major reasonably thinks is a threat to flight safety; a senior airman tells her civilian director about what the senior airman reasonably believes to be sexual harassment by her immediate supervisor against an airman basic

To analyze allegations of reprisal, IOs must use a four-part reprisal “acid test” (note: the IO should use the acid test from the version of AFI 90-301 in effect at the time of the alleged wrongdoing and the wording of the acid test varies slightly in the various versions):

-- Did the military member make or prepare to make a protected communication?

-- Was an unfavorable personnel action taken or threatened or was a favorable action withheld or threatened to be withheld following the protected communication?

-- Did the RMO(s) know about the protected communication?

-- Does the preponderance of the evidence establish that the personnel action would have been taken/threatened or withheld/threatened to be withheld if the protected communication had not been made? To answer this question, IOs must consider five factors:

--- Reasons the RMO took/threatened, withheld/threatened to withhold, recommended/influenced, or approved/endorsed the action

--- Reasonableness given complainant’s performance/conduct

--- Consistency with the RMO’s past practice

--- Motive of the RMO for the action

--- Procedural correctness of the action

If the IO determines reprisal did not occur, the IO must conduct an analysis to determine if an abuse of authority occurred

-- Abuse of authority is an arbitrary and capricious exercise of power that adversely affects any person OR results in personal gain or advantage to the abuser

-- Arbitrary and capricious is defined as the absence of a rational connection between the facts found and the choice made, constituting a clear error of judgment

CHAPTER TEN Civil Law Rights and Protections of Military Personnel 393
To analyze whether an abuse of authority occurred, IOs must use an “acid test” (note: the IO should use the acid test from the version of AFI 90-301 in effect at the time of the alleged wrongdoing and the wording of the acid test varies slightly in the various versions):

--- Did the RMO’s actions either: (a) adversely affect any person; OR (b) result in personal gain or advantage to the RMO?

--- If the answers to both subparts of the question are no, then it is not necessary to continue with the acid test; if the answer to either subpart of the question is yes, then the IO must continue with the acid test

--- Was the RMO’s action either: (a) outside the authority granted under applicable regulations, law, or policy; OR (b) arbitrary and capricious? To answer this question, IOs must consider the following three factors (note: the IO should use the acid test from the version of AFI 90-301 in effect at the time of the alleged wrongdoing and the wording varies slightly in the various versions):

---- Reasons the RMO took/threatened, withheld/threatened to withhold, recommended/influenced, or approved/indorsed the action

---- Reasonableness given complainant’s performance/conduct

---- Consistency with the RMO’s past practice

- All reprisal investigations undergo IG and legal reviews at the major command, SAF, and DoD levels

- IG, DoD renders final review/approval

Restriction Complaints

- 10 U.S.C. § 1034 and AFI 90-301 also states that no person may restrict a military member from communicating with a member of Congress or an IG as long as the communication is lawful

- An unlawful communication is a communication that itself constitutes misconduct, a violation of the UCMJ, or a violation of other criminal statute (e.g., knowingly false statements, unauthorized disclosures of classified information, threatening statements)

--- Example of restriction: Commander says, “You will bring any problems you have to me before going outside the chain of command”
- Unlawful restriction is a violation of federal law, 10 U.S.C. § 1034, and may result in disciplinary action under the UCMJ or applicable civilian directives or instructions.

- To analyze restriction allegations, IOs answer the following three questions:

  -- (1) How did the subject limit or attempt to limit the member’s access to an IG or a member of Congress?

  -- (2) What was the intent of subject? To answer this question, IOs must consider the following three factors:

    --- Reasons for restricting or taking actions that created barriers to making protected communication(s)

    --- Reasonableness of the subject’s actions

    --- Motive for the subject’s actions

  -- (3) Would a reasonable person, under similar circumstances, believe he/she was actually restricted from making a lawful communication with the IG or a member of Congress based on the subject’s actions?

- If the IO determines restriction did not occur, the IO must conduct an analysis to determine if an abuse of authority occurred (see discussion of abuse of authority under “Reprisal (‘Whistleblower’ Protection) Complaints” section above.

- All restriction investigations undergo IG and legal reviews at the major command, SAF, and DoD levels.

- IG, DoD renders final review/approval.

Improper Mental Health Evaluation (MHE) Referral Complaints

- According to the most recent AFI 90-301, the IG does not investigate improper mental health evaluation referrals.

Special Processing Requirements

- Reprisal, restriction, and improper MHE referral complaints have unique reporting requirements as set forth in AFI 90-301.

- ONLY SAF/IGS handles complaints against senior officials, consisting of officers in the grade of O-7 select and above, Air National Guard colonels with a certificate of eligibility, and members of the Senior Executive Service; complaints involving senior officials should be reported immediately to SAF/IGS.
- All complaints, regardless of the nature of the allegation, alleging O-6 misconduct (even if handled by a CDI) must be reported to SAF/IGQ; all substantiated findings of wrongdoing resulting from any type of investigation or inquiry against O-6s and/or adverse information (e.g., LOC, LOA, LOR, Article 15 punishment), regardless of whether or not there was a formal investigation or inquiry, against O-6s must be reported to SAF/IGQ.

- All substantiated findings of wrongdoing resulting from any type of investigation or inquiry against O-4s and O-5s and/or adverse information (e.g., LOC, LOA, LOR, Article 15 punishment), regardless of whether or not there was a formal investigation or inquiry, against O-4s and O-5s must be reported to SAF/IGQ.

CONFIDENTIALITY
- Communications made to the IG are NOT privileged or confidential.
- However, disclosure of these communications, and the identity of the communicant, will be strictly limited to an official need-to-know.

BOTTOM LINE
- The potential for an IG complaint should not ever dissuade a commander from taking timely and appropriate corrective or preventive actions for legitimate reasons.
- Commanders should coordinate with their staff judge advocates for effective legal guidance on these issues.

Prohibition on Sexual Harassment

Historical Background

- No federal statute explicitly defines or outlaws sexual harassment in the workplace; however, several federal court decisions in the 1970s established sexual harassment as illegal sex discrimination in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

  -- Title VII’s prohibitions were made applicable to federal civilian employees as victims through the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972

  -- The protections of Title VII do not specifically apply to military members as victims

  -- The Department of Defense’s response to the issue of sexual harassment was the promulgation of DoDD 1350.2, Department of Defense Military Equal Opportunity (MEO) Program, which establishes policy for DoD and provides guidance to the military services for the implementation of their own equal opportunity and treatment programs to combat sexual harassment

  -- The Air Force’s equal opportunity and treatment program is set forth in AFI 36-2706, Equal Opportunity Program Military and Civilian

- The Civil Rights Act of 1991 allows for recovery against an employer, which can include the Air Force, of compensatory damages (pain and suffering, emotional harm, etc.) up to $300,000 per individual in cases of intentional discrimination brought by civilian employees. Such damages would likely have to be paid out of local base O&M funds.

Definitions

- The Air Force defines sexual harassment as a form of sex discrimination that involves unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

  -- Submission of such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of a person’s job, pay, or career

  -- Submission to or rejection of such conduct by a person is used as a basis for career or employment decisions affecting that person

  -- Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment
Workplace conduct may be actionable as “abusive work environment” harassment even if it does not result in concrete psychological harm to the victim; rather, it need only be so severe or pervasive that a reasonable person would perceive, and the victim does perceive, the work environment as hostile or offensive. “Workplace” is an expansive term in the military context and may include conduct on or off duty, 24 hours a day.

Any person in a supervisory or command position who uses or condones any form of sexual behavior to control, influence, or affect the career, pay, or job of a military member or civilian employee is engaging in sexual harassment.

Any military member or civilian employee who makes deliberate or repeated unwelcome verbal comments, gestures, or physical contact of a sexual nature in the workplace is also engaging in sexual harassment.

Although sexual harassment is generally perpetrated by men against women, any form of unwelcome sexual advance against employees of either gender may constitute unlawful sexual harassment.

Types of Sexual Harassment

- Quid pro quo (meaning “this for that”) sexual harassment occurs when an employee suffers or is threatened with some kind of employment injury for refusing to grant sexual favors or is promised some sort of tangible job benefit in exchange for sexual favors.

  -- Generally, it involves a supervisor/subordinate relationship where the victim is told to submit to sexual requests or be fired, demoted, or denied a promotion, an award, training opportunity, objective appraisal, etc.

  -- A single incident may be enough to qualify as quid pro quo sexual harassment.

  -- A threat to take action that changes a victim's employment situation in exchange for sexual favors without an actual job benefit or detriment is sufficient to constitute quid pro quo sexual harassment under Air Force regulations.

- Hostile environment occurs when a supervisor, co-worker, or someone else with whom the victim comes in contact on the job creates an abusive work environment or interferes with the employee’s work performance through words, actions, or conduct that is perceived as sexual in nature.
-- Some examples include:

--- Discussing sexual activities

--- Unnecessary touching

--- Commenting on physical attributes

--- Displaying sexually suggestive pictures or pornography

--- Using demeaning or inappropriate terms, such as “babe”

--- Using unseemly or profane gestures

--- Granting job favors to those who participate in consensual sexual activity

--- Using sexually crude, profane, or offensive language

-- A single act, if severe enough, may support a cause of action for hostile environment sexual harassment

-- The nature, severity, frequency, and duration of the conduct are some factors the courts consider when evaluating whether certain conduct constitutes sexual harassment

-- How severe or pervasive the harassment must be to constitute sexual harassment depends upon the specific facts

--- Conduct that constitutes harassment in one situation may not in another; however, the commander who demands professional, civil conduct from members of the organization will prevent most of the problems that arise in this area

--- An isolated epithet does not usually support a cause of action for hostile environment discrimination

---- That does not mean that commanders are in any way restricted from taking disciplinary action based upon a single incident

---- In fact, commanders are required to act to stop sexual harassment no matter how minor the conduct may be

--- Because the legal boundaries involved in this type of sexual harassment are so foggy, supervisors and subordinates alike should avoid ANY sexual conduct in the workplace or any behavior that is in any way demeaning to members of the opposite sex

--- All complaints, regardless of whether they appear to meet the legal test of hostile environment sexual harassment, should be quickly investigated and appropriate action taken to stop offensive conduct

--- Hostile environment sexual harassment is the most difficult type to recognize, and the particular facts of each situation determine whether offensive conduct has crossed the line from simply inappropriate behavior to sexual harassment

- Under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, civilian victims may sue the Air Force for monetary damages for sexual harassment in either form

  -- An employer (i.e., the Air Force) will almost always have no defense in a case of sexual harassment if the facts show conduct that resulted in an actual tangible employment action (firing, demotion, etc.)

  -- Provided no tangible employment action occurred, an employer (i.e., the Air Force) may be able to establish a defense to either limit or avoid liability if the employer has a formal, published policy against sexual harassment; provides training to its employees and supervisors about sexual harassment (and how to stop it); has a grievance and complaint system in place; and takes prompt effective corrective action to remedy a complaint of sexual harassment

  -- If a commander finds out about an incident of sexual harassment (or an incident that could be sexual harassment), the commander should not wait for a complaint to be filed; rather, the commander should use his/her inherent authority to begin an inquiry into the matter in an effort to determine whether the conduct constituted sexual harassment and to remedy the problem

- Command attention to sexual harassment must include the following actions:

  -- Publish clearly the Air Force’s policy on sexual harassment, i.e., zero tolerance

  -- Ensure that civilian employee/military member avenues of communication and complaint are well publicized throughout the unit

  -- Provide appropriate training on sexual harassment

  -- Act quickly to investigate all complaints of sexual harassment in a fair and impartial manner
Seek advice from the MEO office, the staff judge advocate (SJA), and the civilian personnel office, as appropriate, before taking action against offenders.

Commander’s Inquiry under 10 U.S.C. § 1561 (Sexual Harassment Investigations and Reports)—Military or Civilian Complainant

- 10 U.S.C. § 1561 was passed in 1998 by Congress to ensure that complainants in sexual harassment cases receive a timely investigation and response to their complaints.

- It is important to remember that a complainant (either military or civilian) may elect the commander’s inquiry and/or the equal opportunity (EO) process for military complainant/equal employment opportunity (EEO) process for civilian complainant.

- The process is dual-tracked in that if the commander’s inquiry, if elected by the complainant, is conducted even if the EO/EEO process has not been completed.

- When the commander receives a complaint, 10 U.S.C. § 1561 requires several actions (commanders should consult the local SJA office for assistance). Within 72 hours after receipt of the complaint, the commander must:

  -- Forward the complaint or a detailed description of the allegation to the general court-martial convening authority (GCMCA).

  -- Begin the investigation.

  -- Advise the complainant of the beginning of the investigation.

- The commander is responsible for ensuring the investigation is completed no later than 14 days after it was commenced.

- The commander shall also submit a report on the progress made in completing the investigation to the GCMCA within 20 days after the investigation began and every 14 days thereafter until the investigation is completed, and upon completion of the investigation, then submit a final report on the results of the investigation, including any action taken as a result of the investigation.

Complaint Processing—Military Complainant

- The MEO office is the OPR for the Air Force EO program and has primary responsibility for the maintenance of the program and for handling complaints of sexual harassment.

  -- If a complaint (formal or informal) is filed with MEO, it will be handled by the EO officer and the alleged occurrence of harassment will be called an EO incident.
-- Generally, a formal complaint filed with MEO will generate an investigation by MEO personnel called a clarification

-- The clarification is designed to determine the facts and cause of the EO incident, assess the severity of the incident and the effect on morale and good order and discipline, and develop recommendations concerning the classification of the incident and appropriate corrective action

--- A clarification will include witness interviews, taking statements, reviewing records and documents, and will ultimately conclude with a report by an investigating officer

--- The standard of proof used in a clarification is a preponderance of the credible evidence (i.e., more likely than not)

--- At the conclusion of the investigation, the EO incident will be either unsubstantiated or substantiated and therefore a recommendation will be made

--- Strict time standards exist for completion of the clarification

-- If the EO incident is substantiated, a legal review is required before the report is forwarded to the concerned commander for appropriate action

-- The complaint process allows for an appeal of the findings of the clarification of formal complaints of sexual harassment

--- Findings concerning an informal complaint may be appealed by filing a formal complaint

--- Either the complainant or the subject may appeal to the next higher commander

--- Command action may continue regardless of the existence of an appeal

--- The appropriate legal office will conduct a legal review if the matter is appealed to the next level of command

--- The Air Force Review Boards Agency is the final review and appeal level

- MEO will not investigate a complaint that involves criminal or homosexual conduct

-- Criminal conduct will be handled by the base law enforcement community
The Military Commander and the Law

Homosexual conduct must be handled by the commander consistent with the guidance for enforcing the military’s homosexual conduct policy.

Complaints against senior officials, colonels and colonel selects are investigated by the IG.

If the result of a clarification is inconclusive, the IG may institute an investigation.

MEO will not investigate a complaint filed by a civil service employee, but rather will document the complaint and refer it to the EEO office regardless of the status of the alleged offender.

Complaints of sexual harassment against senior officials, consisting of officers in the grade of O-7 select and above, Air National Guard colonels with a certificate of eligibility, and members of the Senior Executive Service, must be immediately referred to SAF/IGS.

EO must notify the installation commander and local IG when there is a sexual harassment complaint against an officer in the grade of O-6, an officer who has been selected for O-6, or a civil service employee in the grade of GS-15, and the installation commander must notify MAJCOM/IGQ and SAF/IGQ of such complaints.

EO must forward closure documents, as set forth in AFI 90-301, to SAF/IGQ in all completed EO cases with complaints against officers in the grade of O-6, officers who have been selected for O-6, and civil service employees in the grade of GS-15 and all completed EO cases with substantiated findings against officers in the grades of O-4 and O-5.

Complaint Processing—Civilian Employee Complainant

The EEO counselor is the OPR for complaints of sexual harassment brought by civilian employees.

Pre-Complaint: After a complainant has made initial contact with the EEO Office, an EEO counselor will advise the complainant of certain rights and obligations, place all allegations in the pre-complaint process regardless of merit or timeliness, and attempt to resolve the situation between the parties. The EEO counselor has 30 days to complete this process (60 days upon agreement by the complainant).

If the EEO counselor is unable to resolve the situation during pre-complaint processing, the complainant is advised that he/she may file a formal complaint of discrimination.

Formal Complaint: The EO counselor will, among other things, advise the complainant of further rights.
During this time, the complaint is evaluated by civilian personnel and the legal office for soundness and possible settlement.

The CCD requests a complaint investigator from the investigations and resolutions division (IRD) within 30 days of the date the formal complaint was filed.

IRD will investigate the complaint and send a copy of the report of investigation and complaint file to the CCD, Air Force Civilian Appellate Review Office (AFCARO), and the complainant or complainant’s designated representative.

The complainant must then elect whether an EEOC hearing is desired or whether he or she prefers the Air Force to issue a final decision.

The complainant and the commander can meet and discuss possible resolution of the complaint during the period of time the complainant is deciding which route to pursue.

The complainant has 30 days from receipt of the report of investigation to request an EEOC hearing.

After the formal complaint process, it is possible for the complainant to make various appeals and eventually file suit in federal court; consult the legal office for further information.

SAF/MRBA is responsible for notifying SAF/IGS when an EO complaint is made against a senior official, consisting of an officer in the grade of O-7 select and above, an Air National Guard colonel with a certificate of eligibility, or a member of the Senior Executive Service.

SAF/MRBA notifies SAF/IGQ when an EO complaint is made against an officer in the grade of O-6, an officer who has been selected for O-6, or a civil service employee in the grade of GS-15.

EO must forward closure documents, as set forth in AFI 90-301, to SAF/IGQ in all completed EO cases with complaints against officers in the grade of O-6, officers who have been selected for O-6, and civil service employees in the grade of GS-15 and all completed EO cases with substantiated findings against officers in the grades of O-4 and O-5.

Command Options to Address Substantiated Complaints of Sexual Harassment

- Commanders who find military personnel to have engaged in sexual harassment have the usual disciplinary and administrative options, including counseling, admonishment, reprimand, nonjudicial punishment, administrative discharge, and court-martial.

- Commanders who find civilian personnel to have engaged in sexual harassment should normally focus any disciplinary action on the offensive act or acts involved (e.g., unwelcome touching, offensive comments) rather than alleging sexual harassment, and may deal with the misconduct pursuant to AFI 36-704, Discipline and Adverse Actions, in the following manner:

-- Any disciplinary action, which includes punishment greater than suspension for more than 14 days, can be appealed to the U.S. Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB)

-- At an MSPB proceeding, the Air Force must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the misconduct (e.g., offensive touching, offensive comments) took place and that the punishment imposed serves to promote the efficiency of the service

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES BY AIR FORCE MEMBERS

Political activities by Air Force members may be restricted in order to reach the goal of a politically neutral military establishment through avoidance of partisan politics. The Air Force provides guidance on permissible and impermissible political activities in AFI 51-902, Political Activities by Members of the U.S. Air Force. Violations of AFI 51-902 are punishable under Article 92, UCMJ, Failure to Obey a Lawful Regulation.

PERMITTED POLITICAL ACTIVITIES
- Air Force members MAY:

  -- Register to vote, vote, and express a personal opinion on political candidates and issues, but not as a representative of the Air Force

  -- Make monetary contributions to a political organization or political committee favoring a particular candidate or slate of candidates, subject to limitations under federal election laws

  -- Attend political meetings or rallies as a spectator when not in uniform and when no inference or appearance of official sponsorship, approval, or endorsement can reasonably be drawn

  -- Write a letter to the editor of a newspaper expressing the member's personal views concerning public issues, if those views do not attempt to promote a partisan political cause

    --- If the letter or blog identifies the member as a member of the Armed Forces, it should clearly state that the views expressed are those of the individual only and not those of the Department of Defense

  -- Display a political bumper sticker (traditional size) on the member's private vehicle or wear a political button when not in uniform and not on duty
-- Write a personal letter, not for publication, expressing preference for a specific political candidate or cause, if the action is not part of an organized letter-writing campaign on behalf of a partisan political cause or candidate

  -- March or ride in a partisan political parade

  -- Participate in any organized effort to provide voters with transportation to the polls if the effort is organized by or associated with a partisan political party or candidate
-- Attend, as an official representative of the Armed Forces, partisan political events, even without actively participating

-- Engage in the public or organized recruitment of others to become partisan candidates for nomination or election to a civil office

-- Make campaign contributions to another member of the armed forces or an officer or employee of the federal government for promoting a political objective or cause

-- Solicit or receive a campaign contribution from another member of the armed forces or from a civilian officer or employee of the United States for promoting a political objective or cause

-- Use contemptuous words against the office holders described in Article 88, UCMJ (for officers)

-- Display a large political sign, banner, or poster on the top or side of a member's private vehicle (as distinguished from a political bumper sticker)

-- Display a partisan political sign, poster, banner, or similar device visible to the public at one's residence on a military installation, even if that residence is part of a privatized housing development

-- Sell tickets for, or otherwise actively promote, partisan political dinners and other such fund-raising events

Campaigning and Holding Public Office

- Air Force members may NOT be a candidate for nomination or as a nominee for civil office except:

  -- With proper approval from SecAF, a member may be permitted to file evidence of nomination or candidacy for nomination as required by law

  -- A request for approval will normally not be granted unless the member is likely to separate from active duty/active duty training at least 30 days before the scheduled election

- Approved candidates for civil office may use biographical data from their military careers and photographs of themselves in uniform provided:

  -- Any images depicted are an accurate portrayal of their performance of duties; and
They use a disclaimer that such information and images does not constitute endorsement by DoD or the Air Force.

- Except as authorized by law, regular officers on the active duty list, and members on active or full-time National Guard duty under a call or order for a period of more than 270 days, may not hold or exercise the functions of a civil office, including:
  - Federal elective, Presidential-appointed, or senior executive service offices
  - Any office in the government of a state; the District of Columbia; a territory, possession, or commonwealth of the United States; or in any political subdivision of the foregoing
  - Such members may hold or exercise the functions of other federal civil offices when assigned or detailed to that office to perform those functions

- Enlisted members may seek and hold nonpartisan civil office on a local school board, neighborhood planning commission, and similar agencies provided that the office is held in a private capacity does not interfere with the performance of military duties

- Officers on active duty may seek and hold nonpartisan civil office on an independent school board that is located exclusively on a military reservation, but such offices must be held in a private capacity and may not interfere with military duties

MEMBERSHIP AND PARTICIPATION IN HATE GROUPS

- Air Force members must reject participation in organizations that espouse supremacist causes; extremist, or criminal gang doctrine, ideology, or causes, including those that advance, encourage, or advocate illegal causes; attempt to create illegal discrimination based on race, creed, color, sex, religion, or national origin; advocate the use of force or violence; or otherwise engage in the effort to deprive individuals of their civil rights.

-- Active participation in these organizations, such as publicly demonstrating or rallying, fund raising, recruiting and training members, knowingly wearing gang colors or clothing; having tattoos or body markings associated with such gangs or organizations; organizing or leading such organizations, or otherwise engaging in activities or acting in the furtherance of the objectives of such organizations that the commander finds to be detrimental to good order, discipline, or mission accomplishment, is prohibited.

--- Members who violate this prohibition are subject to disciplinary action under Article 92 of the UCMJ.

--- Commanders should intervene early, primarily through counseling, when observing such signs even though the signs may not rise to active advocacy or active participation or may not threaten good order and discipline, but only suggest such potential.

--- Commanders are authorized the full range of administrative and disciplinary actions, including separation, against those who actively participate in these organizations.

-- Mere membership in these organizations is not prohibited, but must be considered in evaluating and assigning military members.

- The military equal opportunity office (MEO) is responsible for assisting commanders in ensuring that the Air Force equal opportunity policy against discrimination and sexual harassment is fulfilled through the equal opportunity and treatment (EOT) program.

- An EOT incident (EOTI) is an overt, adverse act, occurring on or off base, directed at an individual, group or institution, which is motivated by, or has overtones based on race, color, national origin, religion or sex, which has the potential to have a negative impact on the installation human relation climate.

-- Incidents may include slurs, vandalism, graffiti, discriminatory epithets, signs, or symbols.
MEO will classify the incident as minor, serious, or major depending upon the number of participants involved, the degree of any property damage, and the nature and extent of any physical injuries sustained as a result of the incident.

CHAPTER TEN
Civil Law Rights and Protections of Military Personnel

EXTREMIST ACTIVITIES

OVERVIEW
Air Force commanders have the inherent authority, and responsibility, to take action to ensure the mission is performed and to maintain good order and discipline. This includes placing lawful restriction, when appropriate, on dissident and protest activities. At the same time, commanders balance this responsibility with a service member’s right of expression consistent with law and impact on the overall command climate and unit cohesion. In assessing a situation involving extremism, commanders should consult with their staff judge advocates and other staff members in order to respond in an appropriate and prudent manner.

GENERAL RESTRICTIONS
Participation in extremist organizations is incompatible with Air Force standards. Air Force Core values serve to promote unit morale and, among other things, emphasize the right of all airmen to live and work in an environment free of harassment, unlawful discrimination, and illegal treatment. In supporting these core values, Airmen are expected to avoid the following:

- Membership in groups that advocate supremacist causes; encourage racial, gender, or ethnic hatred or intolerance; advocate or engage in advocate illegal discrimination or the use of force and violence to unlawfully deprive individuals of their rights

- Participation in public demonstrations or rallies of such groups

- Attending a meeting or activity with the knowledge the event involves an extremist cause; when it constitutes a breach of law and order; when violence is likely to occur; or when in violation of off-limits sanctions or a commander’s order

- Participation in fund raising activities on behalf of an extremist group

- Recruiting or encouraging others to join an extremist organization

- Distribution of hate or extremist literature on- or off-base to include use of electronic media such as e-mail, Facebook, etc.

COMMANDER RESPONSIBILITIES
Commanders should ensure Airmen are fully aware of the Air Force position when it comes to participation in, or support of, extremist groups or causes. At the same time, Commanders must be vigilant and alert for possible indicators of extremist group activity. Extremist activity usually has an immediate impact on a unit, eroding the team concept as members divide into opposing factions. Early evidence of individuals’ affiliation or involvement in extremist activities may come to a commander’s attention in a number of ways including personal observation, reports through the chain of command, or anonymous calls or letters.
The following activities, in isolation, may not be indicators of potential violence or terrorist activity. However, they are likely to be detrimental to good order and discipline. In addition, taken in conjunction with significant contextual factors, they may indicate an individual at risk of developing into an insider threat.

- Encouraging disruptive/disobedient behavior
- Expressing hatred or intolerance of American society and culture
- Expressing sympathy for violence-promoting organizations
- Refusing to deploy for political reasons
- Associating with or expressing support for terrorists
- Browsing or visiting internet websites, without official sanction in the performance of duty, that promote or advocate violence directed against the United States or U.S. forces, or that promote international terrorism or terrorist themes
- Expressing outrage against U.S. military operations
- Expressing a “duty” to protect a foreign community, when the expressed “duty” conflicts with the service member’s current mission and/or U.S. national interests
- Possessing or seeking items that would be useful to terrorists but are not required for the airman’s performance of normal duties (e.g., night vision goggles or military GPS devices that might provide terrorists with capabilities that would otherwise be difficult to obtain)
- Advocating unlawful violence, the threat of unlawful violence, or the unlawful use of force to achieve goals that are political, religious, or ideological in nature
- Seeking spiritual sanctioning for unlawful violence

The following activities may be indicators of potential violence or terrorist activity and commanders should ensure their subordinates immediately report such indicia through command channels or to DoD law enforcement.

- Display of symbols through flags, patches or posters which reflect causes presenting a clear danger to the loyalty, disciple or morale of Air Force personnel
- Tattoos and other body markings which identify an airman as a member of an extremist group or promote the cause of such an organization
- Providing financial or other material support to a terrorist organization or to someone suspected of being a terrorist
- Expressing an obligation to engage in violence in support of terrorism/violent extremist groups, advocating extremists’ views or inciting others to do the same
- Purchasing bomb making materials, or obtaining information about their construction
- Engaging in para-military training with anti-U.S. individuals
- Distributing terrorist literature via the Internet
- Applying for membership in a violent/terrorist group
- Adopting a violent extremist ideology
- Expressing loyalty to terrorists
- Collecting intelligence for terrorists
- Talking knowingly about future terrorist events
- Expressing intent to commit a terrorist act
- Traveling overseas for terrorist training

Department of Army Pamphlet 600-15, Extremist Activities, provides additional guidance that commanders may find useful in identifying other signs or indicia of extremist activity by Airmen.

Commanders’ Options
Commanders’ options in responding to extremist activities include:

- Counseling and education; ensure Airmen under their command understand the impact of extremist activity upon the unit as well as the fact there will be vigorous enforcement of Air Force policies prohibiting such activity
- Disciplinary action; military and civilian employees may be disciplined for engaging in prohibited activity that adversely impacts the mission and creates workplace disruptions
- Involuntary separation when warranted by the circumstances
- Other administrative or disciplinary action based on the circumstances of the misconduct
- Use the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board process to declare off limits business, establishments, or events that promote or cater to extremist activities or positions. See AFJI 31-213, Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards and Off-Installation Liaison and Operations.

Extremist activities are extremely corrosive to unit cohesion and morale and, if unchecked, can result in loss of unit effectiveness and capability to accomplish its mission. Commanders need to lead by example and take immediate, vigorous action to promote Air Force Core Values and ensure extremism finds no ground to take root within their organizations.

SERVICEMEMBERS CIVIL RELIEF ACT

OVERVIEW
The Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA) provides a wide range of protection for individuals in the military service. The SCRA is intended to postpone or suspend certain civil obligations to enable service members to devote full attention to duty. The SCRA was enacted in 2003 and replaced the Soldiers’ and Sailors’ Civil Relief Act.

- The Act applies to active duty members in civil matters, NOT criminal matters

-- Certain provisions of the SCRA are more relevant to new accessions into the military, Reservists, and members of the National Guard, because they apply to pre-service obligations. Other provisions are more generally applicable to service members.

-- The protections generally begin on the date of entering active duty and generally terminate on the date of the person’s release from active duty. However, exceptions may apply, depending on which provision of the Act is sought. Members who face problems in the areas listed below should be referred to the base legal office.

MOST COMMON AND RELEVANT PROVISIONS
- Eviction: The SCRA prohibits eviction, without a court order, of a service member and dependents from rented housing where the rent does not exceed $3,329.84 per month, as of 2015. This amount is adjusted every February using a cost-of-living formula found in the Act and posted in the Federal Register. Unless, in the opinion of the court, the ability of the tenant to pay the agreed rent is not materially affected by the tenant’s military service, the court may delay eviction proceedings for up to three months.

- Lease Termination: A military member may unilaterally cancel a lease of premises if they receive orders (PCS or deployment for more than 90 days). In addition, a military member may cancel a pre-service lease for a motor vehicle if they receive orders bringing them onto active duty. A military member may cancel any motor vehicle lease (pre-service or signed during service) for deployment orders for more than 180 days, or PCS orders to a location outside of CONUS, or PCS orders from Alaska or Hawaii to any location outside of those states. Early termination fees are prohibited for residential and vehicle leases.

- Installment Contracts: A service member who enters into an installment contract before entering active duty is protected if a deposit or installment has been paid before entering military service. The creditor cannot exercise rights of rescission, termination, or repossession without a court order.
- Cellular Phones: A cellular phone service contract may be terminated or suspended if the service member receives military orders to relocate for a period of not less than 90 days to a location that does not support the contract. This includes deployment or TDY orders for 90 days or longer and PCS orders. Cancellation or suspension is without penalties or extra fees, and the service provider must refund any payments that were made in advance for services that were not provided.

- Maximum Rates of Interest: The interest rate on a member’s pre-service obligation must be capped at 6 percent unless the creditor shows that the ability of the service member to pay interest above 6 percent is not materially affected by reason of their military service. This relief applies during the entire period of active duty service and must be applied retroactively if the member does not request the cap at the outset of military service.

- Stay of Proceedings: Courts have the discretion to delay a civil court proceeding when the requirements of military service prevent the member from either asserting or protecting a legal right. The courts will look to whether military service materially affected the service member’s ability to take or defend an action in court. If the service member submits communication to the court showing: (1) how military requirements materially affect the ability to appear, (2) the date when the service member will be available to appear, and (3) communication from the commanding officer stating that duty prevents appearance and leave is not authorized; the court must grant a stay of at least 90 days.

- Default Judgments: Before a court can enter a default judgment (for failure to respond to a lawsuit or failure to appear at trial) against a military member, the person suing the member must provide the court with an affidavit stating the defendant is not in the military. If the defendant is in the military, the court will appoint an attorney to represent the defendant’s interests (usually by seeking a delay of proceedings). If a default judgment is entered against a service member, the judgment may be reopened if the member makes an application within 90 days after leaving active duty, shows he/she was prejudiced, and shows he/she had a legal defense.

- Insurance: A service member’s private life insurance policy is protected against lapse, termination, or forfeiture for nonpayment of premiums for a period of military service plus two years. The insured or beneficiary must apply to the Veterans’ Administration for protection. In addition, professional liability (malpractice) insurance must “freeze” when the member enters military service and then resume (exactly where it left off) after release from military service.
- Taxation: A service member’s state of legal residence may tax military income. A member does not lose legal residence solely because of a transfer pursuant to military orders. For example, if a member is a Virginia resident and is moved to a base in California, the member does not lose Virginia residency nor will he or she be subject to pay California state income tax on his/her military pay. Also, a non-resident service member’s pay may not be used to “lift” a spouse’s pay into a higher tax bracket (the so-called “Kansas rule”).

- Military Spouse’s Residency Relief Act: In 2009, Congress substantially changed the legal framework regarding spouse residency for tax purposes. The MSRRA revised the SCRA to provide that military spouses do not lose nor acquire a residence for tax purposes solely because of a military move. Furthermore, while only military income is protected from non-resident income tax for the service member, the MSRRA exempts all income for the non-resident spouse. In order to receive this protection, the statute’s language requires that the spouse’s residence be the same as the service member, although some states do not appear to be enforcing this requirement.

- Pre-Service Mortgages: Significant protections exist against foreclosure regarding mortgages obtained before a service member was called to active duty service. If foreclosure is initiated during active duty service, or with 9 months following active service, foreclosure can only be obtained with a court order and the court should stay the proceedings or adjust the obligation if the ability to pay is materially affected by service.

- Adverse Actions: Creditors and insurers may not use a service member’s exercise of rights under the SCRA as the sole basis for taking an adverse action (e.g., denial of credit, refusal of insurance) against the service member.

Reference:
The Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) encourages non-career military service by minimizing civilian employment problems resulting from such service. USERRA prohibits discrimination and acts of reprisal against members who serve in the uniformed services.

Overview

- An employer including any government or private entity, regardless of size, may not deny a person initial employment, promotion, or any benefit of employment because the person performed or is obliged to perform service in a uniformed service

--- Uniformed services means the Air Force, Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, the commissioned corps of the Public Health Service, Army National Guard, and the Air National Guard

--- Service in the uniformed services means performing duty on a voluntary or involuntary basis in a uniformed service. It includes active duty, active and inactive duty for training, initial active duty for training, full-time National Guard duty, and a period for which a person is absent from a position of employment for the purpose of an examination to determine the fitness of the person to perform any such duty.

Eligibility Criteria

- To have reemployment rights following a period of uniformed service, a person must meet all of the following eligibility criteria:

--- Must have held a civilian job, which may include temporary jobs

--- Must have given advance notice to the employer that they were leaving the job for service in a uniformed service, unless such notice is impossible or unreasonable

--- The period of service does not exceed five years

--- The period of service is cumulative as long as the person is employed by or seeking reemployment with the same employer. A person starting a new job with a new employer receives a new five-year entitlement.

--- Some categories of military service do not count toward the five-year limit such as most periodic and special Reserve and National Guard training, most service in time of war or emergency, and involuntary extensions on active duty
Must have been released from service under honorable conditions

Must have reported back to the civilian job in a timely manner or have submitted a timely application for reemployment

Entitlements

- People who meet the eligibility criteria under USERRA have seven basic entitlements:

  -- Prompt reinstatement

  -- Accrued seniority, as if the person had been continuously employed

    --- This is the “escalator principle,” meaning the returning veteran does not step back on the seniority escalator at the point he stepped off, but at the point he would have occupied had he kept his position continuously during his military service

    --- The “status” the person would have attained if continuously employed includes, for example, location, opportunity to work during the day instead of at night, and the opportunity to work in a department or at such times when there are better opportunities to earn commissions or to be promoted

  -- Immediate reinstatement of civilian health insurance coverage, if the member does not elect to continue it during service

  -- Other non-seniority benefits, as if the person had been on a furlough or leave of absence, such as holiday pay or bonuses

  -- Training or retraining and other accommodations
--- USERRA requires an employer to make reasonable efforts to qualify the returning person for work, including training on new equipment or methods

--- An employer must also make a reasonable effort to accommodate a returning disabled service member otherwise entitled to reemployment

---- A returning service member may have rights under USERRA based on a service-related disability that is not permanent. A service member who incurs a temporary disability may be entitled to interim reemployment in an alternate position provided he or she is qualified for the position and the disability will not affect his or her ability to perform the job. If no such alternate position exists, the disabled service member would be entitled to reinstatement under a “sick leave” or “light duty” status until he or she completely recovers.

---- If disability is such that it cannot be accommodated and disqualifies the person from their pre-service job, the employer is required to reemploy the person in some other position which is most similar to the position to which they are otherwise entitled in terms of seniority, status, and pay

-- A person reemployed by an employer shall not be discharged, except for cause

--- Within one year from being reemployed, if continuous service in the uniformed services was more than 180 days

--- Within 180 days from being reemployed, if continuous service was 31-180 days

--- No special protection exists for service of 30 days or less

-- Prohibition of discrimination or reprisal

--- An employer cannot deny initial employment, reemployment, retention, promotion, or any benefit of employment because of a person’s service or application to serve in the uniformed services

--- An employer also may not take adverse employment action against a person because they either take enforcement action under USERRA, testify or assist in an USERRA investigation, or exercise any right under USERRA

Assistance and Enforcement

- The Veterans’ Employment and Training Service within the United States Department of Labor will assist persons claiming rights under USERRA, including persons claiming rights with respect to the federal government as a civilian employer
The Office of Employer Support for the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) will also assist service members in enforcing USERRA, 1-800-336-4590

UNIFORMED SERVICES FORMER SPOUSES’ PROTECTION ACT

In 1982, Congress passed the Uniformed Services Former Spouses’ Protection Act (USFSPA) to provide certain benefits to the former spouses of military members.

WHAT USFSPA DOES
- Under USFSPA:
  -- State courts are allowed to divide disposable military retired pay between the member and spouse IF the state court desires
  -- Former spouses, in some circumstances, are able to receive a portion of the member's retired pay directly from the government
  -- Some former spouses are entitled to care at military medical facilities and access to military exchanges and commissaries
  -- Former spouses may be beneficiaries under the survivor benefit plan (SBP)
  -- Some victims of spousal or child abuse are also eligible for benefits

WHAT USFSPA DOES NOT DO
- USFSPA does NOT:
  -- Require courts to divide military retired pay
  -- Establish a formula or award a predetermined share of military retired pay to former spouses
  -- Place a ceiling on the percentage of disposable retired pay that may be awarded to a former spouse
  -- Require an overlap of military service and marriage as a prerequisite to division of military retired pay as property

DIVISION OF RETIRED PAY
- If a court apportions retired pay between member and spouse, only “disposable retired pay” (DRP) may be divided
  - DRP is defined as the member’s monthly retired pay minus certain deductions, such as income tax withholdings, survivor benefit plan premiums, and, if the member is entitled to disability pay, the product of the member’s monthly retired pay multiplied by the percentage of his disability
- Compensation not included in DRP, including disability compensation, is not subject to division by state courts

- Amounts paid directly to a former spouse cannot exceed 50 percent of member’s DRP

Jurisdiction under USFSPA

- USFSPA precludes a court from treating retired pay as the property of the member and their spouse unless the court has jurisdiction over the member based upon either

  -- The member’s residence, other than because of military assignment

  -- The member’s domicile

  -- The member’s consent to the court’s jurisdiction

Direct Payment of Retired Pay

- Direct payment of retired pay may be made to a former spouse from the military pay centers if

  -- There is a court order or a property settlement that has been ordered, ratified or approved by the court

  -- The final order specifically provides that payment is to be made from disposable retired pay and is for either

    --- Child support

    --- Alimony

    --- Division of retired pay as property, IF

      ----- The former spouse was married to the member for ten years or more, during which the member performed ten years or more of creditable service, and

      ----- The order expresses payment in dollars or a percentage of the member’s DRP

- Direct payments terminate upon the earliest of three events

  -- Terms of court order satisfied

  -- Death of the retired member

  -- Death of the former spouse
Procedure for request for direct pay. The former spouse must send the designated agent of the member’s uniformed service (for Air Force members, DFAS-CL) the following items:

-- A signed DD Form 2293, Application for Former Spouse Payments from Retired Pay, and

-- A copy of the court order and other accompanying documents that provide for payment of child support, alimony, or division of property. Any accompanying documents must be certified by an official of the issuing court.

Notification to DFAS can be by regular mail, e-mail, fax or certified mail.

No later than 30 days after effective service, DFAS shall send written notice to the affected member at the last known address.

DFAS may reject any request for direct pay that does not satisfy the statutory requirements.

If the member responds to the notification, DFAS will consider the response and will not honor the court order whenever it is shown to be defective, modified, superseded, or set aside.

No later than 90 days after effective service, DFAS shall make payment to the former spouse and inform him or her of the amount to be paid. If the court order will not be honored, an explanation shall be sent as to why the court order was not honored.

Eligibility for Military Benefits

An unremarried former spouse receives medical, commissary, base exchange, and theater privileges under morale, welfare, and recreation (MWR) if:

-- He or she was married to the military member for at least 20 years at the time of the divorce, dissolution or annulment.

-- The military member has performed at least 20 years of service that is creditable in determining eligibility for retired pay (the member does not have to actually be retired from active duty); and

-- The former spouse was married to the member during at least 20 years of member’s retirement-creditable service.
An unremarried former spouse may be eligible for limited medical benefits (but not BX or commissary privileges) IF:

-- He or she was married to the military member for at least 20 years at the time of the divorce, dissolution or annulment

-- The military member has performed at least 20 years of service that is creditable in determining eligibility for retired pay (the member does not have to actually be retired from active duty); and

-- The former spouse was married to the member during at least 15 years of member’s retirement-credible service

Qualifying former spouses who have remarried may receive a restoration of some benefits upon the termination of that marriage by divorce or death. Medical benefits, however, are lost forever upon remarriage, unless the marriage is annulled.

The Right to Financial Privacy Act (RFPA) provides privacy protection for customers' financial records held by financial institutions. It strikes a balance between an individual's privacy interest in these records and the government's interest in investigating criminal misconduct. The RFPA specifically describes the means by which government authorities can obtain an individual's financial records from a financial institution, provides notice and challenge procedures for the customer, and prohibits unfettered access by a government agent. The Act does not apply to obtaining access to financial records maintained by military banking contractors located outside of the United States, the District of Columbia, Guam, American Samoa, or the Virgin Islands. Failure to follow the requirements of the statute can result in litigation in U.S. district court, delays in courts-martial or administrative actions, and civil penalties.

Means for Obtaining Records for a Law Enforcement Inquiry

- A DoD law enforcement office may request basic identifying information relevant to a legitimate law enforcement inquiry without consent or notice. Such information includes:
  - Name
  - Address
  - Account number

- Consent: Preferred method is with the customer's consent. DoD and Air Force policy is to attempt to obtain consent, if feasible, before using other methods to obtain financial records.
  - Consent MUST be in writing in the prescribed form
  - The consent form must include a number of disclosures, to include the records being disclosed, the purpose for disclosure, the agency to which they may be disclosed, and the fact that consent ends after three months unless terminated earlier by the person. A “statement of customer rights” is used for this purpose.

- Search warrant: Issued by either a federal magistrate or a state judge within the applicable federal district
  - A military search authorization is only valid for records maintained at on-base banking institutions at overseas installations. Records must be maintained at the on-base location, not merely accessible from the on-base location.
  - AFOSI should coordinate with the SJA before obtaining warrants or search authorizations.
Within 90 days of executing a search warrant, the customer must be notified that the records were seized.

- Judicial subpoena: Once the convening authority refers a case to trial by court-martial, the trial counsel has authority to issue subpoenas under Article 46, UCMJ. See also R.C.M. 703(e). Accordingly, trial counsel may subpoena the financial records of an accused or of witnesses. Subpoenas for an accused’s records are exempt from the requirements of the RFPA. For witnesses, trial counsel must provide notification and an opportunity to challenge the subpoena.

- Administrative subpoena: DoD/IG is authorized in circumstances to issue administrative subpoenas.

- Formal written request: RFPA allows this procedure only if no administrative subpoena authority “reasonably appears to be available” to the government.

  -- Investigators must follow RFPA, DoD, and AFOSI requirements exactly.

  -- Notify the customer that if he wishes to prevent disclosure, he must complete a fill-in-the-blank form and sworn statement attached to the notice and file the forms with the court within ten days IAW RFPA. DoD Instruction 5400.15 gives the customer 14 days from service and 18 days from the initial mailing.

- The RFPA applies only in the states and territories of the U.S. (i.e., Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands), and the District of Columbia.

  -- At other installations, DoD Instruction 5400.15 allows use of a military search authorization to obtain records maintained at on-base military banking facilities and credit unions.

  -- Follow host nation procedures for off-base local national financial institutions.

MEDIA RELATIONS DURING AIRCRAFT ACCIDENTS

Within one hour after notification of an accident, Public Affairs (PA) should provide an initial news release with all available, releasable, commander-approved information to the news media, SAF/PA, and Air Force News Service. The initial release should include information as indicated in AFI 35-104, Media Operations, para 2.12.

ACCIDENTS ON MILITARY INSTALLATIONS
- If no classified material is exposed, the commander will permit news media photography

- If classified information or materials are exposed and cannot be covered or removed, media or visitors will not be allowed to photograph or videotape in the area

  -- Notify media or visitors of any restrictions on what can be filmed

  -- Bar or restrict media or visitors from sensitive sites or activities

  -- Immediately notify security forces of suspected filming of classified information or activities by media personnel or visitors. Security forces will confiscate the equipment, provide a receipt for any film or videotape seized and relinquish the equipment to OSI for further processing. Do not detain the media or visitors.

  -- OSI will review seized content to see if classified information is contained on the film or videotape. OSI will review and electronically edit classified information from any media coverage.

- Immediately notify the local Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI) if:

  -- The film contains classified information

  -- It appears there was intent to deliberately film or videotape classified information for purposes of profit, espionage, or to have any other significant adverse impact on national security

ACCIDENTS AT OFF-BASE LOCATIONS
- Unless an off-base accident site is declared a National Defense Area (NDA), on-scene commanders, PA, accident boards, and security forces have limited authority to deal with or manage media activity

- If no classified information is exposed, the senior Air Force representative may permit news media photography
- If it is undetermined whether classified information is exposed, explain that fact to any media photographers at the scene and advise them that no photography is authorized. Warn them that taking pictures without permission may violate federal law and subject them to future investigation.

- If classified information is exposed and cannot be covered or removed:

  -- Explain that federal law prohibits photography when official permission is expressly withheld and ask the news media to cooperate.

  -- Do not use force if news media representatives refuse to cooperate unless the area has been declared an NDA. If photographs are taken after a warning is issued, Air Force officials must ask civilian law enforcement authorities to stop further photography of the exposed classified information and to collect all photographs.

  -- If no civilian law enforcement authorities are present and news media representatives take unauthorized pictures, do not seize the videotapes or film or detain the photographers.

  -- Immediately contact the managing editor or news director of the medium employing each photographer.

  -- Explain the situation and request the return of videotape or film having suspected classified information.

  -- Explain failure to return the material to military authorities violates federal law, i.e., 18 U.S.C. §§ 793(e), 795, 797.

Releasing Names of Accident Victims

- Deceased: Generally, the responsible installation PA office releases the names of people killed in Air Force accidents only after the next-of-kin have been notified. Wing commanders may release the names before notifying next-of-kin when a military accident in a civilian community causes significant property damage or loss of life. This should only be done when, in the judgment of the commander, the needs of the public outweigh any potential distress of the victim’s next-of-kin.

- Survivors: Generally, release the names of all survivors immediately. Report survivors who are believed to be in immediate danger of dying as survived but in critical condition. If, in the commander’s opinion, releasing the survivors’ names will reveal the identity of deceased personnel prior to next-of-kin notification, withhold the names.
- Missing or Presumed Lost: PA office at departure base will release the names of passengers and crew to news media individually, as the next-of-kin are notified; this should not delay the announcement that the aircraft is missing.

- When key U.S. or foreign government officials are killed, injured, or missing while on an Air Force installation or in an Air Force vehicle or aircraft, notify OASD/PA press desk for public announcement by the White House Press Secretary.

ACCIDENT INVESTIGATIONS

- Commanders and PA representatives must not speculate about the causes of the accident, even if the cause seems obvious. Explain that only a safety investigation board (SIB) or accident investigation board (AIB) is qualified to determine the causes.

- Do not lead the reporter to believe that all SIB findings will be made available. Explain the purpose of the safety board is to prevent accidents, not to fix blame. The safety board's conclusions are privileged, as are statements given to the board under the promise of confidentiality, and must be protected.

- If a reporter requests the AIB or SIB report, direct him or her to the convening authority of the AIB. For more detailed information on accident report releases, refer to AFI 51-503, Aerospace Accident Investigations.

National Defense Areas

Air Force commanders are charged with responsibility for protecting DoD resources under their control. The responsibility is not limited to resources located on federal land under DoD jurisdiction, but applies to such resources wherever they are located, whether on or off a military installation. For the most part, commanders rely on federal, state, and local civil authorities to protect off-base assets. However, when civil authorities are unavailable, unable, or unwilling to provide protection, it may be necessary to establish a National Defense Area (NDA), thereby enabling direct military protection of the assets concerned. The installation commander is ultimately responsible for the protection of military equipment, property, information, or personnel in the United States and its territories. If they are at risk off a military installation, the installation commander may declare an NDA to contain and secure the federal government resources.

- Definition: An NDA is an area established on non-federal lands located within the United States, its territories, or possessions for the purpose of safeguarding classified defense information or protecting DoD equipment or material. Establishment of an NDA temporarily places the land concerned under the effective control of the DoD. An NDA can also be established on federal lands under the control of other federal agencies.

- Commanders of major commands, numbered air forces, wings, groups, installations, and designated on-scene commanders for major accident responses, all have authority to establish NDAs. Once established, the commander has authority/responsibility to define the boundary, mark it with an appropriate barrier, and post warning signs.

- The attached form letter may be used to communicate establishment of an NDA to local governments, citizens, media, and others

Rules for Establishing an NDA

- NDAs may only be established within the United States, its possessions, or territories. They are not applicable in overseas areas.

- NDAs may only be established under emergency situations such as aircraft crashes, emergency landings by aircraft carrying nuclear weapons, emergency diversions of military aircraft to civilian airports, and accidents involving temporary immobilization of nuclear weapons ground convoys. Planned rest stops are not emergencies.

- The size, shape and location of the NDA must be reasonably related to what is needed to protect the resource concerned. The boundaries should be clearly defined, preferably by some form of temporary barrier, such as rope or wire. Warning signs should be posted at each entry control point and along the boundary.
- To the extent possible, the consent and cooperation of the landowner should be sought when establishing an NDA. However, military necessity ultimately drives the location, size, and shape of an NDA, and it may be established with or without the owner's consent.

- Because the NDA effectively deprives the landowner of the use of the property during the period the NDA is in existence, the Air Force may have to compensate the landowner for the temporary “taking” of the property.

- Commanders should consult with their servicing staff judge advocate when deciding to establish, disestablish, or modify an NDA.

Enforcement

- Commanders have the authority to prohibit entry into NDAs and to remove those who enter without authority, using the minimum force reasonably necessary to prevent violation of the NDA and to protect the DoD resources concerned.

- Apprehension or detention of civilian personnel who violate the security requirements of the NDA should normally be done by civilian law enforcement authorities.

- If civil authorities cannot or will not provide assistance, on-scene military personnel may detain civilian violators or trespassers and escort them from the NDA.

- Civilian offenders detained by military personnel should be released to proper civil authorities as quickly as possible; coordinate with the servicing staff judge advocate.

- Military action to detain civilian violators is limited to the NDA and the immediate boundary area. Pursuit of civilian offenders by military authorities beyond the immediate area should be left to the responsibility of civil law enforcement authorities.

Media Relations

- On-scene commanders should be sensitive to interests of the media, and should limit photography only as much as necessary to protect classified information. If the off-base site is designated as an NDA, support news media representatives as on a military installation. Media representatives should be briefed on appropriate disclosable information during a nuclear accident or incident and the procedures to be followed, such as escort requirements.

- For example, rather than prohibiting all photography, it may be sufficient to simply limit photography to those angles or distances which would not result in exposure of classified information.

- If an NDA has been established, military authorities may use reasonable force to prevent photography by anyone within the NDA, to apprehend or detain offenders, and to seize... film and equipment. If photography is done from outside the NDA, civilian authorities should handle the matter.

- If an NDA has not been established, military authorities at off-base locations may not use force, but should ask civilian law enforcement officials to stop further filming of exposed classified information, and to collect all photographs already taken.

- If civil authorities are unwilling or unable to assist, the commander concerned should contact the managing editor or director of the news agency employing the photographer, request return of the film suspected of containing classified information, and explain that failure to return the film may constitute a violation of federal law.

Sample letter establishing an NDA
MEMORANDUM FOR WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

FROM: (Commander or On-Scene Commander)

SUBJECT: Establishment of National Defense Area

1. In accordance with Section 797 of Title 50 of the United States Code and AFI 31-101, I (as the on-scene commander) (as the commander responsible for the resources), (am)(have been directed by, name and rank of the commander responsible for the resources to) establishing a National Defense Area as described in paragraph 4 of this letter. This action is being taken for the purpose of protecting and securing priority military resources.

2. Entry into this National Defense Area is subject to my approval. The protection of priority military resources is the primary consideration. Also, I wish to ensure the protection of human life and civilian property in the National Defense Area and ensure the integrity of the site pending investigation and recovery operations. Therefore, all requests to enter the National Defense Area must be addressed to my attention.

3. Entering a National Defense Area without authority is a federal offense; upon conviction, a violator shall be liable for a fine, not to exceed $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

4. The National Defense Area is described as follows:
[Describe NDA by coordinates, landmarks, boundary markings, or other certain fixed points.]

NOTE: Use the appropriate wording. If the on-scene commander is also the commander responsible for the resource involved, he/she may authorize the establishment of the National Defense Area. In all other cases, the on-scene commander may only establish a National Defense Area after being directed to do so by the commander responsible for the resource involved.
POSSE COMITATUS

THE POSSE COMITATUS ACT STATES:

Whoever, except in cases and under circumstances expressly authorized by the Constitution or Act of Congress, willfully uses any part of the Army or the Air Force as a posse comitatus or otherwise to execute the laws shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than two years, or both.

PUNISHMENT FOR VIOLATIONS

- Possible sanctions for violating the Posse Comitatus Act
  -- Fine and/or two years imprisonment
  -- Suppression of evidence illegally obtained
  --- The court may let the accused go free
  --- So far, the courts have been reluctant to grant this remedy. However, in recent cases, some courts have warned that repeated violations of the Posse Comitatus Act could lead to application of the exclusionary rule in some cases.

WHAT POSSE COMITATUS PROHIBITS

- Prohibitions: The armed services are precluded from assisting local law enforcement officials in enforcing civilian laws, except where authorized by the Constitution or act of Congress
  -- By its terms, the Act applies only to the Army and Air Force
  -- The Navy and Marine Corps follow the Act by DoD policy
  -- The Act applies to the Reserves and to the National Guard while in Title 10 (federal) service, but not to the Guard while in Title 32 (state) status
  -- The Act does NOT apply to the Coast Guard

- Does not apply to off-duty conduct, unless induced, required, or ordered by military officials

- The act does not apply to civilian employees, unless acting under the direct command and control of a military officer
EXCEPTIONS TO POSSE COMITATUS

- Statutory Exceptions: By its terms, the Act does not preclude support “expressly authorized by the Constitution or Act of Congress.” Congress has enacted a number of statutory provisions falling into this category.

- Several statutes authorize the military to engage in actions that would otherwise violate the Posse Comitatus Act

  -- 10 U.S.C. § 371 allows the military to provide to local law enforcement officials any law enforcement information collected “during the normal course of military training or operations.” It requires the military to consider the needs of local law enforcement when planning training missions. Moreover, it mandates turning over information relevant to drug operations unless doing so would threaten national security.

  -- 10 U.S.C. § 372 allows the military to loan any equipment, base facility, or research facility to local law enforcement, although the military may charge for its use (See § 377). Loan of “arms, ammunition, tactical-automotive equipment, vessels and aircraft” requires proper coordination.

  -- 10 U.S.C. § 373 makes military personnel available to train federal, state, and local civilian law enforcement officials on operation and maintenance of equipment properly loaned under § 372, and to provide expert advice to such officials

  -- 10 U.S.C. § 374 allows the Secretary of Defense to make military personnel available to operate and maintain loaned equipment under § 372

- The military is still prohibited from enforcing civilian laws. The military may not participate in a search, seizure, arrest, or similar activity in support of local law enforcement (10 U.S.C. § 375).

  -- The military can execute the civilian laws on the installation for a military purpose

  -- Even on the installation, the military “detains” civilians before turning them over to civil authorities. The military does not arrest or apprehend civilians. This is a critical distinction.

- The military may engage in humanitarian acts such as looking for a lost child or rescuing civilians from a destroyed building. However, the courts will examine humanitarian acts to ensure the military is not engaging in a subterfuge to disguise a Posse Comitatus Act violation.
Posse Comitatus is Still a Modern Problem

- Despite the fact that the law’s origins go back to the Civil War, Posse Comitatus is still an issue that surfaces fairly frequently.

- For example, in the immediate aftermath of the Oklahoma City bombing, the Posse Comitatus Act was determinative in responding to civilian law enforcement agency requests for assistance from the military.

AFI 10-801, Defense Support of Civil Authorities (DSCA) (19 September 2012)
AIR FORCE SAFETY AND ACCIDENT INVESTIGATIONS

INTRODUCTION

- AFI 91-204, Safety Investigations and Reports, and AFI 51-503, Aerospace and Ground Accident Investigations, are the two most important instructions dealing with investigating accidents involving aircraft, missiles, or nuclear resources. Additionally, AFI 51-503 deals with investigating accidents occurring on land and on water, not involving aircraft, missiles or other aerospace assets.

- Safety investigations, conducted by a safety investigation board (SIB), determine cause to prevent future mishaps

- The deliberations, opinions, and conclusions of investigators and any evidence from witnesses and contractors given under a promise of confidentiality are in Part II of the safety mishap report. Part II is privileged and not releasable outside safety channels.

- Aircraft accident investigations, conducted by an accident investigation board (AIB), and ground accident investigations, conducted by a ground accident investigation board (GAIB), provide fully releasable reports, which include the non-privileged Part I of the safety mishap report, and preserve evidence for claims, litigation, disciplinary and administrative actions, and all other purposes

- By providing an alternate source of non-privileged information for use outside safety and operational channels, the integrity of the safety privilege is protected

SAFETY INVESTIGATIONS

- Safety investigations under AFI 91-204

  -- An SIB is composed of a board of officers or an investigating officer

  --- NOT for disciplinary actions, line-of-duty determinations, flying evaluation boards, litigation, claims, or assessing pecuniary liability (for or against the government)

  --- Witnesses are not sworn

  --- An SIB may offer a promise of confidentiality to witnesses or contractors if necessary and authorized

  --- A safety report is barred from use in claims and litigation for or against the United States even if it favors the Air Force

  --- In United States v. Weber Aircraft Corp., 465 U.S. 792 (1984), the Supreme Court upheld the privileged nature of safety reports (Part II)
Potential Problems with Safety Investigations

- Misunderstanding the purpose and use of information

- Interface with accident investigators
  -- Part I of the safety report consists of non-privileged factual information and is releasable to the accident investigators
  -- The safety investigation has priority over the accident investigation on wreckage, witnesses, and documents

- Talking to next-of-kin (NOK) of mishap victims
  -- Relatives should speak with the family liaison officer appointed by the commander
  -- Do not discuss mishap responsibility, legal liability, classified information, or cause factors. The AIB president or GAIB president will brief the AIB or GAIB report to NOK and discuss any causal findings at that time.
  -- Provide non-privileged information only
  -- Use caution: it is easy to invite claims and lawsuits

- Requests for information
  -- Determine whether the requester is asking for the SIB report or a GAIB or AIB report
  -- For SIB reports, the disclosure authority is the Commander, Air Force Safety Center. The OPR is HQ AFSEC/JA.
  -- For AIB and GAIB reports, direct requests to the convening authority responsible for initiating the investigation

- Creating the appearance of improper use of privileged safety information for disciplinary actions, flying evaluation boards, etc.
  -- Imperative that commanders have “clean hands”
  -- Document where you got the information to take action
Safety investigations and potential courts-martial

Obtaining a conviction is extremely difficult if a safety investigation precedes the court-martial. The defense often requests the privileged portion of the report, resulting in potential litigation over its release.

If substantial evidence of criminal misconduct is present and the mishap cause is readily apparent, the convening authority should delay the SIB and proceed with the AIB or GAIB.

Accident Investigations

- Accident investigations under AFI 51-503 are required in:

  - All Class A accidents except Class A accidents in which remotely piloted subscale aircraft and aerial targets are destroyed or in cases resulting in only damage to government property and the aircraft is not destroyed. Class A accidents include:

    --- Cases where an injury or occupational illness results in a fatality or permanent total disability

    --- Cases where an Air Force aerospace asset is destroyed

    --- Cases with a probability of high public interest

    --- Mishaps when claims and litigation are anticipated for or against the United States Government or a United States Government contractor as a result of the mishap

    --- Mishaps causing significant civilian property damage.

- Accident investigations otherwise not required may be convened at the convening authority's discretion for any occurrence considered an “accident” or “mishap”.

Accident investigation responsibilities:

- Convening authority (the major command commander who convened or would have convened the preceding safety investigation under AFI 91-204, delegable to the major command vice commander)

  --- Convenes investigation

  --- Ensures appropriate condolence letters are sent to NOK. Also, sends letter to the NOK of deceased and seriously injured personnel explaining process and status of ongoing investigations and of any planned NOK briefings.
--- Funds costs associated with conducting AIB

--- Determines what accident information may be released to the public prior to completion of the AIB Report

--- Approves the AIB report and PA notification and release plan

--- High-interest mishaps (defined in para. 7.3 of AFI 51-503) must be coordinated and staffed by the convening authority's staff judge advocate through AFLOA/JACC and AF/JA for review by SecAF and the Chief of Staff at least four duty days prior to public release and NOK briefing

Installation Commander:

--- Appoints a host installation liaison officer to assist the AIB in obtaining accommodations and administrative support, as well as arranging witness interviews

--- Provides in-house facility, communications, supply, photography, and billeting support for the AIB

--- Removes and stores wreckage from the mishap site at the direction of the convening authority until AFLOA/JACC releases it from legal hold

--- Assists the convening authority with initial cleanup of the mishap site

--- GAIB reports do not usually contain a statement of opinion, unless specifically authorized in advance by AFLOA/JACC

---- Unlike AIBs, opinions of GAIB board presidents are not statutorily protected and may affect the United States in litigation

---- A well-documented, thorough GAIB report should allow facts to speak for themselves in most instances

Administrative Inquiries and Investigations

Commanders may be involved in or supervise several different types of investigative procedures.

Inherent Authority to Investigate
- All commanders possess inherent authority to investigate matters or incidents under their jurisdiction
- Authority to investigate is incident to command
- Air Force policy is that inquiries and investigations will be conducted by the echelon of command capable of conducting a complete, impartial, and unbiased investigation
- Reprisal against an individual for making a complaint is prohibited
- Many investigations and inquiries, such as reports of survey, line of duty, accident investigations, etc., are conducted pursuant to a specific regulation
- When a specific regulation does not apply, the investigation is conducted under the commander’s inherent authority. AFI 90-301 provides guidance on how to conduct a commander investigation or inquiry but AFI 90-301 should not be cited as the authority for the investigation or inquiry.

Investigations Governed by Air Force Instructions
- Types of administrative inquiries and investigations
  -- AFI 90-301, Inspector General Complaints, provides authority for investigations and inquiries:
    --- Resulting from IG complaints
    --- Directed or initiated within IG channels
    --- Conducted by an inspector or inspector general
  -- Those governed by other instructions
    --- AFI 31-115, Security Forces Investigations Program
    --- AFI 33-332, Air Force Privacy and Civil Liberties Program
    --- AFI 36-2910, Line of Duty (Misconduct) Determination
--- AFI 36-2706, Equal Opportunity Program Military and Civilian

--- AFI 44-121, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) Program

--- AFI 51-503, Aerospace and Ground Accident Investigations

--- AFI 51-904, Complaints of Wrongs Under Article 138, Uniform Code of Military Justice

--- AFI 91-204, Safety Investigations and Reports

--- Other investigations directed by specific instructions

-- Virtually all other investigations fall within the inherent authority of the commander. AFI 90-301 may be used for guidance (i.e., procedures and format), but AFI 90-301 may not be used as authority for such investigations.

Investigation Procedures

- Often conducted by a single investigating officer (IO)

- Inquiry versus investigation

  -- An inquiry is a determination of facts on matters not usually complex or serious. Inquiries may be handled through routine channels, and reports may be summarized.

  -- An investigation is appropriate for serious, complex matters requiring a determination of extensive facts. Investigations conducted under the commander’s inherent authority should include a written report. Normally, exhibits and sworn witness testimony support the facts that are determined.

- AFI 90-301 inquiries or investigations may be privileged documents

  -- The Inspector General controls release in accordance with FOIA and Privacy Act requirements

  -- Ensure that privileged information is kept to a minimum
Witnesses
- Must be advised of the nature of the investigation and, if applicable, their right to counsel
- May refuse to answer questions only by invoking Article 31 of the UCMJ (military members) or Fifth Amendment (civilians) rights
- IOs have no authority to grant express promises of confidentiality to subjects, suspects, complainants, or witnesses

Additional Guidance
- If the matter is more properly in the domain of Security Forces or AFOSI (suspected criminal activity, etc.) have them conduct the investigation
- Always consult with the servicing staff judge advocate before directing any inquiry or investigation
- Following initial interviews with Air Force personnel who are the subject of an investigation or inquiry, IOs will refer the individual to his/her first sergeant, commander, or supervisor. This is known as the “hand-off policy.” The command representative must be physically present immediately following the interview and receive the subject/suspect, and this hand-off must be documented at the end of the testimony.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST SENIOR OFFICIALS AND COLONELS (OR EQUIVALENTS)

AFI 90-301, Chapters 4 and 5, establish strict standards for reporting and investigating allegations against senior officials and colonels (or equivalents).

SENIOR OFFICIALS
- Senior officials are active duty, retired, Reserve, and Air National Guard officers in the grade of O-7 select and above; Air National Guard colonels with a Certificate of Eligibility (COE) as senior officials; current and former members of the Senior Executive Service (SES) or equivalent; and current and former Air Force civilian Presidential appointees

- Investigative Policy: Unless otherwise specified by SAF/IG, all investigations into non-criminal allegations against senior officials will be conducted by SAF/IGS

- Reporting Policy: When a commander or an inspector general (IG) official receives an allegation or adverse information involving a senior official, it must be reported to SAF/IGS immediately

  --- Adverse Information: Defined by DoD policy, is (i) a substantiated adverse finding or conclusion from an officially documented investigation or inquiry; or (ii) any credible information of an adverse nature

  --- To be credible, the information must be resolved and supported by a preponderance of the evidence

  --- To be adverse, the information must be derogatory, unfavorable, or of a nature that reflects unacceptable conduct, or a lack of integrity or judgment on the part of the individual

  --- For the purposes of this definition, the following types of information, even though credible, are not considered adverse: (a) motor vehicle violations that did not require a court appearance; or (b) minor infractions without negative effect on an individual or the good order and discipline of the organization that was not identified as a result of substantiated findings or conclusion from an officially documented investigation, and did not result in more than a non-punitive rehabilitative counseling administered by a superior to a subordinate

  --- Adverse information also does not include information previously considered by the Senate pursuant to the officer’s appointment; or information attributed to an individual 10 or more years before the date of the personnel action under consideration (except for incidents, which if tried by court-martial, could have resulted in the imposition of a punitive discharge and confinement for more than one-year)
IG officials who receive allegations against an Air Force senior official may inform their commanders only of the general nature of the allegations and the identity of the person against whom the allegations were made. They must not reveal the source of the allegations or the specific nature of the allegations.

- Senior Officer Unfavorable Information File (SOUIF): SOUIF is a written summary of adverse information about an officer, documentation of the command action, and any comments from the subject officer. The SOUIF is created solely for use during the general officer promotion/federal recognition process.

Colonels (or Equivalents)

- A colonel (or equivalent) is any Air Force active duty, Reserve, or Air National Guard officer in the grade of O-6; an officer who has been selected for promotion to the grade of O-6, but has not yet assumed that grade; or an Air Force civilian employee in the grade of GS-15

- Reporting Policy: IG officials who become aware of any adverse information (see definition above) or allegations of wrongdoing against a colonel (or equivalent) that are not obviously frivolous must notify SAF/IGQ immediately through their major command, field operating agency, or direct reporting unit channels.

- Investigative Policy: IGs at all levels must immediately conduct a complaint analysis when allegations against a colonel (or equivalent) are received. If, after the complaint analysis, it is determined that an IG investigation is not warranted, the IG will notify SAF/IGQ through MAJCOM, FOA, or DRU channels.

- All military equal opportunity (MEO) or equal opportunity treatment (EOT) complaints against senior officials and colonels (or civilian equivalents) will be handled through IG channels. Complaints against senior officials must be immediately referred to SAF/IGS, and complaints against colonels (or civilian equivalents) must be referred to the local IG (or SAF/IGQ if there is no local IG).

FLYING EVALUATION BOARDS

The Air Force has stringent requirements that must be met and maintained to perform rated flying duties.

POLICY
- Aircrew members have an obligation to maintain professional standards. When performance of rated duty becomes suspect, a flying evaluation board (FEB) may be convened.
- Applies to rated officers, Career Enlisted Aviators (CEAs), and non-rated officer, enlisted aircrew members and civilian government employees only
- FEBs are administrative, fact-finding proceedings conducted to ensure information relevant to an aircrew member’s aviation and professional qualification is reviewed and discussed in a fair and impartial manner. The proceedings are not adversarial and are closed to the public.
- FEBs are not a substitute for disciplinary or other administrative action

REASONS TO CONVENE A FLYING EVALUATION BOARD
- Suspension or disqualification from aviation service for more than eight years
- Lack of proficiency (unless enrolled in a formal flying training program)
- Failure to meet training standards while enrolled in a USAF formal flying training course
- Lack of judgment in performing rated duties
- Failure to meet ground/flying training or annual physical exam requirements
- Intentional violation of aviation instructions or procedures
- Aircrew member exhibits habits, traits of character, or personality characteristics that make it undesirable to continue using the aircrew member in flying duties

COMPOSITION OF A FLYING EVALUATION BOARD
- A flying unit commander (wing or comparable level) normally convenes an FEB
- Three rated voting members, qualified for aviation service in an active aviation service code (ASC) and senior in rank to the respondent, will be appointed and will constitute a quorum. Voting members should be in the same aircrew specialty (e.g., pilot, navigator, or flight engineer) as the respondent.
- Do not appoint the convening authority as a member of the board. A judge advocate may advise the recorder but shall not be appointed as an assistant recorder. The judge advocate may not be present during closed sessions.

- Do not appoint enlisted members to FEBs convened for officers, or officers to FEBs convened for enlisted members

- One additional aircrew member is appointed to act as a nonvoting recorder

- A judge advocate may be appointed as a nonvoting legal advisor to advise on procedural matters and ensure a fair hearing. If appointed, a judge advocate may not be present at board sessions.

- A flight surgeon may be appointed as a nonvoting member when a medical problem may be a significant contributing factor

Flying Evaluation Board Procedures and Guidelines

- Notify the respondent in writing. The notification letter contains the reasons for the FEB, when and where the board will meet, witnesses to be called, and rights of the respondent. The respondent must reply within 48 hours (two duty days). Normally, convene the board within 30 days after the convening authority appoints the board.

- Respondent may submit a request for voluntary disqualification from aviation service in lieu of the FEB (VILO). FEB action is suspended until the major command acts on the VILO request.

- Respondent may also request a waiver of FEB to return to previously qualified aircraft if enrolled in flying training. A FEB waiver is considered a FEB action and requires the same coordination and approval as a FEB. FEB waiver process is not an appropriate means to disqualify a member. The convening authority will submit or forward waiver requests through command channels only when convinced the reviewing authorities would recommend the member remain qualified in the aircraft and/or crew position in which he/she was previously qualified. If there is any doubt regarding potential for continued aviation service, direct an FEB. Forward FEB waiver requests through command channels to the MAJCOM commander for final approval.

Rights of the Respondent at a Flying Evaluation Board

- Assigned military counsel of his/her own choosing (if available) or civilian counsel (at respondent’s expense)

- Informed in writing of the specific reasons for convening the board
- Review all evidence and documents to be submitted to the board by the recorder (before convening the board)

- Challenge voting members for cause

- Cross-examine witnesses called by the board, call witnesses and present evidence (recorder arranges for military witnesses). Although civilian witnesses may appear, an FEB cannot compel their attendance. Consult with the servicing staff judge advocate as to the procedures to request the presence of civilian DoD employees.

- Testify personally and submit a written brief (respondent may not be compelled to testify)

RULES OF EVIDENCE
- A FEB is not bound by formal rules of evidence prescribed for courts-martial; however, observing these rules promotes orderly procedures and a thorough investigation

- The decision about the authenticity of documents rests with the senior board member

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS
- Made in closed session (voting members only)

- Each finding must be supported by a preponderance of the evidence

- Findings must specifically include comment on each allegation or point in question

- Recommendations must be consistent with the findings and generally only address qualification for aviation service (i.e., remain qualified or be disqualified)

  -- If the officer holds more than one aviation qualification, the FEB must make a recommendation as to both qualifications

  -- If the FEB recommends disqualification, it may also recommend whether the officer should be prohibited from wearing the associated aviation badge

- A minority report is appropriate if there is a disagreement among the voting members

REVIEW PROCESS
- The convening authority’s staff judge advocate reviews for legal sufficiency; review is limited to sufficiency of the evidence and compliance with procedural requirements

- The convening authority adds comments and recommendations and must explain any recommendations that are contrary to those of the FEB
- The convening authority or higher reviewer may reconvene the FEB or order a new board

- The major command commander makes the final determination in all FEB cases convened at the major command level or lower

COMMERCIAL ACTIVITIES

Private organizations (PO) and unofficial activities/organizations must not engage in activities that duplicate or compete with AAFES, Services activities, or Nonappropriated Funds Instrumentalities (NAFIs). This means POs and unofficial activities/organizations may not engage in frequent or continuous resale activities. However, the installation commander may authorize such things as continuous thrift-shop sales operations, museum shop sales of items related to museum activities, and occasional sales for fund-raising purposes like bake sales, dances, carnivals, or similar occasional functions.

DoD Commercial Sponsorship Program
- Commercial sponsorship is a DoD program that allows commercial enterprises to provide support to morale, welfare or recreation (MWR) programs in exchange for promotional recognition and access to the Air Force market for a limited period of time. Such sponsorship helps finance enhancements for MWR elements of Services events, activities, and programs.

- There must be one or more bona fide MWR program events for sponsorship to apply

- Membership drives over extended periods can be treated as events for sponsor support and recognition purposes; however, sponsor displays can only be authorized at specific events during the drive

- MWR events appropriate for commercial sponsorship do not include normal day-to-day MWR management and overhead

- Only Services MWR programs may use the commercial sponsorship program. Other Air Force organizations, private organizations, or unofficial activities are not authorized to use commercial sponsorship to offset program or activity expenses nor may they partner with an MWR program to gain access to sponsorship benefits.

- Installation commanders control the commercial sponsorship program at base level and approve/disapprove sponsorships worth $5000 or less (or other values as delegated by the major command). Installation commanders may delegate authority for approval/disapproval of sponsorships and donations valued up to $5,000 to the Mission Support Group (MSG) Commander or Force Support Squadron (FSS) Commander/Director.

Unsolicited Commercial Sponsorship
- Unsolicited commercial sponsorship must be entirely initiated by the prospective sponsors or their representatives

- FSS activities may generate sponsor awareness and interest by publishing brochures and leaflets, placing ads in newspapers and magazines, or issuing public affairs-like news releases about the existence and availability of the program. They may also send nonspecific letters as follow-ups to general advertisements.

- Air Force personnel may not provide information about specific needs of the Services MWR program to “encourage” offers of unsolicited sponsorship

- The prospective company and the Air Force will enter into a commercial sponsorship agreement (see Attachment 2 to AFI 34-108)

SOLICITED COMMERCIAL SPONSORSHIP

- Commercial sponsorship “refers to the act of a civilian enterprise providing support to help finance or provide enhancements for MWR elements of Services activities, events, and programs in exchange for promotional consideration and access to the Air Force market for a limited period of time.” The solicited commercial sponsorship program is the only authorized process for soliciting support for FSS activities, events, or programs defined as MWR. Other sections of FSS as well as other Air Force organizations, units, private organizations, or unofficial activities or organizations are not authorized to use commercial sponsorship nor may they partner with an MWR program to gain access to sponsorship benefits.

-- The prospective company and the Air Force will enter into a commercial sponsorship agreement (Attachment 2 to AFI 34-108)

- Per AFI 34-108, solicitations are part of the procurement process, and must be done competitively and sent to the maximum number of potential sponsors in a specific product category (except alcohol related companies or defense contractors) after an initial solicitation announcement has been made. The solicitation should inform the maximum number of potential sponsors, being announced in one or more of the following: Fed Biz Opps, local newspapers, Chamber of Commerce newsletters, or other appropriate business community publications.

-- Sponsorship may not be solicited from alcohol companies, or military systems divisions of defense contractors; however, unsolicited sponsorship from them may be accepted when approved at the discretion of the commanding authority (i.e., the commanding authority at the installation would be the installation commander, at Joint Base it would be the Joint Base Commander, at a MAJCOM it would be the MAJCOM commander, etc.)

ON-BASE COMMERCIAL SOLICITATION

- On-base solicitation is a privilege, not a right, granted at the discretion of the installation commander

- Personal commercial solicitation on an installation will be permitted only if the following requirements are met:
-- The solicitor is duly licensed under applicable laws

-- The installation commander permits it

-- A specific appointment has been made with the individual concerned and conducted in family quarters or in other areas designated by the installation commander

- Housing occupants may operate limited business enterprises while living in base housing limited to the sale of products, minor repair service on small items, limited manufacturing of items or tutoring. Child care in family quarters is governed by AFI 34-276, Family Child Care Programs.

-- Members must request permission in writing to conduct the commercial activity from the housing office

-- Occupants must meet local government licensing requirements, agreements, and host country business practices before requesting approval to operate a private business

Prohibited On-Base Commercial Solicitation

- Certain solicitation practices are prohibited on military bases, including, but not limited to:

  -- Soliciting personnel who are on-duty

  -- Soliciting any kind of mass audience, i.e., commander’s call or guard mount

  -- Soliciting in housing areas without an appointment

  -- Soliciting door-to-door

  -- Implying DoD sponsorship or sanction

  -- Soliciting members junior in grade

  -- Procuring or supplying roster listings of DoD personnel

  -- Using official ID cards by active duty members, retirees or reservists to gain access for soliciting
Games of Chance:
- Bingo and Monte Carlo (Las Vegas) events are controlled by the Air Force Club Program. Games of chance must not otherwise violate local civilian laws.
- Cash prizes may be awarded for bingo in accordance with AFI 34-272, para 3.17
- Play in bingo programs should be limited to eligible patrons, their family members, and guests
- Only non-monetary prizes may be awarded for Monte Carlo events, in accordance with AFI 34-272, para 3.18
- Play in Monte Carlo events should be limited to club members and their adult family members, members of other clubs exercising reciprocal privileges and their adult family members, and adult guests
- Once a participant purchases a money substitute for a Monte Carlo event, no reimbursement can be made for any unused portion, and money substitutes can’t be used to buy resale items, including food and beverages

Raffles:
- Occasional and infrequent raffles must be approved in advance by the installation commander, with the staff judge advocate’s advice. Raffles must not otherwise violate local civilian laws.
- The funds raised must benefit DoD personnel or their families and must be conducted for a charitable, civic, or other community welfare purpose within the DoD community
- Raffle requests to raise funds for purely social, recreational, or entertainment purposes which benefit only individual PO members and/or family members, such as to underwrite the costs of a sight-seeing tour, will not be approved
- Raffles must not be conducted at the workplace and Air Force members or civilians must not conduct raffles during duty time
- Air Force officials may not officially endorse a raffle

MWR and Nonappropriated Fund Instrumentalities

Morale, Welfare, and Recreation (MWR)
MWR activities are those activities that provide for the comfort, pleasure and mental and physical improvement of authorized users. The activities include recreational and free-time programs, resale merchandise and services, and activities to promote the general interest.

Nonappropriated Funds (NAF)
NAF are funds that are not appropriated by Congress and are not furnished from revenue derived from taxation. NAF funds are self-generated by Nonappropriated Fund Instrumentalities (NAFIs).

- NAFIs are DoD fiscal and organizational entities that exercise control over NAFs and furnish or assist other DoD organizations in providing MWR services

- NAFIs are instrumentalities of the federal government created by Air Force instructions. NAFI employees are federal employees, not civil servants

- NAFIs are not incorporated under the laws of any state, but enjoy the legal status of an instrumentality of the United States, i.e., a lawsuit against a NAFI is a suit against the United States. NAFIs are NOT private organizations established under AFI 34-223, Private Organizations (PO) Program.

- The resource management flight chief (RMFC) is the appointed funds custodian responsible for protecting, accounting for and using NAFs. The RMFC is the single custodian for all base level NAFIs, except base restaurants, civilian welfare funds, and some NAFIs at remote or isolated sites. No individual or group has any right to ownership in NAFI assets.

- Benefits accrue to persons through participation in NAFI activities and programs

- NAFIs may not generally show movies; sponsor, conduct, or allow gambling; provide or sell alcoholic beverages; hoard or dissipate NAFI assets

- AAFES is the primary source of resale merchandise and services for military personnel, dependents, and other authorized patrons

- NAFIs may engage in resale activities when commander determines AAFES cannot meet the requirement in a responsive manner and the goods or services provided are directly related to the purpose and function of the NAFI involved. There must be a written agreement between the FSS Commander and the regional vice president of the servicing exchange stating AAFES cannot meet the particular requirement.

Off-Limits Establishments

The establishment of off-limits areas is a function of command. It may be used by installation commanders to help maintain discipline, health, morale, safety, and welfare of service members. Off-limits action is also intended to prevent service members from being exposed to or victimized by crime-conducive conditions. Armed forces disciplinary control boards (AFDCBs) advise and make recommendations to commanders on matters including establishment of off-limits areas.

Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards

- AFDCBs are established under the provisions of Air Force Joint Instruction (AFJI) 31-213, Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards and Off-Installation Liaison and Operations

  -- They may be local or regional; boards must meet quarterly

  -- Boards may recommend the installation commander place a civilian establishment or area off-limits to military members

  -- The AFDCB is usually composed of a president and voting members, appointed by the commander, and representatives from various base functional areas, such as law enforcement; legal counsel; equal opportunity; public affairs; chaplains; consumer affairs; and medical, health, or environmental protection

  - To place an establishment off-limits the AFDCB normally must:

    -- Notify the proprietor of the offending establishment, in writing, of the alleged condition or situation requiring corrective action

    -- Specify in the notice a reasonable time for the condition or situation to be corrected

    -- Provide the proprietor the opportunity to present any relevant information to the board

  - If the AFDCB recommends an establishment be placed off-limits, the installation commander makes the final decision. A decision to place an establishment off-limits may be appealed to the next higher commander after exhausting any local appeal rights. The establishment remains off-limits until the decision is overturned or the commander determines adequate corrective action has been taken.

Emergency Situations

- In emergency situations, commanders may declare establishments or areas temporarily off-limits to personnel of their respective commands. Follow-up action must be taken by AFDCBs as a first priority.
COMMANDER DISCIPLINARY OPTIONS

- Members who enter off-limits areas or establishments are subject to UCMJ action. Family members of service members and others associated with the Service or installation should be made aware of off-limits restrictions.

- Do not post off limits signs or notices in the United States on private property

- In areas outside of the continental United States, off-limits and other AFDCB procedures must be consistent with existing status of forces agreements (SOFAs)

REFERENCE:
UNOFFICIAL ACTIVITIES/SQUADRON SNACK BARS

- Unit coffee funds, flower funds, or other small operations commonly known as “snack bar” funds are permitted when classified as unofficial activities with limited assets.

  -- Assets may not exceed a monthly average of $1000 over a three-month period.

  -- When assets exceed the above figure, the snack bar must either become a private organization, discontinue its operations, or reduce its assets below the $1000 threshold.

- Installation and unit commanders must carefully review the status of all such unofficial activities operating on their installation and ensure their compliance with all applicable rules and regulations.

- No such fund can duplicate or compete with the installation’s nonappropriated fund revenue-generating activities.

- Unofficial activities may not engage in frequent or continuous resale activities.

  -- AFI 34-223 permits occasional sales for fund-raising purposes when approved in advance by the installation commander or designee. “Occasional” is defined as not more than two (2) fund-raising events per calendar quarter. The prohibition against frequent or continuous resale activities does not preclude collective purchasing and sharing of purchased items by members of private organizations or unofficial activities so long as there is no actual resale. See AFI 36-3101, Fundraising within the Air Force, for fundraising activity during the Combined Federal Campaign.

  -- Unit snack bars are subject to lawsuits and installation commanders may require private organizations to purchase liability insurance in an amount adequate to cover potential liability arising from their activities. Individual members of the unit/squadron could incur personal liability if not insured.

  -- Snack bars must comply with all federal, state and local laws governing such activities, including federal tax laws. Interest from an interest bearing bank account must be reported to the IRS by the financial institution. Accordingly, it might be wise for the fund to utilize only a noninterest bearing account.

- Unofficial activities/private organizations may not sell alcoholic beverages, solicit funds, operate amusement or slot machines, or conduct games of chance, lotteries, raffles, or other gambling-type activities. However, private organizations which are composed primarily of DoD personnel or their family members may conduct fund-raising raffles on an Air Force installation on an occasional, infrequent basis when authorized in advance by the installation commander or designee subject to the limitations detailed below. Such raffles provide a means of extending needed services or other assistance to members of the DoD family, but failure to strictly follow the provisions below could result in the raffles violating the general gambling prohibition in DoD 5500.7-R, Joint Ethics Regulation. All requests to conduct raffles must be reviewed by the servicing Judge Advocate’s office.

Acceptance of Volunteer Services

Officers and employees of the federal government may not accept voluntary services exceeding that authorized by law except in emergencies involving the safety of human life or the protection of property.

When Volunteer Services May Be Accepted

- Acceptance of gratuitous services (when the provider agrees in writing and in advance to waive any right to compensation) is permissible.

- Acceptance of gratuitous services may pose other issues, such as conflict of interest, liability for damages or injuries both to and by the provider, or the illegal augmentation of another appropriation.

- Government employees may not waive their rights to statutory entitlements. This issue may arise in connection with civilian employees and uncompensated overtime.

- Seek a staff judge advocate opinion any time free services are offered, unless you know they are specifically authorized by law.

Types of Permissible Volunteer Service

- The military services are specifically authorized by law to accept certain voluntary services, including medical, dental, legal, religious, family support, library, and MWR services.

- Volunteers providing services under these authorized programs are considered federal employees only for purposes of compensation for work-related injuries, tort claims for damages or loss, maintenance of records, and conflicts of interest.

  -- The volunteer must have been acting within the scope of the accepted services.

  -- The volunteer will most likely be entitled to Department of Justice representation should he or she be named in an action filed under the Federal Tort Claims Act (FTCA).

  -- A volunteer may not hold policy-making positions, supervise paid employees or military personnel, or perform inherently governmental functions, such as determining entitlements to benefits, authorizing expenditures of Government funds, or deciding rights and responsibilities of any party under Government requirements.

  -- Volunteers may be used to assist and augment the regularly funded workforce, but may not be used to displace paid employees or in lieu of filling authorized paid personnel positions.
Volunteers may be provided training to ensure they can appropriately provide the necessary services

- All volunteers should sign the DD Form 2793, “Volunteer Agreement for Appropriated Activities or Nonappropriated Fund Instrumentalities”

- Federal agencies are specifically authorized by law to accept voluntary services provided by student interns as part of an established educational program

- The military services are specifically authorized by law to accept the services of Red Cross volunteers

- By a memorandum of understanding between the Department of Defense and the Red Cross, Red Cross volunteers are generally considered government employees for purposes of the protections of the FTCA when acting in the scope of the services accepted by the Department. Volunteers accepted per 10 USC 1588 are also generally considered government employees for purposes of the protections of the FTCA when acting in the scope of the services accepted by the Department.

INTRODUCTION TO CLAIMS

- A claim is a demand made on or by the Air Force for the payment of a specified amount of money

- It does NOT include any obligations incurred in the regular procurement of services, supplies, equipment, or real estate

AIR FORCE CLAIMS POLICY

- Establish and administer a vigorous Air Force claims program to investigate and process all claims on behalf of or against the Air Force

- Pay meritorious claims in the amount necessary to restore the claimant, as nearly as possible, to his/her position before the incident on which the claim is based

- The personnel claims process is not an adversarial one

  -- The purpose of the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees’ Claims Act is to pay meritorious personnel claims fairly and promptly to maintain claimants’ morale and avoid their financial hardship

  -- Claimants who have suffered loss or damage are entitled to helpful, friendly, and courteous service

CLAIMS JURISDICTION AND SETTLEMENT AUTHORITY

- Personnel claims are centrally adjudicated by the Air Force Claims Service Center (AFCSC), located at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio

  -- The DoD assigns single-service claims responsibility to each military department for processing and settling of tort claims for and against the United States. For example, the Army provides single service claims responsibility for all claims in South Korea.

PERSONAL PROPERTY CLAIMS

The Personnel Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. § 3721, is a gratuitous payment statute. It does not provide insurance coverage and is not designed to make the United States a total insurer of the personal property of claimants. Payment does not depend on tort liability or government fault. Congress instead determined to lessen the hardships of military life by providing prompt and fair payment for certain types of property loss or damage, especially those caused by frequent moves. The Air Force aims, within approved guidelines, to compensate active duty members and civilian employees for property loss or damage to the maximum extent possible.

INTRODUCTION
- The Air Force Claims Service Center (AFCSC), located at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, centrally adjudicates all personnel claims

- Under The Personnel Claims Act (PCA), the Air Force may settle and pay claims for loss and damage of members’ personal property when such loss or damage is “incident to service”

- Not all property claims are covered

- Covered claims generally fall into three categories:
  -- Household goods (PT) claims
  -- Vehicle shipment (POV) claims
  -- Other tangible personal property (P) claims

REQUIREMENTS UNDER THE STATUTE
- The loss or damage must be incident to the member’s service

- The loss or damage cannot be recoverable through private insurance (limited exceptions apply)

- The claim must be substantiated

- The Air Force must determine that the member’s possession of the property was “reasonable or useful” under the circumstances

- The loss or damage must not have resulted from negligence of the claimant
Other than household goods claims paid under the full replacement value program described below, maximum payment is $40,000, unless the claim arises from emergency evacuations or extraordinary circumstances in which cases the maximum payment is $100,000.

PROCESSING GUIDELINES

- Full Replacement Value (FRV) Program

  - FRV applies to household good shipments picked up on or after 1 October 2007. Under this program, members may first claim full replacement value for damaged or lost household goods directly with the carrier.

  - If a member cannot reach an acceptable settlement with the carrier on certain items, the member can file a claim with the AFCSC for the disputed items only. Standard depreciation rules will apply. The AFCSC will assert an FRV claim against the carrier, and if recovery is successful, will pass it on to the member.

  - If a member has a significant loss under FRV, they should be aware that the carrier’s maximum liability is $50,000 or $4.00 times the net weight of the shipment. In other words, if the member’s shipment weighs 10,000 pounds the carrier’s maximum liability is $40,000. The AFCSC can pay an additional $40,000 at depreciated value.

- FRV Program Filing Deadlines (from date of delivery)

  - The claimant files the “Notice of Loss/Damage After Delivery” in the Defense Personal Property System (DPS) within 75 days, placing the carrier on notice that additional loss or damage has been detected after delivery. Alternatively, the member can file directly with the carrier or with the AFCSC within 75 days.

  - This time limit may be extended for certain causes such as the member being TDY or hospitalized. The AFCSC will evaluate the cause and extend the deadline as appropriate.

  - The claimant must file a claim directly with the carrier within nine months. If the claimant fails to file during this time, they may file the claim with the carrier or the AFCSC within two years, but standard depreciation rules will then apply.

- Defense Personal Property System (DPS)

  - The DPS system phased in for household goods moves between November 2008 and summer 2011. Under this program, members file a claim in the DPS Claims Module.

  - A claimant will file a “Loss/Damage Report After Delivery” within 75 days (this takes the place of the DD Form 1840R) online within the DPS claims module. If the member cannot file the “Loss/Damage Report After Delivery” due to computer or other technical issues, the member should contact the AFCSC for guidance.

-- Similar to FRV, the claimant must file a claim against the carrier in DPS within nine months. If the claimant is dissatisfied with the carrier’s offer, he or she can transfer the items/file the claim with the AFCSC.

- Statute of Limitations and Other Important Time Periods

  -- A claim for a sum certain must be presented by the member (or authorized agent with a power of attorney) within two years from the incident date or date of delivery IAW 31 U.S.C. 3701, 3721, the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act (PCA). FRV is only available if filed within nine months.

  --- The two year statute may be extended, for good cause, during time of war. The AFCSC will determine whether good cause exists to extend the timeline.

  -- The requirement to file the “Notice of Loss or Damage After Delivery” within 75 days is separate from the requirement to file the claim within two years.

  -- Damage for privately owned vehicles (POVs) is noted on DD Form 788 at the port. If additional damage is discovered after leaving the port, members should proceed to their local legal office as soon as possible, usually within 30 days, to complete an inspection and have photos taken.

Proper Claimants

- Active duty Air Force military personnel

- Retired or separated Air Force military personnel who suffer loss or damage resulting from the last entitled storage or movement of their personal property

- Air Force civilian employees paid from appropriated and nonappropriated funds. Claims filed by nonappropriated funds civilian employees are paid from nonappropriated funds.

- Civilian employees of the Defense Commissary Agency (DeCA) who work on an Air Force installation

- DoD Dependent School teachers and administrative personnel serviced by an Air Force installation

- AFRES and ANG personnel when performing federally-funded active duty, full-time Guard duty, inactive duty for training, and ANG technicians serving under 32 U.S.C. § 709
- AFROTC cadets traveling at government expense or on active duty summer training
- USAF Academy cadets
- Survivor of a deceased proper claimant or authorized agent or legal representative of a proper claimant

Payable Claims
- For loss or damage in the following general categories:
  -- From government-sponsored transportation or storage under orders. Examples include household goods and unaccompanied baggage shipments, shipped vehicles, mobile homes and contents in shipment, and, in some circumstances, Personally Procured Moves (PPM), also known as do-it-yourself (DITY) moves, luggage and hand-carried property.
  -- At quarters and other authorized places. Examples include fire, explosion, hurricane, theft, and vandalism in CONUS base housing or at overseas quarters either on or off base.
  -- To privately owned vehicles. Examples include damage in shipment, theft or vandalism to parked cars, damage or loss during TDY where POV is authorized, and paint oversprays. Members should proceed to their local legal office as soon as possible to complete an inspection and have photos taken.
  -- Other categories as described in AFI 51-502

-- Uniform items damaged while performing normal duties are not payable

--- Claims for damaged or missing uniforms are not paid automatically. All claims must be investigated and any payment must be supported by the facts contained in the claim file. There should be no negligence or lack of due care on the claimant’s part, claimant must have done everything possible to “protect” the clothing items, and the damage cannot be a result of normal risks associated with daily work duties.

TORT CLAIMS

INTRODUCTION
- Under certain circumstances, federal law subjects the United States to liability for property damage, personal injuries, and death that result directly from the negligent or wrongful acts/omissions of government personnel acting within the scope of their employment.

- Federal law authorizes the United States to pay for property damage, personal injuries, and death that directly result from noncombat activities of United States armed forces.

- Normally, to receive compensation, an injured person or entity must present a signed written request for payment of a specific amount of money (claim) within two years of the accident or incident to the agency that created the loss, personal injury, or death.

- In some cases, denial of a claim or failure to resolve a claim within six months after it is presented to the Air Force creates a right to sue the United States in federal district court.

- Installation legal offices work with the Air Force Legal Operations Agency, Claims and Torts Litigation Division (JACC) to receive and process claims against the Air Force and help defend the Air Force when claims are litigated.

CLAIMS AND CLAIMANTS
- Claims arising from alleged negligent or wrongful acts or omissions of government personnel are tort claims.

- Common tort claims include GOV-POV accidents, slips and falls on base, barrier or bollard accidents, medical malpractice, aircraft accidents, or mishaps with rental cars while TDY.

- Claimants may be individuals, organizations, or companies that have suffered loss because of alleged negligent or wrongful acts or omissions by government personnel acting within the scope of their employment.

- Claimants may also be agents, legal representatives, or persons with subrogation rights of the injured party.

PAYABLE CLAIMS
- Claim must demand a specific amount of money and be signed.

- Claim must allege damage to real or personal property, personal injury, or death.

- Damage must be direct result of negligent or wrongful act or omission of government personnel acting within the scope of employment.
- A negligent act occurs when a person's failure to exercise the degree of care considered reasonable under the circumstances, results in an unintended injury to another party.

- Government personnel include Air Force military and civilian employees, Civil Air Patrol members performing Air Force authorized missions, and Air National Guard military members in federal status.

- JA determines (preliminarily) whether an employee acted within scope of employment after reviewing relevant facts, circumstances, and applicable law.
  -- Ordinarily, a person is within the scope of employment if the actions in question were serving some governmental purpose when the negligent act or omission allegedly occurred.
  -- Not a line of duty question.

- Generally, the extent of government liability is about the same as that of a private person.
  -- For claims arising in the United States and its territories, liability is determined based on the law of the place (state) where the alleged negligent act or omission occurred.
  -- For claims arising in foreign countries, liability is based on legal standards controlled by United States military regulation or policy, or applicable international agreements.
  -- The principles of absolute or strict liability do not apply.

- If the loss, injury or death is the direct result of “noncombat activity,” the claim may be paid without regard to negligence or other fault.
  -- “Noncombat activity” is a term of art that means any activity, other than combat, war or armed conflict that is particularly military in character, has little parallel in civilian pursuits, and has been historically considered as furnishing the proper basis for claims. However, “noncombat activity” should not be interpreted as simply meaning, “not combat.”
  -- Common “noncombat activities” include operation of military aircraft/spacecraft/missiles, practice bombing or firing of heavy guns and missiles, movement of tanks, and EOD operations.
Claims Not Payable

- Claims specifically excluded by statute

- Examples of excluded claims

  -- Damages, injuries, or death that stem from the performance of or failure to perform a discretionary function by a federal agency or government employee

  -- Intentional torts (acts that the person intends to commit) such as assault, battery, false imprisonment, false arrest, malicious prosecution, abuse of process, libel, slander, misrepresentation, deceit, or interference with contractual rights (claims may be payable with regards to acts or omissions of investigative or law enforcement officers of the United States Government arising out of assault, battery, false imprisonment, false arrest, abuse of process, or malicious prosecution)

  -- Government taking of air space over land

  -- Personal injury, death or property damage of a military member incurred incident to service

  -- Personal injury or death of a civilian employee of the United States sustained while in performance of his/her duty

  -- Punitive damages

Processing and Payment

- Installation legal office accepts, investigates, and adjudicates most tort claims alleging $5,000 or less in losses with the exception of personal injury and medical malpractice tort claims. Claims above $5,000 and for personal injury at CONUS locations are forwarded immediately to JACC.

  -- All installation level claims, other than those settled under the Federal Tort Claims Act (FTCA) for more than $2,500, are paid from Air Force claims funds

  --- If JA approves an FTCA claim for more than $2,500, payment comes from the Judgment Fund Group of the Department of the Treasury

  -- Installation legal office consults with JACC prior to adjudicating claims alleging:

    --- Personal injury

    --- Legal malpractice
--- Property damage caused by an Air Force member driving a rental vehicle

--- Property damage that occurred in a navigable waterway (admiralty and maritime claims)

--- Property damage caused by activities of the Civil Air Patrol

--- Property damage or personal injury to Wing Commander, Vice Wing Commander or their immediate family members

-- JACC investigates and takes final action on all medical malpractice claims arising within the United States. At USAFE bases and at PACAF bases outside the 50 states, base legal offices investigate medical malpractice claims and forward the claims files to JACC for final action.

- If installation legal office denies a claim, claimant may appeal or request reconsideration, depending on which statute dictates processing of the claim

-- Installation legal office can grant appeal or reconsideration request

-- Installation legal office must forward any appeal or reconsideration request it does not grant to JACC for final action

- CONUS installation legal offices accept claims alleging more than $5,000 or personal injury, but immediately forwards them to JACC for adjudication

-- Installation legal office will appoint a POC (attorney or paralegal) within the installation legal office to work with JACC to investigate the claim

-- In some cases, installation POC will take a more proactive role in the adjudication process, to include legal research, drafting memoranda, and negotiating settlements, to provide training and increase experience for both attorneys and paralegals

- OCONUS installation legal offices accept, investigate, and may settle non-medical malpractice claims up to $25,000. Those claims not settled for less than $25,000 are forwarded to JACC with the full investigation and recommendation for final adjudication.

- In certain cases, claimant may sue the Air Force within six months after final action is taken on the claim

-- Final action is taken by mailing the denial of claim or, when applicable, denial of a reconsideration request. Six months of no action may be deemed a denial by the claimant and he/she can file suit.
SUIT is in federal district court. Department of Justice (DOJ) defends the Air Force in litigation. JACC works with the installation legal office to help DOJ defend litigation.

Special procedures apply to claims arising in a foreign country. Installation legal offices coordinate with the Foreign Claims Branch of JACC when handling foreign and international claims.

AVIATION CLAIMS

- Aviation claims occur in a variety of ways, including claims arising from low overflights and sonic booms, and accidents involving active duty, Air Force Reserve (AFR), Air National Guard (ANG), Aero Club, and Civil Air Patrol aircraft

- If the claim arose from military flight activity, it may be payable under the “noncombat activity” provisions of the Military Claims Act (MCA) or the National Guard Claims Act (NGCA)

  -- No requirement to show negligence in noncombat activity claims. Causation and damages are the only issues.

  -- MCA/NGCA claimants may receive advance payments under certain circumstances, primarily for damage mitigation purposes

  -- If the claim cannot be settled, the claimant may bring a lawsuit under the FTCA, unless otherwise exempted, but must prove negligence, causation, and damages

SONIC BOOM AND LOW OVERFLIGHT CLAIMS

- Sonic Boom Damage:

  -- Overpressures based upon speed, altitude and location of aircraft relative to a claimant’s property, in pounds per square feet (psf), will determine whether claimed damage could have been caused by sonic boom

  -- Sonic booms are not selective and may encompass an entire area. A sonic boom is unlikely to cause damage to a claimant’s home while having no effect on nearby properties.

  -- Window glass and bric-a-brac are generally the first items to be damaged. A sonic boom is unlikely to cause significant structural damage, such as cracked foundations or sidewalks, without also breaking windows or shaking bric-a-brac from shelves.

- Low Overflight Damage:

  -- Noise alone generally does not cause damage to property

  -- Noise may harm animals, such as by stampeding cattle and horses; startling chickens, silver foxes, and minks; cracking exotic bird eggs; or injuring ostriches
-- Claims alleging loss of property value due to noise from repeated low overflights are not payable under any tort claims statute. The property owner’s remedy is a “takings” claim under the Fifth Amendment’s due process clause.

AIRCRAFT ACCIDENT CLAIMS

- ANG Claims:

  -- Settlement authorities may settle claims for death, personal injury, or property damage arising out of the authorized noncombat activities of the ANG under the NGCA, 32 U.S.C. § 715

  -- Determine status of crewmembers or ANG personnel involved in mishap

    --- Title 10 – federal active duty orders

    --- Title 32 – federally funded training orders (e.g., IDT or AT training)

    --- State duty – disaster response, riot control, emergency situations

  -- The United States is only liable for negligence of ANG members performing federal duties under Title 10 or Title 32 at time of incident. The provisions do not apply when a member is performing duty for the state.

  -- ANG aviation claims are adjudicated under the noncombat activity provisions of the MCA if the member was in Title 10 status or the NGCA if the member was in Title 32 status

- AFR Claims:

  -- Crewmembers have same status as active duty personnel

  -- AFR aviation claims are usually adjudicated under the noncombat activity provisions of the MCA

- Aero Club Claims:

  -- Aero Club participation is a recreational activity, and the United States is not liable for the negligence of Aero Club members or participants while engaged in Aero Club activities because such activities are outside the scope of their employment

  -- All Aero Club members and participants are covered under NAFI liability insurance for their negligence in causing a mishap
--- Look to NAFI insurance to pay third party claims caused by the negligence of Aero Club members or participants engaged in Aero Club activities.

--- Not cognizable under Air Force claims statutes

-- Third-party claims arising from the negligence of Aero Club employees or military members working at the Aero Club in their official capacity are cognizable under the FTCA. Aero Club claims settled under the FTCA are paid from nonappropriated funds administered by USAF/JAA-S, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

-- The Feres doctrine bars active duty, guard and reserve military members from receiving compensation under federal claims statutes for death or injuries arising out of their participation in Aero Club activities. Such participation is deemed incident to their military service.

-- Similarly, the Federal Employees Compensation Act (FECA) bars Air Force civilian employees from receiving compensation under federal claims statutes for death or injuries arising from their participation in Aero Club activities.

- Civil Air Patrol (CAP) Claims:

  -- CAP is a federally supported, congressionally chartered, nonprofit civilian corporation, and a volunteer civilian auxiliary of the Air Force. Its mission is to provide aerospace education and training to its senior and cadet members, provide volunteer emergency services, and promote civil aviation in the public sector.

  -- The Air Force is authorized to use the services of the CAP in fulfilling certain noncombat programs and missions of the Air Force that have been officially designated as Air Force Assigned Missions (AFAMs).

  --- Typical AFAMs include support of homeland security, search and rescue, disaster relief, and counter-narcotics reconnaissance flights.

  --- CAP is an instrumentality of the United States when performing an AFAM.

  --- Third-party claims arising out of activities of CAP while performing AFAMs are cognizable under FTCA.

  --- Senior CAP members or CAP cadets (18 years or older) are covered under FECA for their death or injuries incurred while in the performance of an AFAM.
The United States is not liable for third party claims arising out of CAP corporate activities or for claims for the use of privately owned property that CAP or its members use during AFAMs.

FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL CLAIMS

SINGLE SERVICE CLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY
- DoD Instruction 5515.08 assigns certain countries to each military department (Army, Navy, and Air Force) and makes the military departments responsible for final action on tort claims arising within their assigned countries. This instruction applies to numerous claims statutes, including the Foreign Claims Act (FCA), International Agreement Claims Act (IACA), Military Claims Act (MCA), Use of Government Property Claims Act (UGPCA), and Advance Payments Act (APA).

- Naval Forces Afloat Exception: Naval forces afloat visiting foreign ports may settle claims arising outside the scope of duty for under $2,500 without regard to single service assignment.

- Not all countries are assigned under DoDI 5515.08. Claims arising in unassigned countries will be adjudicated by the command responsible for generating the claim. If the command is joint, the claim should be adjudicated by the service component command whose personnel allegedly caused the claim.

- Claims in foreign countries are settled under the regulations of the service having single service claims responsibility (DoD Directive 5515.3).

- DoD/GC can change assignments by updating DoDI 5515.08 or by interim letter. See JACC’s (Claims and Tort Litigation) webpage for any changes issued by letter.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT CLAIMS ACT (IACA)—U.S. MILITARY IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES
- 10 U.S.C. § 2734a applies to acts and omissions of U.S. forces in foreign countries when the U.S. has a status of forces agreement (SOFA) with a foreign government and the SOFA explicitly provides for both governments to share the cost of any claim payout.

  -- Under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) SOFA, “receiving State” is the state receiving visiting forces and “sending State” is the state sending forces.

  -- For NATO SOFA claims against U.S. personnel in foreign countries, the U.S. would be the sending state.

- Claims are adjudicated and paid by the receiving state (host nation), which sends the U.S. a bill for its pro rata share of any claim payout.

  -- Host nation must adjudicate the claim applying the same statutes it would apply if its own military had caused the damage.

  -- Host nation statute of limitations applies to these claims.
-- If the host nation pays attorney fees as part of the settlement, the U.S. is obligated to pay its percentage of those fees

-- Claims caused by U.S. enemy actions or actions of U.S. forces in combat are not payable

- The U.S. currently has cost-sharing SOFAs with NATO members, Partnership for Peace ( PfP ) countries (those which have ratified the Agreement among the States Parties to the North Atlantic Treaty and other States participating in the Partnership for Peace regarding the status of their forces), Portugal (for the Azores), Iceland, Japan, Korea, Australia, and Singapore

-- NATO SOFA and PfP SOFA (the latter incorporates the NATO SOFA by reference) are reciprocal, which means they apply to tortious incidents in the territories of all parties to the agreement

-- SOFAs with Iceland, Japan, Korea, Australia, as well as the Lajes Technical Agreement (for the Azores), are not reciprocal. They apply only to tortious incidents by U.S. personnel in these foreign countries.

-- Singapore Counter Agreement is also not reciprocal. However, it applies solely to tortious incidents by Singaporean personnel in the U.S. (see below “Foreign Personnel in the United States”.)

-- U.S. reimbursement percentage is usually 75 percent, but this percentage can vary if more than one nation is responsible for the damage, injury, or death, or if a different cost-sharing arrangement has been negotiated

- U.S. can object to a bill for reimbursement if the host nation paid a claim not cognizable under the SOFA or the host nation did not adjudicate the claim under the laws that would apply to its own military

International Agreement Claims Act (IACA)—Foreign Personnel in the United States

- 10 U.S.C. § 2734b applies to acts of foreign forces in the U.S. when the foreign country has a SOFA with the U.S. and the SOFA explicitly provides for both governments to share the cost of any claim payout

-- For NATO SOFA claims against foreign personnel in the U.S., the U.S. would be the receiving state

- Claims are adjudicated and paid by the U.S. as the host nation, which sends the responsible foreign country a bill for its pro rata share of any claim payout. The Air Force will investigate these claims to the extent they involve foreign military personnel or property involved in an Air Force activity, but only the Army is authorized under DoDI 5515.08 to settle (pay or deny) these claims.
-- U.S. will adjudicate the claim applying the same statutes it would apply if its own military had caused the damage

-- U.S. statute of limitations applies to these claims

-- If U.S. pays attorney fees as part of the settlement, the foreign country is obligated to pay its percentage of those fees

-- Claims caused by U.S. enemy actions are not payable

- Cost-sharing agreements with applicability in the U.S. include the NATO SOFA, PfP SOFA, and Singapore Counterpart Agreement

-- SOFAs with Japan, Korea, Australia, and the Azores are not reciprocal and apply only to tortious incidents arising in those countries

-- According to the United States State Department, NATO SOFA applies to Alaska, but not Hawaii

-- Foreign government reimbursement percentage is usually 75 percent, but this percentage can vary if more than one nation is responsible for the damage, injury, or death, or if a different cost-sharing arrangement has been negotiated

- Responsible foreign government can object to a bill for reimbursement if the U.S. paid a claim not cognizable under the SOFA or the U.S. did not adjudicate the claim under the laws that would apply to its own military

- Immediately notify JACC of any on-base or off-base incident involving foreign military personnel or property in the United States

FOREIGN CLAIMS ACT (FCA)

- 10 U.S.C. § 2734 applies only to claims arising abroad where the IACA is not applicable (IACA takes precedence over FCA). SecAF has promulgated AFI 51-501, as authorized by 10 U.S.C. § 2734, to implement Air Force policy under the FCA.

-- Use IACA where SOFA cost-sharing exists and damages, injury, or death are caused in the performance of official duty (as understood by the U.S. and the foreign government)

-- Use FCA where no SOFA cost-sharing exists or where damages, injury, or death arise outside the scope of employment
- Claimant must be a foreign inhabitant

  -- U.S. citizens may be foreign inhabitants if they reside in a foreign country, they are not employed by the U.S., their travel abroad was not funded by the U.S., and their claim does not arise from any benefit, privilege, service, or DoD status provided to them by the U.S. government

  -- U.S. military members, federal civilian employees, and dependents thereof are not foreign inhabitants

- Claims personnel must be appointed a Foreign Claims Commission (FCC) in order to act on an FCA claim (AFI 51-501 governs appointments/delegations of FCC authority)

- Two-year statute of limitations applies to FCA claims

- Damage, injury, or death must be either incident to a noncombat activity or caused (negligently or wrongfully) by a DoD military member or civilian employee

- Statutory exceptions to payment include claims by subrogees and acts of the U.S. in combat. However, a claim may be allowed if it arises from an accident or malfunction incident to operation of an aircraft of the armed forces of the U.S., including its airborne ordnance, indirectly related to combat and occurring while preparing for, going to, or returning from a combat mission.

- Apply the law of the country where the incident occurs to the extent it does not conflict with AFI 51-501. If conditions for payment exist, and no basis under AFI 51-501 prohibits payment, payment may occur. All payments are ex gratia and remain within the discretion of SecAF.

- Claimants are paid in the currency of the country where the incident occurred unless JACC receives a compelling justification why payment should occur in some other foreign currency

Solatia (Rarely Justified)

- Solatium payment is a nominal payment made immediately to a victim or victim's family to express sympathy. Paid with personal funds or command (O&M) funds, it is not compensation (thus, not deducted from the claim award) and is not subject to single service claims responsibility. Immediately report to JACC any attempt to pay solatia in a country where solatia has not been explicitly authorized by U.S. military regulation as proof of clear custom must be established to justify such payment.

CARRIER RECOVERY CLAIMS

Basis for Carrier Recovery (CR) Claims
- The basis for a CR claim is the failure of a carrier, warehouse, or contractor to adequately protect goods entrusted to them for shipment
  -- A carrier must deliver goods in the same amount and condition as when it took possession of them
  -- A carrier’s liability will, however, be limited by its contract with the government
- The Air Force is entitled to collect up to the carrier’s or warehouse’s contracted liability depending on the type of shipment or method of transportation, less any amount already paid by the carrier to settle or partially settle a claim
- The claimant assigns to the United States all claim rights against the carrier or contractor which creates a right of recovery on behalf of the United States by signing a DD Form 1842 or by filing a claim using the Air Force Claims Service Center’s (AFCSC) web site

Principles of Recovery
- Carrier is generally liable for loss or damage occurring while goods are in its possession
- Government must prove a transit or storage loss through written exceptions to damage taken at the time of delivery (on Notice of Loss or Damage At Delivery form) or within 75 days of delivery (on Notice of Loss or Damage After Delivery form)
  -- A claimant should file his notice of loss or damage after delivery using DPS, if his move originated in DPS
- Failure to note loss or damage after delivery within the prescribed time limit (75 days) creates a presumption that the loss or damage was not shipment-related and the carrier is no longer liable
- If a claim is adjudicated by the AFCSC, the AFCSC will make an appropriate demand on the carrier for that claim in an amount based on the type of shipment or method of transportation
- In the event the AFCSC collects more from the carrier than it paid out to the claimant, the AFCSC will pay the difference to the claimant. If the AFCSC does not collect more from the carrier than it paid out to the claimant, the money collected can be applied against the claims payments for the fiscal year in which the money was collected.
- The government must file a claim against the carrier within six years of delivery of the household goods unless the shipment was moved under a Full Replacement Value (FRV) contract. The government must file a recovery action within four years of delivery on an FRV move.

REPORTS OF SURVEY (ROS)

The report of survey (ROS) is an official report of the facts and circumstances supporting the assessment of financial liability for the loss, damage, or destruction of Air Force property and serves as the basis for the government’s claim for restitution.

REPORTS OF SURVEY GENERALLY

- Air Force members and employees can be held liable for the loss, damage or destruction of government property proximately caused by their negligence, willful misconduct, or deliberate unauthorized use.

- With respect to government owned motor vehicles, however, Air Force members and employees may be held financially liable only if the damage resulted from their gross negligence, willful misconduct, or deliberate unauthorized use.

  -- The purpose of the gross negligence standard is to more equitably distribute the risk of liability associated with government vehicle damage.

  -- As with any ROS, the commander is not precluded from taking other administrative or disciplinary action against individuals who damage government vehicles through simple negligence not amounting to gross negligence.

PURPOSES OF THE REPORT OF SURVEY

- Authorizes adjustment of property accountability records.

- Establishes pecuniary liability.

- Prescribes corrective action to prevent recurrence of loss, damage, or destruction of Air Force property.

- Serves as authority for effecting collection of an indebtedness.

WHEN REPORTS OF SURVEY ARE NOT USED

- Damage occurring during combat operations.

- Most loss or damage to major weapons systems used in authorized operations or occurring during aircraft accidents.

- Property owned by another DoD component or nonappropriated fund instrumentality (NAFI).

- Property that becomes unserviceable due to fair wear and tear.
WHEN REPORTS OF SURVEY ARE REQUIRED
- The requirement for a ROS is controlled by the type of property involved and the circumstances of the loss, damage, or destruction

- A ROS is required for unresolved discrepancies with supply system stocks involving:
  -- Sensitive or classified items, regardless of dollar value
  -- Pilferable items, when a discrepancy is $100 or more
  -- An indication or suspicion of fraud, negligence, theft, or abuse
  -- Personal arms
  -- An amount greater than $50,000

- A ROS is normally required for property record items lost, damaged or destroyed. It is mandatory for:
  -- Controlled or sensitive items
  -- All types of weapons
  -- Property having a security classification

LIABILITY OF AIR FORCE MEMBERS
- Liability is usually limited to one month’s base pay, with the following exceptions:
  -- Accountable officers, whose negligence, willful misconduct, or deliberate unauthorized use of government property proximately caused the loss of, or damage to, property under their accountability, are liable for the entire amount of the loss to the government
  -- Individuals are liable for the full amount of loss or damage to personal arms and equipment proximately caused by their own negligence, willful misconduct, or deliberate unauthorized use
  -- Family housing occupants may be fully liable for damage if:
    --- The loss or damage was caused by gross negligence or willful misconduct of the member; or
The Military Commander and the Law

--- The loss or damage was caused by gross negligence or willful misconduct of a dependent or guest when the member was on notice of the particular risk involved and failed to take preventive action

THE REPORT OF SURVEY PROCESS

- Initiating a ROS:

  -- Normally the organization that maintains accountability records for the lost or damaged property is responsible to initiate a ROS by appointing an initial investigating officer (IO)

  --- Unit commanders appoint the IO for property record items

  --- The accountable officer will appoint the IO for supply system stocks

  -- IO should be appointed as soon as possible after loss or damage is discovered

  --- IO must be an officer, NCO (E-7 or above), or civilian (WG-9, WL-5, WS-1 or GS-7 or above) and should be senior to individual facing potential liability

  --- IO determines and documents facts surrounding the loss or damage and recommends whether or not an individual should be held financially liable

  --- IO forwards report to appointing authority

- Appointing Authority:

  -- Designated in writing by the approving authority

  -- Appoints financial liability officer when

  --- The initial investigation results are insufficient to make a determination of whether or not negligence or abuse was the proximate cause of the loss, damage or destruction of government property

  --- The value of the property, or the circumstances of the case, warrant further investigation

  -- Reviews all ROSs, appeals, and requests for waiver or reconsideration and makes recommendations to the approving authority
Financial Liability Officer:

- Must be an officer, NCO (E-7 or above), or civilian (GS-7, WG-9, WL-5, WS-1 or above) and should be senior to the individual subject to possible financial liability
- Conducts investigation by examining physical evidence and interviewing witnesses to determine proximate cause of loss or damage, responsibility for the loss or damage, and cost or estimate of repairs
- Forwards findings and recommendations to appointing authority

Approving Authority:

- Usually the wing commander. Authority may be delegated in writing to the immediate subordinate.
- May authorize appointing authority to take final action on all ROSs involving less than $2,000 where there is no evidence of negligence or other misconduct
- Takes final action on ROSs in cases where appointing authority does not take final action, including:
  --- Cases, for any dollar amount, where there is no evidence of negligence, willful misconduct, or deliberate unauthorized use; and
  --- Cases where the amount to be assessed is equal to or less than $10,000 and the senior host-base commander is not personally involved
- Approves or disapproves investigation findings and recommendations and ensures individuals are notified
- Ensures all persons found financially liable are informed of their appeal rights and given an opportunity to review the file
- Considers appeals and requests for reconsideration or for waiver of liability
- Authorizes or delegates approval of repairs or replacement in kind

Intermediate commander (e.g., numbered air force) takes action on reports when amount of financial liability to be assessed exceeds $10,000 but does not exceed $25,000, or when the senior host-base commander is personally involved
Major command commander takes action on reports not approved at base or intermediate command level, or when intermediate commander is personally involved.

If the major command commander is personally involved and negligence is evident, the report is forwarded to HQ USAF/LGS.

Individual Rights:

- Consult counsel
- Review the ROS file and evidence
- Request waiver, or request permission to provide repair or replacement in kind
- Request reconsideration
- Appeal

Avoiding Report of Survey Liability

Waiver:

- Member specifically requests waiver of liability in writing, supplying supporting evidence for the request. If the case involves assigned family housing the approving authority MUST consider a waiver, even if the member does not specifically request it.

- Factors to consider include degree of abuse or negligence involved, extent to which collection would cause substantial financial hardship or adversely impact unit morale, prior instances of negligent conduct toward government property, and available government remedies against other culpable persons.

- Approving authority may waive all or part of an individual’s liability, if:

  --- The waiver is determined to be in the best interest of the Air Force; and

  --- The waiver is not specifically prohibited (as in the case of accountable officers and personal arms and equipment)

- If denied, the member may appeal the determination of liability and request further waiver consideration by the major command commander.
- Reconsideration:

  -- Member may request reconsideration based on minor corrections, new evidence, or because the property thought to be missing is later found

  -- Minor corrections that do not involve important changes to the findings or recommendations should be made to the original and to any copies of the ROS

  -- Based on new evidence, the approving authority may reopen the investigation, if necessary, or may take corrective action without further investigation

  -- If property believed to be lost is later found but is damaged, the original ROS should be canceled and a new ROS initiated

- Appeal:

  -- Must be submitted in writing, and

  -- Must specifically state the alleged errors or injustices in the report of survey process

  --- Unless precluded by AFMAN 23-220, the approving authority may grant the appeal

  --- If denied, the ROS is forwarded to the MAJCOM commander for final action, or HQ USAF/LGS if the MAJCOM commander is the approving authority

  -- Collection is suspended until all appeals are complete unless the individual is scheduled for impending separation

- Financial Liability Board:

  -- A team of investigators consisting of officers, enlisted members, or civilian employees who are qualified to investigate an accident, incident, or occurrence within their area of expertise. May consist of two or more persons, one who will be the base claims officer.

  -- Consolidates functions of the appointing authority and financial liability officer (one of the members is appointed in the orders to serve as appointing authority); its objective is to relieve commanders of the administrative burdens involved in the ROS process

  --- Makes a preliminary review to determine whether a financial liability officer is required
--- Acts as financial liability officer by investigating cases as necessary

--- Inspects the destruction or abandonment of unserviceable property

PROPERTY DAMAGE TORT CLAIMS IN FAVOR OF THE UNITED STATES

The United States may assert and collect claims for damage to its property through someone’s negligence or wrongful act. As a property owner, the Air Force is often the victim of a tort and has the right under the Federal Claims Collection Act, 31 U.S.C. § 3701, 3711-3719, to collect for tort damages. Claims on behalf of the United States for property damage by a tortfeasor require the base to be pro-active and aggressively look for these claims, which are known as “G” claims or government claims. This does not include medical cost reimbursement claims.

ASSERTABLE CLAIMS
- Claims personnel may assert claims against a tortfeasor for loss or damage to government property when:
  -- The loss or damage to government property is for $100 or more. If the loss or damage is less than $100, assert the claim if it can be collected easily.
  -- The loss or damage is based on a contract and the contracting officer does not intend to assert a claim under the contract. Document the contracting officer’s decision not to assert a claim for the file.
  -- The claim arises from the same incident as a medical cost reimbursement claim
    --- Process the two claims separately
    --- Coordinate the investigations
  -- The tortfeasor or his insurer presents a claim against the government arising from the same incident, i.e., counterclaims. Coordinate the processing of both the pro-government and anti-government tort claims together.
  -- The claim is based on products liability theory of recovery. Due to the unique nature of product liability issues and claims litigation, obtain approval from AFLOA/JACC before asserting.

NONASSERTABLE CLAIMS
- Claims personnel do not assert a claim for loss or damage of government property in these instances. Do not assert a claim:
  -- For reimbursement against military or civilian employees for claims paid by the United States due to that employee’s negligence
  -- For loss or damage that a nonappropriated fund instrumentality (NAFI) employee causes to government property while on the job
-- If the loss or damage was caused by a government employee with accountability for the property under the Report of Survey system

--- Under the report of survey system, military members and civilian employees may be held pecuniarily liable for the loss, damage or destruction of government property caused by their negligence. With some exceptions, the usual limit of liability is one month’s pay.

--- However, the report of survey manual, AFMAN 23-220, Reports of Survey for Air Force Property, para 3.2.4 and 3.3.6, indicates assertion of a tort property damage claim instead of a report of survey is appropriate if the military member or civilian employee damages government property with his/her private automobile

Statute of Limitations
- The United States must file a lawsuit for loss or damage of government property, based in tort, within three years after the date when a responsible official of the United States knew or reasonably should have known the material facts that resulted in the claimed loss
- Suits based in contract or upon some other theory or upon state law may have a different statute of limitations period

Collecting Claims
- Claims personnel collect tort claims in favor of the government
- The settlement authority may accept a third party’s offer to repair or replace the damaged property to the satisfaction of the accountable property officer
- The Air Force may offset a tort claim against an amount that it owes to the claimant
- When two or more tortfeasors are jointly and severally liable, settlement authorities may divide the payment between the tortfeasors
- A settlement authority may waive prejudgment interest (where statute, contract, or regulation do not require it) to encourage payment

Depositing Collections
- Claims personnel deposit collections
- Deposit collections for loss, damage, or destruction to Air Force family housing, caused by abuse or negligence, to the DoD Military Family Housing Management Account
-- Deposit collections for loss, damage, or destruction to other real property to the appropriate funds account of the organization responsible for the repair, maintenance, or replacement of the real property. These funds may not be reused without their appropriation by Congress.

-- Deposit collections for loss, damage, or destruction to property of an Air Force Industrial Fund or other revolving funds account to that account

-- Pay or deposit recoveries involving NAFI property to the appropriate NAFI

-- Deposit all other collections for which there is no statutory exception to the United States Treasury Miscellaneous Receipts Account

The Air Force may recover the cost of providing medical care to active duty and retired military members and their beneficiaries who are injured as a result of tortious conduct of third parties under the Federal Medical Care Recovery Act (FMCRA) and for all care covered by a third party payer under the Coordination of Benefits statute (COB). The Air Force may also recover pay given to an active duty member during a period of disability caused by tort under the FMCRA.

Federal Medical Care Recovery Act (FMCRA)
- Under this statute, the government’s recovery is predicated on “circumstances creating tort liability”
  - Usually, the four common law elements of tortious conduct (duty, breach, causation, damages) must be present before considering the assertion of a Medical Cost Reimbursement claim (MCR) under the FMCRA
  - The FMCRA applies even in no-fault jurisdictions. Where a system of tort liability has been replaced by a no-fault system, the government may pursue an FMCRA claim as a third party beneficiary.
  - At the same time, any defenses available under state law that may negate tort liability, such as contributory negligence, may be interposed to defeat the government’s claim. However, state procedural defenses cannot be interposed to defeat the claim.
  - In general, a federal statute of limitation of three years applies
  - Since the United States has an independent statutory right of recovery, a release signed by the injured party is usually not effective in extinguishing the government’s claim
- All successful collections for treatment provided by a military treatment facility (MTF) are deposited into the Operations and Maintenance (O&M) account of the MTF rendering treatment. Collections for active duty pay are deposited to the O&M account of the unit to which the disabled member was assigned at the time of the injury. Recoveries for Tricare paid treatment is returned to the Tricare Management Activity.

Coordination of Benefits (COB) Claims
- Under this law, Congress allows MTFs to pursue recoveries from statutorily defined plans
  - These include health insurance policies/plans, auto insurance providing for medical treatment, workers’ compensation coverage, and similar plans, policies, and programs
  - The COB statute makes the United States a third-party beneficiary under such plans
In general, a federal statute of limitations of six years applies.

Successful recoveries of medical expenses are deposited directly into the treating MTF’s O&M account.

Claims offices use COB as the primary statutory basis of recovery against various types of automobile insurance.

COB has been extended to allow recovery of payments made through TRICARE. Medical expenses paid for by TRICARE are deposited into a TRICARE Management Activity.

Collection of Medical Cost Reimbursement Claims

These claims are collected either by overseas base legal offices or one of eight Medical Cost Reimbursement Program ("MCRP") regional offices within the United States. The MCRP offices are located at:

- Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst, New Jersey
- Joint Base Langley-Eustis, Virginia
- Eglin Air Force Base, Florida
- Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio
- Lackland Air Force Base, Texas
- Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska
- Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada
- Travis Air Force Base, California

Collections are generated from reports of injuries to covered personnel from medical treatment facilities, medical treatment providers, Security Forces blotters, and notice from the injured party’s chain-of-command. If commanders become aware of an injury to an active duty or retired military member and/or their beneficiaries caused by a tortious act, the Commander should promptly notify the base legal office for guidance on how to process this information and/or advise the injured party to contact the closest MCRP office.

ARTICLE 139 CLAIMS

Under Article 139, Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), commanders may direct collection and pay a claim for property that military personnel willfully damage or wrongfully take, if the claim results from riotous, violent, or disorderly conduct.

SCOPE OF ARTICLE 139 CLAIMS

- Assertable Claims:
  - Property claims only; not personal injury or wrongful death
  - Must involve willful misconduct; not performance of legally authorized duties; and must arise from riotous, violent, or disorderly conduct; not conduct involving simple negligence or, for example, bad checks or private indebtedness

- Article 139 claims are entirely separate and distinct from disciplinary action taken under any other article of the UCMJ, or any other administrative action that may be appropriate.

PROCEDURES

- The claim must be submitted to an appropriate commander within 90 days of the date of the incident, unless the commander determines good cause for a delay
  - The claim should be submitted to the commander of the military organization or unit of the alleged offending member or members. However, it may be presented to the commander of the nearest military installation.
  - Initially, the claim may be presented orally, but it must be written and state a sum certain before final action may be taken

- The claim is sent directly, or through channels, to the appointing commander, who is the officer exercising special court-martial convening authority over the offender. The appointing commander appoints a board of officers to investigate the claim.
  - After evaluating all available evidence, which may include interviewing the individual against whom the claim was asserted (in accordance with Article 31, UCMJ, rights and the right to counsel), the board:
    --- Determines if the claim falls under Article 139, UCMJ
    --- Identifies the offender(s)
    --- Determines liability and damages
The board may recommend:

--- Assessing damages against the identified service member (deducting from the assessment any voluntary or partial payments already made)

--- Assessing damages against members who were present during the incident, if authorities cannot individually identify the offenders

--- Disapproving the claim

- After the board completes its review, it forwards the claim to the staff judge advocate for a legal review prior to action by the appointing commander

Action by the Appointing Commander

- Determine if the claim falls under Article 139, UCMJ

- Assess an amount against each offender, but not more than the board’s recommended amount

- Forward the board’s report to the appropriate commander if it is determined that one or more offenders are in a different command, since only the commander of an offender may order payment of the claim under Article 139

- Direct the Accounting and Finance Office to withhold the specified amount from each offender’s pay and to pay the claimant

- Notify the offender and claimant of the action taken

Appeal and Reconsideration

- The commander’s action may not be appealed by the claimant or the offender

- The commander who originally ordered the assessment may reconsider and change the decision if the findings later prove to be wrong, even if offender is no longer a member of that command

- A successor in command may change or cancel the assessment only on the basis of newly discovered evidence, fraud, or obvious error of law or fact

UCMJ art. 139

LIABILITY FOR DAMAGE TO RENTAL VEHICLES

INTRODUCTION
- Vehicles rented on government orders are for official use only
- “Special conveyance use is limited to official purposes, including transportation to and from duty sites, lodgings, dining facilities, drugstores, barber shops, places of worship, cleaning establishments, and similar places required for the traveler’s subsistence, health or comfort.” JFTR, para U3415G and JTR, para C2102.
- The use of a rental vehicle for other than official purposes places a member at risk of personal liability for damages
- “Official Purposes” is a different standard than “scope of employment”
  -- “Official purposes” is a standard in the JFTR/JTR, and is used to determine whether or not a renter will be reimbursed for damage to a rental vehicle
  -- “Scope of employment” is a legal standard under the claims statutes, and will be used to determine whether or not the United States will defend a renter in a lawsuit
  -- Within North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Status of Forces countries, there is yet a third standard, “in the performance of official duty,” which bears on both claims and foreign criminal jurisdiction questions
- Use must be reasonable, but even if reasonable, may still not be in scope of employment
- Case interpreting Hawaii law held that a Navy civilian, TDY to Pearl Harbor, who was returning to his off-base quarters at the end of the duty day, was not in the scope of his employment when he had an accident while still on the naval station. Clamor v. United States, 240 F.3d 1215 (9th Cir. 2001).
  -- The Navy considered the employee to be using the vehicle for official purposes, so the damage to the rental car could be paid by the government
  -- Because the Navy civilian was found not to be within the scope of employment, he had to rely upon his private insurance to cover the injuries to the person in the other car
  -- Some question now whether members are in the scope of employment if government meals are directed on orders and the purpose of trip is to go off-base for meals
- It is important for commanders to factor into rental car authorizations whether or not the member/employee has private automobile liability insurance that could be relied upon in the event the member/employee were in an accident and found to be outside the scope of employment

- When renting a vehicle pursuant to an authorization on orders, it is mandatory to obtain rental vehicle through the commercial travel office (CTO). JFTR, para U3415B and JTR, para C2102.

-- Generally, CTO will reserve a vehicle from a company participating in the Defense Travel Management Office (DTMO) negotiated agreement

-- It is TRANSCOM policy for CTOs to reserve a rental vehicle from a company that subscribes to the DTMO-negotiated agreement

--- Use of companies and rental car/truck locations participating in the DTMO agreement is encouraged because their government rate includes liability and vehicle loss and damage insurance coverage for the traveler and the government

--- Rental companies having a negotiated agreement with DTMO will be used, unless another rental company can provide better service at a lower cost and abides by the same rules/guidance contained in the DTMO-negotiated car/truck rental agreement

--- Government Administrative Rate Supplement (GARS). The GARS is a fee added on a daily basis by rental car/truck companies that are party to the DTMO Car Rental Agreement. GARS is a reimbursable expense as specified in the JFTR, Appendix G, Reimbursable Expenses on Official Travel.

DTMO Rental Vehicles Agreement

- Major rental car companies subscribe to a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with DTMO. The MOU sets rates and conditions of the rental.

- Names of companies participating in the rental car program, current maximum rates offered and terms and conditions of the U.S. Government Rental Car Agreement, effective 15 October 2010, are published on the DTMO web site: https://www.defensetravel.dod.mil/site/rentalCar.cfm

- Travel orders must reflect that a rental vehicle is authorized

- Agreement is not valid when using an IMPAC card

- Must rent from a participating company AND location. While most rental car companies subscribe to the agreement, a particular location may opt out.
- Rental agency should be notified of all persons who are going to be driving vehicle

  -- While not mandatory under the DTMO agreement, it might relieve the renter of personal liability if another driver uses the vehicle on other than official business

  -- Rental agency cannot charge for the addition of other drivers. A contractor is not your “fellow employee” and may not drive a car you rent on official business.

- DTMO truck rental agreement available at https://www.defensetravel.dod.mil/Docs/TruckRentalAgreement.pdf

  -- Applies to cargo vans, pick-ups, and utility and straight trucks. Gross weight must not require a Class C driver's license.

  -- Trucks are not necessarily listed with the commercial travel office (CTO). Must call company or go to DTMO Web page: https://www.defensetravel.dod.mil/site/rental.cfm

  -- Driver must be 21 years old

  -- Unlike cars, if a driver rents a different truck than one with DTMO rate, DTMO agreement does not apply

  -- May apply to do-it-yourself (DITY) moves, but coverage under the agreement does not extend to spouse driving vehicle, nor to detour, i.e. driving out of the way to see parents. Some states do not consider PCS moves to be in scope of employment, so government would not defend member for negligence causing damage or injury to another.

LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES TO THE RENTAL VEHICLE AND TO OTHERS

- Four Different Situations

  -- Rented on orders pursuant to DTMO agreement

  -- Rented on orders not under DTMO agreement

  -- Personal rental vehicle on official TDY

  -- Rented pursuant to umbrella contract

- Claims personnel do not pay claims for damage to rental vehicles rented on orders pursuant to DTMO agreement. Follow guidance below for each situation.
Rented on Orders Pursuant to DTMO Agreement

- The rental company assumes and bears the entire risk of loss of or damage to the rented vehicles up to the policy limits; full comprehensive and collision coverage is in effect.

- Renter may be personally liable for loss or damage caused by a fellow Government traveler in official travel status while acting outside the scope of their employment duties.

  -- Example: A unit sends five people TDY and authorizes one rental car. One member rents the vehicle and charges the rental on the member’s government travel card (not IMPAC card). Any of the five members are authorized drivers while acting within the scope of their employment duties. But if one of the members takes the vehicle to a bar late at night, gets drunk, and crashes the car, that member would not be considered an authorized driver at the time of the accident.

- Negligence claims for personal injury or property damage against the driver by third parties are covered under the liability insurance provided by the rental car company, up to the policy limits. So long as the driver was in the scope of employment, the government will defend the driver. Within the United States, the exclusive remedy is against the government—the driver cannot be held personally liable. 28 U.S.C. § 2679.

Rented on Orders, Not Under the DTMO Agreement

- For damage to rental vehicle, the government travel card currently carries collision coverage.

  -- The traveler must decline the rental car company’s collision damage waiver insurance.

  -- Damage must be reported to the government travel card company immediately.

  -- Covers collision or rollover, theft and theft-related charges, malicious vandalism, windshield damage due to road debris, and loss of use and towing charges due to covered damage.

  -- Does not apply if the vehicle is rented for more than 31 days; if used off-road; if driver is DUI; if damage results from hail, lightning, flood or other weather-related causes; or if damage is from failure to protect the car, i.e., leaving the car running and unattended.

  -- Does not apply to expensive, exotic, and antique autos; vans over eight passenger; trucks; motorcycles; limos; or recreational vehicles.

  -- If no travel charge card coverage, member usually pays rental company and claims reimbursement on the travel voucher under JFTR, Appendix G.

  --- DFAS can also pay rental company directly.
--- Travel claim comes to the legal office for review

--- Payment for damage is from unit travel funds

- For damage to another vehicle, property, or personal injury, the claims office adjudicates. So long as the driver was in the scope of employment, the United States will defend the driver. Within the United States, the driver cannot be held personally liable if the accident occurred while he was within the scope of employment.

PERSONAL RENTAL VEHICLE ON OFFICIAL TDY

- For damage to rental vehicle, the driver is usually personally responsible

- For damage to another vehicle, property, or personal injury, the United States will defend the driver if driver is in the scope of employment. Within the United States, the driver cannot be held personally liable if the accident occurred while he was within the scope of employment.

RENTED PURSUANT TO CONTRACT

- DTMO agreement not applicable unless made a part of the contract

- Will be subject to specific contractual provisions under Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR 52.228-8; clause is required within the United States); generally, United States liable for any damages to rental vehicle except fair wear and tear and loss or damage caused by the negligence of the Contractor

- Along with typical contracts for fleet rentals, rental with an IMPAC card is a government contract, and not a rental between the traveler and the company

- Claims for damage to rental vehicles under contract are settled under contractual provisions as claims against the contract

- Unlike vehicles rented on a personal charge card, a report of survey may be required for damage to a vehicle rented under a government contract

- For damages to another vehicle or property, claims office adjudicates as a tort claim. Again, so long as the driver is in the scope of employment, the government will defend the driver. Within the United States, the driver cannot be held personally liable if the accident occurred within the scope of employment.
If There is an Accident

- Call the rental company and report. If rented on a government travel card, call travel card company and report immediately.

- If the police respond, try to get a copy of the accident report. If you cannot get a copy of the report, find out how to get a copy later.

- If someone else is injured in the accident and you are TDY at or near a base, let the base legal office know of the accident. If not near a base, contact your base legal office upon return.

- Inform the staff judge advocate immediately if you become aware litigation is filed regarding a vehicle rented by an Air Force member/employee, even if the United States is not a named party in the suit.

- Never admit liability at the site of an accident

PROCUREMENT INTEGRITY

WARNING: This is a complex and constantly changing area of the law, and you should contact your local ethics counselor if you have any questions!

The Procurement Integrity Act and its amendments regulate the conduct of federal employees who are involved in procurements and the administration of contracts. The fundamental idea behind the Procurement Integrity Act is that government employees have a duty to put the best interests of the U.S. Government first. The current version of the Procurement Integrity Act is located at 41 U.S.C. §§ 2101-2107 and implemented at Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) 3.104.

- Employees involved in procurements in excess of the Simplified Acquisition Threshold (See FAR 2.101, Definitions; generally $150,000) must report contacts with bidders or offerors regarding future employment to their supervisors and ethics counselors, and must disqualify themselves from further participation if they do not immediately reject the contact.

--- For purposes of the Procurement Integrity Act provisions, “contact” is defined to include any of the actions described under “seeking employment” in 5 C.F.R. 2635.603(b). In addition, unsolicited communications from offerors regarding possible employment are considered contacts.

--- An employee has begun seeking employment if he has directly or indirectly:

---- Engaged in negotiations for employment with any person. Negotiations means discussion or communication with another person, or such person’s agent or intermediary, mutually conducted with a view toward reaching an agreement regarding possible employment with that person. The term is not limited to discussions of specific terms and conditions of employment in a specific position.

---- Made an unsolicited communication to any person, or such person’s agent or intermediary, regarding possible employment with that person. However, the employee has not begun seeking employment if that communication was for the sole purpose of requesting a job application or for the purpose of submitting a resume or other employment proposal to a person affected by the performance or nonperformance of the employee's duties only as part of an industry or other direct class.
--- The employee will be considered to have begun seeking employment upon receipt of any response indicating an interest in employment discussions or made a response other than rejection to an unsolicited communication from any person, or such person’s agent or intermediary, regarding possible employment with that person

--- An employee is no longer seeking employment when:

--- The employee or the prospective employer rejects the possibility of employment and all discussions of possible employment have terminated; or

--- Two months have transpired after the employee’s dispatch of an unsolicited resume or employment proposal, provided the employee has received no indication of interest in employment discussions from the prospective employer

--- A response that defers discussions until the foreseeable future does not constitute rejection of an unsolicited employment overture, proposal, or resume nor rejection of a prospective employment possibility

- Certain employees (e.g., procuring contracting officers, program managers, etc.) who are involved in procurements or the administration of contracts, either of which is valued at $10 million or greater, are prohibited from working for the contractor for a period of one year following their involvement

-- This compensation ban extends only to the prime contractor. That is, a former official is not prohibited from accepting compensation “from any division or affiliate of a contractor that does not produce the same or similar products or services as the entity of the contractor that is responsible for the contract.”

- The Procurement Integrity Act also prohibits:

-- Disclosure of contractor bid or proposal information and source selection information; and

-- Individuals from knowingly obtaining contractor bid or proposal information or source selection information

- Government personnel may request an advisory opinion from their ethics counselor and/or the staff judge advocate as to whether specific conduct would violate the Joint Ethics Regulation or the Procurement Integrity Act, or regarding their status as a procurement official. One who relies in good faith on such an opinion cannot be found to have knowingly violated the applicable restrictions. Procurement personnel should obtain advisory opinions.

MINOR MILITARY CONSTRUCTION FUNDING

The installation commander, assisted by the base civil engineer, is responsible and accountable to ensure all work accomplished for the Air Force on Air Force owned and controlled real property is properly authorized and funded in accordance with laws, policies, and regulations. “Construction” is a term of art when it comes to funding. The layperson’s definition of construction would include almost any work on a physical structure, in one or multiple phases. However, the definition of “construction” for funding purposes is more restrictive and often more difficult to determine. In a nutshell, construction projects having a funded cost of $1,000,000 or less may be funded with Operation and Maintenance Funds, however, construction projects having a funded cost exceeding $1,000,000 must be funded with Military Construction Funds. Military Construction Funds may be used for two types of construction projects—Specified and Unspecified. Because the laws governing Military Construction Funds are always subject to change by Congress, these dollar threshold amounts should be verified prior to commencing work.

CONSTRUCTION FUNDING

- Specified Military Construction Projects (MILCON):

  -- Congress typically specifically authorizes only those military construction projects expected to exceed $3 million. Congress’ specific authorization is located in the conference report accompanying the yearly Military Construction Appropriation Act.

  -- Congressional line-item authorization required

- Unspecifed Minor Military Construction Projects (UMMC):

  -- Available for any project with a cost between $1,000,000 and $3 million (up to $4 million IF intended solely to correct life, health, or safety deficiencies)

  -- Requirements should be unforeseen and so urgent they cannot wait for the next MILCON program submittal

  -- Includes constructing, erecting, or installing a new facility or system; work that expands the current size of an existing building by constructing additional functional space (e.g., by constructing a building addition or adding an additional level); converting a building from one primary function to another; and repair-type work that exceeds 70 percent of a building’s replacement cost

  -- Combining UMMC funds with other fund types to accomplish a single requirement is prohibited

  -- Each military department receives an appropriation for minor construction
-- An unspecified minor military construction project costing more than $1,000,000 must have the prior approval of the secretary of the air force and require prior congressional notification.

-- SecAF controls expenditure of these funds and must approve the obligation and expenditure of UMMC funds

--- MAJCOMs submit project requests under the UMMC authority to HQ USAF/ILEC using a DD Form 1391

--- HQ USAF/ILEC validates UMMC projects and submits validated projects to SAF/IEI for approval

--- SAF/IEI (together with the OSD Comptroller) approves the projects and notifies the House and Senate Armed Services and Appropriations Committees of the intent to accomplish the project

--- Congress must object within 30 days or work begins

- Unspecified Minor Military Construction, using Operation and Maintenance Appropriation (O&M):

-- Congress permits the use of O&M funds for unspecified minor construction up to $1,000,000 per project.

-- MAJCOMs are responsible for promoting timely obligation of funds, project approval within delegated approval authorities and execution of projects

-- With limited exceptions, these funds may not be used to finance projects related to exercises outside the United States that are coordinated or directed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff

Funding Pitfalls

- Projects MAY NOT be split into separate segments (commonly called “project splitting”) to avoid funding limitations. For instance, it is improper to split a proposed $1,200,000 building into two $600,000 projects funded with O&M funds to avoid the $1,000,000 limitation.

- Projects MAY NOT be completed in phases (commonly called “phasing”) in order to avoid funding limits. For instance, it is improper to build a project for $600,000 in one fiscal year (FY) and another project for $600,000 in the next FY, resulting in an $1,200,000 building, in order to avoid the $1,000,000 O&M limit.
Defining exactly what a “project” is can be difficult. A project is generally all work necessary, including land acquisition, excavation, building, installation of equipment, landscaping, etc., to produce a complete and usable facility. It can also include a complete and usable improvement to an existing facility such as an extension, expansion, addition, alteration, or conversion, or the replacement of an existing facility damaged beyond economical repair.

For funding purposes, maintenance and repair projects are not considered construction; therefore, the $1,000,000 limit on the use of O&M funds does not apply. The primary limitation is the dollar amount the installation has available in its O&M account. Repairs in excess of $7.5 million must be approved by SAF/IEI. Repairs costing more than $7.5 million must also be reported to Congress.

-- Maintenance is defined as the recurring, day-to-day, periodic, or scheduled work necessary to preserve real property facilities, systems, or components and prevent premature failure or deterioration, so these may be effectively used for their designated purposes.

-- Repair means to sustain or restore real property and real property systems or components to such condition that they may effectively be used for their designated functional purposes.

-- CAUTION: Maintenance and Repair projects that include an upgrade to a facility’s systems or components are, with limited exceptions, deemed construction projects that are subject to MILCON rules if the upgrade is not required by current building codes. Discuss with your legal counsel before approving any type of maintenance and repair projects that include upgrades.

Only funded costs count toward the dollar limitations. Funded costs include such things as materials, supplies, labor, lodging (TDY), and the maintenance and operation of government-owned equipment. Unfunded costs generally include military salaries (if military labor is used), planning and design costs, depreciation of government-owned equipment, and items received on a nonreimbursable basis as excess distribution from another department or agency. While unfunded costs do not count toward the funding limitation, they must still be calculated and reported.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN  Contracting Issues for the Commander

Unauthorized Procurement

Commanders are routinely faced with the need to acquire supplies, services, and construction necessary for the operation of the installation or unit. Often it is necessary to turn to the private sector to furnish these supplies, services, and construction. Commanders must understand that only those persons who possess specific contracting authority may make such purchases—with rare exceptions, commanders have no contracting authority.

Procurement Authority
- Authority to bind the government to a contract or an obligation to pay a debt is limited to individuals that have been granted express authorization to do so

- The head of each federal agency is authorized to enter into contracts on behalf of the agency

- Contracting authority may be delegated, and in most instances it is a contracting officer (CO) that is responsible for entering into government contracts. Each CO has a “Certificate of Appointment,” often called a warrant, that states the limitations on the CO’s contracting authority. In most cases, the limitation is based on a set dollar value (e.g., authority to bind the government up to a limit of $500,000).

- On occasion, an individual without authority will enter into a commitment expecting the government to assume responsibility for the financial obligation. Rarely are such unauthorized commitments the product of a deliberate attempt to circumvent the procurement system. It is usually a matter of ignorance of the procurement procedures, coupled with an honest effort to satisfy a legitimate need. Nevertheless, an individual who makes an unauthorized commitment is subject to disciplinary action.

Ratification of Unauthorized Commitments
- The Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) has a procedure for the ratification of an unauthorized commitment. Ratification means the act of approving an unauthorized commitment by an official who has the authority to do so. However, the FAR also requires agencies to take positive action to preclude the need for ratification actions. Additionally, depending on various factors, including the amount of money involved, the approval authority may be at a high level. Air Force ratification procedures are provided in Air Force FAR Supplement (AFFARS) Mandatory Procedure (MP) 5301.602-3.

- In general, an unauthorized commitment must meet the following criteria to be eligible for ratification

  -- Supplies or services have been provided to and accepted by the government, or the government otherwise has obtained or will obtain a benefit resulting from performance of the unauthorized commitment
The ratifying official has the authority to enter into a contractual commitment

The resulting contract would otherwise have been proper if made by an appropriate CO

The CO, upon reviewing the unauthorized commitment, determines the prices to be fair and reasonable

The CO recommends payment and legal counsel concur

Funds are available and were available at the time the unauthorized commitment was made; and

The ratification is in accordance with any limitations prescribed under agency procedures

Commanders have a responsibility to ensure their personnel are informed of proper contracting authority

Bottom line: Ratification procedures exist as a possible avenue to minimize the impact of an unauthorized commitment, but they should not be viewed as a substitute for compliance with proper procurement practices

Any unauthorized commitments that are not later ratified are the sole financial responsibility of the individual making the unauthorized commitment and are therefore not the financial responsibility of the government

Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR), Subpart 1.6
BANKRUPTCY: GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS

The Federal Bankruptcy Code affords special protection to businesses that seek bankruptcy protection, including those that do business with the government.

TYPES OF CONTRACTOR BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS
- There are two types of business bankruptcy proceedings:

  -- Chapter 7 (Liquidation Bankruptcy), which entails the complete liquidation of all contractor assets and cessation of business activities; and

  -- Chapter 11 (Reorganization Bankruptcy), which entails a reorganization of the business with continued operation during the reorganization process (Note that occasionally a corporation may choose to liquidate under Chapter 11. Also, a small business operated by an individual may file under Chapter 13, which is handled similarly to a Chapter 11 filing).

- Protection against creditors begins the day the bankruptcy petition is filed. Even if the government is unaware of the filing, the petition acts as an automatic stay of potential adverse actions against the contractor.

- Typical adverse actions (for example, termination for default, recovery of government furnished equipment or materials, reprocurement, and setoffs) cannot be initiated or continued without the express permission of the bankruptcy court. Permission can be obtained but generally takes sixty to ninety days. It is important to determine whether to terminate or retain a contractor as soon as possible so that a course of action can be determined.

- Actions not affected by bankruptcy include the investigation and prosecution of criminal actions; issuance of a show cause or cure letter (tailored to avoid violation of the bankruptcy law); conducting an inventory or audit to identify government property; issuance of a final decision of a contractor’s claim; and coordinating a proposed termination letter through Air Force channels so that it is ready to serve immediately upon removal of bankruptcy protections

PROTECTING AIR FORCE INTERESTS
- Protection of Air Force interests in the bankruptcy forum is a unique challenge. It requires the assistance of personnel at all levels, including prompt notification of bankruptcy cases, and assistance in gathering facts, affidavits and documents.
- The government’s monetary claims against the debtor’s estate are filed as a proof of claim with the bankruptcy court. Time limits exist, so coordinate with the legal office as soon as possible. Do not allow payment of any invoices to a bankrupt contractor until it is determined whether the contractor owes the Air Force funds on any contract.

- In many instances, the filing of a bankruptcy petition can be anticipated. It is often preceded by delinquency, failure to pay vendors or subcontractors, reduced production capacity, or other evidence of financial difficulty.

- The base legal office must be notified immediately in any case where contractor bankruptcy is suspected or known. Early warning of anticipated bankruptcy maximizes protection of Air Force interests; failure to react swiftly to an actual filing may result in loss of important rights.

- The Bankruptcy Code also contains protections against discrimination for contractors that have filed bankruptcy. A contracting officer cannot discriminate against a contractor in the award of a contract or an option solely because it has declared bankruptcy.

- The appropriate way to analyze a contractor’s eligibility for award is through a responsibility determination or another nonbankruptcy basis for analysis. While a contractor may not be found ineligible for award merely because it is involved in bankruptcy proceedings, financial capability is always a factor to be considered in evaluating a bidder’s responsibility.

- Protection against contractor bankruptcy often requires close cooperation with the Air Force Legal Operations Agency, Commercial Litigation Division (AFLOA/JAQ) and the U.S. Attorney’s Office. The base legal office provides the necessary liaison between the installation and the other offices charged with protecting the government’s interests.

Contractor Personnel Authorized to Accompany the U.S. Armed Forces

Contractors support military forces overseas today more than ever. Commanders must understand the basic rules and policies regarding contractor personnel overseas. The following information applies to Department of Defense (DoD) contingency contractor personnel.

Definitions

- Contingency Contractor Personnel: includes defense contractors and employees of defense contractors and associated subcontractors, including U.S. citizens, U.S. legal aliens, third country nationals (TCN), and citizens of host nations (HN) who are authorized to accompany U.S. military forces in contingency operations or other military operations, or exercises designated by the geographic Combatant Commander. This includes employees of external support, systems support, and theater support contractors. Such personnel are provided with an appropriate identification card under the Geneva Conventions.

- Contractors Authorized to Accompany the Force (CAAF): a sub-category of “contingency contractor personnel” defined above. CAAF are employees of system support and external support contractors, and associated subcontractors, at all tiers, who are specifically authorized in their contract to deploy through a deployment center or process and provide support to U.S. military forces in contingency operations or in other military operations, or exercises designated by a geographic Combatant Commander. CAAF includes forward-deployed system support and external support. Such personnel are provided with an appropriate identification card under the Geneva Conventions. CAAF do not include TCN or local national personnel hired in theater using local procurement. (e.g., day laborers).

International Law and Contractor Legal Status

- Contractors may support military operations as civilians accompanying the force, so long as:
  - They are designated as such by the force they accompany; and
  - Are provided with an appropriate identification card

- Contingency contractor personnel may be at risk of injury or death incidental to enemy actions while supporting military operations

- Contingency contractor personnel may support contingency operations through the indirect participation in military operations, such as by providing communications support, transporting munitions and other supplies, performing maintenance functions for military equipment, and providing logistic services such as billeting, messing, etc.

- If captured during armed conflict, and if they have proper authorization, contingency contractor personnel accompanying the force are entitled to prisoner of war status. Geneva

Applicability of Laws
- Subject to the application of international agreements, contingency contractor personnel must comply with applicable host nation and third country nation laws
- Contingency contractor personnel remain subject to U.S. laws and regulations and may be subject to prosecution under
  -- Military Extraterritorial Jurisdiction Act (MEJA), 18 U.S.C. § 3261, which extends U.S. Federal criminal jurisdiction to certain DoD contingency contractor personnel, for certain offenses committed outside U.S. territory
  -- War Crimes Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2441, which extends federal criminal jurisdiction to conduct that is determined to constitute a violation of the law of war when committed by a civilian national of the United States
  -- Uniform Code of Military Justice, which applies to civilians serving with or accompanying U.S. forces in the field, when there is a formal declaration of war by Congress or during a contingency operation. Detailed guidance for application of the UCMJ to DoD contractors was released by SecDef in March 2008; or
  -- Status of Forces Agreements (SOFA) and other types of formal agreements may address contingency contractor personnel.

Letter of Authorization
- The contracting officer will issue a Letter of Authorization to CAAF, which will be required to process through a deployment center, and to travel to, from, and within the AOR
- The Letter of Authorization shall provide, at a minimum:
  -- The prime contract number
  -- The sub-contract number, if applicable
  -- An emergency contact phone number and e-mail address of the government contracting officer
  -- An emergency contact 24/7 phone number and e-mail address of the defense contractor point of contact
  -- The contact information of the sponsoring in-theater supported unit
-- The intended length of assignment in the AOR, and

-- Identification of government facilities, equipment, and privileges in the AOR authorized by the contract

Medical Issues

- Defense contractors must provide medically and physically qualified contingency contractor personnel

- Secretary of Defense may direct immunizations as mandatory for CAAF performing DoD-essential contractor services

- In general, defense contractors must provide their own medical care. The government may provide resuscitative care, stabilization, hospitalization at level III military treatment facilities, and assistance with patient movement in emergencies where loss of life, limb or eyesight could occur. Refer to the underlying contract to determine the exact level of medical care agreed upon.

-- Generally, costs associated with the treatment and transportation of contingency contractor personnel to the selected civilian facility are reimbursable to the government. The individual contract will normally detail what is covered under medical support.

-- Primary medical or dental care is not authorized unless specifically provided for under the terms of the contract and the corresponding Letter of Authorization. Primary care includes inpatient and outpatient services; non-emergency evacuation; pharmaceutical support; dental services and other medical support.

Individual Protective Equipment

- Generally, contractors shall be required to provide all life, mission, and administrative support to its employees necessary to perform the contract

- However, the component commander may decide it is in the government’s interests to provide selected life, mission, and administrative support to some contingency contractor personnel. This equipment shall typically be issued before deployment to the AOR at the deployment center and must be returned to the government, otherwise accounted for, or purchased, after use.

Uniforms

- The individual contractor or contingency contractor personnel are responsible for providing their own personal clothing, including casual and working clothing required by the particular assignment
Generally, commanders shall not issue military clothing to contingency contractor personnel or allow the wearing of military or military look-alike uniforms. However, geographic combatant commanders may authorize certain contingency contractor personnel to wear standard uniform items for operational reasons.

This authorization shall be in writing and carried by authorized contingency contractor personnel.

Care must be taken to ensure, consistent with force protection measures, the contingency contractor personnel are distinguishable from military personnel through the use of distinctive patches, arm bands, nametags, or headgear.

Legal Assistance

- Generally, contingency contractor personnel are not entitled to military legal assistance with personal legal affairs, either in theater or at the deployment center.

- The individual contractor or contingency contractor personnel are responsible for preparing and completing personal legal affairs (including powers of attorney, wills, trusts, estate plans, etc.,) before reporting to deployment centers.

Force Protection and Weapons Issuance

- The geographic combatant commanders must develop a security plan for protection of those contingency contractor personnel in locations where there is not sufficient or legitimate civil authority and the commander decides that it is in the interests of the government to provide security because of any of the following:

- The contractor cannot obtain effective security services.

- Such services are unavailable at a reasonable cost; and

- Threat conditions necessitate security through military means.

- Contingency contractor personnel may be armed for individual self-defense, on a case-by-case basis, ONLY IF

- It is determined that military force protection and legitimate civil authority are deemed unavailable or insufficient.

- It is authorized by the geographic combatant commander; and

- It does not violate applicable U.S., host nation (HN), and international law, relevant SOFAs or international agreements, or other arrangements with local HN authorities.
- Commanders should consult with their staff judge advocate prior to authorizing the arming of contractors

- If weapons are authorized:

  -- The government shall provide or ensure weapons familiarization, qualifications, and briefings on the rules regarding the use of force to the contingency contractor personnel

  -- Acceptance of weapons by contractor personnel shall be voluntary and permitted by the defense contractor and the contract; and

  -- These personnel must not be otherwise prohibited from possessing weapons under U.S. law

Security Services

- If consistent with applicable U.S., host nation, and international law, and relevant SOFAs or other international agreements, a defense contractor may be authorized to provide security services for other than uniquely military functions

- Whether a particular use of contract security personnel to protect military assets is permissible is dependent on the facts and requires legal analysis. Variables such as the nature of the operation, the type of conflict, any applicable status agreement related to the presence of U.S. forces, and the nature of the activity being protected require case-by-case determinations.

  -- Requests shall be reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the appropriate staff judge advocate to the geographic combatant commander

  -- Contractors shall be used cautiously in contingency operations where major combat operations are ongoing or imminent. In these situations, contract security services will not be authorized to guard U.S. or coalition military supply routes, military facilities, military personnel, or military property except as specifically authorized by the geographic combatant commander. In November 2006, the authority to approve use of contract security services to protect military personnel in Iraq or Afghanistan was delegated to the Commander of the Multinational Force–Iraq and to the senior U.S. Forces Commander in Afghanistan.

STANDARDS OF ETHICAL CONDUCT

Each commander has the responsibility of ensuring that the standards of conduct in the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER), DoD 5500.07-R, are brought to the attention of all personnel. It is fundamental Air Force policy that personnel shall not engage in any personal business or professional activity that places them in a position of conflict between their private interests and the public interest of the United States. In order to preserve the public confidence in the Air Force, even the appearance of a conflict of interest must be avoided.

- Air Force personnel shall not use inside information to further a private gain for themselves or others if that information was obtained by reason of their Air Force position and is not generally available to the public.

- All personnel, upon first assumption of Air Force duties, should be thoroughly informed of the regulation’s provisions.

- Annual reminders of the regulation can be accomplished by requiring unit members to read the regulation, by posting bulletin board items, by regularly publishing literature, and at commanders’ calls.

- Personnel may obtain further clarification of the standards of conduct and conflict of interest provisions by consulting with their servicing legal office.

- The commander must realize that the resolution of a conflict of interest should be accomplished immediately.

- The JER prohibits some specific activities, including:

  -- Active duty members making personal commercial solicitations or solicited sales to DoD personnel junior in rank at any time (on or off duty, in or out of uniform), particularly for insurance, stocks, mutual funds, real estate, or any other commodities, goods, or services.

  -- Soliciting or accepting any gift, entertainment, or thing of value from any person or company, which is engaged in procurement activities or does business with any agency of the DoD (including contractors). There are exceptions to this rule, so if offered a gift, consult the ethics counselor, normally the staff judge advocate (SJA).

  -- Soliciting contributions for gifts to an official superior, except voluntary gifts or contributions of nominal value (not to exceed $10) on special occasions like marriage, illness, transfer, or retirement.
-- Active duty military or civilian personnel using their grades, titles, positions, or organization’s names in connection with activities performed in their personal capacities

-- Endorsing a non-Federal entity, event, product, service, or enterprise (explicit or implied). DoD employees must not use their official capacities and titles, positions, or organization names to suggest official endorsement or preferential treatment of any non-Federal entity except those listed in subsection 32-10 of the JER, such as the Combined Federal Campaign and the Air Force Assistance Fund.

-- Accepting employment outside of the Air Force or off-duty, if it interferes with or is not compatible with the performance of government duties, or if it might discredit the government. Squadron commanders are normally the approving authority for requests for off duty employment.

-- Unauthorized gambling, while on base or on duty

- DoD employees may not participate in their official DoD capacities in the management of non-Federal entities without authorization from the DoD General Counsel, except under very limited circumstances requiring the approval of SecAF

- DoD employees may, however, serve as DoD liaisons to non-Federal entities when appointed by the head of the DoD Component command or organization who determines there is a significant and continuing DoD interest to be served by such representation. Liaisons serve as part of their official DoD duties, under DoD Component memberships, and represent only DoD interests to the non-Federal entity in an advisory capacity.

- The Joint Ethics Regulation imposes annual financial reporting requirements for officers in the grade of O-7 or above and other government officials such as commanding officers and procurement officials

- As always, if you have specific questions, the installation SJA is the standards of conduct/ethics counselor and can assist you

FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE FORMS

The DoD currently uses two different financial disclosure forms, the OGE 450 and the OGE 278. The Joint Ethics Regulation (JER) describes who must file, outlines the required contents in these reports, and specifies filing times. Although the JER contains sample forms, these forms are outdated and as with all issues involving the JER, commanders should contact their servicing staff judge advocate (SJA) for assistance and guidance. Which form an individual must use depends on the rank or grade and responsibilities of that individual. Air Force policy highly encourages filers to use the Financial Disclosure Management (FDM) on-line reporting system, unless electronic filing is not practically possible, such as it might be in a deployed or extremely remote location. FDM utilizes the most current OGE forms and builds upon prior years’ inputs to reduce duplication of efforts. Contact your servicing SJA to determine whether FDM is available at your location.

CONFIDENTIAL FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE REPORT (OGE 450)
- Persons required to file this form include:

  -- Commanding officers, heads and deputy heads of all installations or activities, if the military member is O-6 and below or if a civilian, is GS-15 or below. Commanders, heads and deputy heads who are General Officers or Senior Executive employees file the OGE 278 report exclusively.

  -- All military members (O-6 and below) and all civilian employees (GS/GM-15 and below) when the official position of such employees or members requires them to participate personally and substantially in taking an official action for contracting or procurement, or if the supervisor of such employee or member determines the position requires such a report to avoid an actual or apparent conflict of interest

  -- If any questions exist as to whether an individual should file such a report, contact the servicing SJA

- The specific requirements for the content of this report are set forth in Chapter 7 of the JER. Several of these requirements are worth highlighting,

  -- The report must provide sufficient information about the individual, as well as the individual’s spouse and dependent children, that an informed judgment can be made regarding compliance with conflict of interest laws

  -- No disclosure of amounts or values is required

  -- This report must be filed within 30 days after assuming a covered position and annually thereafter
- Annual reports are submitted to the servicing SJA no later than 15 February for the preceding calendar year.

Public Financial Disclosure Report (OGE 278)

- Persons required to file this form include:

  -- Regular and Reserve officers whose grade is O-7 or above

  -- Members of the Senior Executive Service

  -- Civilian employees whose positions are classified above GS/GM-15 or whose rate of basic pay is fixed at or above 120 percent of the minimum rate of basic pay for a GS/GM-15

- The specific requirements for the content of this report are also set forth in Chapter 7 of the JER.

  -- Generally, this report is far more detailed in content than the OGE 450.

  -- Although specific amounts are not required on the report, individuals must indicate the value of assets within both a given range and type of asset.

- This report must be filed within 30 days after assuming a covered position.

- Annual reports must be filed between 1 January and 15 May and cover the preceding calendar year.

- An individual must also file a termination report within 30 days after terminating a covered position unless, within 30 days, the individual assumes another covered position.

GIFTS TO SUPERIORS

To avoid the appearance that a supervisor is being improperly influenced, the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER) issues the following guidelines concerning gifts to superiors.

- Generally, Air Force personnel may NOT:

  -- Solicit a contribution from other DoD personnel for a gift to a superior

  -- Make a donation for a gift or give a gift to a superior

  -- Accept a gift from subordinate personnel

- Exceptions to the general rule prohibiting gifts to superiors or their solicitation:

  -- On an occasional basis, including occasions where gifts are traditionally given or exchanged, items having an aggregate market value of $10 or less per occasion, items such as food and refreshments, or personal hospitality at a residence may be given to superiors and accepted from subordinates

  -- On special, infrequent occasions (marriage, birth of child, etc.) or on occasions that terminate the superior-subordinate relationship (retirement, separation, or PCS)

  --- Employees may solicit a contribution for a group gift for a special, infrequent occasion, as long as the amount solicited does not exceed $10 per person. Solicitation must be without pressure or coercion.

  --- The general rule is that a DoD employee may NOT accept a gift if the market value of the gift exceeds $300 per donating group or organization. However, groups of employees are permitted to give gifts exceeding $300 in value to superiors on special, infrequent occasions that terminate the superior-subordinate relationship and the gifts are appropriate for the occasion and are uniquely linked to the departing employee’s position or tour of duty, and commemorate the same.

  -- Under all circumstances, gifts must be truly voluntary

FOREIGN GIFTS

The United States Constitution prohibits persons holding an “office of profit or trust” for the United States from accepting gifts from foreign “personages or governments” without consent of Congress. Congress has consented to retaining and accepting gifts under certain conditions and when following certain procedures.

- This prohibition applies to military members, civilian employees, consultants, and their spouses or other dependents. This includes retired and reserve component members, regardless of duty, Air National Guard members, when federally recognized, and their spouses and dependents.

- No DoD employee may request, or otherwise encourage, the offer of a gift from a foreign government.

- Table favors, mementos, remembrances, or other tokens bestowed at official functions, and other gifts of minimal value received as souvenirs or marks of courtesy from a foreign government, e.g., plaques or paper certificates, may be accepted and retained by the recipient.

- “Minimal value” is defined as not exceeding $375 in retail value. “Minimal value” is based on the Consumer Price Index and is subject to change.

  -- The Government Services Agency (GSA) periodically adjusts the amount.

  -- The value of the gift is determined by United States retail value.

  -- Must aggregate the value if more than one gift is given at the same occasion.

- DoD employees must refuse offers of gifts of more than minimal value if practical to do so.

  -- Advise donor that United States law prohibits persons in service of the United States or their dependents from accepting the gift.

  -- Exceptions to the refusal rule:

    --- May accept a gift of greater value if refusal is likely to offend or embarrass the donor or adversely affect foreign relations. The gift becomes United States property and must be reported and turned in to the Air Force in accordance with procedures prescribed in AFI 51-901.

    --- A gift recipient may purchase a gift if he or she desires by paying full retail value.
- For minimal value gifts accepted, the person receiving the gift should make a written record describing the circumstance of the gift, including the date and place of presentation, identity and position of the donor, description and value of gift, and means by which the value was determined.

Use of Government Resources for Mementos and Gifts

Air Force policy is that appropriated funds cannot be used to purchase gifts for military members, employees, or private citizens unless specifically authorized by law. The only authority to use Air Force appropriated funds for gifts is AFI 65-603, which specifies the circumstances and the individuals to whom gifts (or “mementos”) may be presented. Generally, nonappropriated funds cannot be used when appropriated funds are authorized, whether such funds are available or not. The use and limits on the use of nonappropriated funds is outlined in AFI 34-201.

Impermissible Use of Funds
- You cannot use appropriated funds to purchase PCS or retirement mementos for either military or DoD civilian personnel
- You cannot use nonappropriated funds to purchase PCS mementos for either military or DoD civilian personnel
- In general, you cannot use nonappropriated funds to purchase trophies and awards that are used to recognize either mission accomplishment or individual achievements that contribute to military effectiveness. Nonappropriated funds may be used to purchase trophies and make nominal monetary awards for winners under the individual recognition program provided appropriated funds are not available OR not authorized.
- You cannot use mission accomplishment recognition funding to honor PCS or retiring personnel. AFI 36-2803 and AFI 36-1001 provide for appropriate recognition in these circumstances.

Permissible Use of Funds
- You can use nonappropriated funds in support of a retirement ceremony to purchase light refreshments and mementos ($20 limit) for retiring military and DoD civilian personnel
- You can use appropriated funds to purchase special trophies and plaques that are used to recognize mission accomplishment, such as personnel of the quarter awards
- You can use appropriated funds, i.e., representation funds, to purchase mementos/gifts for distinguished citizens of foreign countries, and certain U.S. citizens who are not DoD employees under certain circumstances

PARTICIPATION IN FREQUENT FLYER PROGRAMS

Chapter 4 of the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER) contains the key rules associated with travel benefits. This chapter of the JER discusses Frequent Flyer Programs (FFPs) and what can be done with accumulated bonus mileage and other benefits received from official travel.

- Federal employees (including military members) and their families who receive a promotional item as a result of traveling at government expense, or while traveling in furtherance of government business at the expense of a non-Federal entity under 31 U.S.C. § 1353, may keep the item for personal use if the item
  -- Is available to the public under the same terms; and
  -- Can be accepted at no additional cost to the government

- The term “promotional item” includes, among other things, frequent flyer miles, travel upgrades, and access to carrier clubs or facilities

- The new policy applies to promotional items received before, on, or after the date of the enactment of the Act (28 December 2001)

- Therefore, personnel may now accumulate and use official travel mileage and benefits for personal use

- Travelers should be reminded of two related considerations:
  -- First, they may not be reimbursed twice for the same travel expenses

    --- For example, a government traveler may accept reimbursement for lost luggage from the offending airline, but then may not then file a claim against the government for the loss since the traveler has already been made whole by the carrier

    --- Similarly, a traveler who accepts payments from an airline for voluntarily relinquishing a seat may keep those payments, but may not seek additional reimbursement from the government for expenses incurred by the resulting delay, i.e., per diem, lodging, miscellaneous expenses

    ---- Member must take regular leave if delay would cause member not to arrive at his appointed place of duty on time

    ---- Voluntary bumping may not be done if it will interfere with the TDY mission
--- A traveler who is involuntarily bumped from a seat is considered to be “awaiting transportation” for per diem and miscellaneous expense reimbursement; therefore, any monetary compensation from the airline (including meal and/or lodging vouchers) for the denied seat belongs to the government.

---- Member must turn in all such items with his/her TDY voucher on return.

---- Air Force will pay additional costs and per diem associated with the delay caused by involuntary bumping.

Second, government travelers are still required to use the government travel card to cover the expenses incurred while traveling on official orders. Thus, a traveler who has a personal credit card that would generate more desirable travel benefits in conjunction with an official trip cannot decide to use his/her personal credit card in lieu of the government travel card.

USE OF GOVERNMENT COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS

With the explosion of the Information Age, government employees now have access to computers, copier machines, fax machines, cellular phones, the Internet, and electronic mail. Under the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER) the use of government resources, communications systems, and equipment, including telephones, data fax machines, electronic mail, and the Internet, are for official and authorized use only.

- All usage of government communications is subject to being monitored, and no classified information may be communicated over unclassified lines.

INTERNET-BASED CAPABILITIES
- Internet-Based capabilities include collaborative tools such as SNS, social media, user-generated content, social software, e-mail, instant messaging and discussion forms.

- Government-provided hardware and software are for official and authorized purposes only. Appropriate officials may authorize personal uses consistent with the requirements of the JER after consulting with their ethics counselor. Such policies should be explicit.

- Failure to comply with the prohibitions and mandatory provisions by military personnel is a violation of Article 92, UCMJ. Violations by civilian employees may result in administrative disciplinary actions.

- To protect against downloading viruses from the Internet and introducing potential risk to the Air Force networks, check all downloaded files for viruses and do not download any files directly to a network or shared drive.

- Examples of authorized limited personal use include, but are not limited to:
  -- Notifying family members of official transportation or schedule changes.
  -- Exchanging important and time-sensitive information with a spouse or family member, such as scheduling doctor, automobile, or home repair appointments, brief Internet searches, or sending directions to visiting relatives.
  -- Educating or enhancing the professional skills of employees.
  -- Sending messages on behalf of a chartered organization, such as unit booster club, base top 3, company grade officers association.
  -- Limited use by deployed members for morale, health, and welfare purposes.
  -- Searching for a job if related to separations or retirements.
- Digitally signing and encrypting e-mails are two measures to secure the network

-- Digital signatures are required when the message contains only unofficial information and does not contain an embedded hyperlink and/or an attachment

-- Encryption should be used to protect the following types of information

--- For Official Use Only (FOUO)

--- Privacy Act Information

--- Personally Identifiable Information (PII)

--- Individually identifiable health, DoD payroll, finance, logistics, personnel management, proprietary, and foreign government information

--- Operations Security (OPSEC) information

--- Other information which required encryption by area of responsibility

-- Encryption will not protect classified information

- The number of e-mail recipients should be kept to a minimum

- Prohibited Use:

-- Uses that would adversely reflect on the DoD or the Air Force such as chain letters, unofficial soliciting, or selling except on authorized Internet-based capabilities established for such use

-- Unauthorized storing, processing, displaying, sending, or otherwise transmitting prohibited content. Prohibited content includes: pornography, sexually explicit or sexually oriented material, nudity, hate speech or ridicule of others on the bases of protected class (e.g., race, creed, religion, color, age, sex, disability, national origin), gambling, illegal weapons, militancy/extremist activities, terrorist activities, use for personal gain, and any other content or activities that are illegal or inappropriate.

-- Storing or processing classified information on any system not approved for classified processing

Honoraria

Military members may accept the payment of money or anything of value for an appearance, speech or article, unrelated to their official duties, assuming there are no statutory or regulatory prohibitions.

- An honorarium is generally defined as a payment given to someone, such as a consultant or a speaker, for services for which fees are not legally required.

- In the context of the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER), honoraria are considered compensation for a lecture, speech, or writing and involve the payment of money or anything of value.

- Prior to 1996, military members were generally prohibited from accepting any honorarium on any topic, even if there was no connection between the subject of the appearance, or article, and the individual’s official duty.

- However, pursuant to a Department of Justice opinion dated 26 February 1996, that prohibition is no longer enforced against ANY government employee, military or civilian. Military members are no longer prohibited from accepting the payment of money or anything of value for an appearance, speech, or article, unrelated to their official duties.

- JER 3-305 (c) states that the receipt of honoraria may still be restricted under certain circumstances.

- Travel reimbursement for an appearance, speech, or article related to official duties may be accepted under certain circumstances, but a speaker’s fee or other direct compensation may not be accepted.

- Speak to your ethics counselor or servicing SJA before accepting an honorarium.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIPS

Air Force personnel are occasionally offered memberships in various non-defense contractor private organizations such as golf, tennis, gun, health, or social clubs. Such offers usually waive initiation fees and may waive all or a portion of membership dues, but the individual is responsible for all charges incurred and any dues not waived. Usually, these memberships terminate on the individual’s reassignment or retirement and do not create an equity position in the club.

- The Joint Ethics Regulation (JER) prohibits military members or civilian employees from accepting such a membership if the membership is offered because of their official position.

  -- Previously, there was no prohibition to members accepting an unsolicited honorary membership from a non-defense contractor entity. This included country clubs.

  -- Now, an Air Force member may accept honorary membership only if the offer is unrelated to government employment and offered to all military members, regardless of rank or position.

- Air Force personnel may become regular members of associations whose membership includes DoD contractor personnel, e.g., Air Force Association.

- If acceptance is not otherwise prohibited, acceptance of an honorary membership does not violate 18 U.S.C. § 209 (unauthorized acceptance of compensation by a government official for services as a government official).

- Before accepting any honorary membership, military members should seek the advice and guidance from their ethics counselor or servicing SJA.

Off Duty Employment

Air Force members may participate in off duty employment, subject to the limitations and prohibitions stated in the Joint Ethics Regulation (JER).

- Personnel should obtain approval from their commander prior to engaging in outside employment. Although the Air Force does not require an individual to complete AF IMT 3902, Application and Approval for Off-Duty Employment, individuals should be aware there is frequently a local or command policy to do so.

- Financial disclosure filers shall obtain prior approval before working for a prohibited source. For more information on who is required to file financial disclosures, see your servicing SJA.

- Personnel may not engage in outside employment, with or without compensation, that:
  -- Interferes with or is not compatible with performing their government duties
  -- May reasonably be expected to bring discredit upon the government or the Department of Defense
  -- May tend to create a conflict of interest
  -- Will detract from readiness or pose a security risk

- Personnel are encouraged to engage in teaching, writing, or lecturing
  -- Such activities must not depend upon information gained as a result of government service, unless available to the public or with SecAF approval
  -- Civilian presidential appointees may not accept anything of monetary value for imparting information substantially relating to responsibilities, programs, or operations of the Air Force, or for official ideas which have not been made public
  -- Generally, federal employees may not receive payment for articles or speeches related to their official duties

OVERVIEW OF THE CIVILIAN PERSONNEL SYSTEM

INTRODUCTION
The area of labor and personnel relations is covered by an assortment of statutes, executive orders, and regulations. It is administered by a myriad of administrative bodies located in a variety of federal departments and independent agencies and is a complicated area of the law.

THE WORKFORCE STRUCTURE
- Six categories that offer varying degrees of protection in adverse personnel actions:

-- Competitive Service

    --- All positions not specifically exempted

    --- Most employees enter federal service after passing a competitive exam

-- Excepted Service—usually excepted from competition by OPM regulations

-- Senior Executive Service (SES)

    --- Reserved for civil servants above GS-15

    --- Considered general officer equivalents

-- Probationary Employees

-- Hybrid Military/Civilian Position

    --- National Guard technicians

    --- Air Reserve technicians

-- Nonappropriated Fund (NAF) Employees

PAY SYSTEMS
- Appropriated Fund Employees:

-- General Schedule (GS)

    --- GS-1 through GS-18

    --- Statutory—same pay scale nationwide
--- Automatic pay increases for “acceptable” performance

-- Executive Schedule

--- Statutory—same basic pay nationwide

--- Merit pay increases

-- Federal Wage Survey

--- Wage Grade (WG)/Wage Leader/Wage Supervisor

--- Pay reflects private sector pay rates in locality for same type of work

--- Manner of computing pay set by statute

- Nonappropriated Fund (NAF) Employees

-- Morale, welfare and recreation employees

-- Pay rates determined by management and may be negotiable with unions

Administrative and Adjudicative Bodies

- Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB)

-- Adjudicates cases brought by the Office of Special Counsel, such as whistleblower claims and allegations of mismanagement

-- Hears appeals by certain civilian employees of agency actions in performance or misconduct cases where the employee was disciplined by reduction in grade, removal, suspension for more than 14 days or furlough for 30 days or less for misconduct

-- Possesses full authority to mitigate or completely reverse agency adverse actions, but cannot mitigate performance based actions taken under 5 U.S.C., Chapter 43

-- Hears appeals concerning reduction-in-force (RIF)

- Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)

-- Adjudicates claims of unlawful discrimination based on race, religion, national origin, sex, color, disability, age, and reprisal
If illegal discrimination is found, it may order back pay, retroactive personnel actions, correction of records, reinstatement, promotion, payment of attorney fees, and compensatory damages.

Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA)

- Administers the interaction between federal agencies, labor organizations and employees
- Decides unfair labor practice (ULP) cases filed by either the agency or the union
- Decides appeals of certain arbitration awards and negotiability appeals
- Has authority to direct the Air Force to comply with its orders

Federal Service Impasses Panel (FSIP): Resolves negotiation impasses between agencies and labor organizations

Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS): Aids federal agencies and labor organizations in resolving negotiation impasses; provides parties with lists of arbitrators; provides mediators for alternative dispute resolution

Office of Personnel Management: Addresses personnel management issues such as civil service retirement programs, insurance, examinations, and classification appeals

Office of Special Counsel: Investigates and prosecutes allegations of violations of merit principles, prohibited personnel practices and violations of the Hatch Act

Litigation Responsibilities

- Administrative litigation (FLRA, MSPB, EEO, unemployment compensation, etc.)

  - Installation staff judge advocate (SJA)

    --- Remains the legal advisor to the commander providing legal advice to commanders, managers, civilian personnel officers, and EEO officials concerning all labor and employment law issues

    --- Provides management representation in arbitrations, agency and negotiated grievance proceedings, unemployment compensation hearings, and workers’ compensation hearings

    --- Requests assistance from the AFLOA Labor Law Field Support Center (LLFSC)
The LLFSC’s were established in July 2007 to provide labor and employment law advice and litigation support to installation legal offices. The LLFSC has a main office in Washington D.C. and four field offices in the United States. Air logistics centers and certain other locations are excluded from LLFSC coverage. Regardless, the installation SJA remains the legal counselor to the commander.

---

Provides representation before the MSPB, the EEOC, the FLRA, and Federal Court (unless specifically delegated to installation)

---

Handles ALL class complaints of discrimination before EEOC

---

Provides legal advice, assistance, and training to judge advocates and civilian attorneys and to personnel experts

Federal court litigation (any case filed within the U.S. federal court system)

-- The Department of Justice “has the statutory responsibility to represent the Air Force and Air Force officials who are being sued in their official capacities….This responsibility extends to litigation in foreign courts.” AFI 51-301, para 1.2.

-- AFLOA or HQ USAF/JAC, on behalf of TJAG, ordinarily determines who may appear as an attorney or counsel for the Air Force in a civil judicial or administrative action, foreign or domestic

Overview of Federal Labor Management Relations

Used technically, labor law concerns relationships among management, employees, and unions. Generally, it covers the rules that govern how employees and managers should work together to accomplish the mission. The statutory and regulatory basis for these rules and their interpretation are described below.

- The Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 (CSRA) is the foundational authority that governs the rights and privileges of federal employees. Others include:

  -- Title VII: Federal Service Labor Management Relations Statute (FSLMRS)

    --- FSLMRS covers certain civilian employees of the Air Force. Among others, the statute excepts the following categories:

      ---- Active duty members

      ---- Supervisors and management officials, and

      ---- Aliens or non-U.S. citizens employed outside U.S.

  -- Air Force guidance: AFI 36-701, Labor Management Relations

Employee Rights

- FSLMRS recognizes certain employee rights

  -- The right to form, join or assist any union, or to refrain from any such activity, freely and without fear of penalty or reprisal (no right to strike)

  -- Serve as representative of union

  -- Present union views to management

  -- Engage in collective bargaining about conditions of employment (COE) through chosen representatives

Management Rights

- FSLMRS similarly recognizes certain rights that are reserved to management. When the agency exercises a reserved management right, the agency is not required to bargain over the substance of that decision. However, the agency is required to bargain over any legitimate proposals that the union submits concerning the impact or implementation of the agency’s decision to exercise a reserved management right. Some of the reserved management rights include the right to:
-- Determine agency mission
-- Determine agency budget
-- Determine agency organization
-- Determine number of employees
-- Determine internal security practices
-- Hire, assign, direct and retain employees
-- Suspend, remove, reduce in grade or pay, or take disciplinary action
-- Assign work
-- Make determinations on outsourcing
-- Determine the personnel by which agency operations will be conducted, and
-- Fill positions and promote employees

Union Representation Rights and Duties

- A union is entitled to negotiate collective bargaining agreement (CBA) covering employees in unit

  -- Installation represented by base negotiating team

  -- Both sides must negotiate in good faith (duty to approach negotiations with sincere resolve to reach agreement)

  -- A union may designate its representative during the negotiations

- A union is entitled to be present during formal discussions between one or more representatives of the Air Force and one or more employees in the bargaining unit (or their representatives) concerning any grievance or any personnel policy or practices or other general conditions of employment

  -- There are a number of factors that can be considered to determine if the discussion is formal. Some of the factors include: Who held the meeting; where the meeting was held; how long the meeting lasted; was there a formal agenda; whether attendance was mandatory; how the meeting was conducted? Please note that some meetings may be formal even though they are not intended to be.
Discussion is synonymous with meeting and does not require debate or argument

Check with the civilian personnel office (CPO) and the SJA before conducting such discussions to see if the union should be notified

- A union is entitled to be present during an investigatory interview of a bargaining unit employee if the employee reasonably believes that the examination may result in disciplinary action against the employee, and the employee requests representation. This is known as a “Weingarten” right. Generally, management does not have to advise the employee of this right at the beginning of each interview unless the collective bargaining agreement between management and the union requires it.

- A union is entitled to information “normally maintained by the agency in the regular course of business” that is “reasonably available and necessary” for full and proper negotiation and not prohibited from disclosure by law

Need not request pursuant to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). The standard for releasing information is different from the FOIA standard.

--- The union must demonstrate a particularized need for the information sought (use to which it will be put, how that use relates to representation, why needed)

--- Undue delay, failing to explain a denial, or failing to advise the union that the information does not exist, may be grounds for an unfair labor practice (ULP)

The union cannot be charged for the information

Need not release information if it contains guidance to management officials relating to bargaining

Must provide the information to the union even if readily available from another source

May assert countervailing interests outweigh union’s need

- A union’s duty of fair representation

When the union decides to represent unit employees in any manner that affects the COE, it must represent them fairly. No discrimination allowed.

Must represent all employees in bargaining unit whether or not they are union members
Union Right to Official Time
- Union representatives are entitled to wages when on official time to negotiate collective bargaining issues

  -- The union has a statutory right to official time for as many negotiators as are on the management negotiating team, although the union has the right to negotiate official time for additional negotiators as well

  -- Official time for all negotiations

    --- Ground rules negotiations

    --- CBA negotiations

    --- Mid-term negotiations

    --- Impact and implementation bargaining

- No official time for internal union business (collecting dues, soliciting new members, etc.)

- Official time must be granted for any employee participating in any phase of a Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA) proceeding if the FLRA determines the employee to be necessary

- Official time for other purposes is bargainable and the CBA should outline who is entitled to the official time and how much time they are entitled to

Union Right to Dues Allotments
- Air Force must process dues allotments in a timely fashion or it will be considered an unfair labor practice

- If Air Force fails, it must reimburse the union and Air Force cannot recoup money from employee

Agency Unfair Labor Practices
- Most common agency unfair labor practices:

  -- To interfere with, restrain, or coerce employees in exercising their FSLMRS rights. Lack of illegal motivation or anti-union animus is not a defense.

  -- To encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization by discrimination in connection with hiring, tenure, promotion, or other conditions of employment
-- To sponsor, control, or assist a union

-- To discipline or otherwise discriminate against an employee for filing a ULP or testifying in a ULP proceeding

-- To refuse to bargain in good faith

-- To fail or refuse to cooperate in impasse procedures or decisions

-- To enforce a rule or regulation which conflicts with a preexisting CBA

-- To otherwise fail or refuse to comply with any provision of FSLMRS

Union Unfair Labor Practices

- Major commands have the responsibility to authorize ULP charges against a union, however, AFI 36-701 permits this authority to be delegated to installations

-- Not frequently used by Air Force

-- ULPs by union are similar to agency ULPs, and include

--- To coerce, discipline, or fine a union member as punishment to hinder or impede employee’s work performance

--- To discriminate regarding union membership on basis of race, creed, color, sex, age, handicap, marital status, national origin, or political affiliation

--- To call, participate in, or condone a strike, work stoppage, or slowdown; non-disruptive informational picketing is permitted

--- To refuse to bargain in good faith

--- To fail or refuse to cooperate in impasse procedures or decisions

--- To otherwise fail or refuse to comply with any provision of FSLMRS

Unfair Labor Practice Procedures

- Charge filed with FLRA regional office

- Investigation by FLRA regional office attorney/agent

-- Investigation conducted in person or by interviewing witnesses over the phone
-- Air Force must make bargaining unit employees available for interview

-- Investigators are not always neutral and detached

--- Often they will amend charges to conform to their investigation

--- NEVER permit management officials to be interviewed without notifying the legal office. With the exception of some bases within AFMC, AFLOA/JACL (Labor Law Field Support Center, LLFSC) is designated as the agency representative for ULP charges. For those cases in which the LLFSC is designated as the agency representative, the LLFSC must be notified before management officials are interviewed by the FLRA.

-- Legal counsel can present a written or oral position statement and explore settlement options

- Regional director of the FLRA determines whether to issue a complaint

- Hearing before administrative law judge (ALJ)

  -- FLRA General Counsel represents charging party (generally the union) and has burden of proof

  -- Except at air logistics centers, the LLFSC represents the base

  -- ALJ issues written decision (may take 6 months or longer)

- Exceptions to ALJ decision

  -- Appeal is taken to FLRA in Washington D.C.

  -- FLRA decision may be appealed to either U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit or the circuit having geographic jurisdiction over the installation

Reference:
The Federal Service Labor-Management Relations statute (5 U.S.C. §§ 7101-7135 (1978)) is contained in the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978. This Act grants certain federal employees the right to join or form labor unions and to engage in collective bargaining through their chosen representatives. Air Force labor-management relations policies and procedures are set forth in AFI 36-701, Labor Management Relations.

- The Air Force must bargain with bargaining unit employees through their duly elected representative (union) over all conditions of employment (COE), which are defined as personnel policies, practices, and matters affecting working conditions. The Act does not require bargaining with appropriated fund employees over the following subjects:

  -- Matters specifically regarding certain political activities

  -- Classification of positions

  -- Matters provided for by federal statute, includes but not limited to:

    --- Pay

    --- Vacations

    --- Health benefits

    --- Holidays

    --- Retirement plans

  -- Proposals that conflict with government-wide rules or regulations

  -- Proposals that conflict with “reserved management rights” under the Act, including among other things, the mission of the agency, the budget, internal security practices, the number of agency employees, the assignment of work, the ability to hire, fire and discipline employees

- Management is not required to bargain over matters already covered in the contract (or collective bargaining agreement)

  -- To the extent a matter arises concerning a COE that is not covered in the contract, the union can engage management in mid-term bargaining
-- Union may not engage management in mid-term bargaining if the collective bargaining agreement contains a “zipper” clause that bars such during the life of the agreement

- Air Force must bargain in good faith, including having negotiators who have authority to bind the activity

- Must bargain before changing COE even if the change is made during life of CBA

- Parties may establish a COE by consistently, over an extended period of time, engaging in a certain practice, and a labor contract clause can be modified or even overturned by such a COE created in this manner (often called a “past practice”)

-- This refers to matters that are already considered conditions of employment and the past practice has merely changed the way the condition of employment was originally handled

-- It is not possible for a past practice to create a condition of employment where the subject matter underlying the practice does not pertain to a COE

Bargaining Situations

- Bargaining can occur in one of three contexts

-- Bargaining leading to a “labor contract” of fixed duration and covering a variety of topics or bargaining in the absence of a collective bargaining agreement when one party wants to change a COE

-- Impact and Implementation (I & I) Bargaining:

--- I & I bargaining concerns the procedures to be used in exercising management’s rights (i.e. right to determine agency mission) and the appropriate arrangements for employees affected by exercise of management’s rights

---- But the change must have more than a minimal foreseeable impact (often called a de minimus impact) on the group of employees that would be affected by the change

---- Several things may require I & I bargaining, such as a change in procedures for turning in leave slips, a change in employee duty hours, or overtime pay issues, to name a few

--- Procedure: Give the union notice in writing of the change in COE and afford it a reasonable period of time to submit written I & I proposals
Mid-term bargaining: Union demand to bargain over a condition of employment that has not already been addressed in the collective bargaining agreement

Permissive Bargaining
- Under the Civil Service Reform Act (Pub. Law 94-454, codified in various sections of Title V of the U.S.C.), management is allowed to determine whether to bargain on certain subjects. If management refuses to bargain, this decision is unilaterally binding on the union. “Permissive” subjects include:
  -- Management’s right to determine the numbers, types, and grades of employees assigned to any subdivision, project, or tour of duty
  -- Management’s right to determine the technology, methods, and means of performing work

Negotiability
- Determining whether an issue is bargainable is often a confusing and highly complex matter in the federal sector labor law arena
  -- If commanders are presented with a demand that a dispute or issue be dealt with through formal bargaining, the safe response is merely to advise the union representative that he/she will ask the Civilian Personnel Office and staff judge advocate to review the request. This area is sufficiently sensitive that wing staff organizations will coordinate a decision to declare a proposal “nonnegotiable” with MAJCOM DPC and AFLOA/JACL CLLO should also be notified of any decision to declare a proposal nonnegotiable.
  -- Depending on the substance of the proposal, it could be determined to be outside the duty to bargain or nonnegotiable for several reasons. For example, it could be inconsistent with law (outside the duty) or affecting a reserved management right (nonnegotiable).
- When management declares a proposal “nonnegotiable,” the union may appeal to the Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA)
  -- 15 day time limit to appeal
  -- Agency has 30 days to submit its position or withdraw its decision not to negotiate
  -- Decision by the FLRA is often made based on the written submission of the parties without a hearing
- Regardless of whether negotiations are deemed “substantive” or “I&I,” union negotiators who are also federal employees have a right to be in an “official time” status during the negotiations (receive pay and benefits even though not “working”) in equal number with the management negotiators.

  -- Unions may negotiate for additional official time for representational activities (grievances, etc.)

  -- Unions may not use official time for internal union business.

AIR FORCE CIVILIAN DRUG TESTING PROGRAM

Executive Order 12564, Drug Free Workplace (1986), formally announced the President’s policy that the federal workplace would be free from drugs.

- President’s Statement of Policy: Federal employees required to refrain from the use of illegal drugs; use of illegal drugs by federal employees, on or off duty, is contrary to the efficiency of the service; persons who use illegal drugs are not suitable for federal employment; each agency will develop a plan to achieve objectives of the Executive Order (EO)

- Air Force plan was approved by SecAF on 24 January 1990

- In January 1995, USAF Chief of Staff directed Air Force Surgeon General (AF/SG) to assume responsibility for the civilian (and military) drug testing program

- Required elements of a civilian drug testing plan include:
  - An overall program coordinator appointed for each installation
  - Drug testing to detect and deter illegal drug use
  - Personnel actions initiated if illegal drug use is discovered
  - Employee assistance program (EAP): Education and counseling program that includes referral to rehabilitation and treatment programs available in the local community

- Even if state law decriminalizes the use of marijuana, allow the use of marijuana for medical purposes and/or limited recreational use, federal law on marijuana remains unchanged. Thus knowing or intentional marijuana possession is illegal.

TYPES OF DRUG TESTING

- Random Drug Testing
  - Only employees in “sensitive positions,” which are also known as testing designated positions (TDP) and include national security and public health or safety. Testing Requirement must be identified in Position Description and Vacancy Announcement. Applicants for such positions are also subject to testing after tentative selection.
  - 30-day notice before testing to incumbent for position that becomes TDP
- Probable Cause/Reasonable Suspicion of Illegal Drug Use
  -- All Air Force employees can be tested based on reasonable suspicion that employee has engaged in illicit drug use and that evidence of such use is presently in employee’s body
  -- Must be based on particularized facts and reasonable inferences
  -- On or off duty use (depending on if the employee is in a TPD position)

- Following Accident or Safety Mishap
  -- All Air Force employees can be tested.
  -- Mishap results in personal injury requiring medical treatment, fatality, or at least $2,000 in property damage
  -- Supervisor reasonably concludes employee’s conduct may have caused or contributed to accident or mishap

- Voluntary Testing
  -- For Air Force employees not in TDP positions
  -- Volunteer to be included in pool for random drug testing
  -- Employee remains in TDP pool until the employee notifies personnel office of withdrawal

- Consent Testing
  -- Request for consent to test
  -- Employee consent must be knowing and voluntary

- Follow-Up to Counseling/Rehabilitation

Testing Based on Reasonable Suspicion of Illegal Drug Use

- Reasonable Suspicion: An articulated belief that an employee uses illegal drugs drawn from specific and particularized facts and from reasonable inferences based on those facts

- Examples of evidence that may be reasonable suspicion:
Direct observation of drug use, possession, and/or physical symptoms of being under the influence of an illegal drug, including behavior, speech, appearance and body odors of the employee

A pattern of abnormal conduct or erratic behavior

Recent arrest or conviction for drug-related offense; or the identification of an employee as the focus of a criminal investigation into illegal drug possession, use, or trafficking

Information provided by a reliable and credible source or independently corroborated

Evidence that the employee has tampered with or avoided a recent or current drug test

Procedure for reasonable suspicion testing includes:

Supervisor documentation of supporting facts

Supervisor coordination with the staff judge advocate, civilian personnel, and with the functional chain of command

Proper notification to employee required. MUST be done in writing.

Test for THC, cocaine, PCP, opiates, and amphetamines

Testing as a Result of a Mishap or Accident

Toxicology testing is immediately considered following a mishap, if required or deemed necessary

DoD civilians will be subject to testing when their action or inaction may have contributed to the mishap

Testing Procedures

Testing procedures are different from those used for testing military members

The use of Department of Health and Human Services guidelines for drug testing is required

The Air Force collects the sample, the Army Forensic Toxicology Drug Testing Laboratory, Fort Meade, Maryland, tests the sample

Samples suspected of being adulterated are also sent to lab
- Normally civilian employees are not observed when providing samples, unless:

  -- Reason to believe employee has in the past adulterated or will attempt to adulterate a sample

  -- Testing related to rehabilitation program

- Medical review officer (MRO) verification of test results is required

  -- Interviews employee to determine if there is a medical reason for the test result

  -- MRO makes final determination of positive, adulterated, diluted, substituted or negative result

CONFIDENTIALITY REQUIREMENTS

- Absent employee consent or a statutory exception, results of a drug test may not be disclosed

  -- Drug test results can be disclosed pursuant to EO 12564 (under 5 U.S.C. § 7301) for the following reasons:

    --- To the MRO for medical review

    --- To administrator of EAP

    --- To management official, i.e., supervisor, for disciplinary action

  -- Drug test results can be disclosed as part of rehabilitation records for

    --- Medical emergency

    --- Research without personal identification

    --- Court order

- Results cannot be used for law enforcement purposes

- Can disclose for security requirements, e.g., SSFs, clearances

PERSONNEL ACTIONS ON FINDING OF ILLEGAL DRUG USE

- Required actions upon MRO certification of positive result, i.e., illegal drug use

  -- Removal from TDP
Disciplinary action may be initiated

Consider safe harbor provisions. Final disciplinary action generally not permitted if employee:

  --- Voluntarily admits drug use prior to identification

  --- Goes to counseling or rehabilitation

  --- Signs agreement (called last chance agreement) to refrain from further drug use

  --- Refrains from further use of illegal drugs

Referral to EAP for counseling/rehab as appropriate

The range of disciplinary actions includes:

  --- Reprimand to removal for drug use or failure to take test

  --- Mandatory removal

    --- For refusing or unsuccessfully completing rehabilitation or counseling

    --- If second drug use offense

    --- Selling or transferring illegal drugs

    --- If employee altered or attempted to alter sample

As with any kind of disciplinary action taken against a civilian employee, SJA involvement may be necessary under AFI 36-704, Discipline and Adverse Actions

CIVILIAN EMPLOYEE WORKPLACE SEARCHES

The general rule is that a government search of private property without proper consent is unreasonable and unconstitutional under the Fourth Amendment unless the search has been authorized by a valid search warrant. However, the government employer can in some instances conduct a warrantless search of an employee’s workplace for “work-related” purposes, such as to retrieve government property or to investigate work-related misconduct.

- In the leading case on workplace searches, O’Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709 (1987), the Supreme Court recognized that government employees may have a reasonable expectation of privacy in their work areas which may be protected from warrantless searches by a government employer and law enforcement.

- An employee’s expectation of privacy depends on how much control he or she exercises over his workplace. The more control the employer exercises, the lower the employee’s expectation of privacy, the lower the resulting right to privacy, and the less need there would be for the employer to obtain a search warrant in order to conduct a search.

- All workplace searches must be reasonable under all the circumstances. Reasonableness depends upon (1) whether the action was justified at its inception and (2) whether it was reasonably related in scope to the circumstances that prompted the search.

- In order to determine if the action is justified, employers must determine if the burden of obtaining a warrant is likely to frustrate the governmental purpose behind the search. Employers frequently need to enter the offices and desks of employees for legitimate, work-related reasons wholly unrelated to illegal conduct.

- Whether the search is a non-investigatory, work-related intrusion or an investigatory search for evidence of suspected work-related employee misconduct, the proper approach for civilian employee workplace searches is to balance the employee’s legitimate expectations of privacy against the government’s need for supervision, control, and efficient operation of the workplace.

BOTTOM LINE

- Government offices are provided to employees for the purpose of facilitating the work of an agency. Employees may avoid exposing personal belongings at work by simply leaving them at home.

- Government searches to retrieve work-related materials or to investigate violations of workplace rules do not violate the Fourth Amendment. Hence, supervisors are generally not required to obtain a search warrant whenever they wish to enter an employee’s desk, office, or file cabinet.
- Personal handbags, luggage, and briefcases are not usually considered part of the workplace and, therefore, a search warrant or authorization is required before searching them.

- ALWAYS CONSULT WITH THE SJA BEFORE PROCEEDING WITH ANY SEARCH AND SEIZURE ACTION

UNACCEPTABLE PERFORMANCE BY CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES

INTRODUCTION
The Civil Service Reform Act (CSRA) of 1978 was enacted to improve government efficiency, give authority to supervisors and managers, and adequate protection to employees. AFI 36-1001, Managing the Civilian Performance Program, implements a program to evaluate the performance of civilian employees. The CSRA and AFI 36-1001 require:

- The appraisal and rating of employees’ job performance to be based on written performance elements and standards
- The performance appraisal rating to be used as a basis for decisions to pay, reward, assign, train, promote, retrain, or remove employees

APPEALS AND GRIEVANCES
- The substance of performance elements and performance standards may NOT be appealed to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB) or grieved under the Air Force grievance system provided for in AFI 36-706, Administrative Grievance System, except to the extent that the employee alleges the standards in and of themselves violate the statutory requirements pertaining to them. Similarly, disputes concerning the identification of the critical elements of a position and establishment of performance standards are nongrievable and nonarbitratable under negotiated grievance and arbitration procedures.

- Employees who are not members of a bargaining unit resolve disputes on ratings pursuant to AFI 36-706. Bargaining unit employees resolve disputes on ratings through the negotiated grievance procedure of the local collective bargaining agreement (CBA).

- Most employees may appeal a demotion or removal for unacceptable performance to the MSPB. Bargaining unit employees must choose either to appeal to the MSPB or use the CBA’s grievance procedure, but cannot do both.

- Allegations of discrimination may be processed under either AFI 36-2706, Equal Opportunity Program Military and Civilian, or the negotiated grievance procedure, but not both

PERFORMANCE AND APPRAISAL PROCESS
- Development of the Performance Plan
  -- Most employees are required to have a performance plan
  -- AF Form 860, Civilian Performance Plan, is completed within 30 days of accession and it documents the critical position performance elements and standards for evaluation of overall performance for the position. AF Form 1003, Core Personnel Document, can also be used for this purpose.
Each performance plan must contain the critical elements to describe the performance requirements of the position.

A critical element is a job responsibility so important that failure to perform that element would make the employee’s overall performance unacceptable.

As a general rule, seven elements should be sufficient, though there must be at least one in the performance plan.

Performance standards must be developed for each critical performance element, describing, at a minimum, acceptable performance—to include characteristics such as quality, quantity, timeliness, and behavior.

Additional non-critical performance elements and performance evaluation requirements to judge the performance are also included in the plan.

Although the employee should be given an opportunity to provide feedback, the supervisor makes the ultimate decision.

Once the plan is approved, the employee is informed of the job requirements and the plan, given an opportunity to sign the performance plan, and is given a copy.

Annual Performance Appraisal

The normal appraisal period for most employees starts on 1 April and ends 31 March.

At the beginning of the appraisal period the supervisor and the employee meet to discuss the performance elements and standards in the plan.

At least one progress review, usually at the midpoint of the period, is also required and must be documented on the AF IMT 860B, Civilian Progress Review Worksheet. This review is confidential between the reviewer and employee.

If the rating official or the employee is newly assigned, the performance plan will be reviewed and discussed, normally within 30 days.

A copy of any such review is provided to the employee.

At the end of the appraisal period (within 30 calendar days), the supervisor must complete the rating form, AF IMT 860A, Civilian Rating of Record.

The supervisor evaluates the employee’s performance on each critical element to determine if “meets standards” or “does not meet standards.” A rating of “does not meet standards” on any critical element results in an overall rating of unacceptable performance. The employee is entitled to a copy of the form.

Dealing with Performance Problems

- All supervisors should conduct periodic performance reviews

  -- Performance reviews are accomplished at the end of the cycle or “out-of-cycle”

  -- The employee must have been in the position for 90 days or more before an out-of-cycle evaluation can be done

- At any time during the performance cycle that the employee's performance in one or more critical elements becomes unacceptable, the supervisor must inform the employee of the critical element for which performance is unacceptable, in what way it is unacceptable, and what is required to bring it back to an acceptable level

  -- This notice should be accomplished in writing (check with civilian personnel office and SJA for preparation and review) and provide the employee a period of time within which to improve

  --- Called the performance improvement period (PIP) or opportunity period

  --- The employee's performance must be unacceptable; it is impermissible to place an employee on a PIP when their work has been only marginal

  --- The length of the PIP depends on the duties involved and the nature of the deficiencies; generally, 30-60 days will be sufficient

  -- An employee may have the right to appeal an appraisal to the next higher level supervisor but the reconsideration must comply with proper grievance procedures

  -- The supervisor must help the employee improve during the PIP through counseling, coaching, OJT, and other methods

- When unacceptable performance in one or more critical elements continues after the PIP has expired, demotion or removal is authorized

- If performance on a PIP rises to an acceptable level, then a new rating is completed and forwarded in accordance with instructions

- If the employee’s performance improves during a PIP, but thereafter falls to unacceptable levels again, another PIP may be initiated within one year after the date of the beginning of the previous PIP
Probationary employees are covered by different procedures.

The standards and procedures for probationary employees can be found in AFI 36-1001, Chapter 3, and for supervisors and managers in Chapter 4.

The probationary period for an employee is one year.

The supervisor certifies performance in writing no later than the tenth month of probation.

Failure to complete certification on time may result in the employee passing probation by default.

If the supervisor recommends not keeping the employee, the civilian personnel office (CPO) must be contacted before the end of the period concerning the proper course of action.

Written notification is required if the employee does not pass the probationary period.

The employee is permitted a reasonable period of time to respond and submit supporting documentation.

The probationary period for a supervisor or manager is no more than one year.

The probationary period is required whenever a civilian employee first assumes either a supervisory or management position. There are exceptions to this requirement based on the individual’s previous experience as a supervisor or manager.

Advanced notice of the probationary period must be given to the would-be supervisor or manager and a performance plan concerning the probationary period is also required.

If the probationary period is not successfully completed, the employee is returned to a non-managerial or non-supervisory position.

They must be given written notice of this decision which must include the facts and reasons that motivated the decision and information on how the Air Force will deal with the employee’s placement rights.

When an employee is returned to a non-supervisory or non-managerial position, ensure that the appropriate procedures are followed concerning grade and pay.
Procedural Requirements

- Commander and supervisor actions to remove or reduce the grade of an employee who is not performing adequately are called Chapter 43 cases because the procedures for these actions can be found in Chapter 43 of Title 5 of the United States Code. Certain procedures must be followed.

  -- The supervisor should coordinate with CPO first

  -- The employee is entitled to 30 calendar days advance written notice of the proposed action, which includes:

    --- Specific instances of unacceptable performance

    --- The critical elements of the position the employee failed to perform properly

  -- The employee has the right to be represented by an attorney or other representative

  -- The employee must be given a reasonable period of time to provide a written or oral response

  -- Within 30 days after the expiration of the notice period, the employee must be informed of the decision in writing. The supervisor can extend this period for another 30 days.

    --- The final decision must specify the unacceptable performance on which the reduction in grade or removal is based

    --- A higher level manager must concur with the final decision

    --- It must inform the employee of his/her appeal rights and whether he or she is eligible for disability or retirement

- After demoting or removing an employee, pertinent documents are kept in accordance with the Records Disposition Schedule, located in the Air Force Information Management System, and must be available for review by the employee or his representative. Included among those documents are:

  -- A copy of the notice of proposed action

  -- The employee’s reply and/or a summary of the oral reply

  -- Notice of the decision and the reasons therefore

  -- Documentation supporting the personnel action
ACTION REQUIRED WHEN A MEDICAL CONDITION AFFECTS PERFORMANCE

- Supervisors will not always know whether the employee’s health is impaired or whether it is causing a performance problem. If the supervisor suspects the employee’s performance is affected by drugs or alcohol abuse, or by some other medical condition, follow the provisions of AFI 44-121, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) Program.

- When a medically based performance problem exists or might exist, the supervisor must inform the employee his/her performance is suffering, advise the employee to supply medical documentation of the condition that is or could be affecting work, and explain what documents are required and when they should be provided.

  -- The employee will be informed as to exactly what documentation is required and the amount of time granted to provide it. If not provided on time, the supervisor may grant an extension or proceed with the process. Medical documentation is defined in 5 C.F.R. Part 339, Section 339.102.

  -- Any documentation provided will be reviewed by the supervisor and an Air Force or other federal medical officer.

  -- The employee should provide the needed documentation.

  --- Based on the length of service and position of the employee, the employee will be furnished information concerning disability retirement.

  --- The information will be reviewed by the supervisor and a qualified physician; such a review may lead to a medical examination.

- The Air Force follows the rules set forth in 5 C.F.R. Part 339 for medical examinations. Basically, Air Force directed medical examinations are severely limited and may be ordered ONLY WHEN:

  -- The employee occupies a position that has physical/medical standards, also known as fitness for duty exams.

  -- The Air Force needs to determine whether employee who claims worker’s compensation may be accommodated in another job, or

  -- The Air Force needs to determine qualifications of employee for reassignment rights because of a RIF (reduction in force).

- The Air Force may always offer a medical exam to supplement medical documentation, but acceptance is optional with the employee.
The Air Force always has an obligation to reasonably accommodate a handicapped employee. Supervisor must coordinate with the appropriate civilian personnel official and SJA prior to taking any action.

Civilian Employee Discipline

Introduction

Federal law and Air Force instructions enable commanders to take disciplinary action against civilian employees for misconduct that affects the workplace or mission accomplishment. Certain adverse actions create appeal rights for the employee.

- Disciplinary action or adverse action must be taken without regard to marital status, political affiliation, race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or age. Adverse action based on physical handicap is not taken when the employee can effectively perform assigned duties.

- Disciplinary action or adverse action must be taken only when necessary, and then promptly and equitably

  -- Disciplinary actions and adverse actions are personal matters and are carried out in private

  -- An adverse action is an action giving a civilian employee a right to appeal. They include: removals, suspensions for more than 14 days, furloughs for 30 days or less, and reductions in grade or pay.

  --- Adverse actions may or may not be for disciplinary reasons—for example, it is possible to take adverse action for unacceptable performance

  --- Nonappropriated fund employees do not have the right to appeal, regardless of the type of action taken

  -- Disciplinary action not subject to appeal include: admonishments, reprimands, and suspensions for 14 days or less

Authority and Requirements

- All Air Force commanders (and supervisors) are delegated authority to take disciplinary and adverse action when necessary

  -- AFI 36-704, Discipline and Adverse Actions, covers all competitive and excepted service employees

  -- AFI 34-301, Nonappropriated Fund Personnel Management and Administration, covers nonappropriated fund employees

- Management may take a disciplinary or adverse action only for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service, unless the action is being taken for unacceptable performance, in which case different standards apply
- Management may not take an action that would result in a prohibited personnel practice. A prohibited personnel practice is an adverse action taken against an employee for an illegal or inappropriate reason, such as reprisal or discrimination.

- Burden of proof: Management must be prepared to support disciplinary and/or adverse action by a preponderance of the evidence, i.e., more likely than not, and must be capable of proving, before the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB) or a federal sector arbitrator, the following:

  -- The reason for the action taken, i.e., that the alleged misconduct occurred and the action was taken in response to that misconduct

  -- How the action taken promotes the efficiency of the service

  -- A connection between the misconduct and the employee’s job

    --- Known as the “nexus” and it must be shown in each case

    --- There has to be a connection between what the employee did and the ability of the Air Force to do its job. In other words, the Air Force has to show what the employee did was harmful or that the action taken to discipline the employee was necessary to help the Air Force do its job.

  -- The penalty imposed is appropriate to the offense

Procedures
- Management procedures (unless there is a local collective bargaining agreement that contains other provisions)

  -- Gather the facts. Interview the employee if necessary, but remember the employee has rights (called Weingarten rights) to have union representation if the employee believed disciplinary action could result from questioning from his employer and he/she requested a union representative.

  -- Consult with the civilian personnel officer (CPO) and the staff judge advocate (SJA) to consider options and determine what action is appropriate

- Civilian personnel officer will prepare and the LLFSC will review the notice letter of adverse and/or disciplinary action for signature by the “proposing official” (normally a first or second level supervisor)

  -- The local SJA will work with the LLFSC during this review. NOTE: The LLFSC was established on 2 July 2007. It is composed of a group of 40-50 labor lawyers and paralegals headquartered in Arlington, Virginia, as well as other field offices throughout CONUS. Its mission is to assist local SJs in labor law matters and to provide representation in most administrative and all judicial tribunals. The base SJA remains the advisor to the commander.

--- The notice letter must be signed by the proposing official and inform the employee of the following. Some of the items listed below are considered non-mandatory but prudent practice dictates the inclusion of all of these items.

--- Notice of the precise action being proposed, i.e., suspension or removal

--- The reason for the action, which includes the type of misconduct and a brief factual description of the misconduct. Keep it simple and straightforward; there are additional specific requirements when the proposed action is furlough.

--- A statement of the employee's right to review the material or evidence relied upon to support the reason for action

--- A description of the arrangements the employee can make to review the evidence or include a copy of the evidence

--- Date the proposed action is to take place

--- Notice of the right to respond orally, in writing or both, and to furnish documentary evidence. Include the name and office of the person to whom the response should be sent.

--- Amount of official time for preparation of a response

--- Right to representation (union representative, private attorney, or other person)

--- Additional non-mandatory information mentioned in the instruction as might be necessary based on the particular situation or that might be necessary pursuant to the collective bargaining agreement

- The employee gets a reasonable amount of time, but not less than seven days to answer orally and in writing and to furnish affidavits and other documentary evidence in support of the answer

- The “deciding official” makes the final decision

-- Usually the supervisor one level up from the proposing official (but may be the same person)
In most cases, the final decision is made 30 days after the notice is given to the employee. Must be in writing (prepared by CPO and reviewed by SJA) and served on the employee. It must include, among other things:

- The specific decision
- The specific reasons for the decision
- The date of the decision and the effective date of the action
- Information concerning the employee’s appeal rights
- The signature of the deciding official

Additional non-mandatory information described in the instruction may also be included if the situation dictates or that might be necessary pursuant to the collective bargaining agreement.

The deciding official must consider employee’s response.

The deciding official must also document his/her consideration of the Douglas factors governing appropriate penalty selection.

Douglas factors are those factors that management must consider before taking disciplinary action. They include, for example, the seriousness of the misconduct, the work record of the employee, and other similar considerations. See AFI 36-704.

Use the CPO and SJA to assist in preparation.

A decision letter must be sent to the employee.

Appeals

- If employee is a bargaining unit (union) member, he/she may file a grievance under the negotiated grievance procedure of the local collective bargaining agreement.

- Regardless of bargaining unit status, an employee may file an equal employment opportunity (EEO) complaint if the employee is alleging discrimination. This applies to competitive, excepted service, and nonappropriated fund employees.
An appeal within 30 days with the regional office of the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB), but the action must involve:

--- A removal
--- Suspension for more than 14 days
--- Reduction in grade or pay
--- Furlough of 30 days or less

Appeals can result in an administrative, trial-type hearing before:

-- Federal sector arbitrator
-- The MSPB
-- The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)

If an appeal is filed, Air Force management officials will probably be required to testify.

Failure to meet the burden of proof described above could result in mitigation and/or reversal of the penalty imposed along with the employee receiving back pay, reinstatement, and attorneys’ fees.

The LLFSC will provide representation during hearings on these matters. While the LLFSC will provide a substantial amount of litigation support, the local SJA will remain the commander’s advisor.

Air Reserve Technicians (ARTs)

ARTs are “dual status” federal civilian employees and members of the Selected Reserve. As a condition of federal civilian employment, ARTs must maintain membership in the Selected Reserve. ART positions within the Selected Reserve span a broad spectrum to include command billets.

ARTs who are in the military status performing duty for pay/points are subject to the UCMJ.

ARTs that are in federal civilian employee status are not subject to the UCMJ; however, they are subject to all civilian employee disciplinary measures discussed in this section. Additionally, an ART in civilian employee status may be subject to military administrative actions such as LOC/LOA/LOR, demotion and discharge.
- Military discharge of an ART will lead to the loss of an ART’s civilian employee position

- ART commanders must be in military status when taking certain actions such as preferral/referral of charges, Article 15 actions, urinalysis testing and command directed investigations. Consult with your local SJA for guidance regarding actions in which military status is required.

CIVILIAN EMPLOYEE INTERROGATION

In 1975, the U.S. Supreme Court, in N.L.R.B. v. Weingarten, 420 U.S. 251 (1975), established a right for an employee to have union representation if the employee believed disciplinary action could result from questioning by his employer and if the employee requested the presence of a union representative. In the federal sector, employees have the right for labor union representation as well. This section outlines the employee’s rights during an interrogation. These rights are commonly known as Weingarten rights.

- The union’s and the employee’s statutory right to union representation in connection with an investigation is applicable when four conditions are present:
  -- A meeting is held in which management questions a bargaining unit employee
  -- The examination is in connection with an investigation (need not be a Security Forces or other formal investigation)
  -- The employee reasonably believes that discipline could result from the examination; and
  -- The employee requests representation

- Other guidelines concerning this rule:
  -- It does NOT apply to an actual counseling session
  -- The role of the union representative during the interview is to --- Clarify the facts and the questions
    --- Help the employee express his/her views
    --- Suggest other avenues of inquiry
    --- Suggest other employees who may have knowledge of the facts
    --- Insure the employer does not initiate or impose unjust punishment
    --- There may also be a right for the union representative and the employee to confer in private, but this depends on the nature of the case
  -- Agencies must announce this right on an annual basis at all places where employees normally receive employment information
-- Individuals being investigated may not serve as representatives for other employees being investigated until their own investigations are completed

-- An employee may waive his/her Weingarten rights

-- Executive Order 12171 exempts AFOSI, when acting under its independent mandate to conduct criminal and security investigations, from the Federal Labor Management Relations Statute. In such criminal investigations, AFOSI is not obligated to honor an employee's request for representation.

- Management cannot tell a union representative to remain silent or not to offer advice. Employer may place reasonable limitations on union representative's role to prevent adversary confrontation, but aggressive, unreasonable management behavior interferes with right to union representation. This is an unfair labor practice (ULP).

- Once an employee requests a union representative, management may:

  -- Grant the request

  -- Suspend the interview

  -- Give the employee the choice of having an interview without a union representative or having no interview

- Civilian employees also have a legal obligation to account for the performance of their duties, and a failure to provide desired information can serve as a basis for removal under certain circumstances

  -- An employee cannot be discharged simply because he/she invokes his/her Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination; nor can statements coerced by a threat of removal be used against the employee in a subsequent prosecution

  -- An employee can be removed for not replying if he/she is adequately informed both that he/she is subject to discharge for not answering and that his/her replies cannot be used against him/her in a criminal case

  -- Any desire to offer immunity to an employee must be coordinated with the SJA who will consult with (and possibly get approval from) the Department of Justice and/or U.S. Attorney

- An employee also has the right to be advised of the consequences of participating or not participating in an interview for a third party proceeding (unfair labor practice hearing, arbitration, MSPB hearing, etc.), and failure to do so can be a ULP by management. These rights are known as Brookhaven rights, from IRS and Brookhaven Service Center, 9 F.L.R.A. 930 (1982), and the employee must be advised of:

-- The purpose of the interview

-- That no reprisal will take place if the employee refuses to participate; and

-- Participation is voluntary

-- The interview cannot be coercive in nature. Questions must not exceed the scope of the legitimate purpose of the inquiry and cannot otherwise interfere with the employee's statutory rights.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EEO) COMPLAINT PROCESS

INFORMAL COMPLAINT

- Timing: Persons who believe they have been discriminated against on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or disability, or who believe they have been subjected to sexual harassment or retaliated against for participating in the complaint process, must initiate contact with a counselor within 45 days of the date of the matter alleged to be discriminatory, or in the case of personnel action, within 45 days of the effective date of the action.

- Tolling: Initial contact beyond 45 days will be permitted if the employee was not notified of and was not otherwise aware of the 45-day limit, or did not know and reasonably could not have known that the discriminatory matter or personnel action occurred, or was prevented by circumstances beyond his control from contacting the counselor within the time limits, or for other reasons considered sufficient by the agency or the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). Normally, the employee can be deemed to be on constructive notice of the time limits if management has included the time limit information on the EEO posters that are posted around the base.

- Initial Counselor Interview: Counselors must advise individuals in writing of their rights and responsibilities. Counselors shall advise aggrieved persons that, where the agency agrees to offer alternative dispute resolution (ADR) in the case, they may choose between participation in the program and the counseling activities. If the matter is not resolved in the ADR process within 90 days of the date the complainant contacted the EEO, the complainant must be issued a notice of final interview.

- Final Interview: If the matter has not been resolved, either through ADR or the complaint process, the counselor shall inform the aggrieved person in writing, of the right to file a formal discrimination complaint within 15 days of the notice of final interview.

  -- Counselors must conduct the final interview with the aggrieved person within 30 days of the date the aggrieved person contacted the agency’s EEO office to request counseling (unless the aggrieved person chose ADR).

  -- The aggrieved person may agree in writing with the agency to postpone the final interview and extend the counseling period for an additional period of no more than 60 days.

  -- Where the aggrieved person chooses to participate in ADR, the pre-complaint processing period (informal complaint processing), shall be 90 days.
FORMAL COMPLAINT

- Written Complaint: Complaint must be submitted in writing within 15 days of final interview notice. Complainant may amend the complaint (with like or related claims) at any time prior to conclusion of investigation. Complainant may also amend his complaint on motion to judge after request for hearing.

- Dismissals of Complaint: Prior to a request for a hearing in a case, the agency can dismiss an entire complaint for the following reasons:

  -- Failure to state a claim: Generally, an employee states a claim when he articulates that he has been harmed by an employment policy or practice due to his protected status (i.e., race, religion, disability, etc.). This ability to articulate a claim does not mean the employee wins on the merits, it simply allows the employee to continue processing his case in the EEO forum.

  -- Identical complaint

  -- Not against the proper agency

  -- Untimely at either formal or informal stage

  -- Pending civil action in a United States District Court

  -- Raised in negotiated grievance procedure or in an appeal to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB)

  -- Issue is moot, or issue is a proposal to take a personnel action or other preliminary step to taking a personnel action

  -- Complainant cannot be located

  -- Failure to prosecute: Complainant fails to respond to requests for relevant information

  -- Complaints about the process. These complaints are generally expressed as accusations of not processing the case fast enough or failing to interview all of the requested witnesses etc. The employee can raise concerns about the processing of the complaint with the EEO counselor and can also raise them with an EEOC judge if there is a request for a hearing, but a separate complaint about the processing must be dismissed.

  -- Abuse of process: Complainant is part of a clear pattern of misuse of the EEO process for reasons other than the prevention and elimination of employment discrimination
- Appeal of Dismissal: A complaint dismissed in whole by the agency may be appealed, within 30 days of receipt, to the EEOC’s Office of Federal Operations.

- Partial Dismissals: When an agency dismisses some but not all of the claims in a complaint, it must notify the complainant in writing of the rationale for the decision and shall notify the complainant that those claims will not be investigated. This determination is reviewable by the administrative judge (AJ) if a hearing is requested on the remainder of the complaint.

- Investigation: The Department of Defense, Defense Civilian Personnel Advisory Service, Investigations and Resolutions Division (IRD), will conduct the investigation. The IRD investigator collects the exhibits gathered by the agency representative and the complainant, interviews the witnesses, drafts the affidavits for the witnesses to sign, and writes a report.

- Complainant Decides on Course of Action: Within 30 days of receipt of the investigative file, complainant must either:
  - Request a final decision from the agency head based on the record, or
  - Request a hearing and decision from an EEOC AJ

EEOC Hearing

- Request for Hearing: Complainants make requests for a hearing directly to the EEOC office indicated in the agency’s acknowledgment letter. The Complainant must send a copy of the request for a hearing to the agency’s EEOC office.

- Discovery: The parties may engage in discovery before the hearing. The AJ may limit the quantity and timing of discovery. Evidence may be developed through interrogatories, depositions, and requests for admissions, stipulations or production of documents. A party may object to requests for discovery that are irrelevant, over burdensome, repetitious, or privileged.

- Evidence: The AJ shall receive into evidence information or documents relevant to the complaint. Federal Rules of Evidence shall not be applied strictly, but the AJ shall exclude irrelevant or repetitious evidence.

- Witnesses: Agencies shall provide for the attendance at a hearing of all federal government employees approved as witnesses by the AJ.

- Alternatives to Testimony: Written statements sworn under penalty of perjury are admissible.

- Record of Hearing: The hearing shall be recorded and the agency shall arrange and pay for verbatim transcripts.
Post Hearing

- Decision: Within 180 days of receipt of the complaint file from the agency, the AJ will issue a decision on the complaint, and will order appropriate remedies and relief where discrimination is found.

- Final Agency Action after Hearing: When an AJ has issued a decision, the agency shall take final action on the complaint by issuing a final order within 40 days of receipt of the hearing file and the AJ’s decision.

- Complainant’s Appeal of Final Agency Action: The complainant may appeal the agency’s final action to the EEOC’s Office of Federal Operations (OFO). If a complainant is going to appeal, she/he must do so within 30 days of receipt of a dismissal, final action or decision.

- Request for Reconsideration: A decision issued by the EEOC/OFO is final unless the full Commission reconsiders the case.

- Timing of Request for Reconsideration: Any party may request reconsideration within 30 days of receipt of a decision of the EEOC/OFO.

- Grounds for Reconsideration

  -- The appellate decision involved a clearly erroneous interpretation of material fact or law, or

  -- The decision will have a substantial impact on the policies, practices or operations of the agency.

Civil Action

- A complainant may sue for discrimination in federal court.

- Prior to filing a civil action under Title VII or the Rehabilitation Act, a complainant must first exhaust the administrative process. “Exhaustion” for the purposes of filing a civil action may occur at different stages of the process. The regulations provide that civil actions may be filed in an appropriate federal court:

  -- Within 90 days of receipt of the final action where no administrative appeal has been filed;

  -- After 180 days from the date of filing a complaint if an administrative appeal has not been filed and final action has not been taken;

  -- Within 90 days of receipt of EEOC’s final decision on an appeal; or
-- After 180 days from the filing of an appeal with EEOC if there has been no final decision by the EEOC.

- Under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), a complainant may proceed directly to federal court after giving the EEOC notice of intent to sue. 29 C.F.R. Section 1614.201. An ADEA complainant who initiates the administrative process in 29 C.F.R. Part 1614 may also file a civil action within the time frames noted above. 29 C.F.R. Section 1614.408.

- Under the Equal Pay Act, a complainant may file a civil action within 2 years (3 years for willful violations), regardless of whether he or she has pursued an administrative complaint.

- Filing a civil action terminates EEOC processing of an appeal

Remedial Actions

- Reinstatement or nondiscriminatory placement: Placement in the position the victim would have occupied if the discrimination had not occurred.

- Back pay reduced by interim earnings; employee had to have been ready, willing, and able to work to be entitled to back pay.

- Front Pay: Front pay is an equitable remedy, an element of the “make whole” relief available to victims of employment discrimination. “Make whole” relief includes all actions necessary to make a victim of discrimination whole for the discrimination suffered, by placing the individual as near as possible in the situation he or she would have occupied if the wrong had not been committed. The remedy of front pay compensates a victim in situations where reinstatement or nondiscriminatory placement would be an available remedy, but is denied for reasons peculiar to the individual claim. The compensation of front pay makes the victim of discrimination whole generally until such nondiscriminatory placement can be accomplished.

- Erasing from the agency’s records any adverse materials relating to the discriminatory employment practice.

- Full opportunity to participate in the employee benefit denied (e.g., training, preferential work assignments, overtime scheduling).

- Fees and Costs: Attorney’s fees and costs shall apply to allegations of discrimination prohibited by Title VII and the Rehabilitation Act. A finding of discrimination raises a presumption of entitlement to an award of attorney’s fees.
- Compensatory Damages: Compensatory damages include damages for past pecuniary loss (out of pocket loss), future pecuniary loss, and nonpecuniary loss (emotional harm). There is a statutory cap of up to $300,000 on future pecuniary damages, and non-pecuniary damages. The $300,000 cap does not include past pecuniary damages, back pay, front pay, attorney fees, or lost benefits. Punitive damages are not available.

- Injunctive Relief

MISCELLANEOUS

- The primary source for legal advice for informal complaints is the installation legal office.

- The LLFSC is the primary source of legal advice for formal complaints and civil actions arising from EEO claims. LLFSC personnel will coordinate on dismissals or acceptance of formal complaints, will represent the agency through the IRD investigation and any administrative hearing before the EEOC and will defend the Air Force with the U.S. Attorney in Federal Court.

- NOTE: The LLFSC was established in July 2007 to provide labor and employment law advice and litigation support to installation legal offices. The LLFSC has a main office in Washington, D.C. and seven field offices in the United States. The Air Logistics Centers and certain other locations are excluded from LLFSC coverage. Regardless, the installation SJA remains the legal counselor to the commander.

- Official Time: Reasonable time to prepare complaints and attend hearings, ADR or meetings regarding the complaint should be allowed. Official time is normally considered in hours, not days or weeks. Witnesses for EEO complaints do not get official time to prepare, but do get it when their presence is authorized or required by Commission or agency officials in connection with a complaint.

The Notification and Federal Employee Antidiscrimination and Retaliation Act of 2002 (commonly known as the “No FEAR Act”)

- The No FEAR Act was enacted on 15 May 2002, and became effective 1 October 2003.

- The purpose of the act is to improve agency accountability for anti-discrimination and whistleblower laws by requiring federal agencies to reimburse the Treasury’s Judgment Fund for settlements and judgments paid to employees as the result of such complaints, and by establishing extensive agency reporting requirements. Previously most settlements and judgments in favor of federal employees who sued agencies in discrimination and whistleblower cases were paid from a government-wide “judgment” fund.
- Agencies must provide to their employees written notification of discrimination and whistle-blower protection laws

- Federal agencies and the EEOC must disclose and post statistical complaint data

WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION ACT

In 1989 Congress amended the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 with the Whistleblower Protection Act (WPA) of 1989. The Act substantially strengthened the protection for whistleblowers in the federal government. In 2012, Congress again amended the Act with the Whistleblower Protection Enhancement Act in order to eliminate judicial exceptions that had been created over time.

- The Act made the Office of Special Counsel (OSC) independent of the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB) and specifically charged the OSC with protecting the employee-whistleblower.

- If the OSC fails or refuses to act on the complaint, the individual has an independent right to bring the case him/herself before the MSPB as an Independent Right of Action (IRA) appeal.

- A prevailing whistleblower has a right to obtain attorney’s fees and costs associated with litigation.

INDIVIDUAL ACTIONS, PROTECTIONS, AND BURDEN OF PROOF

- Employees (including former employees and applicants) who believe they have suffered reprisal (a negative or prohibited personnel action in some form) for disclosing matters of gross mismanagement, gross waste of funds, abuse of authority, a substantial and specific danger to public safety, or a violation of law, rule or regulation, must first seek the assistance of OSC before bringing an individual action.

  -- If OSC notifies the employee that its investigation is over and that the OSC will not act, the employee has 60 days to file an appeal alleging reprisal with MSPB.

  -- If requested by the OSC, the MSPB will grant a 45-day postponement (“stay”) of a personnel action (such as a removal) taken against a whistleblower.

  -- If the employee receives no notice from OSC within 120 days of filing a complaint, the employee then may file an appeal with the MSPB.

- The following employees are protected by the WPA:

  -- Persons who make protected disclosures.

  -- Persons who suffer a retaliatory personnel action because they are believed to have made protected disclosures, even if they have not actually done so.

  -- Persons who suffer a retaliatory personnel action because of their relationship to someone who has made protected disclosures.
To establish a basic (prima facie) case of whistleblowing, the employee (or OSC acting for the employee) must prove by a preponderance of the evidence only that the whistleblowing was a contributing factor in the personnel action taken or threatened against that employee.

-- Preponderance of the evidence means “more likely than not”

--- If a prima facie case is established, then the agency must prove by clear and convincing evidence that it would have taken the same personnel action regardless of the whistleblowing.

--- Clear and convincing is defined as that measure or degree of proof that will produce in the mind of the fact-finder a firm belief or conviction as to the truth of the allegation. This standard falls somewhere between preponderance of the evidence and the beyond a reasonable doubt standard.

Mere harassment and threats, even without any formally proposed personnel action, can constitute a prohibited personnel action under 5 U.S.C. § 2302(b)(9) (2013), triggering the protection of the Act.

Outcomes

- An individual who has committed a prohibited personnel practice by taking a reprisal action against a whistleblower may be disciplined.

-- OSC files written complaint with MSPB and acts as a prosecutor

-- The employee is entitled to a hearing before the MSPB

-- MSPB may impose the following sanctions on the individual that took the prohibited personnel action:

  --- Removal

  --- Reduction in grade

  --- Debarment from federal service for up to 5 years

  --- Suspension

  --- Reprimand

  --- Civil penalty not to exceed $1,000
An employee may appeal an adverse decision to U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

The whistleblowers who win their cases may have the retaliatory personnel action, for example the suspension, demotion, or removal, completely overturned.

OSC may recommend to the head of the employee’s agency that disciplinary action be taken against a member of the Armed Forces.

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) is intended to balance the demands of the workplace and the needs of families, and to promote the stability and economic security of families, thereby promoting the national interest in preserving family integrity. The FMLA seeks to accomplish these goals by allowing employees to take reasonable amounts of unpaid leave for various medical and personal reasons.

- Federal employees are covered by the FMLA. It does not apply to active duty military personnel or to intermittent or temporary employees.

Leaves Entitlement under the Act

- Entitlements under the Act may not be diminished by any collective bargaining agreement or any other employee benefit plan. Conversely, an agency must comply with any employment policy or collective bargaining agreement that provides for a greater family or medical leave entitlement than under the FMLA.

- Each employee may use up to 12 work weeks of unpaid leave during any 12-month period for specified reasons

  -- May be taken in conjunction with, or substituted with, other available paid time off (annual leave, sick leave, advanced leave, or other leave without pay)

  -- May be taken as a block or intermittently (under certain conditions)

  -- Less detailed documentation required than for sick leave

- Procedures for determining the type of leave to be used are complicated, making consultation with the SJA crucial

- FMLA entitlement may be used for the following purposes:

  -- The birth and care of a child of the employee

  -- The placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care

  -- The care of a spouse, child, or parent who has a serious health condition

  -- A serious health condition of the employee that makes the employee unable to perform the essential functions of his/her position
Notice of Intent to Use Leave under the FMLA

- Baring emergency situations, the employee must provide notice to supervisor not less than 30 days prior to when the need for leave is foreseeable. If circumstances preclude providing the 30-day notice, it is the employee's responsibility to give the agency as much notice as possible.

- Notice may be provided in person, in writing, by telephone, by any electronic means, or in emergencies, through a third party such as a spouse or other responsible person.

Medical Certification

- Supporting documentation must include a statement that the employee is “needed to care for” the individual and that the patient requires assistance for care, safety, or transportation needs and the employee's presence would be beneficial or desirable for the care of the individual.

- In the case of leave for his/her own serious health condition, the Air Force can require medical certification from the employee's health care provider, which must include, among other things, a statement that the employee has a serious health condition that makes it impossible to perform the essential functions of the position. The Air Force can also require periodic reports as to the employee's status and intent to return to work.

- If the agency doubts the certification, it may require a second medical certification; however, it must select and pay for the services of the health care provider. If the second opinion differs, the agency and employee must jointly agree on a third provider who will provide a final and binding opinion.

- If the employee is unable to provide the certification prior to commencing the leave, then the agency must grant leave on a provisional basis. If ultimately the employee is unable to provide the required certification, then the leave granted should be charged to the employee's paid leave account.

Return to Work

- An employee, absent from work under the FMLA, is entitled to be returned to the same position or to an equivalent position with equivalent benefits, pay, status, and other terms and conditions of employment.

- If the employee has not fully recovered at the time they return to work, additional leave may be taken, to include annual or sick leave, leave under the Family Friendly Leave Act, donated leave, or additional leave without pay.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

INTRODUCTION
Since 1955, federal employees have been eligible for state unemployment benefits. This section outlines the authority for the program and the procedures that should be followed.

- Benefits are paid by the states, applying applicable state unemployment compensation law, BUT

  -- Department of Labor (DOL) reimburses the states on a quarterly basis

  -- Federal agencies reimburse the DOL for payments to state agencies

  -- Air Force pays approximately $5 million annually in unemployment compensation

THE CONCERN
- If an employee is successfully removed because of either misconduct or unsatisfactory performance, the Air Force may still be required to pay unemployment compensation

- Eligibility

  -- Monetary Eligibility: To qualify for unemployment benefits, an employee must have earned a certain amount during a certain period of time

  -- Separation: The employee must have been separated through no fault of his own

  -- Availability: Applicant must be able and available to accept work, and must be actively seeking work

- It takes a team effort of the SJA, CPO, and Accounting and Finance to defeat meritless unemployment compensation claims

- Unemployment compensation matters should be considered an important part of all personnel actions resulting in termination

PROCEDURES
- Vary from state to state, but generally the procedure is as follows:

  -- A form (SF-8, Notice to Federal Employees About Unemployment Insurance) is given to employee by the civilian personnel office upon separation

  -- Claim filed by former federal employee with appropriate state agency
The former employee may file a claim anywhere, if he chooses, but benefits are paid by the state of the employee's last duty assignment.

If the employee was overseas, he must return to the United States to file, and his state of residence will pay any appropriate benefits.

State agency sends Form ES-931, Request for Wages and Separation Information, to the federal agency requesting “federal findings,” i.e., the facts reported by a federal agency pertaining to an individual as to:

- Whether the individual performed federal civilian service for the agency
- The period of such service
- The individual’s wages
- The reasons for termination

Air Force has four workdays after receipt to:

- Return the forms correctly completed or notice that the time limit cannot be met and an estimated completion date
- Retrieve retired records

If federal findings are not received within 12 days, the state agency may make an entitlement determination without the findings (subject to redetermination if subsequently received)

- Federal findings are NOT binding on the state agency. The forms should be completed in a manner that maximizes the likelihood that the Air Force’s views will be adopted with respect to eligibility, ineligibility, and disqualification.
- Delays in this regard could hurt the Air Force’s ability to appeal the state’s determination

State agency makes initial determination

- Either party may appeal and request a hearing

- At the hearing, the Air Force may have to relitigate the basis for the termination, even if the Air Force’s position has already been upheld by the Merit Systems Protection Board or by an arbitrator
--- Witnesses Are Necessary. In other words, a commander who removed the employee may have to testify as to his/her reasons for that action.

--- If a party fails to appear for the hearing, the other party MAY win by default, although some states require the employer to put on its case proving misconduct even when the claimant fails to appear

-- Examiner issues a written decision

-- An administrative appeal can be made from examiner’s decision

-- Judicial review held in state court

- Time limits in state unemployment compensation cases are usually very short and strictly enforced

Base Closure Civilian Personnel Issues

Base closures have considerable potential for civilian personnel controversy and litigation.

Union Notification

- Federal employee unions must be notified at losing sites and given an opportunity to negotiate with the Air Force over the impact of the closure decision and the manner of implementing the closure decision called Impact and Implementation (I & I) bargaining.

  -- The decision to close a base is not negotiable, but it may be necessary to bargain concerning the impact and implementation of the decision.

  -- I & I bargaining obligation with unions can take considerable time and effort and must be fulfilled before closure can be implemented.

  --- Unions must be given enough time to seek information, prepare proposals, and initiate bargaining.

  --- Bargaining can be protracted, negotiability questions can arise, impasses can be resolved by outside help (all very slow).

  --- Completing closure before bargaining is finished may result in unfair labor practice (ULP) litigation based on unilateral change and bargaining in bad faith.

  --- Injunctive relief against the Air Force is possible.

  --- Administrative litigation can result in status quo ante remedy (i.e., returning the circumstances to the way they were before the action by the Air Force) requiring the Air Force to go back to square one.

  --- While the Air Force should ultimately prevail on the right to close and when to close, the best course of action is to avoid litigation by early notification to affected unions.

- Additionally, federal employee unions at gaining sites may also have to be notified if there is more than a minimal impact on employees at gaining location from moving employees to that location, and given opportunity to bargain over I & I of moving employees. Notification to unions at gaining locations is subject to the same concerns, although impact on the closure process not as severe.

- In addition to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), unions have a statutory right to information necessary to accomplish representational responsibilities.
-- Processing of such requests is separate and distinct from FOIA channels, base Civilian Personnel Office (CPO) is OPR (in the absence of CPO, check with the SJA’s office)

-- With few exceptions, if information is normally maintained by agency and is reasonably available, it must be released upon request

Civilian Employee Notification
- Civilian employees must be formally notified of the transfer of organization, have their options explained, and given a reasonable amount of time to respond as to whether they want to transfer with the function

-- Most movements will be “transfer of function,” where the entire organization and staff is moved to different part of country

-- However, not all affected personnel may be needed for same or comparable job at gaining location, so a reduction-in-force (RIF) would occur to eliminate personnel overage

-- In either case, considerable time is needed to ascertain what affected personnel will do, including preparing necessary follow-on paperwork, such as PCS orders, and/or RIF/separation notices

Civilian Employee Rights
- Civilian employees involuntarily terminated or reduced in grade as result of transfer have the right to litigation action before various administrative agencies, usually with the right of judicial review of decision. Civilian employees “released from competitive level” (RIF is a term of art, meaning essentially reduction in force or removal) or removed for failing to transfer with function have numerous appeal avenues available.

-- Negotiated grievance procedure for employees covered by collective bargaining agreement (both appropriated and nonappropriated fund employees)

-- Merit Systems Protection Board

-- Federal Labor Relations Authority if alleging violation of Federal Service Labor Management Relations Statute

-- Special agency procedures (AFMAN 34-310, Nonappropriated Fund Personnel Management and Administration Procedures) for nonappropriated fund employees
Reinstatement and other equitable or “make whole” relief available to employees through any of above.

Procedures vary in speed, cost to the agency, and may require judicial review by one or both sides.

Civilian employees who have been PCS'd have right to file a claim for some costs of selling their home at the old location/buying a home at the new location.

Entitlement and procedures are covered in the Joint Travel Regulations.

Reimbursement cap limits amount paid and may affect ability of employees in high cost areas (parts of California) to recover costs otherwise allowable.

Relocated civilian employees are entitled to file claim against Air Force for damage to household goods shipped pursuant to PCS orders.

Entitlement and procedures are covered in AFI 51-502, Personnel and Government Recovery Claims.

Claims subject to dollar limitations and depreciation, resulting in possible unreimbursed losses.

ENVIRONMENTAL LAWS: OVERVIEW

FEDERAL STATUTES
- Federal statutes now cover virtually all major environmental issues
  -- Although most statutes provide a method for exemption, this usually requires personal action by the President or the Secretary of Defense and, as a result, exceptions are rare
  -- Most major federal environmental statutes also waive the federal government’s immunity from state and local pollution control regulations, including permit and other procedural requirements as well as substantive pollution control standards
  -- Most subject the Air Force to state and local enforcement. Federal facilities are explicitly subject to fines and penalties for violations of requirements related to hazardous waste, underground storage tanks, drinking water, lead-based paint and others when a waiver of sovereign immunity exists.
  -- Most statutes subject Air Force personnel to criminal liability for violations of environmental laws and regulations
- Federal environmental statutes usually establish a joint federal-state system of pollution control. In addition, state authority allows delegation to local regulatory agencies.
  -- The typical role of the federal government is to establish the basic pollution control standards and to ensure that the states achieve those standards
  -- Most states have delegated authority to establish standards for particular sources of pollution, integrate the individual controls into an overall plan that will achieve the federal standards, and enforce the controls on a day-to-day basis

ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITY
- Three levels of enforcement authority typically apply:
  -- The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency retains authority to enforce when it has not delegated that authority to the relevant state or when it learns of violations that are not being prosecuted by a delegated state
  -- State or local enforcement agencies have primary responsibility for taking administrative or judicial actions for most violations
  -- When federal and state or local enforcement authorities have failed to abate violations, most environmental statutes allow private citizens to initiate civil enforcement proceedings in a federal district court
ASSISTANCE
- Assistance in deciphering environmental laws falls to members of your environmental team
  -- Legal, bioenvironmental engineer, medical, civil engineering, safety and others
  -- Required meetings of the installation Environment, Safety and Occupational Health Council (ESOHC), which is normally chaired by the vice commander, will assist leadership in addressing environmental issues and instilling stewardship values base wide

ENVIRONMENTAL TORT CLAIMS

- Environmental Tort Claims: Are claims for personal injury, death, or property damage under the Federal Tort Claims Act (FTCA), filed using the Standard Form 95, based on an allegation that the Air Force has damaged property or human health as a result of base activities. The classic example is on-base use of hazardous but useful chemicals that either, as a result of a spill or cumulative use, accumulates in the soil or groundwater and migrate off-base. Claims for asbestos and toxic mold exposure are also treated as environmental claims.

-- These claims are distinct from other statutory liability cases under federal environmental statutes such as Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), although they may arise from the same set of operative facts

-- Unlike previously noted environmental laws such as CERCLA and RCRA, suits filed under the FTCA for environmental tort claims do not provide for personal liability against the installation commander. Depending on the amount of the claim, these claims are paid by the Installation or MAJCOM out of O&M funds or out of the Department of the Treasury's Judgment Fund.

- The liability of the United States for environmental torts is determined in accordance with the law of the state where the alleged acts(s) or omission(s) occurred. Generally, when dealing with an environmental tort claim, the FTCA applies in CONUS, and the Military Claims Act (MCA) applies worldwide.

- In addition to state law defenses to negligence, federal agencies can assert additional defenses, including “discretionary function” and certain other defenses that are available when an intentional tort has been alleged

- In accordance with AFI 51-501, bases receiving environmental tort claims will be responsible for investigating and processing those claims which arise in their assigned geographic areas

SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL FEES

- The Federal government, as a sovereign, is not subject to state, interstate, or local laws, and is not subject to lawsuit—unless Congress has expressly waived sovereign immunity. Waivers are strictly construed in favor of the United States, and entities (state, interstate, and local) cannot regulate Federal entities absent a clear, unequivocal waiver. For example, the following are not waivers: executive orders, failure to object to a state requirement, compliance agreements, and a base commander’s actions.

- While there is a waiver of sovereign immunity in most of the major federal statutes (for example, Clean Air Act (CAA), RCRA-waste management, RCRA-Underground Storage Tanks (USTs), Clean Water Act (CWA), and Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) to allow the Air Force to pay reasonable environmental fees (also referred to as “service charges”), there is no waiver for the federal government to pay state and local taxes.

-- Fees: Are charges for services provided by state or local governments in administering their environmental programs (e.g., fees for environmental permits, underground storage tank registration, and hazardous waste generation).

-- Taxes: Are revenues collected to provide for the general support of the entire community. Only two environmental statutes waive immunity from taxation 42 U.S.C. § 2021d(b)(1)(B), allows for taxes on low-level radioactive waste owned or generated by the Federal government that is disposed of at a regional disposal facility or a non-Federal disposal facility within a State that is not a member of a regional compact. 33 U.S.C. § 1323 (c)(1)(B) permits state or local authorities to assess reasonable service charges, including taxes, for payment or reimbursement of cost associated with stormwater management programs.

-- Any person who uses appropriated funds for a purpose not authorized by Congress violates the Anti-Deficiency Act (ADA), 31 U.S.C. § 1341 (“Limitations on expending and obligating amounts”) and may be subject to appropriate adverse action.

- The legal test that DoD should use to evaluate whether a fee is payable or an illegal tax is under review. Since the mid-1990’s, the widely accepted test within DoD has been based on the Supreme Court’s decision in Massachusetts v. U.S., 435 U.S. 444 (1978). In this case, the Supreme Court articulated a test in the situation where the Federal government assessed a federal aircraft registration tax against a state. Over time, the three-prong fee/tax test applied in the Massachusetts case was modified and applied to the situation where a state assessed a fee against the Federal government in order to determine whether the fee was, in fact, an illegal tax.
-- This fee/tax test, the elements of which essentially are incorporated into the DoD instruction governing environmental compliance (that is, DoDI 4715.6, Environmental Compliance (24 April 1996)), provides that a fee is not a tax if the charges: (1) do not discriminate against Federal functions; (2) are based on a fair approximation of use of the system; and (3) are structured to produce revenues that will not exceed the total cost to the state of the benefits to be supplied.

-- However, whether DoD should continue to apply the Massachusetts test as the sole fee/tax test is questionable. The Comptroller General and some federal Courts of Appeal specifically reject the Massachusetts test in the context of federal immunity from state taxation because immunity of the Federal government from state taxation is grounded in the Supremacy Clause [art. VI, cl. 2] while the States' immunity from federal taxes was judicially implied from the States' role in the constitutional scheme.

-- Any legal analysis of an environmental fee assessed by a state or local entity should consider the analysis used by the Comptroller General in opinion B-306,666 (Comp. Gen. June 5, 2006). Of course, relevant decisions within a specific circuit must also be considered.

- Other issues may arise when an environmental fee is not paid by the specified deadline, such as the assessment of interest or imposition of penalties for late payment. There is no waiver to allow the payment of such interest. A legal analysis would be required to determine whether a particular penalty must be paid, to include identifying a specific rule that was violated as well as an applicable waiver of sovereign immunity for penalties.

- Base personnel should coordinate all questions regarding payment of environmental fees with the base SJA. A legal review of all new fees and fee increases should be accomplished prior to the installation sending payment. If an assessment appears to be a tax and its legality questionable, payment is not authorized and should be deferred. The base legal office will coordinate, as appropriate, with the Environmental Law Field Support Center (ELFSC) and regional counsel's office (RCO). When the fee also applies to the other military services, the Air Force RCO will coordinate with regional counsel for the other military services to help obtain a consistent position within DoD.

Controls on Air Force Decision-Making: NEPA

The National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) requires federal agencies to evaluate environmental impacts as part of their overall planning and decision-making process. It also requires that the public be informed of, and involved in, the decision-making process. This section is limited to NEPA procedural requirements within U.S. jurisdiction.

Process

- Within the Air Force, NEPA’s mandates are carried out throughout the Environmental Impact Analysis Process (EIAP). The Air Force EIAP can be found at 32 C.F.R. 989. EIAP requires the following, before any final decision on a proposed action is made:

  -- The use of certain Categorical Exclusions (CATEXs) require the use of an AF Form 813 (see 32 CFR 989, Appendix B); AND

  -- Determination that a (CATEX) applies (See 32 CFR 989, Environmental Impact Analysis Process (EIAP), Appendix B for list of CATEXs);

  -- Preparation of an Environmental Assessment (EA) and a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI); or

  -- Preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) and Record of Decision (ROD)

- Failure to follow the process can result in the action being delayed through litigation challenging the adequacy of the NEPA documentation

- The presence of classified information does not exempt the Air Force from its NEPA responsibilities, but it may modify the public’s right to participate in the NEPA process. Unclassified portions of the required analysis would still be shared with the public.

- Actions that would involve construction in wetlands, or that would take place in floodplains, need to be submitted to the MAJCOM for approval

- Pending completion of EIAP, generally the Air Force may not irretrievably commit money or resource for any proposed action

Environmental Impact Statement (EIS)

- Under NEPA, the Air Force must prepare an EIS for a “major federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment”

  -- Requirement of a “major” action refers to the impact on the environment, not to the size of the project; thus, even a small project can qualify as “major”
-- The Air Force must also prepare an EIS for a private action essentially under Air Force “control” (e.g., actions that require Air Force permission)

-- Consider whether environmental effects are significant based on context and intensity

-- For proposed actions where impacts are uncertain, the Air Force prepares an EA which either results in a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI), or leads to an EIS

-- A reviewing court’s focus will be whether the Air Force has taken a “hard look” and made a good faith assessment of potential impacts

-- The term “human environment” includes the natural and physical environment, as well as the relationship of people with that environment

--- As mentioned in the Clean Air Act section, in nonattainment” and “maintenance” areas, Federal entities are prohibited from supporting or taking any action that does not conform to a State Implementation Plan (SIP). This requirement is called “general conformity.” The requirement means that before undertaking any action that impacts air quality (e.g., construction activity, weapon system bed-down, mission realignment, training exercise, etc.,) in “nonattainment areas” or “maintenance areas,” an analysis must be conducted to demonstrate that the proposed action will not hinder attainment or maintenance of air quality standards.

-- Executive Order 12898 on Environmental Justice requires federal agencies to consider the effects of proposed projects upon minority and low-income populations

-- The heart of NEPA is the identification and analysis of alternatives. Furthermore, a range of reasonable alternatives that would satisfy the purpose and need of the proposed action must be analyzed, including a No Action alternative.

NEPA IS A PROCEDURAL LAW

- The Air Force must ensure that environmental concerns are given “appropriate consideration,” but NEPA does not require the Air Force to rank environmental concerns above mission goals. Most of the subject areas considered as part of the NEPA analysis have separate substantive requirements of their own.

- The Air Force must also ensure that all reasonable measures are taken to mitigate adverse environmental impacts associated with an action that the Air Force has chosen to implement. An EIS or EA/FONSI should clearly identify mitigation measures, and the ROD must state whether all practical means to avoid or minimize environmental harm from the alternative selected have been adopted or, if not, why they were not. In addition, Air Force regulations require a mitigation plan to be prepared by the action proponent and submitted to HQ USAF/A7CI for each FONSI or ROD that contains mitigation measures.

ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH (ESOH) INSPECTIONS

OVERVIEW

- In 2012, Environment, Safety and Occupational Health Compliance Assessment and Management Program (ESOHCAMP) and several other functional area evaluations became part of the Air Force Inspection System (AFIS). Since then, ESOHCAMP has been changing to integrate into and comply with the AFIS.

  -- ESOHCAMP assessments have been replaced with ESOH inspections

  -- ESOH inspections occur as part of Inspector General (IG) inspections with E, S, and OH inspectors working separately instead of together

  -- ESOH deficiencies are recorded in Inspector General record systems

- The Air Force developed the ESOHCAMP to assess management compliance with federal, state and local laws or regulations and conformance with DoD, Air Force, and installation instructions

  - The Program was designed to help installation commanders assess performance of their ESOH programs and to identify and track solutions to ESOH compliance and management system conformance deficiencies

  -- The program included a combination of internal assessments conducted by the installation and external assessments conducted by the installation's MAJCOM

  -- Assessments evaluate compliance with applicable federal, state, DoD, and AF compliance requirements and conformance with management system standards the Air Force adopted for various ESOH areas

  -- Findings at installation and MAJCOM level generate analysis of root causes and preparation of corrective action plans

OBJECTIVES

- The ESOH inspection objectives follow those of the AFIS and is an independent assessment of:

  -- The unit’s compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and internal policies

  -- The unit’s ability to find, analyze, report, and fix deficiencies
-- The unit’s conformance with management system standards the Air Force has adopted for various ESOH areas

APPLICATION
- Applies to Air Force personnel at all active and reserve Air Force components worldwide and to Air National Guard units

- As transformed, the installation level ESOH inspection includes a conformance self-assessment with E, S, and OH management system standards, but will focus on checking compliance with federal, state, and local ESOH laws and regulations. It will also check on compliance with DoD and Air Force instructions. For personnel stationed overseas (outside the United States and U.S. territories), “DoD requirements” include applicable requirements of international agreements and country-specific Final Governing Standards (FGS) or, if no FGS, the Overseas Environmental Baseline Guidance Document (OEBGD).

- At the MAJCOM level, ESOH inspections focus on determining conformance with E, S, and OH management system standards, with flexibility to check on compliance with specific laws or regulations, when warranted. Environmental inspection areas include (but are not limited to) Air Quality, Cultural Resources, Environmental Restoration, Fuel/POL/Tanks, Hazardous Materials, Hazardous Waste, Integrated Solid Waste, Natural Resources, Toxic Substances, and Water Quality.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE
- Assessment program has 3 parts

  -- Stage 1 assessments are shop-level inspections

  -- Stage 2 and 3 assessments are base-wide evaluations

- Stage 1 Assessments: Focus on compliance with legal requirements, occur at a frequency determined by the installation commander, and are performed by shop personnel as part of the Commander’s Inspection Program (CCIP)

- Stage 2 Assessments: Focus on compliance with legal requirements and conformance with management system standards, occur at a frequency determined by the installation commander, and are performed by installation personnel as part of the CCIP

- Stage 3 Assessments: Focus on adequacy and performance of ESOH management (conformance), but can (e.g., when requested by the installation commander) include tailored or scoped checks of regulatory compliance. They are performed by the MAJCOM as part of IG Unit Effectiveness Inspections (UEIs).
Corrective Action Plans (CAPs) are developed for any deficiencies found during Stage 1, Stage 2, or Stage 3 inspections. A CAP specifies a deficiency, identifies the root cause for that deficiency, and describes the action taken or being taken to correct the deficiency.

RELEASE OF DOCUMENTS AND DATA

- ESOH inspection materials must be managed and protected IAW applicable laws, regulations, and policies, to include classification and marking, Freedom of Information Act, records management, and records disposition.

- AFI 90-201, para 2.18, addresses classification, marking, and release of inspection reports, which include ESOH inspection materials.

- Installation and MAJCOM legal offices should consult with the Air Force Environmental Law Field Support Center when preparing legal opinions on release of ESOH inspection-related materials.

JA’s ROLE

- Provide legal advice on compliance issues to inspection team and review team’s findings for legal sufficiency to ESOH functionals during Stage 2 inspections.

- Review proposed CAPs for Stage 2 and Stage 3 inspection findings.

- Advise inspectors on release of inspection-related documents and data under the Freedom of Information Act, AFI 16-1404, AFI 90-201, and DoD 5400.70-R_AFMAN 33-302.

- Contact Environmental Liaisons at the MAJCOMs, Air Force Environmental Law Field Support Center, or appropriate Regional Counsel Offices for assistance when needed.

RESPONDING TO AN ENFORCEMENT ACTION (EA)

- The enforcement action is an administrative enforcement mechanism used by a state or federal regulatory agency to provide notice of noncompliance with either statute or regulation. It is used for most environmental statutes. Enforcement actions are sometimes called notices of violation (NOV), notices of non-compliance (NON), notices of deficiency (NOD), compliance agreements (CA), or consent orders (CO).

- Enforcement actions are often issued after an inspection, with or without notice, by a regulatory agency.

- Enforcement actions can be issued without an inspection based upon reports filed with the regulatory agency (effluent limitations, spills, etc.) Also, a failure to report can result in an EA.

  -- Depending on the nature of the violation, fines and penalties may be assessed.

  -- Regulators may seek injunctions to shut down operations.

  -- Violations can lead to criminal penalties, such as imprisonment and fines.

  -- Any violation can lead to more inspections by regulators.

  -- Installations may be issued enforcement actions for acts of non-Air Force personnel, e.g., AAFES, contractors.

- Enforcement actions must receive priority treatment and must be reported to higher headquarters.

  -- JAs are required to immediately and independently notify MAJCOM/JA, the regional counsel offices, and AFLOA/JACE-Field Support Center (FSC) through the Environmental Liaison Officer.

  -- CEs are required to immediately notify the MAJCOM/CE and the regional environmental office using the Enforcement Actions, Spills and Inspections (EASI) reporting system.

  -- Enforcement actions for each base are tracked in a quarterly report briefed to CSAF and the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Air Force (Environment, Safety, and Occupational Health) (SAF/IEE).

  -- SAF/IEE annually reports EA data to USD(AT&L) for inclusion in the Defense Environmental Programs Annual Report to Congress (DEP ARC).
Enforcement Action Process and Avoidance

- The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the states may assess fines and penalties for some violations

  -- The EPA “complaint” triggers a very formal administrative process

  --- MUST file answer within 20 days; failure to respond to any given allegation is an admission of its truth

  --- Ensure that a coordinated effort is made to preserve evidence and document site conditions, as it may be some time before the hearing

  --- Pursue settlement efforts while hearing is pending

  -- State enforcement actions—follow state rules

  --- Usually must submit a written response within 30 days of receipt, but may be less

  --- Take corrective action as soon as practicable

  --- Pursue informal resolution, except in Clean Air Act (CAA) cases, which may require coordination with AFLOA/JACE, SAF/GCN, SAF/IEE, and DOJ prior to negotiations

  -- Civil fines or penalties assessed as part of an enforcement action normally are the funding responsibility of the installation. All settlements regarding payment of fines or penalties must be approved by AFLOA/JACE Chief, Environmental Law and Litigation Division.

-- Enforcement actions are avoidable! Be prepared for inspections by regulators

  -- Treat inspections like operational readiness inspections

  -- Know your weak areas

  -- Conduct pre-inspections

  -- Complete the “easy fixes;” don’t wait to be directed

  -- “Neatness” really does count

  -- Select and brief an escort team to go with inspectors

  -- Know the areas most likely to produce violations
--- Hazardous waste management plans

--- Personnel training records

--- Documentation of “cradle-to-grave” management of hazardous waste, to include return manifests showing that wastes destined for disposal sites actually arrived

--- Labeling and condition of hazardous waste barrels

--- Contingency plans and emergency procedures

--- Air and water discharge monitoring reports, compared with actual permit limitations to be sure they were not exceeded

-- If you get an enforcement action, use all of the available resources to resolve it

--- Notify others (MAJCOM/JA, Air Force regional compliance office, public affairs)

--- Cooperate with regulating agency

--- Timely response is imperative

--- Regulators may propose compliance agreement. If so, involve your staff judge advocate (SJA) immediately. NEVER sign a compliance agreement without AFLOA/JACE and SJA coordination.

Bottom Line
- Preparation is the key to avoiding enforcement actions

- Prompt, cooperative response is the key to resolving enforcement actions

LIABILITY UNDER ENVIRONMENTAL LAWS

Individual employees, as well as the Air Force itself, may be held liable for environmental law violations. While the Air Force is subject to civil and administrative liability, individuals may also be held criminally liable in their personal capacities.

ENVIRONMENTAL STATUTES
- The major environmental statutes (Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA), and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA)) either contain immunity provisions for federal employees acting within the scope of their employment or have been held by courts to grant such immunity. Meyer v. United States Coast Guard, 644 F. Supp. 221 (D.N.C. 1986).
- Federal officials have been held criminally liable for violations of environmental statutes containing criminal penalties when their actions do not fall within the purview of statutory, or “sovereign” immunity, as such immunity only applies to the United States. United States v. Carr, 880 F.2d 1550 (2d Cir. 1989).
- Most statutes authorize payment of reasonable fees
- Most statutes also allow the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to delegate its enforcement authority to qualified states. States’ requirements are at least as stringent as the federal requirements

COMMANDERS’ LIABILITY
- Additional issues related to commanders’ liability:
  -- Direct participation in the violation of an environmental statute is just one way in which a commander could be subject to prosecution
  -- By not acting promptly to correct an environmental violation, the commander may also be subject to prosecution even without direct involvement
  -- If violations of the law occur, immediately consult the staff judge advocate and appropriate regulatory authorities to establish good faith in the compliance resolution process

INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY (CIVIL LIABILITY)
- Department of Justice (DOJ) representation may be available to an individual who commits a violation while acting within the scope of employment
- Representation is not automatic; the individual must submit a written request to DOJ, and DOJ will determine whether it is in the interest of the United States to provide representation
- Often, the United States is substituted for the individual, who then is released from personal liability

Criminal Liability
- Every major environmental law has criminal provisions that can be applied to active-duty members, reservists, guardsmen, civilian personnel, and contractors

- Generally applies to knowing or willful violations or wanton disregard of law or public safety. In some cases, negligence can form basis for criminal charges.

- Sanctions can include a monetary fine and time in jail

- Military members may also be subject to UCMJ prosecution

- In 1990, 3 Army employees (SES-4, GS-15, and GS-14) were found guilty of storing and disposing hazardous wastes (HW) in knowing violation of the RCRA and sentenced to three years probation each

  -- In this case, “knowing” meant that employees disposed of harmful substances. Prosecution did not have to show that they knew the substances were “hazardous wastes” or that the disposal was illegal

  -- DOJ did not provide representation and forbade the Army from doing so. Attorneys’ fees reached $108,000 for each defendant

- There have been other criminal prosecutions of military members and civilian employees, with the majority of the prosecutions resulting in convictions

  -- For example, the manager of an Army wastewater treatment plant who was convicted of nine felony counts for violating a permit and falsifying reports, received an eight month jail sentence

  -- A Navy fuels division director repeatedly instructed subordinates to pump fuels through a line that he knew would leak. He was sentenced to ten months confinement.

  -- An airman was convicted by courts-martial of dereliction of duty after he caused an overflow of jet fuel. He then attempted to conceal his mistake. He was sentenced to one-month restriction to base and a reprimand.

- In addition to prosecution by DOJ or under the UCMJ, individuals may be prosecuted by states under state law
- If a defendant is being tried for violating federal (not state) criminal law, DOJ will generally decline both criminal and civil representation of the individual.

- Under the “responsible corporate officer doctrine,” supervisors may be criminally liable for the acts of subordinates despite a lack of knowledge regarding the specific violations.

- Factors DOJ considers in deciding whether to prosecute include:
  -- Voluntary disclosure of violation before regulators discover it
  -- Cooperation with regulators
  -- Good faith self-auditing program
  -- Internal disciplinary action
  -- Subsequent compliance efforts, such as ESOHCAMP follow-up

Organizational Liability

- Administrative and Civil Fines and Penalties
  -- An administrative fine/penalty is enforced within the regulatory body that assesses it. The amount is often lower than the amount of a civil penalty.
  -- A civil penalty is imposed through a court order
  -- Historically, under the principle of “sovereign immunity,” the federal government and its agencies cannot be sued without Congressional consent
  -- In many statutes, sovereign immunity is waived for substantive and procedural requirements, but not for the payment of penalties. If sovereign immunity has not been waived for payment of fines and penalties, then payment would violate fiscal law.
  -- Negotiations over environmental enforcement actions must be coordinated with the regional counsel’s office JACE-FSC. Any resolution involving the payment of a penalty or a request for a supplemental environmental project (SEP) must be approved by the JACE Division Chief.
  -- Base fines and penalties are paid out of Base funds (Operational & Maintenance (O&M) Funds). “It is important that O&M funds be specifically identified as the source that must be used.”

MEDIA RELATIONS AND ENVIRONMENTAL INCIDENTS

Numerous federal statutes require reporting releases or discharges into the environment to local, state, or federal regulatory agencies. Some, such as CERCLA Section 103(a) and the Clean Water Act require immediate reporting under penalty of law. Every installation should have contingency or disaster plans that address the required notifications. Given the variety of overlapping jurisdictions and regulations, the requirements may be substantially different and dependent on the location of the installation.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS INVOLVEMENT

- The Office of Public Affairs (SAF/PA) maintains a program to involve the public in Air Force environmental activities and decisions, particularly within the Environmental Impact Analysis Process (EIAP), the Installation Restoration Program (IRP), and the Air Installation Compatible Use Zone (AICUZ) program

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ANALYSIS PROCESS (EIAP)

- SAF/PA Responsibilities:
  -- Reviews and clears environmental documents in accordance with AFI 35-101, Public Affairs Policies and Procedures and AFI 35-108, Environmental Public Affairs, prior to public release
  -- Assists judges from HQ AF/JAT or HQ AF/JAH in planning and conducting public hearings
  -- Ensures that public affairs aspects of all EIAP actions are conducted in accordance with the EIAP regulation and Chapter 9 of AFI 35-101

- Public Affairs Officer (PA) Responsibilities:
  -- Advises the Environmental Planning Function (EPF), the Environmental Protection Committee (EPC), and the action proponent on public affairs activities on proposed actions and reviews environmental documents for public involvement issues
  -- Advises the EPF of issues and competing interests that should be addressed in the EIS or EA
  -- Assists in preparation of and attends scoping and other public meetings or media sessions on environmental issues
  -- Prepares, coordinates, and distributes news releases and other public information materials related to the proposal and associated EIAP documents
-- Notifies the media (television, radio, newspaper) and purchases advertisements when newspapers will not run notices free of charge. The EPF will fund the required advertisements.

-- Determines and ensures Security and Policy Review requirements are met for all information proposed for public release (see AFI 35-102)

Installation Restoration Program (IRP)

- PA Responsibilities:

  -- Serving as the focal point for public affairs aspects of proposed IRP actions

  -- Advising on the public affairs aspects of the Air Force responsibilities for the development, implementation and participation in the Restoration Advisory Board (RAB), a forum for the discussion and exchange of environmental restoration program information between DoD installations, regulatory agencies, tribes, and the community

  -- Ensuring all concerned community parties are in the communication channel

  -- Conducting, during IRP remedial actions, community interviews to solicit concerns, informational needs, and desired levels of involvement. This includes:

    --- Preparing an IRP community relations plan for MAJCOM approval and establishing an information repository accessible to the general public

    --- Developing, coordinating, and distributing news releases and fact sheets on IRP progress and proposed actions

Air Installation Compatible Use Zone (AICUZ) Program

- The base community planner manages the AICUZ program. However, the Public Affairs (PA) officer should assist the base planner prepare for public meetings, and acts as an information conduit between the base and the community. Usually, the wing commander makes the decision to release the AICUZ report.

- In the event noise complaints occur, PA will handle complaints directly; providing timely, responsive, and factual answers to maintain good media and community relations; and will refer all claims for damages to the base claims office

Cleanup of Contamination from Past Activities

Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA)

- Also known as “Superfund,” CERCLA provides a means of and process for investigating and responding to releases of hazardous substances (HS) into the environment, assessing parties responsible for such releases, and authorizes the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to order those parties to clean up the contamination, or recover response costs from responsible parties when EPA conducts the response actions and funds it from the Superfund.

- Establishes “strict” liability for (1) current owners and operators of facilities where hazardous substances are released; (2) owners and operators of facilities at the time the hazardous substances were disposed; (3) persons who arranged for disposal or treatment of such substances, and; (4) persons who accepted such substances for treatment or disposal.

  -- Most courts have ruled that any responsible party can be required to pay the total cost of cleanup, regardless of the amount that a liable party contributed to the contamination; however, responsible parties can seek cost recovery and contribution from other responsible parties.

  -- Responsible parties are also liable for damages that are assessed for injury to, destruction of, or loss of natural resources. The definition of natural resources is broad in scope (e.g., land, wildlife, fish, biota, air, water, groundwater, drinking water supplies), though it is limited to those resources owned, held in trust, or otherwise controlled by a federal or state government agency or an Indian tribe, thus excluding damages to private property.

- CERCLA’s waiver of sovereign immunity subjects us to CERCLA substantive, procedural and liability requirements.

- Primary EPA regulations implementing CERCLA contained in the National Contingency Plan (NCP) at 40 C.F.R. Part 300.

  -- EPA in 40 C.F.R. Part 302 lists hazardous substances which are subject to CERCLA.

  -- EPA has also issued numerous guidance documents further implementing CERCLA; however these are not legally binding.

- For releases at or migrating from Air Force facilities, Air Force has been delegated by the President lead agency authority to investigate, and then plan, select and implement response actions, to be exercised consistent with CERCLA.

- CERCLA provides for local, state and federal (usually EPA) involvement in DoD cleanup by state and federal regulators.
CERCLA and the NCP also require extensive public participation opportunities throughout the response process, to include the creation of an administrative record (AR) and information repository (IR) that are publicly accessible.

CERCLA Response Action Stages Include:

- Discovery of release
- Removal evaluation and action—immediate or short term actions to address imminent and substantial endangerment or other risks that warrant a relatively prompt action
- Preliminary assessment and site inspection (PA/SI) to determine basic nature of release and if further investigation or action is necessary
- Remedial investigation (RI) to determine the nature and extent of contamination and determine through a baseline risk assessment whether the release constitutes an unacceptable risk to human health or the environment so as to necessitate remedial action
- Feasibility study (FS) which develops and assesses alternative remedies to permanently address site risks, utilizing nine remedy selection criteria set forth in CERCLA and the NCP
- Proposed plan to present remedial alternatives assessed and rationale for preferred alternative, and obtain regulator and public comment
- Record of decision (ROD) selecting cleanup method, which is filed in the AR
- Remedy implementation/execution, which includes remedial design, remedial action, operation and maintenance, usually monitoring, and remedy completion and closeout

National Priorities List (NPL)

- The EPA evaluates DoD facilities for possible placement on the NPL, which is a list of the most seriously contaminated sites, presumably requiring the earliest clean-ups
- For sites on the NPL, CERCLA requires the Air Force to enter into Federal Facility Agreements (FFAs) with EPA; states are encouraged to sign FFAs
  - FFA must include a provision that remedial actions are jointly developed and selected by the Air Force and EPA or, if they are unable to reach agreement, solely by the EPA Administrator
In 1988, to implement the FFA requirement, DoD and EPA agreed on model language provisions, which were last revised in 2009. Deviation from the model is not permitted without approval from SAF/IE and DoD.

FFA provisions are enforceable under CERCLA

For sites not on the NPL, the state provides the primary regulatory oversight

At non-NPL facilities, CERCLA further requires we comply with state response laws

FFAs are not required

Defense Environmental Restoration Program (DERP)

- Establishes DoD and service environmental restoration accounts (ERA) which are fenced and can only be used to fund environmental restoration activities

- Congress granted DoD complementary authority under CERCLA to administer an environmental restoration program at DoD facilities

- Response actions under DERP must be consistent and in accordance with CERCLA

-- In addition to CERCLA response actions, Congress authorized DoD to correct other environmental damage that may present an imminent and substantial endangerment to public health or the environment. This authority and DERP Section 10 USC 2710 are the authorities used by DoD to respond to military munitions clean-up.

-- DERP requires the restoration program be conducted in consultation with EPA and requires notice and opportunity to comment to EPA and state and local regulators on most restoration phases

-- In recognition of the importance of public involvement at military installations, DERP requires where practicable that installations form a restoration advisory board (RAB)

--- The RAB is composed of members from the local community and representatives from DoD, the state, and EPA, as appropriate. Community members selected for RAB membership should reflect the diverse interests within the local community.

--- The RAB provides an expanded opportunity for ongoing community input and participation in all phases of installation restoration activities, but not actual decision-making
Under DERP program known as the Defense State Memorandum of Agreement (DSMOA), DoD funds state services that assist DoD in the conduct of DERP, to include RAB participation, review, and comments on restoration documents.

Third Party Site (TPS) Program
- The Air Force’s TPS program resolves CERCLA claims by EPA, states, and private parties against the Air Force resulting from Air Force disposal of hazardous substances and waste at off-base properties not owned or operated by the federal government (now or in the past).
- Cases are assigned to the Litigation Center.
- The Litigation Center works with environmental attorneys and engineers from each base alleged to have disposed of hazardous substances and waste at the site to identify witnesses and documents relevant to the claim.
- The Litigation Center determines the Air Force’s share, if any, of the total volume and types of all hazardous substances disposed of at the site by all parties and negotiates, in consultation with other AFLOA/JACE SMEs, SAF/GCN, and the Department of Justice, settlements of the Air Force liability based upon the Air Force’s allocated share of the total cleanup cost for the site.
- In virtually all cases, settlements of Air Force liabilities are paid by the Department of Justice from the Judgment Fund, not from Air Force funds.

Affirmative Cost Recovery (ACR) Program
- Under CERCLA, DoD agencies may affirmatively recover the costs expended by DoD to clean up hazardous substances released onto DoD property by contractors and other non-federal entities, including costs for study, sampling, analysis, monitoring and surveying programs, and other planning and engineering services.
- DERP further authorizes amounts recovered to be deposited into appropriate service’s ERA account.
- Chapter 26 of the Management Guidance for Defense Environmental Restoration Program requires the Air Force to investigate recovery of cleanup costs that have exceeded or are expected to exceed $50,000.
- Base personnel should alert their Air Force Civil Engineer Center (AFCEC) and Regional Counsel Office counterparts where there is a potential cost recovery action against a third party.
- Generally RCOs and the Litigation Center investigate potential ACR cases at bases, and Air Force plants.
Resource Conservation and Recovery Act Corrective Action (RCRA CA)

- RCRA establishes federal cradle to grave requirements for the management, storage, treatment, and disposal of hazardous waste. Most states are authorized to administer the program in lieu of EPA under state laws that are equivalent and at least as stringent and broad in scope as RCRA.

- Facilities that store hazardous waste over 90 days or treat or dispose of hazardous waste must have a Treatment, Storage, and Disposal (T/S/D) permit, which contains

  -- Requirements for corrective action (CA) to address release of hazardous wastes and constituents into the environment from solid waste management units (SWMUs), regardless of when the release occurred. Corrective Action can be a very contentious, time consuming and expensive process. If your installation is considering obtaining either a new RCRA (e.g., T/S/D or miscellaneous) permit or renewing a lapsed permit, consult with both CE and JA about the corrective action implications for the installation before initiating the permit process.

    Where corrective action is concerned, be aware of the challenge posed by pesticides (esp. chlordane) if a residential construction project is planned. Plan on managing the chlordane tainted soil as a solid waste and potentially as a hazardous waste if RCRA mandated concentration levels are exceeded for toxicity. Characterize chlordane contaminated soil accordingly. Do not assume that because the chlordane was applied legally, it can be managed as a material or product in a situation where solid disturbance is occurring (e.g., grading during a construction project).

    For facilities that applied for a permit, but withdrew their permit application before its issuance (interim status) the state or EPA may issue an administrative order to require corrective action where necessary to protect human health and the environment

- CA requirements largely parallel CERCLA, while terminology for cleanup phases differ

  -- DoD and services do not have lead agency authority under RCRA, thus regulators (usually the state) must approve all steps, documents, and decisions

Natural and Cultural Resource Preservation Laws

Federal laws require agencies to preserve and protect natural and cultural resources, and contain both substantive and procedural requirements. Consultation required by these laws provides information that is essential to the Environmental Impact Analysis Process (EIAP) in identifying, evaluating, and mitigating adverse impacts. Mitigation measures developed through consultation are incorporated into NEPA decision documents. Failure to comply with consultation requirements is evidence that the Air Force has not satisfactorily completed EIAP.

Natural Resources Conservation

- The Sikes Act requires each installation, in cooperation with the Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) and State fish and game department, to develop an Integrated Natural Resources Management Plan (INRMP). These detailed plans operate as an agreement between the parties on how natural resource conservation needs will be integrated with military requirements.

  -- Installations are open to the public for use of natural resources (hunting, fishing, etc.) subject to safety and security requirements

  -- The FWS will not designate any DoD land as “critical habitat” if that land is addressed in an INRMP and the INRMP provides a benefit to endangered or threatened species that inhabit it

- Endangered Species Act (ESA): Requires Federal agencies to ensure that their actions are not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any threatened or endangered (T/E) species, or to destroy or adversely modify their critical habitat. T/E species are those that are identified on a list published by FWS (for land species) and the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) (for aquatic species). The animal list is found at 50 CFR §17.11; the plant list at §17.12.

- Migratory Bird Treaty Act (MBTA): Prohibits intentional killing of migratory birds without a permit. Although no permit is necessary for the unintentional killing of migratory birds during military readiness activities, DoD has a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with FWS covering conservation measures.

  -- The MBTA does not prohibit harassment of migratory birds. AFPAM 91-212, Bird/Wildlife Aircraft Strike Hazard (BASH) Management Techniques, contains recommended methods. If harassment is insufficient to reduce risk, killing of migratory birds must be done in accordance with a depredation permit issued by FWS.
Consultation Requirements for Endangered or Threatened Species

ESA Section 7 requires Federal agencies to consult with the FWS (for land species) and/or the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) (for aquatic species) whenever an action may affect T/E species. Consultation procedures are set out in 50 CFR Part 402 and the FWS Endangered Species Consultation Handbook (1998). Consultation may be required even when a proposed action would otherwise qualify for an EIAP categorical exclusion.

- Consultation is not required when no threatened or endangered species is present in the area where the proposed action is taking place. For these actions, the Air Force makes a “no effect” determination.

- Consultation is required when a threatened or endangered species is present in the area where the proposed action will take place

  -- When the Air Force determines that the action “is not likely to adversely affect” a threatened or endangered species, it may use informal consultation procedures (telephone calls, e-mail, letters, etc.). Consultation is complete when the FWS and/or NMFS concurs in writing with the Air Force’s determination.

  -- When the Air Force determines that the action “is likely to adversely affect” a threatened or endangered species, it must use the formal consultation procedures set forth in 50 CFR § 402.14. This will typically require a written analysis known as a Biological Evaluation or Biological Assessment (BA). Consultation is complete when the FWS and/or NMFS issues its written Biological Opinion (BO). This is known as a “no jeopardy opinion.”

  --- The BO will contain an Incidental Take Statement (ITS) that protects Air Force personnel from criminal prosecution if the action harms threatened or endangered animal species, and contains mandatory “reasonable and prudent measures” and “terms and conditions” that the Air Force must take to protect the species

  --- Plants receive less protection under the ESA; the BO may contain voluntary recommendations to protect the species

- Although rare, FWS or NMFS may find that an agency’s action will likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any endangered or threatened species, or to destroy or adversely modify their critical habitat. This is known as a “jeopardy” opinion. In these cases, FWS or NMFS will recommend “reasonable and prudent alternatives” to the agency action that are economically and technologically feasible, and which will not jeopardize an endangered or threatened species.
Cultural Resources Conservation

- National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA): Does not require preservation. It does, however, require Federal agencies to consult with the State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO), and when appropriate, the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP) and Indian Tribes when an action (“undertaking”) is the type of action that could adversely affect a historic resource.

-- Historic resources are those districts, sites, buildings, structures, or objects that are included in, or are eligible for, the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP). The NRHP is administered by the National Park Service (NPA).

-- Eligible properties are those that association with events that have made a significant contribution to history; or are associated with lives of persons significant in our past; or embody distinctive characteristics of a type or method of construction or representation of a master’s work or possession of high artistic values (architecture); or have potential to yield information important to history or prehistory (archeology).

-- Generally, properties less than 50 years old are not eligible for listing unless they are of “exceptional significance”

-- Properties that the NPS has designated National Historic Landmarks are given special protection. Agencies are required, “to the maximum extent possible,” to minimize harm to a landmark.

- Archaeological Resources Protection Act (ARPA): Protects archaeological sites on Federal land. Archaeological sites are those that are over 100 years old and contain scientific information.

-- Archaeological sites are identified in each installation’s Integrated Cultural Resources Management Plan (ICRMP). To prevent damage, destruction or vandalism, the location of archeological sites should not be disclosed to the general public. This information is exempt from disclosure under FOIA exemption 3. Both ARPA and NHPA permit withholding of this information.

-- Unauthorized excavation is prohibited. The Base Civil Engineer may issue ARPA permits that allow excavation by qualified individuals. While Air Force contractors do not need permits, all contracts should contain ARPA language for protecting archeological resources. Installations must notify any Tribe, in advance, before issuing an ARPA permit allowing excavation of a site of religious or cultural importance to the tribe.
--- Any artifacts recovered remain the property of the government. Artifacts that have historic significance must be properly curated.

--- ARPA does not prohibit the collection of fossils, surface collected arrowheads, rocks, coins, bullets or minerals. However, this does mean individuals have permission to collect these materials on Air Force installations.

Consultation Requirements for NRHP-Eligible Properties

NHPA consultation procedures are set out in 36 CFR Part 800 and AFI 32-7065, Chapter 3. Consultation with SHPOs is generally conducted by the installation cultural resources program manager. Consultation with Indian tribes recognizes tribal sovereignty and is conducted on a government-to-government basis; it must be initiated by the installation commander.

Consultation may be required even for actions that qualify for an EIAP categorical exclusion.

- Consultation is not required when:

  -- The type of action proposed does not have the potential to adversely affect a cultural resource, for example, installing removable shelving units in a building in a way that does not alter the building; or

  -- The action only has the potential to adversely affect cultural resources that the installation and SHPO have agreed, in advance and in writing, are not eligible for listing on the NRHP. This agreement is known as a “consensus determination”; or

  -- The action only has the potential to adversely affect a type of cultural resource on which the Air Force has completed consultation with the ACHP, such as 1950s era Wherry and Capehart housing. This type of consultation is concluded with a “program comment” by the ACHP.

- Consultation is required for all other actions that have the potential to adversely affect cultural resources. Consultation is complete when:

  -- The Air Force and SHPO (and Indian tribe(s) as appropriate) agree that there are no historic properties present, or the proposed action will have no adverse effect on any that are present

  --- A disagreement over whether a particular property is historic is elevated to the “Keeper” of the NRHP (the National Park Service) for a determination

  --- The SHPO has 30 days to review and disagree with an Air Force finding of no adverse effect. These disagreements are elevated to the ACHP for a determination.
-- The Air Force and SHPO (and Indian tribe(s) as appropriate) agree that there will be an adverse effect, and --- If the parties agree on mitigation to resolve the adverse effect, the parties sign a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) or Programmatic Agreement (PA) signed by the Air Force and the consulting parties. This MOA or PA commits the Air Force to taking the mitigation measures specified in the agreement. SAF/IEE must be given the opportunity to review MOAs/PAs before they are signed by the installation commander.

--- If the parties cannot agree on mitigation to resolve the adverse effect, the Air Force terminates consultation and raises the issue to the ACHP for its recommendations. The Air Force generally follows, but is not obligated to follow, ACHP recommendations.

- Consultation must be completed before an Environmental Assessment “Finding of No Significance” (FONSI) or Environmental Impact Statement “Record of Decision” (ROD) is signed

- Failure to consult before implementing the action is termed “foreclosure” because it forecloses on the ACHP’s opportunity to comment on that action. When ACHP believes it may have been foreclosed, it notifies the Air Force (SAF/IEE) and requests information about the consultation. SAF/IEE has 30 days to respond. If ACHP determines that foreclosure has taken place, it makes the determination available to the public and to the consulting parties. Foreclosure will also likely trigger closer ACHP examination of future Air Force actions.

Relations with Indian Tribes

- Federally recognized Indian tribes are domestic dependent sovereigns. The NHPA requires that they be consulted on actions that may affect historic properties on a reservation, or historic properties of cultural and religious significance on or off the installation.

- The Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) gives tribes ownership and control of the disposition of Indian remains, funerary objects, sacred objects, and objects of cultural patrimony found on base or in Air Force possession

-- If human remains or cultural items are unintentionally uncovered during excavation, unless otherwise provided by agreement with the tribe(s) culturally affiliated with the base, stop the activity for 30 days and protect the items. Immediately notify the tribe(s) and begin consultation on their disposition.

- An installation commander must personally initiate contact when consulting with tribes. The installation commander must also meet with Indian tribes at least twice yearly and at other times when consultation is necessary under the NHPA, NAGPRA, or other requirements. Generally, this is not delegated, but may be delegated subject to limitations. Consulting early when an action may significantly affect tribal resources or rights can prevent future violations and maintain positive relationships with tribes.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), American Indian Religious Freedom Act (AIRFA), and Executive Order 13007, Indian Sacred Sites, require Federal agencies to avoid burdening the practice of traditional Indian religious practices.

Installations should grant access to and allow ceremonial use of Indian sacred sites to the maximum extent practicable with military mission, safety and security. Avoid affecting the physical integrity of such sites and maintain confidentiality of their location, where appropriate.

NOISE AND LAND USE

Issues regarding noise pollution and land use have the potential to directly affect the ability of Air Force installations to accomplish their mission and the manner in which that mission is accomplished. Limited noise regulations are established under the Federal Noise Control Act.

FEDERAL NOISE CONTROL ACT (FNCA)

- The FNCA exempts aircraft, military weapons, and equipment designed for combat use from noise regulation under the Act.

- Although the FNCA generally subjects government agencies to state and local noise control regulation, the courts have determined that state and local regulation of aircraft noise is preempted by FAA regulation.

- The FNCA requires the Air Force to comply with state and local noise stationary source regulations to the same extent as any other person.

AIR INSTALLATION COMPATIBLE USE ZONE (AICUZ) PROGRAM

- Local governments ordinarily establish land use regulations. The Air Force supports and encourages local zoning and other land use controls that ensure the base environs, especially private lands adjacent to runways, remain compatible with continued Air Force operations.

- Without proper land use controls, new development near airfields may increase the number of noise complaints and the potential for injuries and damage due to aircraft accidents. Also, changes in operations, e.g., beddown of new aircraft, changes in flight paths, may result in lawsuits by private landowners claiming the Air Force has “taken” their land.

- To assist local governments in establishing suitable land use regulations in the vicinity of the base, the DoD has established the AICUZ program.

- The Air Force develops and provides to local land use planning authorities, land use recommendations designed to ensure continued compatibility between the installation and neighboring civilian communities.

-- The first step in preparing an AICUZ proposal is to identify areas that have a high accident potential or that are affected by high noise levels from aircraft operations from the military airfield.

-- The Air Force uses this information to assess compatibility of land uses with current and projected Air Force operations and to make recommendations to the local zoning authority.
-- The Air Force has no authority to implement the land use recommendations set forth in the AICUZ study or to control or regulate off-base land uses. The Air Force simply presents the proposal to the local zoning officials, which has the authority to approve or reject the Air Force proposal.

-- Presentation of the Air Force AICUZ study requires tact and discretion

-- The installation commander is responsible for ensuring that the AICUZ recommendations are presented to local zoning officials in a professional and persuasive manner. Close coordination between the commander and his/her base comprehensive planner and local zoning officials is essential to educate local land use planners regarding the noise and safety impacts on private lands adjacent to the ends of the runways or in the immediate vicinity of the airfield so that the local authorities will choose to prevent incompatible land uses and avoid inconsistent development from occurring in high noise or accident potential zones.

-- Encroachment upon important training airspace calls for expanding the AICUZ concepts to all critical real property and airspace assets needed to sustain the mission at the installation. These areas may be a distance from the airfield but the surrounding communities are encouraged to assist in maintaining the flying capacity of the installation through prudent land use planning to ward off unnecessary incompatible and conflicting land development. Congress has also provided authorities to acquire property interests where necessary to prevent encroachment upon installation critical assets. (10 U.S.C. § 2684a).

-- Air Force representatives should be particularly careful to avoid threatening the local community with reprisals if the Air Force proposal is not accepted; and Air Force representatives ought not to appear to apply coercion or otherwise have undue influence on the local zoning officials who hold the exclusive authority to develop a comprehensive zoning plan for the community

-- Minimize potential for lawsuits by maintaining close consultation with the SJA

The Clean Air Act (CAA) (42 U.S.C. §§ 7401 to 7671(q)) is one of the most comprehensive and complicated environmental statutes. This guide is intended to be an introduction to the Act. Specific questions or issues should be referred to your staff judge advocate (SJA). Federal facilities, including Air Force installations, are subject to the substantive requirements of the CAA as a result of a waiver of sovereign immunity in the Act.

Air Quality Emissions Limitations

- The primary air pollutants regulated by the CAA are called “criteria pollutants.” Currently, there are six (6) criteria pollutants: Ozone (O\textsubscript{3}), Carbon Monoxide (CO), Sulfur Dioxide (SO\textsubscript{2}), Particulate Matter (PM\textsubscript{10} & PM\textsubscript{2.5}), Lead (Pb), & Nitrogen Oxides (NO\textsubscript{x})

-- The United States is divided into air quality control regions (AQCR) to control these pollutants. AQCRs usually consist of several counties but, depending on the area, it may only be one county or even a portion of a county.

-- For each criteria pollutant, EPA has established a health-based national ambient air quality standard (NAAQS). This standard establishes a bright line between healthy air and polluted air.

-- An AQCR that tests lower than this standard is considered to be in “attainment” for that pollutant. An AQCR that tests over this standard is considered to be in “non-attainment” for that pollutant. Once a nonattainment area reaches the NAAQS, it is considered a “maintenance area” because the area, although now in attainment, is subject to “maintenance plan” requirements for up to 20 years.

State Implementation Plans (SIPs)

- States have primary responsibility for assuring NAAQSs are met within the state

- The states are required to create a planning document, called a state implementation plan (SIP), setting forth the means to achieve or maintain air quality within its AQCRs. States are required to submit SIPs to EPA for approval.

-- Once approved, SIP requirements are enforceable by both the state and the EPA

-- A state’s SIP is required to set forth enforceable emissions limitations and timetables, technological or process changes, monitoring requirements, and an enforcement program

- In “nonattainment” and “maintenance” areas, Federal entities are prohibited from supporting or taking any action that does not conform to a SIP. This requirement is called “general conformity.” The requirement means that before undertaking any action that impacts air quality (e.g., construction activity, weapon system beddingdown, mission realignment, training exercise, etc.) in “nonattainment areas” or “maintenance areas,” an analysis must be conducted to demonstrate that the proposed action will not hinder attainment or maintenance of air quality standards.

New Sources of Air Emissions

- In addition to meeting emissions limits under a state’s SIP, new pollution sources (or major modifications of existing sources that increase pollution emissions) must meet new source performance standards (NSPS) or new source review (NSR) requirements.

- New (or modified) sources must incorporate approved, environmentally safe, equipment to restrict emissions.

- Large new sources are subject to preconstruction review and permitting.

- The nature of the permitting requirement varies depending on whether the new source is a “major” or “minor” source. Determining whether a source is “major” depends on whether the source is in an attainment (clean) or nonattainment (dirty) area and the source’s potential to emit (PTE). The definition and determination of a “major source” also varies upon what program applies. In attainment areas, a major source, for purposes of permitting new or modified sources, is typically one with the PTE up to 250 tons per year (tpy) of any one criteria pollutant per year. In a nonattainment area, PTE as little as 10 tpy may make your source “major” and, thus, require a permit. It is the PTE, not the actual or planned level of emissions that triggers the permit requirement.

Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAPS)

- In addition to the regulation of emissions of criteria pollutants, the Clean Air Act also regulates the emission of HAPs, also referred to as air toxics. These pollutants cause or may cause cancer or other serious health effects, such as reproductive effects or birth defects, or adverse environmental and ecological effects.

- Under the 1990 amendments to the Clean Air Act, 189 specific air toxics are to be regulated. Examples of toxic air pollutants include benzene, which is found in gasoline; perchlorethylene, which is emitted from some missile operations; and methylene chloride, which is used as a solvent and paint stripper by depots and a number of other industrial sources.

- Any stationary source having a potential to emit 10 tpy of a listed HAP or 25 tpy of any combination of HAPs is considered a “major source” subject to regulation, including permits.

- Major HAP sources must install technology that will result in the maximum degree of HAP emission reduction that is achievable. This technology is called maximum available control technology (MACT) standards.
OPERATIONAL PERMITS
- Title V of the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 requires that an operational permit be obtained for any “major” stationary source of a criteria or hazardous air pollutant.

- Title V allows; permit applications, certifications of compliance, emergency reports and required semi-annual emissions reports which must be signed by the wing commander as the “responsible official.” This responsibility cannot be delegated at federal facilities, and the authority cannot be assumed by an “acting” commander in the absence of the wing commander.

- All facilities will have individual state or local permits and these permit requirements must be complied with by the facility. Some states and localities may require that the wing commander sign the individual permits and associated documentation as the “responsible official.” If the wing commander is designated the responsible official by these state or local regulations, then a determination must be made by each facility if these duties are delegable to anyone.

MOBILE SOURCES
- In addition to addressing stationary sources of pollution, e.g., boilers, fueling systems, and heat plants, the Clean Air Act also addresses mobile sources, such as automobiles.

  -- Mobile source controls normally take the form of requirements on manufacturers to meet tailpipe emissions standards (generally not of concern at the installation level), or requirements to use low polluting fuels or clean fuel vehicles (which may apply to installation vehicle purchase or use).

  -- Military aircraft and combat vehicles with weaponry or armor are entitled to application of automatic national security exemptions from tailpipe standards by the manufacturers and case-by-case exemptions are available for other tactical vehicles or equipment (e.g., two-stroke outboard motors for special forces Zodiac boats).

- However, new or modified operational emissions in nonattainment or maintenance areas from these same aircraft, vehicles, and equipment (that are eligible for national security exemptions when manufactured) are subject to the General Conformity requirement discussed above.

STRATOSPHERIC OZONE PROTECTION
- Generally, the Clean Air Act phases out the production of ozone depleting substances. Other laws and regulations regulate the continued use of these substances.

  -- Ozone-depleting substances are still used as fire suppressants, refrigerants, and inerting agents in combat aircraft fuel tanks.
-- Any use, storage, or handling of these substances is highly regulated

- In the absence of adequate substitutes, the EPA is authorized to grant exemptions to the consumption of specific ozone depleting substances

Vehicle Inspection and Maintenance (I/M) Programs
- Some Air Force facilities are located in areas that have vehicle Inspection and Maintenance Programs for automobiles and light trucks

-- Air Force facilities located in I/M areas are required to ensure that employee vehicles operated on the Air Force facility comply with the I/M requirements of the area where the Air Force facility is located, regardless of whether the employee registers the vehicle in the area where the facility is located or some other area

-- Commanders must ensure that employees (active duty and civilian employees) report the I/M compliance status of the employee operated vehicles to the Air Force facility

Enforcement
- Regulators, under the CAA, have all the common environmental enforcement rights—inspections, fines, injunctions, and criminal sanctions

- The CAA also provides for citizen suit rights

- Sovereign Immunity for fines and penalties

-- DoD does pay fines imposed by EPA

-- Presently, it is the position of the Department of Justice that Congress has not waived immunity for payment of fines and penalties imposed by states. DoD does not pay fines to states under the CAA except under limited circumstances, e.g., state-imposed CAA penalties are paid within 6th Circuit due to a Court of Appeals decision.

-- As with all areas of the CAA, please consult your SJA regarding CAA fines

Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 7401–7671q (1990)
Clean Water Act/Safe Drinking Water Act

In general, the Clean Water Act (CWA) (33 U.S.C. §§ 1251 to 1387) regulates discharges of pollutants into the waters of the United States and quality standards for surface waters. The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) (42 U.S.C. §§ 300f to 300j-26) regulates the quality of drinking water. The rights to the use of both surface water and groundwater are generally governed by state law and are not the focus of these acts.

Clean Water Act
- The CWA states that it is unlawful to discharge pollutants from a point source to surface waters without a permit.

- The statute defines “pollutant” very broadly to include almost any man-made addition to a body of water, including dredge and fill activities and pollutants from stormwater that drains from facilities.

  -- The surface waters covered by the Act encompass all “waters of the United States, including the territorial seas,” a definition which includes certain wetlands. But, it does not include “isolated” wetlands, which are not waters of the United States as determined under analysis of Supreme Court decisions. Guidance from EPA and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers continues to evolve on this topic.

  -- The Act regulates discharges from a “point source,” which is defined as “any discernible, confined and discrete conveyance” that discharges or may discharge pollutants.

    --- Examples of point sources are pipes, ditches, tunnels, conduits, wells, containers, rolling stock, and vessels.

    --- This definition excludes two major sources of pollution from the Act’s coverage.

    --- Infiltration of ground water that does not have a distinct hydrological connection with surface water.

    --- Surface runoff that does not come from a point source, e.g., farmland runoff. However, stormwater from construction activities and industrial activities is either directed into a sedimentation pond or presumed to be channeled, e.g., in ditches, which leaves industrial and construction stormwater within the National Pollution Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) program.

- The CWA also mandates that each state develop a plan to reduce nonpoint source pollution that contributes to water quality control problems in the area.
- Under the CWA, there are two primary permitting systems—the Section 404 program, which regulates dredge and fill activities (i.e., activities which disturb wetlands), and the NPDES, which regulates the discharge of other pollutants from wastewater plants and other point sources and which includes the stormwater permit program

NPDES Program (§ 402)
- Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has delegated the authority to administer the NPDES program to most states
- Each state retains the authority to adopt more stringent limitations than those established by EPA
- EPA retains a veto authority over delegated states
- The EPA regional office issues permits in states that have not been delegated authority
- The NPDES program addresses discharge from both traditional point sources, such as sewage treatment plants, and storm water discharges
- The NPDES program regulates two very broad types of dischargers, direct and indirect
  -- Direct: Discharge effluent directly from a facility to surface water. Such discharges will require a permit as discussed above.
  -- Indirect: Discharge to a wastewater treatment works rather than directly into surface water
  -- Though no NPDES permit is required for indirect dischargers, pretreatment of the wastewater may be required before introducing it into a treatment works

Dredge and Fill Activities (§ 404)
- In conjunction with EPA, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers administers a second permit program that regulates dredge and fill activity.
  -- EPA has responsibility for developing guidelines for the Corps to use in specifying disposal sites. The EPA also has authority to limit the use of a disposal site approved by the Corps when the discharge into that area will have an unacceptable adverse impact.
  -- In some circumstances, a state may be delegated primary jurisdiction over dredge and fill permits within its boundaries
  -- There may also be nationwide permits applicable for some minor activities
Clearing and construction in wetlands requires that the Air Force obtain a dredge and fill permit.

Failure to obtain a permit can delay projects; require the Air Force to restore land to its prior natural condition; and/or subject Air Force personnel to criminal liability.

ENFORCEMENT
- The CWA waives sovereign immunity, subjecting federal agencies to state and local regulations.
- The waiver applies to both substantive and procedural requirements, including permits and reasonable service charges, but does not authorize the payment of civil or administrative fines and penalties.

SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT
- The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) (42 U.S.C. §§ 300f-300j-26) sets standards for public water systems (PWS) and prohibits underground injection that endangers drinking water sources.

  -- Standards apply to PWS that have 15 connections or serve 25 people for at least 60 days/year.

  -- The Act exempts from its coverage any PWS that receives all of its water from another PWS that consists only of distribution and storage facilities (and does not have any collection or treatment facilities); that does not “sell” water to any person; and that is not a carrier conveying passengers in interstate commerce.

  -- Many PWS do not qualify for this exemption simply because they engage in minor treatment of their water (e.g., adding chlorine to maintain disinfection levels), or because they “sell” water by virtue of providing it to tenants. The EPA has allowed the regulatory authority to modify the monitoring requirements imposed on such “consecutive PWS.” This matter must be evaluated based on the law and regulations of the permitting authority.

  -- The Act specifies maximum contaminant levels for drinking water as well as treatment, testing and reporting requirements enforceable by states with EPA oversight.

- The 1996 amendments to the Act rewrote the waiver of sovereign immunity. As a result, federal facilities are now subject to punitive civil fines and penalties.

Water Rights

“Water rights” are a type of property right allowing for the diversion of water from its natural state, e.g., pumping it from the ground or transporting it from a stream. (Where we purchase water from a utility, the utility, not the installation, has the water right; utility contracts are thus outside the scope of this discussion.) Like other types of property law, most water rights law is state, not federal law, but federal law water rights are created upon public domain land which has been withdrawn for a specific federal purpose. These “federal reserved rights” will generally be found on western installations, and under most circumstances, are paramount to state rights. Local real estate offices can provide a history of whether a particular installation has parcels of “public domain” lands.

Doctrines
- Most states’ water law is derived from one of two broad doctrines, the Riparian Rights Doctrine, and the Prior Appropriation Doctrine. Several states have hybrid schemes, drawing from both doctrines. Generally, riparian systems are found in the east and the prior appropriation system is found in western states. Washington, Oregon, and California have a combination of the two systems.

  -- The Riparian Rights Doctrine: Assigns the right to divert water from a water source to landowners with land riparian to (bordering or including) the water source. Landowners have analogous “overlying rights” to divert groundwater from sources situated beneath their land.

  -- The Prior Appropriation Doctrine: Assigns the right to divert water (and priorities among water rights holders) on the basis of historical usage, with first-in-time given priority over later uses

  -- The Federal Reserved Rights Doctrine: Is the third doctrine created under federal law pursuant to which land withdrawn from the public domain (in those western states in which all title derives from the Federal government), and reserved for a particular purpose, is entitled to the minimum amount of (previously unallocated) water necessary to fulfill the purpose of the reservation. This doctrine is judicially created by Supreme Court cases. As indicated earlier, these rights, when applicable, are favored, and provide a number of advantages.

Sovereign Immunity
- The key waiver of sovereign immunity with regard to water rights allows the United States to be sued in “general stream adjudications,” i.e., in lawsuits designed to determine the rights of all potential claimants to a source of water. The Air Force has been involved in several major water adjudications in Arizona, Nevada, and Idaho. Water issues continue to be an issue at all major western installations and are also becoming more of an issue for all
Air Force installations as questions related to the need for permits and payment of fees for Air Force water use has increased.

- There is no waiver of sovereign immunity as to the regulation of those water rights which state law provides to the Federal government as of right, e.g., by virtue of being a landowner, nor is there any waiver of sovereign immunity to comply with state water codes. Generally, the Air Force should not pay any fees associated with a state’s efforts to charge the federal government with the privilege of withdrawing water; i.e., water assessment or allocation fees. Small administrative fees which protect Air Force water rights and provide a benefit to the installation may be paid after a determination that fees are appropriate. An example would be to pay an administrative fee to change a point of diversion for a well on an installation that does not have federal reserved rights; to protect the valuable water right under state law. In some instances, it may appropriate as a matter of policy for the Air Force to agree, as a matter of comity, to comply with state water codes to the extent practicable and consistent with fiscal law and sovereign immunity principles.

KEY ISSUE FOR BASES: PRESERVATION OF WATER RIGHTS

- In most prior appropriation states, water rights can be lost inadvertently, as by failing to follow procedures for transferring water rights when closing a well. Federal reserved rights cannot be abandoned as long as the installation is active.

- In many prior appropriation states, where records may be particularly important, bases do not always preserve important records, e.g., records of water usage necessary to establish the right to take water. It is prudent to maintain all water use records.

- As water becomes scarcer in prior appropriation states, new users may deprive installations with established water rights of water if those installations are not vigilant enough to file objections to applications for water rights which could draw down water to which the installation has an existing right. CE should monitor activities with local regulators relating to water sources within the area.

- In many riparian rights states, state and local authorities are eager to tax and to regulate rights which are not subject to any waiver of sovereign immunity as to taxation or regulation. Some bases have mistakenly paid these taxes. Questions regarding payment of water fees should be directed to the SJA.
SOLID AND HAZARDOUS WASTES

The Solid Waste Disposal Act (SWDA) (aka the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA)) imposes requirements for the management of hazardous wastes (HW) and non-hazardous solid wastes. The Act also provides for regulation of underground storage tanks (USTs).

HAZARDOUS WASTE MANAGEMENT: SUBTITLE C

- RCRA imposes comprehensive requirements on those who generate, transport, treat, store, or dispose of HW. Every Air Force installation generates HW and many have a RCRA permit regulating the treatment, storage, and/or disposal of HW.

STATE PROGRAMS

- RCRA is predominantly a program run by the individual States. EPA retains independent enforcement jurisdiction, even in those States where overall program authority has been delegated. An individual state program must be at least as stringent as the federal program and may be more stringent. Consult with JA if questions arise as to the limits that exist, if any, when a State is enforcing RCRA requirements.

- RCRA hazardous wastes are solid wastes that are specifically listed as hazardous waste in the Code of Federal Regulations (C.F.R.) or solid wastes that exhibit a hazardous characteristic (ignitability, corrosivity, reactivity, or toxicity). The Act excludes certain categories of waste from its coverage.

- Although used oil destined for disposal or recycling is not a listed HW, RCRA imposes management requirements for used oil from generation to reuse or disposal. Used oil that exhibits a hazardous characteristic and is not recyclable must be managed as HW. Also, be aware that if used oil is mixed with PCBs, the oil is managed under the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA) not RCRA. Avoid this type of mixing on your facility. You want to be under RCRA not TSCA.

- RCRA creates a system that regulates and tracks HW from “cradle-to-grave”

  -- RCRA sets strict requirements for accumulating, storing, transporting and disposing of wastes. RCRA also regulates personnel training, facility equipment (e.g., process tanks), inspections (e.g., both frequency and type), and emergency response planning. Most of these requirements must be documented in a written paper or electronic record and the records kept available for inspection (e.g., transport manifests must be kept for a minimum of 3 years).

  -- HW may only be accumulated in accordance with specific requirements. Containers must be properly marked, closed, and kept secure from unauthorized access or tampering.
An initial accumulation point (aka “satellite point”) is a designated location at or near the point of generation of HW. At this location, waste cannot exceed 55 gallons of HW or one quart of acutely hazardous waste. Once the limit is exceeded, the container must be moved to an accumulation site or permitted TSD facility within three days.

An accumulation site is used to temporarily store hazardous wastes until they are shipped to a Treatment, Storage and Disposal (TSD) facility. For those generating large quantities of hazardous waste, the waste may be retained at an accumulation site for up to 90 days for large quantity generators. For small quantity generators (defined by the Act and regulations), waste may be stored longer.

HW is tracked by a manifest initiated by the generator. When waste is transferred to permitted entities that transport, treat, store or dispose of it, the uniform hazardous waste manifest is annotated to show that it passed into their possession and was properly managed.

Transporters must properly label HW and deliver it to a designated TSD facility and must comply with Department of Transportation (DOT) requirements for containers, labeling, placarding of vehicles, and spill response.

Installations must develop a hazardous waste management plan (HWMP). The HWMP incorporates a waste analysis plan, which is the primary document used to identify all waste streams generated at the installation.

Solid Waste: RCRA, Subtitle D
- The Act establishes minimum requirements for controlling and monitoring solid waste disposal. States are given responsibility for the regulation of nonhazardous (municipal) solid wastes.

- Municipal solid waste includes containers and packaging, food scraps, and yard trimmings. It does not include medical and hazardous wastes, construction and demolition debris, municipal sludge, and ash from power plants and incinerators.

Underground Storage Tanks (USTs): RCRA, Subtitle I
- The Act covers tanks, including connecting underground pipes, when ten percent or more of the volume of the tank and its underground pipes are beneath the surface of the ground.

- Tanks that meet this definition are covered if they contain a regulated substance. This includes any hazardous substance (defined under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA)) or petroleum or substances that are derived from crude oil. Tanks containing HW are regulated under Subtitle C.
- Existing tanks must be brought up to specified performance standards or closed. If a tank has a release, owners and/or operators must take corrective action, including cleaning up the area around the tank. New tanks must meet specified standards, and the appropriate regulatory agency must be notified before a new tank is installed.

- Waivers of sovereign immunity in RCRA require federal facilities to comply with state promulgated substantive and procedural requirements. Congress recently amended the UST provision of RCRA to affect a similar waiver of sovereign immunity. Generally speaking local or municipal ordinances mandating certain waste disposal practices will not apply to the federal government under the waiver of sovereign immunity set forth in RCRA. However, Air Force policy is to comply with such requirements when possible if such compliance is determined to be a valid obligation of appropriated funds and funds are otherwise available after all mandatory requirements are funded.

Pollution Prevention Program

- It is DoD policy to reduce the use of hazardous material, the generation or release of pollutants, and the adverse effects on human health and the environment caused by DoD activities.

  -- The Air Force manages to reduce use of hazardous materials and the release of pollutants into the environment in the following hierarchy of actions:

    --- Reduce/eliminate dependence on hazardous materials and reduce waste streams

    --- Reclaim generated waste for reuse whenever possible

    --- Recycle waste which cannot be reclaimed whenever possible

    --- Employ treatment if properly permitted to do so

    --- Dispose or release pollutants into the environment only as a last resort and, then, only if such disposal or release is authorized by applicable statute or regulation

  -- Major commands establish procedures to ensure installations develop and execute pollution prevention management plans. Plans must contain management strategies for ozone depleting chemicals, EPA 17 industrial toxics, hazardous waste, municipal solid waste, affirmative procurement of environmentally friendly products, energy conservation, and air and water pollutant reduction.

  -- Installations must conduct opportunity assessments on a recurring basis for all pollutant sources. The assessment examines the total waste generation by type and volume of content and determines the most economical and practical option for reduction.
The Military Commander and the Law

FEDERAL PROCUREMENT, RCRA SUBTITLE F
- RCRA Section 6002 and Executive Order 13101 require federal agencies to establish an affirmative procurement program (also known as the green procurement program)

  -- The EPA designates which items are or can be produced with recovered materials, such as paper, retread tires, building insulation, cement/concrete containing fly ash, and re-refined oils

  -- Federal agencies must procure these designated items composed of the highest percentage of recovered material practicable, unless they are not reasonably available, fail to meet performance standards, or are available only at an unreasonable price

  --- Procurement not limited to contracting activities, but also includes Government Purchase Card (GPC) card purchases

  --- Installations must train all Air Force personnel on the federal procurement requirements

  -- The EPA is required to evaluate the federal agency’s compliance with RCRA Section 6002 and EPA guidance when conducting RCRA inspections. Although the EPA has no enforcement authority, it can issue a notice of violation for noncompliance with RCRA Section 6002 or the EPA guidance.

CONTROL OF TOXIC SUBSTANCES

- The Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA) (15 U.S.C. §§ 2601-92) regulates the manufacture, processing, and distribution of chemicals that pose unreasonable risk of injury to human health or the environment.

- Authorizes EPA to screen existing and new chemicals to identify potentially dangerous products or uses. The EPA can take action ranging from banning the production, import, and use of a chemical to requiring that a product bear a warning label.

POLYCHLORINATED BIPHENYLs (PCBs)
- Prohibits manufacturing and distribution of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs)

  -- PCBs were common components in hydraulic fluids, lubricants, insecticides, and heat transfer fluids and were used in electrical equipment (e.g., transformers, capacitors)

  -- Old transformers and capacitors containing PCBs may be found on installations, as might PCB-contaminated soil. Other sources of PCBs or PCB contamination may be past insecticide spraying, ceiling tile coatings, and certain painted surfaces.

  -- Consistent with Air Force Policy and TSCA, installations focus on PCB elimination

  -- Care should be taken to ensure installation personnel are trained to avoid mixing normal used oil and oil containing PCBs. Managing PCB imbued oil under TSCA is far more expensive than managing used oil under RCRA.

ASBESTOS
- TSCA also regulates asbestos

  -- Asbestos was widely used in thousands of products because it is strong, flexible, will not burn, insulates effectively, and resists corrosion (e.g., floor tiles, insulation, or sealants)

  -- The inhalation or ingestion of asbestos fibers can cause disabling or fatal diseases

  -- Regulatory requirements cover, among many things, remediation of asbestos hazards, implementation of proper work practices, and training in proper handling

  -- Installations are most likely to encounter asbestos when maintaining, repairing, renovating, or demolishing buildings or utilities

  --- TSCA mandates specific requirements pertaining to worker training and certifications and site preparation for renovation projects in building that may contain asbestos containing material (ACM)
Asbestos is also regulated by other statutes, including the Clean Air Act and the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Air Force manages asbestos to reduce exposure to airborne asbestos fibers.

Radon
- TSCA also requires studies of federal buildings to determine the extent of indoor radon contamination. The Act does not require monitoring or abatement of radon.

  - Radon is a naturally-occurring radioactive gas that may be found in drinking water and indoor air.
  - Radon in soil under homes is the biggest source of radon in indoor air, which presents serious health risks, including cancer.
  - In 1999, the EPA proposed a rule to reduce radon in drinking water. Although public comment was complete in 2000, the rule has not yet been adopted (see http://www.epa.gov/ogwdw/radon/proposal.html).

Lead-Based Paint
- TSCA also addresses lead hazards, including requirements for the identification, reduction, disclosure, and management of lead-based paint.

  - Lead, especially lead-based paint (LBP), is a major concern on installations. LBP was commonly used on many buildings prior to 1950, including military family housing. Lead-contaminated soil and dust are also a problem. The base must address lead hazards during maintenance, repair, renovation, and demolition of buildings.
  - Lead hazards are also an important issue when property is transferred or sold.
  - Lead exposure can cause serious health effects, particularly in children.
  - TSCA seeks to reduce the lead hazard to young children by focusing on child-occupied facilities and “target housing” (housing built before 1978).
  - Although TSCA does not contain a general waiver of sovereign immunity, the waiver for LBP is extensive, requiring DoD to comply with federal, state, and local requirements.
  - EPA and DoD have agreed that lead-contaminated soil outside a housing unit will be governed by TSCA and its implementing regulations rather than CERCLA.
  - DoD policy requires military installations to comply with the disclosure regulations related to LBP in military family housing.

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW OVERSEAS

Environmental requirements for U.S. forces stationed at DoD installations outside the United States (U.S.) and U.S. territories (i.e., in foreign countries; overseas) are governed by the requirements of: (1) international treaties and agreements; (2) the few United States laws that have extraterritorial application; and (3) DoD, geographic combatant command (GCC), and service policy.

TREATIES, STATUS OF FORCES AGREEMENTS (SOFAs), AND INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS
- Can be ambiguous as to applicable standards since many were drafted prior to development of specific environmental laws in the 1970s and 1980s
- SOFAs and supplemental agreements
  -- The 1993 Supplementary Agreement with Germany contains several provisions that the United States is obligated to observe
  -- The U.S./South Korea SOFA includes provisions that address environmental protection
- The Basel Convention, which governs trans-boundary movement of hazardous wastes (HW), affects the Air Force operations even though the United States has signed but not ratified the treaty
  -- Limits waste-handling options in countries with inadequate disposal facilities
  -- The Environmental Modification Convention prohibits U.S. forces from using certain environmental modification techniques to harm other Convention member countries

U.S. LAWS
- Generally do not have extraterritorial application unless expressly stated
- The National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) has limited overseas application, e.g., where a sovereign country does not assert jurisdiction
- Some laws have extraterritorial application, such as portions of the National Historic Preservation Act

EXECUTIVE ORDERS
- Executive Order (E.O.) 12088 directed compliance with host nation environmental pollution control standards of general applicability
- E.O. 12114, as implemented by DoDD 6050.7, requires federal Executive Branch agencies implement regulations that require consideration of environmental impacts
When making decisions about certain federal actions that will significantly affect the environment of a foreign country or geographic area outside the jurisdiction of any nation. Such as the oceans outside territorial limits and Antarctica.

E.O. 11850 prohibits U.S. forces from using any riot control agents and chemical herbicides in war as a method of warfare without prior Presidential approval.

DoD, GCC, and Air Force Guidance

- DoDI 4715.05 implements E.O. 12088 and prescribes overseas compliance rules for environmental programs at enduring installations.

  -- Designates DoD Lead Environmental Components (LECs) for countries where DoD installations are located.

  -- Directs establishment and maintenance of the Overseas Environmental Baseline Guidance Document (OEBGD) to establish a minimum environmental protection standard at overseas installations.

  --- Set of objective standards and management practices designed to protect human health and the environment.

  --- Reflects generally accepted environmental protection standards that apply to DoD installations and actions in the U.S.

  --- Provides the foundation for development of country-specific Final Governing Standards (FGS) for countries where DoD installations are located and the level of DoD presence justifies establishment of country-specific standards.

  --- Provides environmental compliance, conservation, and spill response requirements where no FGS have been established.

- Requires DoD LECs develop country-specific final governing standards (FGS).

  -- An FGS is a comprehensive set of substantive provisions (e.g., technical limits on discharges) and specific management practices (e.g., training, record keeping) applicable to DoD installations in a specific country.

  -- DoD LEC develops FGS in consultation with representatives of DoD Components that operate in the country.

  -- Results from comparison of host nation environmental standards, international agreement requirements, and OEBGD rules. To be included in the comparison, host nation... standards must be adequately defined, generally in effect and enforced against host nation government and private sector activities.

-- Normally, standards that provide more protection to human health and the environment become part of FGS

-- Exceptions to FGS requirements available if compliance at installation would seriously impair operations, adversely affect relations with host nation, or require substantial expenditure of funds for physical improvements at an installation that has been identified for closure or a realignment that would remove the requirement

- DoDD 6050.7 implements E.O. 12114 and specifies two different environmental impact analysis and documentation standards

  -- One applies to proposed actions that do significant harm to environment of global commons. The document required by this standard is an Environmental Impact Statement.

    --- The global commons are geographic areas outside the jurisdiction of any nation (e.g., oceans outside territorial limits, Antarctica)

  -- Other applies to proposed actions that do significant harm to environment of foreign nation or protected global resource. The documents required by this standard are Environmental Reviews and Environmental Studies.

    -- The documents the DoDD requires be prepared are similar to, but not the same as, the Environmental Assessments and Environmental Impact Statements prepared by bases located in the U.S. bases to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. 4321-4370f

- DoDI 4715.08 specifies DoD’s overseas cleanup policy

  -- Applies to remediation of contamination on DoD installations or facilities located overseas

    --- “Installation” is an enduring location consisting of a base, camp, station, or other DoD activity under the operational control of DoD or a DoD Component

    --- “Enduring location” is a location DoD intends to maintain access and use of for the foreseeable future
-- Requires DoD Components to take prompt action to address environmental contamination from DoD activities that causes a substantial impact to human health and safety (SIHS)

--- Substantial impact” is a level of exposure that (1) is occurring now or will occur within the next 3 to 5 years, and (2) exceeds a generally established, published, and applied federal standard in the United States

--- Duty is limited to reducing health and safety risk so the contamination no longer poses a substantial impact; it is also subject to availability of funds

-- Requires compliance with applicable international agreements, which might require DoD Components to remediate environmental contamination when the DoD Instruction would not otherwise require remediation

-- However, specifically prohibits remediation of contamination outside a DoD installation beyond that required by an applicable international agreement

-- Allows (but does not require) remediation when not otherwise authorized by the DoDI (e.g., to address SIHS, required by applicable international agreement) if extraordinary circumstances exist

-- USD(AT&L) is approval authority. DoD Component submits approval request to the geographic combatant commander (GCC). If the GCC concurs with the request, GCC submits it through the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (CJCS) and DUSD(I&E) to USD(AT&L)

-- For spills and underground storage tanks (UST) leaks from current operations, FGS or OEBGD (in countries where there is no FGS) specifies immediate response measures

- DoDI 4715.19 governs use of open-air burn pits during contingency operations

-- Generally prohibits use of open-air burn pits except as a short-term solution where no other alternative is feasible

--- Use not authorized except in accordance with pre-approved solid waste management plan

-- Limits what wastes can be disposed of through open burning

-- Requires COCOM to decide when no alternative disposal method, other than open-air burn pit, is feasible
-- Requires notice to Congress whenever COCOM determines open-air burn pit is only feasible disposal method

-- De minimis exception

--- Does not apply at small locations (<100 personnel)

--- Does not apply to temporary burn operations (≤90 days)

- GCC, Service, and Service major command policy can implement, interpret, and/or supplement DoDDs and DoDIs, but cannot conflict or replace the DoD policy

-- AFI 32-7001 implements aspects of DoDI 4715.05

-- 32 CFR 989.37 and 989.38 implement 32 CFR 187/DoDD 6050.7

-- AFI 32-7047, 90-801, and 90-803 apply to overseas installations; other AFIs contain provisions that apply overseas

Utility Law

The managing, supplying, purchasing, and selling of utility services on Air Force installations has become an area of increasing importance. As much as 10 percent to 20 percent of an installation's operating budget (O&M funds) are spent on various utility services every year. The highly specialized nature of utility law issues led to the creation of a Utility Law Field Support Center (ULFSC) which is co-located with the Air Force Civil Engineer Center Energy Directorate (AFCEC/CN) at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida. The ULFSC’s mission is to assist installations and commanders with utility law issues and to represent the consumer interests of the Federal Government in proceedings before public service commissions to ensure that installations receive reliable utility services at the lowest overall cost.

DoD and Air Force Guidance

- Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) Part 41, Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) Part 241, and AFI 32-1061 are the primary authorities that govern the acquisition and management of utility services at Air Force installations.

  -- FAR Part 41 defines “utility services” as “the furnishing of electricity, natural or manufactured gas, water, sewage, thermal energy, chilled water, steam, hot water, or high temperature hot water.” Cable television or telephone communication services are not considered utilities for purposes of the FAR.

  -- AFI 32-1061 requires that installations promptly notify the AFCEC/CN and the ULFSC of a proposed utility rate change that will result in an annual increase of more than $300,000 a year for electric and gas service or more than $200,000 a year for water or service

Conservation and Renewable Energy Projects

- Renewable energy (RE) projects can be an effective way for installations to lower energy costs and comply with federal energy conservation goals. However they can be highly complex.

- Commanders and lawyers should contact the ULFSC if they have questions regarding renewable energy projects especially Energy Service Performance Contracts (ESPCs), Utility Energy Service Contracts (UESCs), Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs), and Enhanced Use Leases (EULs)

Assistance

- Commanders or lawyers with utility law issues are encouraged to contact the ULFSC directly at DSN 523-6347 or (850) 283-6347. The AFCEC reachback support center is also available 24 hours at DSN 523-6995, (850) 283-6995, or toll free 1-888-232-3721.

Introduction to Operations Law

Air Force operations are conducted in accordance with U.S. and international law, to include the laws of armed conflict (LOAC). As a nation dedicated to the rule of law, this proposition is self-evident to commanders and Airman. Compliance with the rule of law is not only an end in and of itself, however, it is also a strategic and operational imperative. Failure to comply with the law undermines the legitimacy of U.S. military operations (e.g., Abu Ghraib abuses) and can result in mission failure. Commanders must increasingly understand the relationship between adherence to the law, and the achievement of operational objectives. The following provides an overview of operations law and the role of judge advocates as operations law advisors. This discussion establishes the foundation for the remaining sections in this chapter.

Operations Law Defined

- Operations law is defined as “[t]he domestic, foreign and international law associated with the planning and execution of military operations in peacetime or hostilities…[it] is the application of law to a specific mission of the supported Air Force unit.” AFI 51-108, The Judge Advocate General’s Corps Structure, Deployment, and Operational Support (9 October 2014).

- Topics normally associated with operations law include legal bases for the use of force, LOAC, rules of engagement (ROE), and international agreements. However, as the definition within AFI 51-108- makes clear, operations law encompasses any area of the law impacting a commander’s ability to plan and successfully execute his or her unit’s mission, such as contract and fiscal law, and military justice).

Role of Judge Advocates

- Regardless of formal duty title, all judge advocates practice operations law on a daily basis. Operations law attorneys are mission-focused and provide commanders with options and recommendations to enable mission accomplishment. Operations law is a mindset as much as an area of practice.

- A common misconception is that judge advocates practice operations law only when deployed overseas. This is untrue. Judge advocates have always provided crucial legal support to command during domestic operations, and the 9/11 attacks, Hurricane Katrina, and the standup of USNORTHCOM have only increased the need for judge advocates to provide such support. This is in no small part due to the fact that military operations in the homeland can be politically and legally complex. Successful commanders are those who demand close coordination with their servicing SJA.

- Technological, doctrinal, and organizational innovations have also given rise to geographically distributed operations controlled from the U.S. (e.g., remotely piloted aircraft operations and cyber operations). Installation commanders and their SJAs must ensure sufficient legal support is available for these operations.
One key to success for commanders is to ensure judge advocates are thoroughly integrated into unit planning and execution of military operations.

International Law and International Agreements

International law consists of rules and principles dealing with the conduct of nations (often referred to as “states”) and international organizations in their relations with individuals, other international organizations, or other states. (Restatement (third) of the foreign relations law of the US, Section 101)

Two Main Forms of International Law: International Agreements and Customary Law

International Agreements: A broad category of mostly written, but sometimes oral, agreements entered into by authorized representatives of the parties to the agreement, with each party being either a state or a recognized international organization. In very limited and specific circumstances, Air Force commanders may have authority to negotiate and conclude international agreements IAW AFI 51-701, Negotiating, Concluding, Reporting, and Maintaining International Agreements.

-- The parties in essence enter into commitments involving the subject matter of the agreement, and agree that international law shall govern the terms of the agreement.

-- International agreements are called by many names, to include treaty, convention, covenant, pact, protocol, status of forces agreement (SOFA), executive agreement, memorandum of understanding (MOU), memorandum of agreement (MOA), etc. Whatever their designation, all such agreements have the same status under international law.

-- International agreements to which the United States is a party are part of U.S. law, equivalent in authority to a federal statute, if its provisions are deemed self-executing or have been implemented by other federal legislation.

-- Some well-known or common examples of international agreements:

--- United Nations Charter

--- Geneva Conventions

--- NATO SOFA

--- Outer Space Treaty

--- Chicago convention
Customary Law: Is that form of international law resulting from the general and consistent practice of nations which they follow due to a sense of legal obligation. This would not include practices that states generally follow but feel legally free to disregard. In determining whether a state considers a practice or custom to be customary law, positive evidence must exist that the state (1) considers itself legally obligated to follow the practice or custom, and (2) actually follows the practice or custom.

-- Customary law is also called international custom and customary international law. The Supreme Court has ruled that customary international law is part of U.S. law, as long as it does not conflict with a pre-existing Federal executive or legislative act.

-- Customary law may take centuries to evolve, or it may be formed very quickly. Examples include:

--- Outer Space Overflight: The customary law which states that a nation’s space vehicles may pass over the territory of other nations while in outer space without seeking prior consent became recognized as customary law within a few years of Sputnik’s 1957 flight. This principle was ultimately incorporated into the 1967 Outer Space Treaty.

--- Law of Aerial Warfare: Applies customary principles of LOAC (e.g., necessity, distinction, and proportionality) to the distinctive aspects of aerial warfare. The law also includes more specific customary rules relating to interception, diversion, search, and capture of enemy and neutral aircraft during armed conflict.

--- Law of the Sea: Although the U.S. is not a party to the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea, it considers the Convention’s provisions on freedom of navigation and overflight as reflecting customary international law.

International Agreements in the United States Air Force

- AFI 51-701 generally regulates this area for all Air Force personnel

-- Air Force individuals seeking to negotiate and conclude international agreements must first secure approval from the Secretary of the Air Force or designee, and may only negotiate and conclude international agreements on matters within their authority and responsibility

-- With this firmly in mind, be careful that your own words or conduct do not lead your foreign counterpart to believe that YOU are entering into an international agreement

-- This can occasionally be challenging, as the definition of an international agreement is fairly broad. Under AFI 51-701, an international agreement is any agreement concluded with one or more foreign governments (including their agencies, instrumentalities, or political subdivisions) or with international organizations, that:

--- Is signed or agreed to (oral agreements can be binding), by personnel of any DoD Component, or by representatives of the Department of State, or from other departments or agencies of the U.S. Government

--- Signifies the intention of the parties to be bound in international law, and

--- Is denominated as an international agreement or as a memorandum of understanding, memorandum of agreement, memorandum of arrangements, exchange of notes, exchange of letters, technical arrangement, protocol, note verbale, aide-memoire, agreed minute, plan, contract, arrangement, statement of intent, letter of intent, statement of understanding, standard operating procedure, CONPLAN, or any other name connoting a similar legal consequence

-- The definition of “negotiation” is similarly broad under AFI 51-701, attachment 1

--- Communication by any means of a position or offer

--- On behalf of the United States, DoD, or of any officer or organizational element thereof

--- To an agent or representative of a foreign government

--- In such detail that acceptance would result in an international agreement

-- Bottom Line: Don’t do anything that might be construed as a negotiation unless you have received advance authority

--- Commanders do not have any independent power to negotiate international agreements. Any power to do so arises from a delegation of the President’s executive power. There must be a specific grant of authority delegated to the commander to permit the making of such an agreement.

--- AFI 51-701, para. 2: “Air Force personnel will not make any unilateral commitment to any foreign government or international organization (either orally or in writing), tender to a prospective party thereto any draft of a proposed international agreement, nor initial or sign an international agreement, before obtaining the concurrence of either, or the responsible staff judge advocate as set forth below”

The Law of Armed Conflict (LOAC)

One of the most critical subjects for today’s military is the law of armed conflict (LOAC), also known as the law of war or international humanitarian law. As recent events have taught us, we cannot assume that every Airman is fully aware of all his or her rights and responsibilities under the law of armed conflict. Now more than ever, in the myriad of operational situations in which Air Force units are involved, commanders must ensure their personnel are trained and comply with the LOAC.

What is LOAC?
- LOAC is the part of domestic and international law that regulates the conduct of armed hostilities. LOAC encompasses all international law for the conduct of hostilities binding on the United States or its individual citizens, including treaties and international agreements to which the United States is a party, domestic law implementing those treaties and applicable customary international law. AFI 51-401 (2011).

- LOAC has two main sources: (1) Customary international law arising out of the conduct of nations during hostilities, which is binding upon all nations; and (2) treaty law arising from international agreements, which is only binding upon those nations that are parties to the pertinent agreements.

- LOAC treaty law is generally divided into two overlapping areas: (1) Geneva Law (named for treaty negotiations held over the years at Geneva, Switzerland) and (2) Hague Law (named for treaty negotiations held over the years at The Hague, Netherlands).

--- Geneva Law: Is concerned with protecting persons involved in conflicts (wounded and sick; wounded, sick and shipwrecked at sea; POWs; civilians)

--- Hague Law: Is concerned mainly with the means and methods of warfare (e.g., lawful and unlawful weapons, targeting)

Purposes of LOAC
- Protecting combatants, noncombatants, and civilians from unnecessary suffering

- Providing certain fundamental protections for persons who fall into the hands of the enemy, particularly prisoners of war, civilians, and military wounded, sick, and shipwrecked

- Facilitating the restoration of peace

- Assisting military commanders in ensuring the disciplined and efficient use of military force

- Preserving the professionalism and humanity of combatants
Geneva Law

- The four 1949 Geneva Conventions, consisting of:

  -- The Geneva Convention for the amelioration of the condition of the wounded and sick in armed forces in the field (GC I)

  -- The Geneva Convention for the amelioration of the condition of wounded, sick and shipwrecked members of armed forces at sea (GC II)

  -- The Geneva Convention relative to the treatment of prisoners of war (GC III); and

  -- The Geneva Convention relative to the protection of civilian persons in time of war (GC IV),

- The two 1977 additional protocols to the Geneva Conventions. The United States is not a state party to either additional protocol I (API) or additional protocol II (APII). However, the United States does consider much of what is contained within these two additional protocols to be customary international law. This section contains API provisions, some with necessary clarification or explanation, where those provisions have been determined to be customary international law or consistent with U.S. practice.

  -- Protocol I (International ARMED Conflicts)

  -- Protocol II (Non-International ARMED Conflicts)

Hague Law

- The Hague Peace Conferences of 1899 and 1907 resulted in the Hague Conventions of 1907; those conventions are concerned mainly with the means and methods of warfare (e.g., lawful and unlawful weapons, targeting)

- Efforts in 1922-1923 to create the Hague Rules of Air Warfare resulted in draft rules that never took effect, but are today viewed as reflecting, if not customary law, at least guidelines for proper conduct

- Other Notable Hague Conventions

  -- Declaration concerning Expanding Bullets (1899)

  --- Although many in the international community, including some of our closest allies consider the use of expanding bullets to be illegal, our position is that they are legal as long as they are not used in a way calculated to cause superfluous injury

BASIC LEGAL PRINCIPLES OF LOAC
- Military Necessity

-- Definition: Permits the application of that degree and kind of force, not otherwise prohibited by the laws of armed conflicts, that is required in order to achieve the partial or complete submission of the enemy at the earliest possible moment with the minimum expenditure of life, and physical resources

-- The principle of military necessity permits attacks on military objectives, i.e., any objects which by their nature, location, purpose, or use make an effective contribution to military action and whose total or partial destruction, capture, or neutralization, in the circumstances ruling at the time, offers a definite military advantage. Examples include troops, bases, supplies, lines of communications, and headquarters.

- Distinction

-- Definition: Obliges parties to a conflict to distinguish between the civilian population and combatant forces, and between unprotected and protected objects

-- Military force may be directed only against military objectives, and not against civilian objects

--- Civilian objects are such objects as places of worship, schools, hospitals, and dwellings

--- Civilians can lose their protected status if they directly participate in hostilities. Civilian objects can lose their protected status if they are used for a military purpose, such as to shield military personnel and objectives

--- Attacks may not be directed against civilians or civilian objects based on merely hypothetical or speculative considerations regarding their possible current status as a military objective. In case of doubt whether a civilian is directly participating in hostilities or whether a civilian object is being used for a military purpose, commanders must reach a conclusion in good faith based on the information available to them in light of the circumstances ruling at the time.

-- Application of the principle of distinction to military operations is understood to prohibit the following types of actions:

--- Intentional attack of persons hors de combat
--- Directing force against civilian objects rather than military objectives

--- Deliberately attacking civilians not taking a direct part in hostilities

However, a defender has an obligation to separate civilians and civilian objects (either in the defender’s country or in an occupied area) from military objectives. Failure to separate them may lead to a loss of their protected status.

- Proportionality

--- Definition: The loss of civilian life and damage to civilian property incidental to attacks must not be excessive in relation to the concrete and direct military advantage expected to be gained. Thus, those who plan military operations must take into consideration the extent of civilian destruction and probable casualties that will result and, to the extent consistent with the necessities of the military situation, seek to avoid or minimize such casualties and destruction.

--- The concept does not apply to military facilities and forces, which are legitimate targets anywhere and anytime. However, individual military personnel may be in a protected status (e.g., chaplains, medics, wounded, sick, shipwrecked at sea, surrendering, or aircrews parachuting from disabled aircraft).

--- Attackers must take feasible precautions to reduce the risk of harm to the civilian population and other protected persons and objects. Feasible precautions are those that are practicable or practically possible, taking into account all circumstances ruling at the time, including humanitarian and military considerations. For example, if a commander determines that taking a precaution would result in a risk of failing to accomplish the mission or an increased risk of harm to their own forces, then the precaution would not be feasible and would not be required.

- Humanity

--- Definition: This principle FORBIDS the infliction of suffering, injury, or destruction not actually necessary for the accomplishment of legitimate military purposes.

--- Relevant Hague Regulations provisions:

--- “The right of belligerents to adopt means of injuring the enemy is not unlimited” (Article 22)

--- “In addition to the prohibitions provided by special Conventions, it is especially forbidden
--- To employ poison or poisoned weapons

--- To kill or wound treacherously individuals belonging to the hostile nation or army

--- To employ arms, projectiles, or material calculated to cause unnecessary suffering” (Article 23)

--- Examples of lawful weapons:

--- Incendiary weapons (but see below)

--- Fragmentation weapons and cluster bombs (CBUs)

--- Nuclear weapons (but some international treaties forbid placement in certain areas—outer space, ocean seabeds, Antarctica, certain countries or regions)

--- Shotguns (but must have hardened [also called “chilled”] shot) and silencers

--- Landmines (but see below)

--- Examples of unlawful weapons:

--- Poisons or poisoned weapons

--- Any weapon the primary effect of which is to injure by fragments that, in the human body, escape detection by X-rays

--- Indiscriminate weapons

--- Biological and bacteriological weapons

--- Weapons incapable of being controlled

--- Chemical weapons (but see below)

--- Even lawful weapons may be used unlawfully. Examples: rifles to shoot POWs, strafing civilians, or firing on shipwrecked mariners or on aircrew parachuting out of a downed aircraft.
- Chivalry

-- This principle (also called honor) addresses the waging of war in accord with well-recognized formalities and courtesies, requiring a certain amount of fairness in offense and defense and a certain mutual respect between opposing forces

-- It permits lawful ruses, such as camouflage, false radio signals, and mock troop movements

-- It forbids treacherous acts (perfidy). These involve misuse of internationally recognized symbols or status to take unfair advantage of the enemy, such as false surrenders, placing anti-aircraft artillery in hospitals, and misuse of the red cross, red crystal, or the red crescent.

- Other Significant Treaties

-- Conventional Weapons Convention of 1980

--- Incendiary Weapons: Are legal; however, Protocol III to the Certain Conventional Weapons Convention places restrictions upon their use in certain instances, such as in urban areas where there are concentrations of civilians

--- Land Mines: Are addressed by the Certain Conventional Weapons Convention, Protocol II. It primarily concerns marking minefields (including air-delivered mines) and removing mines at the end of a conflict. The United States and a number of other countries amended the Protocol in 1996 to require anti-personnel land mines (APLs) outside marked minefields to self-detonate within a limited time and to forbid non-detectable APLs. The Ottawa Convention (which became effective as of 16 March 1999) bans all anti-personnel land mines. The U.S. declined to sign the treaty.

--- Blinding Lasers: Are addressed by Protocol IV of the Convention. The Protocol is in effect for the United States. It prohibits only the use of lasers that are specifically designed to cause permanent blindness to unenhanced vision.

--- The Convention on Cluster Munitions (CCM) is an international treaty that addresses the humanitarian consequences and unacceptable harm to civilians caused by cluster munitions, through a categorical prohibition and a framework for action. The Convention prohibits all use, production, transfer and stockpiling of cluster munitions. In addition, it establishes a framework for cooperation and assistance to ensure adequate care and rehabilitation to survivors and their communities, clearance of contaminated areas, risk reduction education and destruction of stockpiles. The United States is not a party to this convention.
--- The 1993 Chemical Weapons Convention, was ratified by the U.S. and became effective in April 1997. It outlaws use of chemical weapons, including in self-defense. The Convention also bans the use of riot control agents “as a method of warfare.” The 1993 Convention does not regulate “law enforcement including domestic riot control purposes.” The 1993 Convention complements, but does not replace, the 1925 Geneva Gas Protocol. The 1925 Protocol allowed state parties to issue reservations preserving their right to use chemical weapons in response to a “first use” against them; the 1993 Convention does not permit such a reservation.

RULES OF ENGAGEMENT

The Secretary of Defense (SecDef) approves rules of engagement or rules for the use of force to establish policies and provide guidance governing the actions to be taken by U.S. commanders and their forces during military operations and routine functions. For U.S. forces the applicable rules will be either the Standing Rules of Engagement (SROE) or the Standing Rules for the Use of Force (SRUF), often supplemented by more specific rules promulgated for particular operations. Whether the SROE or SRUF applies to the actions of a particular military member depends on where that military member is geographically located and the nature of the mission that he or she is performing. The SROE apply to all military operations, contingencies, and routine military functions occurring off DoD installations, outside U.S. territory and U.S. territorial seas. Within U.S. territory, the SROE also apply to air and maritime homeland defense missions. The SRUF apply during defense support of civil authorities missions, routine military functions, and land based homeland defense missions occurring within U.S. territory. The SRUF also apply to routine military functions on DoD installations, wherever located. Finally, the SRUF apply to military members performing law enforcement or security duties whether on or off DoD installations.

PURPOSES OF THE RULES OF ENGAGEMENT (ROE)

- Provide implementation guidance on the exercise of self-defense and the application of force for mission accomplishment (SROE, Enclosure A, para 1a)

  -- During “peacetime” missions (humanitarian, etc.)

  -- During the transition from “peacetime” to “conflict”

  -- During combat operations while engaged in a “conflict”

  -- During the transition away from a “conflict” to “peacetime”

SROE/SRUF SELF-DEFENSE CONCEPTS

- In peacetime, U.S. forces may use force only in self-defense

- Commanders have the inherent right and obligation to exercise unit self-defense

  -- The SROE/SRUF does not limit a commander’s inherent authority and obligation to use all necessary means available to take all appropriate action in self-defense of the commander’s unit and other U.S. forces in the vicinity (SROE, Enclosure A, para 3a and Enclosure L, para 4a)

- Unless otherwise directed by a commander, military members may exercise individual self-defense
When individuals are assigned and acting as part of a unit, a unit commander may limit a member of their unit from exercising individual self-defense.

Unit and individual self-defense arises during two occasions:

- (1) In response to a use of force (“hostile act”) (SROE, Enclosure A, para 3e and Enclosure L, para 4c)

- (2) In response to an imminent use of force (“hostile intent”) (SROE, Enclosure A, para 3f and Enclosure L, para 4d). Determining the imminence of a threat is based on an assessment of all facts and circumstances known to U.S. forces at the time and may be made at any level. “Imminence” does not necessarily mean immediate or instantaneous.

National and Collective Self-Defense—What or Who May We Defend?

- The United Nations Charter explicitly recognizes the inherent right of a State under international law to individually or collectively exercise self-defense.

  - Article 51, United Nations Charter: “Nothing in the present Charter shall impair the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security”

- National Self-Defense: The act of defending the United States, U.S. forces, U.S. citizens and their property (in certain circumstances), and U.S. commercial assets from a hostile act, or demonstrated hostile intent

- Collective Self-Defense: The act of defending designated non-U.S. citizens, forces, property, and interests from a hostile act or demonstrated hostile intent when approved by the President or Secretary of Defense

Self-Defense Response Guidelines

- De-escalation: When time and circumstances permit, the forces committing hostile acts or hostile intent should be warned and given the opportunity to withdraw or cease threatening actions

- Necessity: Exists when a hostile act is committed or hostile intent is demonstrated against U.S. forces or other designated persons or property

- Proportionality: Amount of force necessary to decisively counter a hostile act or demonstrated hostile intent and ensure the continued safety of U.S. forces or other designated persons and property. The force used may exceed the means and intensity of the hostile act or hostile intent, but the nature, duration, and scope of force used should not exceed what is required, based on all facts known to the commander at the time. The concept of proportionality in self-defense should not be confused with attempts to minimize collateral damage during offensive operations.

- Pursuit: U.S. forces can pursue and engage a hostile force that has committed a hostile act or demonstrated a hostile intent, if those forces continue to commit hostile acts or demonstrate hostile intent. (Applicable rules of engagement may restrict or place limitations on U.S. forces ability to pursue or engage a hostile force across an international border.)

ROE for Mission Accomplishment
- In addition to providing guidance on the exercise of self-defense, ROE can also be utilized to provide guidance on the use of force for mission accomplishment
- For example, the ROE can identify a particular organization as a hostile force or delegate to a subordinate commander the authority to declare organizations or individuals hostile
- U.S. forces may engage declared hostile forces regardless of whether such forces have committed a hostile act or demonstrated hostile intent

Critical Factors that Influence the Promulgation of ROE
- Domestic law and regulations (e.g., Executive Order 11850 limiting use of riot control agents)
- National security policy (protect interests of United States and allies)
- Operational concerns (protect our forces and those of our allies)
- International law (LOAC, Status of Forces agreements, UN Security Council Resolutions)
  - LOAC is the part of international law that regulates the conduct of armed hostilities (violations are punishable under the UCMJ)
  - ROE have to comply and can NEVER authorize an act that is forbidden under LOAC. Essentially, ROE are always either equal in restrictiveness or more restrictive than LOAC. DoD policy is to comply with LOAC for all military operations regardless of the nature of the conflict.

Specific Guidance for U.S. Forces Operating with Multinational Forces (SROE, Enclosure A, Para 1F)
- U.S. forces assigned under operational control (OPCON) or tactical control (TACON) of a multinational force (MNF) will follow the ROE of the MNF for mission accomplishment, if authorized by order of the Secretary of Defense. U.S. forces retain the right of self-defense. Apparent inconsistencies between the right of self-defense contained in U.S. ROE and the ROE of the MNF will be submitted through the U.S. chain of command for resolution. While a final resolution is pending, U.S. forces will continue to operate under U.S. ROE.

When U.S. forces are under U.S. OPCON or TACON, operating in conjunction with a MNF, reasonable efforts will be made to develop common ROE. If common ROE cannot be developed, U.S. forces will operate under all applicable U.S. ROE and the MNF forces will be informed of this fact.

CONSIDERATIONS WHEN PREPARING ROE

Different ROE must be drafted for different missions (e.g., information operations, counterdrug support operations, noncombatant evacuation operations, domestic support operations, and cyber, maritime, land, air, and space operations. In creating such mission-specific ROE, it is important to ask several questions:

-- First, what is the goal of the President and the Secretary of Defense? (e.g., hostage rescue, freedom of navigation, destruction of a terrorist training base, humanitarian assistance)

-- Second, in order to carry out that goal, what is the mission? (e.g., conduct a show of force, limited or minor attack, establish a no-fly zone, occupy hostile territory)

-- Third, who are our hostile forces, if any?

-- Fourth, who are our allies? (e.g., NATO, coalition partners, United Nations)

-- Fifth, are there any unique concerns? (e.g., preserving a coalition, avoiding escalation of the conflict)

-- Sixth, what specific topics need not be addressed? (e.g. strategy, doctrine, restatements of the law of armed conflict, tactics, and safety-related restrictions)

-- Seventh, who should draft the ROE? (e.g., those familiar with the weapons and the systems, keeping in mind that commanders are responsible for the ROE)

-- Eighth, how is ROE disseminated? (e.g., SROE, Special Instructions (SPINS), SRUF, joint task force guidance)

SUPPLEMENTAL MEASURES AND COMMAND GUIDANCE

The SROE are fundamentally permissive in that a commander may use any lawful weapon or tactic unless specifically restricted. However, SRUF are not permissive. Unlike SROE, specific weapons and tactics not approved within the SRUF require SecDef approval.
- Although the SROE are fundamentally permissive commanders at all echelons may issue supplemental ROE or request approval of supplemental ROE (SROE, Enclosure J). The SROE specifies the required approval level for certain types of supplemental measures. Supplemental measures are primarily used to define limits or grant authority for the use of force for mission accomplishment. Clarity is the goal.

- Subordinate commanders may issue tactical directives or other forms of command guidance to clarify the application of the governing ROE/RUF for members of their command

-- If a commander’s guidance further restricts approved ROE, that commander is obligated to notify SecDef, as soon as practical of any imposed restriction

FISCAL LAW DURING DEPLOYMENTS

In an era marked by a rapidly-expanding operational tempo, which may involve deployments anywhere in the world, commanders must be aware of the basic rules regulating the activities U.S. forces may conduct during a deployment, and the funding to pay for those activities. The most significant basic concept is to distinguish between those items or services we may sell, grant, or loan to a foreign country (security assistance, which is administered by the U.S. Department of State, with assistance from the Department of Defense) and those activities U.S. forces conduct as part of an exercise in a foreign country, for which we are the primary beneficiaries and the foreign country receives only a minor and incidental benefit.

DEPLOYMENT-RELATED ACTIVITIES

- Deployment-related activity questions usually arise during combined (U.S. and foreign nation) exercises that are also joint (more than one U.S. armed force participating) and are located outside the U.S. (although CONUS exercises (e.g., Partnership for Peace (PFP) exercises) may be subject to some of the same constraints)

- The primary beneficiary of each activity must be the U.S. Forces involved. The benefit to the host country must be only minor and incidental.

MAJOR TYPES OF CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITIES

- Military Construction Project (MILCON): The term “military construction” includes any construction, development, conversion, or extension of any kind carried out with respect to a military installation, whether to satisfy temporary or permanent requirements, or any acquisition of land or construction of a defense access road. It includes all military construction work necessary to produce a complete and usable facility or a complete and usable improvement to an existing facility (10 U.S.C. § 2801). This prohibits the use of “project splitting,” “project incrementation,” or “phasing,” in funding military construction (see Chapter 13).

  -- The Air Force must present and justify MILCON programs through established MAJCOM and staff channels. The Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) then must approve these programs before they go to Congress for legislative authorization.

- Maintenance and Repair: Maintenance (recurrent work to prevent deterioration) and repair (restoration for use for a designated purpose) are not construction and not subject to these restrictions (although they may be subject to others)

- Exercise Construction: The SecDef must give the Appropriations and Armed Forces Committees at least 30 days prior notice of plan and scope of any proposed exercise when anticipated construction expenditures (temporary or permanent) will exceed $100,000
Unspecified Minor Military Construction (UMMC) Using MILCON Funds

-- This activity uses military construction funds, NOT O&M funds

-- An unspecified minor military construction project is a military construction project that has an approved cost equal to or less than $3,000,000. However, if the military construction project is intended solely to correct a deficiency that is life-threatening, health-threatening, or safety-threatening, an unspecified minor military construction project may have an approved cost equal to or less than $4,000,000.

-- Funded costs include “out of pocket” expenses such as contract costs, TDY expenses, and the cost of fuel to operate equipment. They do not include military pay, equipment depreciation, or other “sunk costs” (but these still must be reported).

-- AF/A7C manages unspecified minor construction MILCON funds. MAJCOM requests for these funds must meet the requirements of AFI 32-1021.

Unspecified Minor Military Construction (UMMC) Using O&M Funds

-- Use O&M to cover projects with funded cost of $1,000,000 or less

--- Funded costs include “out of pocket” expenses such as contract costs, TDY expenses, and the cost of fuel to operate equipment. They do not include military pay, equipment depreciation, or other “sunk costs” (but these still must be reported).

-- Notice must be given to Congress at least 21 days (14 days if by electronic means) before commencing any project exceeding $1,000,000

Exercise Construction of “Minor Structures Clearly of a Temporary Nature” May Be Funded from Exercise O&M Funds

-- In debating 10 U.S.C. § 2805(c), Congress took a very narrow view of “minor and temporary,” e.g., base camp facilities such as tent platforms, field latrines, and range targets, must be removed at the end of the exercise
- Training Activities (Often Called Either Deployments for Training (DFTs) or Joint Combined Exchange Training (JCETs))

  -- The purpose of these activities must be to train our forces, with only an incidental benefit flowing to the forces we train

  -- Familiarization (interoperability) and safety training is proper, but not if it rises to the level normally provided by security assistance projects (MTTs, TATs, etc.)

  -- Special operations forces (including civil affairs and PSYOPS forces) training of indigenous forces of “developing countries” authorized to pay or reimburse “incremental expenses” of the developing country because of special operations force’s own training requirements

- Exercise Activities and Conferences:

  -- Military-to-military contact programs carried out by combatant commanders of unified commands to assist military forces of other countries to understand the appropriate role of military forces in a democratic society

  -- Training Latin American forces, the basis for LATAM subject matter expert exchanges (SMEEs) carried out by USAF and USA

  -- Using U.S. funds to pay for attendance of military personnel from developing countries at conferences, seminars, or similar meetings

  -- Developing countries combined exercise program (DCCEP) pays “incremental expenses” of developing countries to participate in combined exercises

  -- Expanded international military education and training (IMET) program to teach defense resource management, civilian control of the military, military justice systems, and human rights

  -- Exchange of training and related support with a friendly foreign country or an international organization

  -- Military-to-military contacts program with nations of former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe regional cooperation programs

    --- Partnership for Peace (PFP)—assistance to and cooperation with PFP countries

    --- Cooperative threat reduction with states of former Soviet Union ("Nunn-Lugar" Act)
- Humanitarian and Civic Assistance (HCA); this Activity Includes Two Types:

  -- Earmarked funded HCA: HCA activities shall be conducted in conjunction with authorized military operations of the U.S. Armed Forces in a foreign country (including deployments for training)

  -- HCA activities shall promote, as determined by the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, the security and foreign policy interests of the United States and the country in which the activities are to be performed in addition to the specific operational readiness skills of the members of the U.S. Armed Forces who participate.

  --- The Secretary of State must specifically approve the HCA to be given to any foreign country AND SecDef has to report HCA activities to Congress NLT 1 March each year

  --- HCA activities shall complement, and may not duplicate, any other form of social or economic assistance provided by the U.S. to the country concerned and must serve the basic economic and social needs of the people of the country

  --- Funded HCA only includes certain specified activities:

    ---- Medical, surgical, dental, and veterinary care in rural or underserved areas, including education, training, and technical assistance related to the care provided

    ---- Construction of rudimentary surface transportation systems

    ---- Well drilling and construction of basic sanitation facilities

    ---- Rudimentary construction and repair of public facilities

    ---- HCA cannot be furnished to individuals or groups engaged in military or paramilitary activities

  -- “De Minimis” HCA: DoD can use other funding (not clearly specified) for minimal expenditures incurred in furnishing funded HCA. However, O&M funds may only be obligated for “incidental costs” of carrying out funded HCA.

  --- What is “incidental?” It has to meet the “reasonability” standard—i.e., would a reasonable person consider it “incidental to the exercise.”
--- Generally, it cannot be the sort of foreign assistance provided by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID). However, in certain cases U.S. forces can perform assistance and be reimbursed by USAID under the Economy Act.

--- These activities should not significantly impact the deploying unit’s readiness training

--- O&M funds expended for de minimis HCA should represent only a minor or reasonably small percentage of the exercise’s total O&M funds

--- Examples provided by Congress:

- A unit doctor’s exam of local villagers for a few hours with administration of several shots and issuance of some medication would be appropriate, but not appropriate to dispatch a medical team for mass inoculations

- Opening of an access road through trees and underbrush for several hundred yards would be appropriate, but asphalting of any roadway would not be appropriate

Air Force members serving or deployed at overseas locations may be subject to criminal proceedings by both the host nation (HN) and by the United States for offenses allegedly committed. Normally only one nation will take action against the Air Force member. The question which nation will proceed with the action is referred to as primary jurisdiction. Primary jurisdiction of the case is normally governed by the terms of any applicable status of forces agreement (SOFA) with the particular HN. In certain peace operations, especially those run by the United Nations, a status of mission agreement (SOMA) may be used instead of a SOFA. In this discussion, SOFA will refer to both SOFAs and SOMAs.

- As a starting point, the HN has jurisdiction over any member physically within its borders based on territorial sovereignty

- Simultaneously, the United States always has court-martial jurisdiction over any member for UCMJ offenses (the UCMJ applies “in all places”)

Violations of HN Law

- If a military member commits an offense that violates HN law, regardless of whether it violates the UCMJ, numerous steps may be triggered

  -- Military commanders generally have an obligation to place U.S. service members on “international hold” pending resolution of criminal cases within the HN

  -- U.S. service members generally must be released to HN officials upon indictment by the HN (specific timing of release varies by country)

  -- Reasonable counsel fees for civilian HN attorneys may be paid on behalf of U.S. service members

  -- If conviction results in a HN court, U.S. service members face HN sentencing, including confinement in the HN

  -- Trial observers, usually designated judge advocates, monitor HN criminal proceedings to determine whether U.S. service members are receiving fair trials

SOFAs

- The major SOFAs (NATO, Japan, and Korea) contain similar formulas for determining which country gets to exercise jurisdiction over U.S. personnel for criminal offenses

  -- Exclusive jurisdiction belongs to:
The United States for crimes under U.S. military or other applicable law that are not violations of HN law (e.g., AWOL, disrespect, and disobeying orders)

The HN for acts that are crimes under the HN’s laws but not under U.S. law (e.g., religious crimes, political crimes, and certain negligent acts that, under U.S. law, do not rise to the level of criminal conduct)

---

-- Concurrent (shared) jurisdiction occurs when conduct is criminal under both U.S. and HN law. The HN has the primary right to try all concurrent cases, except:

--- Official duty cases: When the offense arises out of an act in the performance of the U.S. service member’s official duty

--- Inter se: When the crime affects only U.S. parties or U.S. property

-- DoD policy is to maximize U.S. jurisdiction in appropriate cases

--- In a concurrent jurisdiction case, when the HN has the primary right to try a case the United States will normally request a waiver of jurisdiction from the HN

--- The procedures for and the likely success of a request for waiver vary depending on the HN and, frequently, the seriousness of the offense (the more serious the offense, the less likely it will be granted)

--- When a waiver is granted, the United States is normally obligated to take appropriate action against the member and to report the results to the HN

Civilians and Dependent Family Members Accompanying the Force

- Civilians and dependent family members accompanying U.S. forces abroad are normally considered subject to the terms of the applicable SOFA

- The HN will have jurisdiction based on its territorial sovereignty, but the U.S. commander usually does not have UCMJ authority over these persons

- If the HN cedes primary jurisdiction to the United States, or otherwise chooses not to exercise jurisdiction, the options of the commander are limited

- To remedy this problem, Congress passed the Military Extraterritorial Jurisdiction Act (MEJA) of 2000. The Act extends U.S. jurisdiction to cover offenses committed by dependents and other civilians accompanying our forces if the criminal act is punishable by at least one year in confinement. This act allows the Department of Justice, not the Air Force or DoD, to prosecute the offending civilian. MEJA can also extend jurisdiction over military personnel and contractors’ employees who are not normally resident in the HN.
Congress also amended Article 2a(10), UCMJ, to provide jurisdiction over civilians serving with or accompanying U.S. armed forces in the field during either declared war or a contingency operation.

Reasonable counsel fees for civilian HN attorneys may be paid on behalf of U.S. personnel serving with or accompanying U.S. armed forces in the field during either declared war or a contingency operation.

Absence of a SOFA

The prevailing international view is that, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, criminal jurisdiction rests exclusively with the HN.

While the United States has worldwide personal jurisdiction over service members, the exercise of that jurisdiction in the HN without HN permission may be considered a breach of its territorial sovereignty.

Particular emphasis has been placed on ensuring a SOFA or other agreement with similar provisions is entered into with all HNs hosting U.S. forces.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN: CYBERLAW

Cyberlaw Overview ........................................................................................................................................ 700
Legal Issues in Air Force Information Network (AFIN) Operations ..................................................... 701
Legal Issues in Cyberspace Operations ...................................................................................................... 712
Cyberlaw Overview

- Scope: The term “cyber law” can be a bit misleading. Rather than being a discrete legal field, cyber law is essentially specialized subsets of traditional legal fields (criminal law, international law, administrative law, privacy law, tort law, etc.). This chapter addresses the legal issues in cyberspace that Air Force commanders are most likely to encounter, such as searching and seizing computers/accessing electronically stored information and computer misuse (criminal law); defending air force networks and attacking adversary networks (the law of armed conflict/international law); FOIA, the Privacy Act, and Personally Identifiable Information (privacy law). Most of these discrete areas of the law have their own chapter or section throughout this handbook so this chapter will only focus on their cyber-specific aspects.

- Caveat: While the content of this chapter has been substantially revised from the 2012 edition of the Military Commander and the Law, it is important to remember the technology, law, and policy in this area are dynamic. Commanders and JAGs should seek the most current guidance from subject matter experts at the 67th Cyberspace Wing legal office, 24th Air Force legal office, or the Air Force Space Command legal office.

Roles and Responsibilities:

- Designated Approval Authority (DAA): The official with the authority to formally assume responsibility for operating a system at an acceptable level of risk. A DAA must be appointed for a DoD system pursuant to DoDD 8500.01E. The Senior Information Assurance Officer (SAF/CIO, previously known as SAF/XC) has designated Air Force Space Command Commander (AFSPC/CC), the Lead DAA for Air Force Information Systems (ISs). This authority has been further delegated as explained in the Electronically Stored Information (ESI) Request Process later in this chapter.

- Commander, AFSPC: In addition to serving as the DAA, AFSPC/CC serves as the lead major command for Air Force cyberspace operations and the core function lead integrator (CFLI) for the cyberspace superiority mission area. AFSPC/CC command’s, controls, implements, configures, secures, operates, maintains, sustains, and defends the Air Force Information Network (AFIN).

- Commander, 24th Air Force: If delegated by AFSPC/CC, 24 AF/CC is responsible for the day-to-day operation, defense, maintenance and control of the AFIN. For matters outside the scope of day-to-day operations, or if day-to-day operations authority has not been delegated, 24 AF/CC seeks approval of AFSPC/CC for those network actions.

- 624th Operations Center: The 624 OC is the operations center for 24 AF/CC’s execution of AFIN operations.
LEGAL ISSUES IN AIR FORCE INFORMATION NETWORK (AFIN) OPERATIONS

CYBER DEFINITIONS

- Department of Defense information networks (DODIN) (JP 3-12): The globally interconnected, end-to-end set of information capabilities, and associated processes for collecting, processing, storing, disseminating, and managing information on-demand to warfighters, policy makers, and support personnel, including owned and leased communications and computing systems and services, software (including applications), data, security services, other associated services, and national security systems

- Air Force information networks (AFIN): the Air Force portion of the Department of Defense information networks (DODIN)

- Department of Defense information network operations (JP 3-12): Operations to design, build, configure, secure, operate, maintain, and sustain Department of Defense networks to create and preserve information assurance on the Department of Defense information networks

- Air Force information network operations: Operations to design, build, configure, secure, operate, maintain, and sustain Air Force networks to create and preserve information assurance on the Air Force information networks

AFIN OPERATIONS AUTHORITY

- Per AFPD 10-17 (2012), AFSPC/CC commands controls, implements, configures, secures, operates, maintains, sustains, and defends the AFIN. AFI 10-1702, Command and Control (C2) for Cyberspace Operations (Draft), says “AFSPC/CC is the single commander responsible for the command, control, implementation, configuration, security, operation, maintenance, sustainment, and defense of the [AFIN].” It goes on to say “[t]hese day-to-day authorities may be delegated, normally to 24 AF/CC.”

- AFIN operations authorities can be summarized as the responsibility to operate, maintain and defend the AFIN as well as the authority to issue various orders in furtherance of those responsibilities. Some of these orders consist of Air Force Cyber Tasking Orders (AFCTO’s), Maintenance Tasking Orders (MTO’s), and Cyber Control Orders (CCO’s).

- Cyber orders issued by AFSPC/CC, or his delegee, 24 AF/CC, via the 624 OC, are mandatory military orders

- 24 AF/CC, in his or her AFCYBER roll, directs Air Force cyberspace forces in executing missions and tasks assigned by USCYBERCOM and exercises OPCON over Air Force forces assigned/attached to USCYBERCOM in support of joint objectives. There is significant overlap between the Air Force service authority to operate and defend Air Force networks and the USCYBERCOM authority to defend Air Force networks.

Computer Monitoring and Stored Communications

- Commanders may have to deal with questions concerning monitoring active duty members or obtaining electronic data stored somewhere on the Air Force network systems. These requests typically come from law enforcement, but they also may be requested by unit commanders, investigative officers, safety investigation boards, etc. The following discussion examines the law in this area, exceptions, and the process for obtaining these items in the Air Force.

- Fourth Amendment: Establishes the right to be free from unreasonable searches when an individual has a reasonable expectation of privacy. The determination of an expectation of privacy on any given piece of information on any given computer or computer system (including servers) depends upon a number of factors, such as the owner of the computer (i.e., personal or business); the relationship of the information to the computer system (i.e., in transit or stored); the nature of the data communicated (i.e., metadata or content); the location of the information; and the information owner’s citizenship.

- Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S.C. §1030, prohibits unauthorized access (or exceeding authorized access) to any computer involved in interstate or foreign commerce or communications. Sometimes referred to as the anti-hacking statute.

- Federal Wiretap Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2510 et seq.: Prohibits a third party to a communication from wiretapping, monitoring, or intercepting that communication in transit. The Wiretap Act covers both telephone conversations and electronic communications, and it provides protection above that in the Fourth Amendment. However, there are numerous exceptions to the Wiretap Act prohibitions:

  -- The Service Provider Exception (18 U.S.C. § 2511(2)(a)(i)): Permits service providers to “intercept, disclose, or use” a communication while engaged in activity necessary to the provision of service or the protection of the provider’s rights or property. This authority is broad but there must be a substantial nexus between the system administrator’s duties to maintain and protect the system and the monitoring.

  -- Consent (18 U.S.C. § 2511(2)(c)-(d)): Just as in other applications, consent to a “search” eliminates a privacy interest in the subject to be searched. The DoD banner, as mandated by the DoD-CIO (Chief Information Officer), obtains consent to monitoring from any potential user prior to authorized use of DoD computer networks. The consent banner and user agreement is now used universally in the Air Force and is the main exception to the Federal Wiretap Act.
-- Trespasser Exception (18 U.S.C. § 2511(2)(i)): An individual acting lawfully is authorized to intercept the communications of a trespasser into a computer system (i.e., hackers). AFOSI frequently relies on this exception when conducting counter intelligence investigations.

-- Communication readily accessible to the general public (18 U.S.C. § 2511(2)(g)(i))

-- Pursuant to Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (18 U.S.C. § 2511(2)(e)). This exception will most likely only be utilized by an intelligence gathering agency

-- Pursuant to a Court Order (18 U.S.C. § 2518)

- Stored Communications Act (18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq.): The protection in this statute applies to stored communications, rather than to the communications in transit covered by the Wiretap Act (see above). Similar to the Wiretap Act, the Stored Communications Act provides an exception for service providers.

-- The service provider exception does not require a nexus between maintaining and protecting the system and accessing stored data

-- The DoD consent banner and user agreement is the usual method by which stored data can be obtained in the Air Force and will apply in most situations. Despite the banner, some communications stored on Air Force network systems may contain communications between users and attorneys, chaplains, or mental health providers. These matters are still considered privileged communications and there may be restrictions on utilizing these communications. Commanders should consult with their servicing legal offices if such communications are encountered.

--- Search authorizations for electronically stored information should not be used in most cases. AFI 51-201, Administration of Military Justice (2013), says “[o]nly if the totality of the facts and circumstances indicate that the subject has a reasonable expectation of privacy (for example, no DoD banner in place, no user agreement, or local policy inadvertently creates an expectation of privacy) is obtaining a search authorization warranted.”

--- The routine use of search authorizations to collect information from government computer systems would contravene the language in the consent banner and could create a reasonable expectation of privacy in government computer systems
Summary: There is no reasonable expectation of privacy on Air Force networks. The DoD banner implemented throughout all Air Force computer systems, telephone networks, and other electronic communications systems, provides consent from all users to monitor their activities and retrieve data under the consent exceptions of the Stored Communications Act and Wiretap Act (see U.S. v. Larson, 66 M.J. 212 (C.A.A.F. 2008)). Accordingly, law enforcement and AFOSI personnel do not require a search authorization to examine data for law enforcement purposes on Air Force Networks and should only seek search authorizations in unusual cases. Air Force system administrators do not require permission to take action on any computer or system device to properly operate, maintain, or defend Air Force Networks under the Stored Communications Act (SCA) and Federal Wiretap Act (WTA) exceptions for SysAds, however, the WTA exception requires a more substantial nexus to actively monitor activities and communications in transit.

Electronically Stored Information (ESI) Request Process

- Electronically stored information (ESI) may be requested for any official purpose. Common purposes include: criminal investigations, administrative investigations, commander directed investigations, civil litigation involving the Air Force, or retrieving e-mails of an absent member in support of some military mission or duty.

  -- The DoD consent banner eliminates the need for search authorization from a search magistrate in most cases (see Stored Communication Act section above)

- In a memorandum dated 20 August 2009, SAF/CIO designated Air Force Space Command Commander (AFSPC/CC) the Lead Designated Approval Authority (DAA) for Air Force Information Systems (ISs). The AFSPC/CC is the Senior Risk Executive for the AFIN and for all Air Force information systems (IS) excluding AF SAP/SAR. (SAF/XC Memo, dated 20 August 2009). The AFSPC/CC subsequently appointed AFSPC/A6 to perform the duties as System DAA for the AFIN and all Air Force ISs (other than AF SAP/SAR or Air Force space systems). (AFSPC/CC delegation memo, dated 20 August 2009.)

- As outlined in AFI 33-210, paragraph 2.4.5, System DAAs may delegate to installation commanders or higher the authority to approve IS access. As such, the AFSPC/A6 has delegated to the 24 AF/CC, 624 OC/CC, and installation commanders the authority to approve requests for ESI on Air Force ISs for law enforcement, and approve real-time monitoring of network communications requests by AFOSI (AFSPC/A6 Delegation Memo, dated 7 December 2009). The Air Force implements the DoD Banner which notifies all users of their consent to monitoring. Under 18 U.S.C. § 2702(b)(3), communications may be released with the consent of the user.

- Tasking Order (TO) 2013-098-004, issued by the 624 OC, standardizes the process for requesting electronically stored information. The order requires all requests be submitted through the 624 OC via a digitally signed e-mail and following a designated format (see ESI Request Format below).
Installation commanders have the authority to grant access and release e-mails and data on systems under their control as delegated by AFSC/A6, however, that authority is not further delegable. Additionally, even if the data resides on systems under the control of the installation commander, the process described in TO 2013-098-004 must still be followed. The bottom line is all requests for ESI must go through the 624 OC.

FOIA/PA Requests vs. ESI Requests

- ESI requests must be differentiated from FOIA/PA requests, but at times may follow similar procedures. The servicing legal office should be the first line of defense in determining whether the request requires processing under FOIA.

- Generally, requests for ESI are those which are not of a personal nature and have an inherent military mission or function for its use. For example, requesting e-mails pursuant to a commander directed investigation would be an ESI request. Also, requesting e-mails of a recently deceased member to continue a military duty is an ESI request. A request for all e-mails between person 1 and person 2 concerning selection for an advertised duty position would be a FOIA/PA request.

- If the request received is FOIA/PA, FOIA/PA managers will still need to request the release of e-mails and data through the 624 OC. During this process, the information should be released back to the FOIA/PA managers for continued processing.

  -- Approval of the request to retrieve e-mails or data for FOIA/PA requests does not constitute a FOIA/PA approval/disapproval. Only FOIA/PA managers and the servicing legal office will ascertain whether information contained in the e-mails should be released to the third party.

ESI Request Format

- A request for ESI must contain key information for System Administrators, exchange administrators, and judge advocates to process the request. The ESI request format directed by TO 2013-098-004 is on the next page:

ESI REQUEST REVIEWS
- An ESI request legal review, conducted by 24 AF/JA, generally will analyze the following:
  -- Proper authority of the requesting individual (valid basis to request information)
  -- (1) privilege(s) claimed; (2) proprietary information claimed; and (3) any classification claimed
  -- Ensure legitimate request (not overly broad, pursuant to official purpose, etc.)
  -- Ensure sufficiently detailed description of data requested in light of basis for the request
  -- Advise if data may be released and any remarks regarding the data being released
- E-mail requests typically provide ALL e-mails for the period requested. These will require a content review prior to certain uses of the data. The review is required to safeguard any proprietary information of DoD Contractors, or privileged communications between the individual and clergy, health care practitioners, or attorneys. The requestor is responsible for ensuring proper uses of all retrieved data and should seek legal advice from the servicing legal office as appropriate.

ESI PROCESSING
- The following graphic shows the ESI request process:
Computer Misuse Incident Program

- Seemingly small incidents of computer misconduct may have large impacts for the AFIN. For example, installing unauthorized software on a single computer may expose the entire network to malware infection and disruption.

- The 67th Cyber Wing (67 CW), one of the wings under 24 AF with responsibility for maintaining the AFIN, has instituted a Computer Misuse Incident Program to promote accountability for these actions across the Air Force.

- The objective of the Computer Misuse Incident Program is to increase awareness and accountability of computer misuse around the Air Force and to empower the owning commander to respond to computer misuse as he would to any other misconduct.

- AFMAN 33-152, User Responsibilities and Guidance for Information Systems, details specific prohibited conduct on the AFIN. Paragraph 3.2 outlines inappropriate uses that are punishable under UCMJ Article 92, Failure to Obey Order or Regulation. AFMAN 33-282, Computer Security (COMPUSEC), provides further guidance on prohibited conduct.

- As examples, common inappropriate uses include, but are not limited to: (1) unauthorized personal use; (2) viewing prohibited content; (3) circumventing security systems; and (4) installing freeware/shareware without DAA approval.

- The 24 AF/CC may also issue orders regarding proper conduct on the AFIN, which, if violated, could represent chargeable offenses under the UCMJ.

- Oftentimes, the only evidence of computer misuse resides with the squadrons within 67 CW tasked to monitor the AFNET for suspicious activity. When they detect an intrusion or poor security practice, these squadrons produce a technical report of the incident, which they share with their servicing legal office, 67 CW/JA.

- 67 CW/JA reviews these reports for possible misconduct. When there is evidence of misconduct, 67 CW/JA creates a narrative of the incident and the potential violations. The narrative includes a summary of the costs to the Air Force in equipment and manpower for each incident. The 67 CW Commander then shares this narrative with the Installation Commander of the relevant installation for further action as the owning commander believes appropriate. 67 CW/JA also provides a courtesy copy of the narrative to the servicing legal office where the individual resides.
PERSONALLY IDENTIFIABLE INFORMATION (PII)

- PII breaches have recently become a high-level interest issue. PII breaches create personal vulnerabilities for individuals but can also create AFIN vulnerabilities.

- Per AFI 33-332, The Air Force Privacy and Civil Liberties Program (5 June 2013), PII is information that can be used to distinguish or trace an individual’s identity and includes: social security number (SSN); alien registration number, date/place of birth; mother’s maiden name, financial account numbers, biometric records.

- E-mails containing PII (alpha rosters, recall rosters, investigative reports, etc.) must be encrypted and must contain a Privacy Act statement (See AFI 33-332, para. 2.2.5)

- Per AFSPCGM 2013-33-01, Personally Identifiable Information (PII) Breach Reporting, Notification and Air Force Network (AFNET) Account Actions (12 November 2013), upon notification of a PII breach, the 624 OC will direct suspension of the offending user’s account. The offending user’s account will remain locked until the 624 OC receives a request for the resumption of access from the first O-6 in the offending user’s chain of command.

LEGAL ISSUES IN CYBERSPACE OPERATIONS

Terminology

- Cyber Operations Definitions (JP 3-12(R)): There are three basic mission sets for cyber operations: Offensive Cyberspace Operations (OCO), Defensive Cyberspace Operations (DCO), and DoD Information Network (DODIN) Operations. Within those three mission sets are four different types of cyberspace actions: Cyberspace Defense; Cyberspace Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (ISR); Cyberspace Operational Preparation of the Environment; and Cyberspace Attack. Be advised, however, that cyberspace terminology is somewhat in flux and terminology varies across U.S. government agencies. Also, not all terms are consistent with their traditional uses (for example, the Cyberspace Attack definition is not wholly consistent with the notion of “attack” under international law).

--- Mission Sets:

--- Offensive Cyberspace Operations (OCO): Cyberspace operations intended to project power by the application of force in or through cyberspace

--- Defensive Cyberspace Operations (DCO): Passive and active cyberspace operations intended to preserve the ability to utilize friendly cyberspace capabilities and protect data, networks, net-centric capabilities, and other designated systems

--- DoD Information Network (DODIN) Operations: Operations to design, build, configure, secure, operate, maintain, and sustain Department of Defense networks to create and preserve information assurance on the Department of Defense information networks

--- Cyberspace Actions:

--- Cyberspace Attack: Cyberspace actions that create various direct denial effects in cyberspace (i.e. degradation, disruption, or destruction) and manipulation that leads to denial that is hidden or that manifests in the physical domains

--- Deny: To degrade, disrupt, or destroy access to, operation of, or availability of a target by a specified level for a specified time. Denial prevents adversary use of resources. There are three types of deny actions:

-------- (1) Degradation

-------- (2) Disruption

- Degradation: To deny access (a function of amount) to, or operation of, a target to a level represented as a percentage of capacity

- Disruption: To completely but temporarily deny (a function of time) access to, or operation of, a target for a period represented as a function of time
(3) Destroy: To permanently, completely, and irreparably deny (time and amount are both maximized) access to, or operation of, a target

Manipulate: To control or change information, information systems, and/or networks in a manner that supports the commander’s objectives, including deception, decoying, conditioning, spoofing, falsification, etc. Manipulation uses an adversary’s information resources for friendly purposes.

Cyberspace Defense: Actions normally created within DoD cyberspace for securing, operating, and defending the DODIN. Specific defensive actions are usually created by the JFC or Service that owns or operates the network, except in such cases where these defensive actions would impact the operations of networks outside the responsibility of the respective JFC or Service.

Cyberspace Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (ISR): An intelligence action conducted by the JFC authorized by an EXORD or conducted by attached Signals Intelligence (SIGINT) units under temporary delegated SIGINT Operational Tasking Authority (SOTA). Cyberspace ISR includes ISR activities in cyberspace conducted to gather intelligence from target and adversary systems that may be required to support future operations, including OCO or DCO. These activities synchronize and integrate the planning and operation of cyberspace sensors, assets, and processing, exploitation, and dissemination systems, in direct support of current and future operations. ISR in cyberspace is conducted pursuant to military authorities and must be coordinated and deconflicted with other USG departments and agencies IAW the Trilateral Memorandum of Agreement Among the Department of Defense, the Department of Justice, and the Intelligence Community Regarding Computer Network Attack and Computer Network Exploitation Activities, 9 May 2007, and Executive Order 12333, United States Intelligence Activities.

“Title 10” vs. “Title 50” U.S.C.: “Title 10” and “Title 50” are often used as shorthand for “military operations” and “intelligence operations,” respectively. Usually, the speaker refers to “DoD” activity (“Title 10”) or Intelligence Community activity (“Title 50”). Although such terminology is widespread, it is generally incomplete and potentially inaccurate, in no small part because DoD is authorized to conduct both Title 10 and Title 50 operations. Proper legal and operational analysis begins with identifying the purpose of the activity, the entity that is conducting the activity, and how the information gathered during the activity will be used.
-- Title 10: The heading of Title 10, United States Code, is “Armed Forces.” It is the primary authority for the manning, training, and equipping of the armed forces by each Service.

-- Title 50: The heading of Title 50 is “War and National Defense.” It provides the authority for operating the intelligence community, providing a breakdown of responsibilities for Departments and Agencies with intelligence community elements, including major agencies within the DoD.

-- In the Cyber Realm, Title 10 and Title 50 are often used to describe the division of responsibilities between cyber authorities given to DoD and cyber authorities given to the intelligence community. However, as mentioned above, this can be potentially inaccurate because DoD cyber units may also have intelligence gathering authorities delegated to them and are thus operating with Title 50 authority. Additionally, there is little statutory authority specifically addressing cyber operations.

- Covert Action and Traditional Military Activity (TMA): Covert action is defined as “activities of the United States Government to influence political, economic, or military conditions abroad, where it is intended that the role of the United States will not be apparent or acknowledged. 50 U.S.C. § 3093(e), Presidential Approval and Reporting of Covert Actions (1947). Covert actions must be approved by the President and have significant congressional oversight. TMAs are expressly deemed not covert actions. At a minimum, to qualify as a TMA, the activities must be under the direction and control of a military commander. The clandestine nature of cyberspace operations does not turn them into covert actions so long as the cyberspace forces are under the direction and control of a military commander and are operating under military authorities.

- Regardless of the underlying authority, many cyberspace operations are conducted at higher classification levels, so it is imperative that any legal advisor receive the pertinent classification and read-in prior to providing legal advice.

Domestic Law

- With respect to the application of domestic law, there is no substantive difference between whether an activity is classified as “Title 10” or “Title 50.” Activities conducted under both titles must comply with the constitution and with U.S. law. Domestic laws place considerable restraints on cyberspace operations, particularly within the U.S., but also in foreign countries. Although many of the statutes provide exceptions for law enforcement, they do not expressly provide exceptions for military operations (however, the military can rely on the generally applicable exceptions). Please see page 707 for a list of the pertinent laws in this area.
Policy

- The 2015 DoD Cyber Strategy establishes policy for the U.S. DoD Cyber Enterprise. Under this strategy, the DoD will focus on five overarching goals.

  -- First, the DoD will build and maintain ready forces and capabilities to conduct cyberspace operations

  -- Second, the DoD will defend the DoD information network, secure DoD data, and mitigate risks to DoD missions

  -- Third, the DoD will be prepared to defend the U.S. homeland and U.S. vital interests from disruptive or destructive cyberattacks of significant consequence

  -- Fourth, the DoD will build and maintain viable cyber options and plan to use those options to control conflict escalation and to shape the conflict environment at all stages

  -- Fifth, the DoD will build and maintain robust international alliances and partnerships to deter shared threats and increase international security and stability

Air Force Policy Regarding Cyber Capabilities

- Air Force policy requires that cyber capabilities “being developed, bought, built, modified or otherwise acquired by the Air Force that are not within a Special Access Program are reviewed for legality under LOAC, domestic law, and international law prior to their acquisition for use in a conflict or other military operation” (AFI 51-402 para 1.1.2)

  -- Note that this requirement applies to all cyber capabilities, not just to weapons

- The authority to execute the legal review may be delegated to AF/JAO or to Major Command (MAJCOM) staff judge advocates. Any further delegation requires AF/JA approval. Currently, legal review authority for cyber capabilities NOT rising to the level of a weapon resides with the AFSPC/SJA.

- The legal review is required to address the following (AFI 51-402 para 3.1):

  -- Whether there is a specific rule of law, whether by treaty obligation of the United States or accepted by the United States as customary international law, prohibiting or restricting the use of the weapon or cyber capability
If there is no express prohibition, the following questions are considered:

--- Whether the weapon or cyber capability is calculated to cause superfluous injury

--- Whether the weapon or cyber capability is capable of being directed against a specific military objective and, if not, is of a nature to cause an effect on military objectives and civilians or civilian objects without distinction

The fact that another Service or the forces of another country have adopted the weapon or cyber capability may be considered in determining the legality of such weapon or cyber capability, but such fact shall not be binding

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND LOAC CONSIDERATIONS

- International Law Regarding Cyberspace Operations and the Use of Force:

  -- Jus ad bellum: The United States has generally treated the terms “use of force” and “armed attack” from the UN Charter as synonymous. The issue of whether OCO rises to the level of an armed attack is an important one for ensuring that the United States complies with the UN Charter and because of the potential application of the nation's inherent right of self-defense.

  -- There is currently no official international consensus regarding what constitutes a use of force or armed attack in cyberspace

  -- However, there is a growing body of state practice supporting the position that disruptive actions resulting in annoyance or harassment, even if for an extended period of time against many websites, do not amount to an armed attack

  -- There is also a growing consensus among academics and policymakers that cyber activities that proximately result in death, injury, or significant destruction would likely be viewed as a use of force/armed attack

  -- If OCO rises to the level of an “armed attack,” then the State where the action occurs would be justified under Article 51 of the UN Charter to use force in response

  -- Under international law, it is still unsettled how a state may respond to OCO that do not rise to the level of a use of force/armed attack. Many would claim that such actions, if committed against cyber infrastructure within a state's territory, would still constitute a violation of that state's sovereignty, to which the state could respond with necessary and proportionate countermeasures that themselves do not rise to the level of a use of force/armed attack.
- Military Necessity:

  -- It is unlawful for a party to a conflict to “destroy or seize the enemy’s property unless such destruction or seizure is imperatively demanded by the necessities of war.” (Hague IV, Annex, art. 23(g)). Lawful military objectives (targets) are those objects “which by their nature, location, purpose or use make an effective contribution to military action and whose total or partial destruction, capture or neutralization, in the circumstances ruling at the time, offers a definitive military advantage (Additional Protocol I, art. 52(2)).

  -- Just as for kinetic targets, a legal review will address employment of cyberspace capabilities in both a targeting review (is it a valid target?) and in the operational legal review (will the method to prosecute that target advance a legitimate military objective?)

- Unnecessary Suffering:

  -- As stated in Chapter 17, the use of arms which are calculated to cause unnecessary suffering is prohibited

  -- Generally, cyber capabilities will not cause such effects, but if such effects are likely, they will be addressed in the operational legal review

- Proportionality:

  -- Just as with kinetic operations, cyber operations must take into account potential collateral effects on the civilian population and must not be excessive in relation to the military advantage anticipated. For example, a cyber operation to deny access to an insurgent website for a particular group of individuals in an AOR should, if possible, be limited to denying accesses only to that specific website and only to targeted populations rather than denying access to an entire webserver (that may host hundreds or even thousands of innocent websites).

- Distinction: Sometimes referred to as discrimination, requires parties to a conflict to distinguish between combatants and the civilian population and property

  -- Due to the overlapping nature of military and civilian uses of cyberspace, distinction can play a very important role in cyber operations. Depending on how the code is written, cyber capabilities can be developed with specific or generic targets.

  -- For example, a cyber capability designed to only create effects on certain industrial control systems known to be used in an adversary’s nuclear enrichment facility would likely be considered a discriminate weapon. In contrast, a virus (such as the conficker worm in the early 2000s) designed to replicate and spread to any system it touches on the internet would raise distinction concerns because it does not distinguish between civilian and military systems.

Dual-use systems provide service and capabilities to the civilian population and are also used for military purposes. Terrorists, enemy combatants, and even nation-states will utilize civilian networks and cyber infrastructure for their operations, so any operation targeting these capabilities will by definition target civilian infrastructure. These dual-use systems are lawful military targets if they make an effective contribution to the enemy (A.R. Thomas and James C. Duncan, Annotated Supplement to the Commander's Handbook on the Law of Naval Operations, International Law Studies, Vol. 73, 1999, at 403; Air Force Operations and the Law (2009), pp 249-250). This unique aspect of cyberspace targeting will be addressed in both the targeting and operational legal reviews.

---

Chivalry: As mentioned in Chapter 17, the principle of chivalry permits lawful ruses such as camouflage, false signals, and mock troop movements but forbids perfidious acts

---

Because the infrastructure allowing for the delivery of cyber effects crosses multiple countries and cyber effects can be created by non-state actors (i.e. independent hackers), attributing a cyber effect to a particular source can be difficult. An additional issue is that, unlike kinetic attacks, the ability to mislead an adversary as to the source of cyber operations is much greater.

Disguising cyber effects as normal web traffic or concealing the source of such operations is similar to a permissible lawful ruse and does not violate chivalry. However, conducting a cyber operation with the intention of having it attributed to another state (e.g. country A making a cyber operation against country B appear as though it is being conducted by country C) in order to start a war between those two states would likely violate chivalry.
- The Tallinn Manual on the International Law Applicable to Cyber Warfare: The Tallinn Manual, published in 2013, contains 95 rules related to both the jus ad bellum and jus in bello aspects of cyber warfare. The manual is not binding international law but rather represents opinions on how the law of armed conflict applies to actions in cyberspace.

Cyber Operations Command and Control

- United States Cyber Command (USCYBERCOM): A sub-unified command belonging to United States Strategic Command, USCYBERCOM is tasked with directing DoD network operations and defense. When directed, USCYBERCOM conducts full spectrum military cyberspace operations in order to enable actions in all domains and ensures U.S. and allied freedom of action in cyberspace while denying the same to our adversaries.

- Air Force Space Command: The Air Force Major Command responsible for the Air Force Cyber mission. Its mission is to provide resilient and cost-effective Space and Cyberspace capabilities for the Joint Force and the Nation.

- 24th Air Force/AFCYBER: The operational warfighting organization that establishes, operates, maintains and defends Air Force networks and conducts full-spectrum operations in cyberspace. It establishes, operates and defends Air Force networks to ensure warfighters can maintain the information advantage as we prosecute military operations. The unit is responsible to conduct the full range of cyber operations. While subordinate to Air Force Space Command, 24th Air Force also provides forces to USCYBERCOM in its joint mission.
